Clark Ready To Fly Sign Truce

Plane Standing By To Leave When Word Flashed

TOKYO (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark, UN Far East Commander, is ready to fly to Korea on a moment's notice and sign an armistice with Kim Il Sung, supreme commander of the Korean People's Army and Peng Teh-huai of the Chinese People's Volunteers.

Clark's private plane is at the airport, gassed up and ready.

"It may be weeks and it may be days, a source close to Clark said "but the boss plans to sign whenever he gets the word from Washington."

The UN has plans for a signing ceremony but has not given them to the Reds.

FIRST MEETING

If and when the final signing takes place at Panmunjom it will be the first time the Red and Allied commanding officers have faced each other.

But the chief negotiators aren't going to be left out.

Maj.-Gen. William Harrison and Gen. Nam Il will sign on the bottom line.

The shooting will stop 12 hours after the official signing.

In another 60 hours each side will have pulled its front line back two kilometres (1¼ miles), making a buffer zone four kilometres wide across the 135-mile wide front.

In case either side refuses to pull back in any place the other side is authorized to take whatever action it deems necessary.

COULD BE EMBARRASSING

This could be particularly embarrassing if South Korean troops should refuse to withdraw.

According to the armistice draft rotation will be limited to 35,000 troops a month, so the end of the shooting in Korea won't mean that all UN soldiers will come home immediately.

The jobs of the delegates to the armistice conference will be taken over by a military armistice commission, made up of 10 members. Half the commission will be ap-

SHALL I LAUGH OR CRY—Little Peggy Ann Whaley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Whaley, doesn't know whether to laugh or cry as Gritz, the clown, talks with her. But he kept the children and the adults laughing throughout the afternoon and evening Saturday at the CGE's annual picnic at Nicholls Park. The races, the draws, and the entertainment made the picnic one of the most successful in recent years. Of course the weatherman helped too. Although he allowed the skies to vary from blue sky to dark clouds, he held off the rain. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Swede Blamed For Sub Sinking

ANKARA, Turkey (Reuters)—The captain of the Swedish freighter Naboland Sunday was found "entirely guilty" of the responsibility for the loss of the Turkish submarine Dumlupinar with 99 lives last April.

The Turkish commission investigating the disaster said the 4,000-ton freighter commanded by captain Oscar Lorentzon was about 234 feet off course when it collided with the submarine in the Dardanelles on the night of April 3.

Lorentzon Saturday took a minesweeper along the course he said he followed April 3. Members of the commission were on board with Commander Sabri Celebioglu, captain of the submarine.

The commission said Lorentzon had not taken the precautions required by standing regulations in operation in the Dardanelles.

Celebioglu had taken such precautions, the commission said.

Tells Canadians Koreans To Fight Alone

TORONTO (CP) — President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea has told the Toronto Star in a cable from Pusan that his country "intends to fight on alone after an armistice."

The Star, which carried excerpts from Rhee's 600-word cable in a front-page story, said the cable was in reply to questions submitted to him by the newspaper.

The cable said:

"If the armistice is signed against our plea, we are ready to fight it out ourselves so that, win or lose, Korea will be unified one way or the other."

"We believe our national defence force alone can drive our enemies beyond our borderline but to hold a line without advancing, only making ourselves a target to enemy shots coming at his own time and at his own place, is more difficult—even for all UN forces . . . "

The cable said:

"Without unification, neither South nor North Korea can any longer survive this war of attrition. The Communists are trying to wear us out. It is proving successful even with America and the

Viet Nam Demands France Give It More Independence

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Premier Nguyen Van Tam demanded Sunday that treaties linking Viet Nam to France be scrapped for new ones which would let the republic take part in international decisions affecting its own future. He called also for revision of the constitution the French wrote for Viet Nam in 1946, saying the charter no longer serves its purpose and should be replaced by a new one.

In a speech sharply critical of recent developments, the premier said in a broadcast over the Viet Nam radio that relations between France and the Communist-besieged Indo-Chinese state in the French union had become clouded. He demanded that Viet Nam be given the same rights as the free nations in the British Commonwealth.

ENTER NEW PHASE

Speaking of the treaties signed in 1949, Tam said:

"The fragility and insufficiency of these accords have been made clear. Also, our relations with France have entered upon a new phase more quickly than we had expected."

He added that Viet Nam "no longer wants to be . . . the tenant of a house built without us. We want to become associated in an enterprise which we will help to build and in which we will accept all the obligations."

Ottawa Freezes Polio Serum

TORONTO (CP)—The supply of gamma globulin, protective serum against infantile paralysis, has been frozen by the federal government and there will not be enough for widespread use in Ontario this year, Dr. W. T. Mustard said Saturday.

Dr. Mustard, chairman of the medical advisory committee of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis, told a committee meeting that gamma globulin now is being produced at the Connaught Laboratories, Toronto, and that federal medical authorities will dispense of the entire supply, about 5,000 doses.

He said the inability of putting gamma globulin to wide use is due to difficulties in production rather than a lack of blood.

"The actual amount the federal government will have to dispense will protect no more than about one per cent of the children in Toronto," he said.

Don't Expect To Cut Forces

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department expects to see the Canadian forces keep up their strength in Korea for some time after any armistice.

There is not expected to be any draining away of that strength on any significant scale at least until a general political settlement caps the armistice that now appears imminent, informed quarters said.

The same goes for the armed forces generally. No significant reductions in any units are likely at least until the world is able to see how stable a truce in Korea would be. And even then they don't appear very likely in view of the general world situation.

Canada has a 6,000-man brigade in Korea plus reinforcements in Japan, plus three destroyers and an RCAF transport squadron that works on the trans-Pacific airlift to Japan.

Prime Ministers Agree:

Favor Admission Of Red China To UN

LONDON (CP)—Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said today the "overwhelming opinion" on Commonwealth Prime Ministers meeting here favors the admission of Communist China to the United Nations when Korean hostilities end.

"We did not come to any exact decision," he said at a press conference. "Even if there is a majority opinion, it does not bind all Commonwealth members. I cannot therefore say whether all Commonwealth members will support the move."

The nine Commonwealth premiers, presided over by Sir Winston Churchill, expect to draft a formal statement to issue when their conference ends — probably Tuesday night.

Today's meeting discussed developments in the Korean armistice negotiations and other foreign affairs. Tuesday the prime ministers are expected to discuss economic difficulties of the sterling areas.

Mohammed Ali said there had been "some difference of opinion" on a UN seat for China, but he did not disclose which premiers had objected Pakistan has always supported the proposal, he said.

"I would say overwhelming opinion was in favor of China's admission to the United Nations after the cessation of hostilities in Korea."

A foreign office spokesman said Britain "warmly welcomed" the Korean war prisoner exchange agreement signed at Panmunjom.

The spokesman told a press conference later that Britain is "making inquiries" to ascertain just where the South Korean government of President Syngman Rhee stands in relation to the widely expected truce agreement.

It seems clear the Britain and her Commonwealth partners are deeply concerned at the possibility that the South Korean authorities might upset any cease-fire arrangements that may be concluded —and that they would like the UN command to insure this does not happen.

This problem has been examined closely by the prime ministers of nine commonwealth countries.

Under chairmanship of Prime Minister Churchill they also have looked beyond the possibility of a Korean truce to the political talks which will follow and to ways and means of helping in the rehabilitation of the devastated country.

The Commonwealth group was reported to have agreed to support the United States in these future stages of a general Korean settlement — but with the proviso that the government of Syngman Rhee is kept firmly in check by the Americans who are believed to have most influence with the aged president.

May Initial Armistice In 24 Hours As Red Chinese Predict Complete Cease-Fire Without Delay

South Koreans Intend To Continue War

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea gave flat notice today it intends to continue the Korean war despite an urgent message from President Eisenhower that the United Nations and the war-torn republic are "required" to accept a truce on present terms.

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea told The Associated Press "the Korean people will pay no attention" to an impending armistice.

His cabinet and National Assembly crisis committee, meeting behind locked doors, resolved to continue the fighting and not recognize any truce under present terms.

The defiant South Korean opposition burst out anew shortly after UN and Communist negotiators at Panmunjom edged close to a full armistice by finally agreeing on exchange of war prisoners, the last major hurdle before a truce.

Rhee said in an interview with AP photographer Fred Waters:

"Our boys are fighting the Communists on the front, and now they want to open the back door and let the Communists in that way. I am being criticized by everyone—except the Korean people."

HADN'T DECIDED

A few hours earlier Rhee said he had not decided whether to accept offers in a letter from Eisenhower of economic aid and a mutual security pact after a truce.

The cabinet and the crisis committee planned to return to Pusan, the wartime capital to lay their decision before the Assembly.

Meanwhile, Rhee issued a "statement to the people" warning against any violence or "unpleasant talk" against UN personnel in Korea.

"The United Nation proposal for a truce in Korea," Rhee's statement said, "contains points that we can not accept and both the government and the general public of this republic are united in their effort to oppose it. Under these circumstances there is a strong possibility of spontaneous demonstrations and popular campaigns against the United Nations' move."

CAUTIONS CITIZENS

Rhee then cautioned that Republic of Korea "citizens must be extremely careful that no improper words or deeds be used or committed against the military or civilians of our allies. . . .

9 Red Planes Bomb Seoul In Biggest Raid

SEOUL (AP)—Nine Communist planes bombed Seoul tonight in the biggest Red raid of the war, narrowly missing President Syngman Rhee's residenee, killing two persons and injuring eight others.

One of the eight injured was an American, Michael Rougier, Life photographer, who was cut by flying glass when one of four 250-pound bombs that hit the capital struck near the 8th army press billets. Other bombs hit an air field near Seoul.

RAIDERS SWEEP LOW

The raiders swept in low and laid their first bomb 1,000 feet from Rhee's residence while the capital lights still blazed. Rhee was unhurt and unruffled.

The city was then blacked out, anti-aircraft guns opened up, but but the 5th air force said no planes were shot down.

Three of the injured were in serious condition. One of them was a Korean newsreel photographer.

Report Voting Heavy In Italy

ROME (AP)—Late voters hurried today to choose among communism, right-wing nationalism and Christian democracy in the final hours of the bitter Italian general election. Premier Alcide de Gasperi's pro-West coalition government hailed the heavy vote as a sign of victory.

There were no major disorders, but Interior Minister Mario Scelba charged Communist rowdies with conducting organized "hunts" to prevent Roman Catholic nuns from voting. He said the Reds tried to bully the nuns out of voting or challenged their credentials.

More than 20,000,000 persons, about 70 per cent of Italy's 30,348,789 eligible voters, balloted Sunday.

By poll-closing time today (9 a.m. EDT), the turnout was expected to equal the 92.1 per cent which beat back the great Communist bid for power in 1948.

The first day's voting ran slightly behind 1948's.

Everest Conquerors Waved Flags, Ate Cake

LONDON (Reuters)—What happened in those historic moments May 29 when a tall, lean New Zealander and his native guide stood on the peak of Mount Everest as the first conquerors of the world's highest mountain?

The Times of London says they ate mint cake, took photographs, waved a string of flags and prayed.

An editorial says Auckland beekeeper Edmund Hillary, 34, and his Nepalese guide Tensing Bhutia gazed down from the top of the world 29,002 feet high on a "flat and monotonous" view. They were too high for any grandiose mountain landscapes, it said.

The Times provided the first description of the exploit since word of the British expedition's success was flashed to London a week ago on the eve of the Coronation. The newspaper owns exclusive copyright to the expedition's story.

Typhoon Nears End 29 Dead, 40 Injured

TOKYO (AP)—A typhoon was blowing itself out today after killing 29 persons, injuring 40 and causing millions of dollars in damage in southern and western Japan.

Gales and torrential rains sank 34 small vessels, wrecked nearly 200 houses and caused 829 landslides.

More than 1,200 homes were flooded and 275 bridges washed out.

Japanese estimated the damage at around $20,000,000.

Beats Kettle Frightens Bears

ANSONVILLE (CP)—An 87-year-old woman lost 18 hours in the bush south of here told searchers who found her today that she shooed away bears during the night by banging an old kettle with a stick.

Dressed only in a house dress and a woollen sweater, Mrs. Irene Purdy was little the worse for wear when found today. She was reclining on a small knoll, a pot and stick lying beside her.

Mrs. Purdy was last seen Sunday near her home, six miles south of this Timmins district town. She said she didn't know how she had become lost, having lived in the district all her life.

Police carried her to a highway and drove her to hospital here. Doctors said her condition was good.

Eisenhower Urges Rhee Accept Present Terms Of Truce, Warns Against Reckless Move

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The last big stumbling block to a Korean truce was swept aside today with the signing of a prisoner exchange agreement, but South Korean opposition shot toward the boiling point as their leaders vowed to continue fighting. Agreement on a full armistice in the three-year-long war could come Tuesday when Allied and Communist negotiators meet at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. EDT Monday. The Red Chinese radio predicted a "complete cease-fire and armistice" in Korea "without further delay."

The prisoner agreement provides that of the 138,000 Allied and Red captives, those wanting to return home will be exchanged within six days after a truce is signed

Red prisoners who steadfastly refuse repatriation—would be released as civilians no later than six months after a cease-fire.

They would go through these steps:

1. Be turned over to a five-country neutral commission within 60 days after a cease-fire;

2. Spend 90 days in the commission's custody while Red agents give assurances about going home;

3. If they still refuse, remain in custody for 30 more days while a political conference tackles the question. It is unable to decide, they would be freed.

NO THREAT USED

The agreement—signed in accord with the Allied principle of voluntary repatriation—reads that "no force or threat of force shall be used against" the prisoners—either Allied or Communist-held.

A total of 14,200 Chinese and 32,180 North Koreans in UN prison camps have indicated they will refuse repatriation. The figure was revised downward from a 48,500 total.

A last-minute message from president Eisenhower to Rhee said he felt the UN and South Korea were "required" to accept the present terms and warned Rhee against any "reckless adventure" by South Korea's armed might.

However, South Korean officials reacted with sharp resentment.

St. Laurents Guests Of UK Prime Minister

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada, with Mrs. St. Laurent, lunched today at 10 Downing street as guests of Prime Minister Churchill and Lady Churchill.

Tonight the St. Laurents were to attend the gala performance of Benjamin Britten's opera, "Gloriana," at Covent Garden.

The prime minister returned to London by automobile last night after spending the weekend in Oxford, where he received an honorary degree Saturday. He lunched with Sir Maurice Bowra, vice-chancellor of Oxford, and had dinner with the Very Rev. John Lowe, dean of Christ Church. Dean Lowe was born in Calgary and was a professor at Trinity College, Toronto, from 1929 to 1939.

Sunday the St. Laurents had lunch with the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough at Blenheim Palace and later attended the garden party there. Blenheim palace is in Woodstock, near Oxford.

Tornado Strikes Farm Home, 10 Inside Die

ARCADIA, Neb. (AP)—A tornado Sunday struck a farm near Arcadia where 10 persons were holding an informal family reunion, instantly killing all 10 and levelling the farm building to the ground.

"There wasn't a stick of anything left on the place," said Arthur Riedesel of nearby Loup City, who visited the farm.

Even trees were clipped off so that only stumps stood a foot or two above the ground.

HOUSE DESTROYED

Just across the road a two-storey stone house was "blown to smithereens," Riedesel said. Six persons on the second farm escaped injury by hiding in a storm cave just six feet from the house.

The 10 dead were on the Mads Madsen place five miles east of Arcadia. Children and grandchildren of the Madsens had just had their customary Sunday family dinner and probably were sitting in the house where they couldn't see the funnel.

Huddled in the storm cellar across the road as the roaring twister passed over were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Lutz, their three children and an unidentified motorist.

Pearson Ready Call Assembly

OTTAWA (CP)—The United Nations general assembly will automatically be called into session by External Affairs Minister Pearson should the truce talks at Panmunjom result in an armistice, S. F. Rae, secretary to Mr. Pearson, said Sunday night.

"The position is that under a resolution of the assembly passed at the conclusion of this part of the seventh (last) session, if there is an armistice in Korea, the president is requested to recall the assembly," he said in an interview.

Mr. Pearson, president of the UN general assembly, would thus automatically recall the deliberative body, Mr. Rae said.

Canadian Girl Weds Korda In Surprise Ceremony

VENCE, France (AP)—Sir Alexander Korda, 60-year-old British film magnate, today wed Alexandre Boycum, 25-year-old Canadian in a surprise ceremony performed by the mayor of this artist colony town in the alpine hills behind the French Riviera.

Only five days ago the couple announced their engagement and said they would wed in two or three months in Canada. The bride is from Fort William, Ont.

Mayor Emile Hugues, former minister of information in the recent French cabinet, officiated at the wedding.

Sir Alexander, a former Hungarian newspaperman, once was married to film actress Merle Oberon. He is chairman of London Film Productions and Alexander Korda Film Productions.

Despite efforts at secrecy, dozens of reporters and photographers were waiting outside the city hall when Korda and his blonde bride appeared.

Miss Boycum wore white and red print dress, mink stole and small close-fitting white hat. Korda wore a dark blue double-breasted suit with a dark tie and was hatless.

He met Miss Boycum at a party in London, where the Canadian girl was studying singing. Korda says she has no plans for a movie career.

After the brief civil ceremony, Korda and his bride left for their yacht anchored in the harbor at Antibes for a wedding luncheon. They are expected to fly to London soon.

Blame Traffic Accidents For 10 Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway accidents were responsible for 10 of the 19 violent deaths reported in Eastern Canada during the week-end.

Other causes, a Canadian Press survey early today showed, included drownings four, fire one, and electrocution two.

Ontario's toll was 10, seven of them traffic fatalities. Quebec had four deaths, New Brunswick four and Nova Scotia one.

In a triple fatality at Bathurst, N. B., Joseph Savoy, 53, of Richardville and Mrs. William Armstrong of Saint John died of injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding crashed into a bridge abutment and fell into the Jacquet river.

Another passenger, Mrs. Savoy, was drowned.

TWO DROWNED

Two persons were drowned in the Ottawa river near East Templeton, Que., when a boat taking five persons on a fishing trip tipped over. Dead are Marcel Brousseau, 27, of Ottawa and Wilfred Guilbault, 30, of Lemay Lake, Que.

Ontario deaths: John Simpson, 60, of Toronto, fell from the runningboard of a moving truck; Christina Noade, 5, of Ingersoll, struck by a car; Gordon Bogart, 45, of Chesterville, when his auto crashed into a field; David Kelly, 82, of Windsor, struck by a car; Robert Reardon, 69, of London, struck by a car police said did not stop; Peter M. Brown, 16, of North Bay, of injuries suffered when his car overturned; Claude Beaulieu, 18, of Cornwall, when his station wagon went out of control and crashed into a trolley bus; Alex McKinnon, 84, of Kinloss township, when fire razed his home; Guy Flint, 6, of Ottawa, was drowned in the Rideau river when he fell from a raft on which he was fishing; Natalino Flippi, 30, electrocuted while directing operations of a crane in North York.

Would Ban All Hog Movements

CHATHAM (CP) — The Kent County Hog Producers Association asked the federal government Friday night to ban all movement of hogs in the areas of southwestern Ontario where hog cholera has broken out.

Under regulations imposed by the federal government two weeks ago, no hogs may be shipped in or out of a quarantine area embracing 29 Western Ontario counties. The association proposal would curb movement inside the area itself.

The association also suggested all hog shipments in the province be made only under special permit, except market hogs going to inspected slaughter plants.

Reunion Brings Assault Charge

Joseph Huard, 41, 189 Lake St., pleaded not guilty today to a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm to Carl R. McAvoy, 35, of Port Hope. He was remanded until Monday on this charge and one of being drunk while interdicted.

The charges arose out of an incident which occurred in front of the Armoury Saturday night during the reunion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, which McAvoy was attending.

Bystandards said that Huard invited McAvoy outside the Armoury and then hit him with a bottle. McAvoy was discovered bleeding profusely about the face and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Nesbitt ambulance. He was released from hospital Sunday after cuts on his nose, forehead and left eye had been sewn up.

Hospital Wins Fight Over $770,900

OTTAWA (CP)—Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children today won a $770,900 court fight against descendants of John Ross Robertson, founder of the Toronto Telegram.

The Supreme Court of Canada today ruled unanimously in favor of the estate trustees, which represented the hospital, in a three-year legal argument over the status of that sum built up in The Telegram's reserve depreciation account before it was sold to the late George McCullagh in 1948.

Upholding an Ontario Appeal Court decision, the Supreme Court agreed with the trustees that the $770,900 had been properly built up as legal depreciation and formed part of the newspaper's capital. Counsel for the founder's relatives had argued that too much money had been earmarked for the fund and that this deprived them of income that rightfully belonged to them as life tenants of the founder's estate.

Mr. Robertson, who died in 1918, had designated in his will that the newspaper was to be sold after the death of the last of his immediate family and the proceeds turned over to the hospital and certain other charities.

The newspaper was sold in 1948 for $3,610,000 after the death of his widow, Mrs. Jessie Elizabeth Cameron.

The Supreme Court could not agree that the money earmarked for the fund was excessive. Neither could the court agree with the argument of family survivors that events had proven the money allocated was far more than required and should have been earmarked as profits.

ials were reported gravely concerned whether South Korea would observe a cease-fire in the bloody war that has cost a total of 2,300,000 Red and Allied casualties.

WITHOUT CEREMONY

The prisoner agreement was signed without ceremony in the tiny truce hut by the chief delegates—the UN command's Lt.-Gen William K. Harrison, Jr., and Communist Gen. Nam Il.

It came suddenly at 2 p. m. (1 a. m. EDT Monday). The news spread swiftly to Allied troops in the trenches and foxholes along the 155-mile front.

Their immediate reaction: "when do we go home?" UN troops won't be leaving Korea, however until peace comes to this land—months, maybe years away.

Only minor administrative matters now stand in the way of an armistice and there was little doubt at Panmunjom that an historic truce would be reached shortly.

However, that's only a cease-fire prelude to peace—negotiations for which may take many months, or years.

TO TAKE CUSTODY

Under the agreement, a neutral nations commission of India, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Sweden and Switzerland would take custody of the 46,380 captives in Allied hands who refuse to return to their Communist homelands.

Red agents will be permitted to "make explanations" to those prisoners about returning home.

Captives who still refuse repatriation after 90 days of explanations will be turned over to a political conference of belligerent countries.

After 30 days of discussion by the conference, those who still spurn communism will then be given civilian status and opportunity to go to a neutral country.

The UN command, in this respect, dropped its proposal of May 25 that prisoners who spurn repatriation after the political conference be handed over to the UN general assembly.

Of the 121,680 Red prisoners held by the UN, 70,300 North Koreans and 5,000 Chinese want to go home.

PRAISE AGREEMENT

In New York, Allied delegates to the United Nations praised the agreement.

Provisions of the 26-point exchange agreement include:

1. The five-country neutral repatriation commission will take charge in Korea of the prisoners who refuse to go home. Each country will have one delegate.

2. India alone will provide "sufficient armed forces" for the job and shall be chairman and umpire. The other four countries will be allowed staff assistants not to exceed 50 each.

3. Explanations to prisoners reluctant to return home shall be conducted in the presence of a representative from each member of the commission and a representative from the detaining side.

4. Prisoners in the custody of the commission who decide to return home shall be repatriated after a majority vote of the commission approves the application.

5. After 90 days, PoWs who still refuse to return shall be turned over to a political conference for discussion, but will still be held in the physical custody of the neutral commission.

CIVILIAN STATUS

6. After 30 days of discussion by the political conference, prisoners who still refuse repatriation shall be released to civilian status. Then they will be given an opportunity to go to neutral countries if they choose. The move to a neutral state shall be completed within 30 days. Prisoners in a neutral country who later decide to return to their home lands shall be assisted in that return by "authorities of the localities where they are."

7. The repatriation commission and subordinate bodies shall operate on the basis of majority vote.

The agreement apparently would work both ways—thus if any Communist-held prisoners refuse repatriation, UN agents will have the right to make explanations to them.

The Reds have not indicated they hold any UN prisoners who do not want to return home.

South Koreans

"We should not forget that we owe them much. They provided us with requisite assistance when we needed it most. . . .

"Furthermore no foreign nationals here in Korea intend to succumb to the Communists. Indeed, all their policies are framed by their superior establishments."

These establishments "have made the new proposal on the assumption that it will constitute the best solution to the problems of Korea. . . .

"The police force throughout the nation is especially required to be extremely vigilant in order to prevent any and all undesirable conduct by dissident elements who might take advantage of this critical moment for their wicked purpose of disturbing the public order and security."

ALL-OUT DEMONSTRATIONS

As the opposition became a rolling swell of resentment, the leader of Rhee's Liberal party in the Assembly said there will be "all-out, nation-wide" demonstrations, parades and mass meetings beginning Tuesday morning.

Eisenhower's letter tipped off that an armistice was at hand. He wrote that terms of a present Red proposal—essentially based on a recent Allied offer—required acceptance by the United Nations and South Korea.

Eisenhower pointedly urged South Korea to avoid any "reckless adventures" and forget its oft-voiced threats to carry on the war alone.

Washington sources said Eisenhower's offer does not by any means meet Rhee's recent demands for withdrawal of all foreign troops, steps toward unification of Korea and a military security pact before an armistice. They said the proposed pact is not a blank cheque to get South Korea out of troubles in case it tries to unify the country by force.

Rhee revealed his indecision about the Eisenhower terms after a speech at the U.S. 1st Corps.

LEAVES IT UNSETTLED

He would not say whether Korea would fight on if an armistice is signed.

In his speech, the 78-year-old president said:

"We cannot surrender to the Communists after all the sacrifices you have made and we have made . . . .As far as we are concerned, no peace or no armistice can be acceptable to us as long as Chinese Communists are allowed to remain inside the Korean peninsula."

Blinking back tears, he told the hundreds of soldiers:

"I come here with a sad feeling and a heavy heart. I do hope we will be allowed to finish this thing with justice and honor."

Military policemen guarding Rhee, his wife and the U.S. 8th Army commander, Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, tried to push newspapermen away as they questioned Rhee.

MAY FIGHT INDIANS

As Rhee spoke, administration sources said the RoK army would either continue fighting at the front or would take part in "small-scale skirmishes" against Indian troops who land to take charge of Red prisoners refusing to go home and Communist representatives who come to explain repatriation to the Red PoWs, unless approved by the government.

Speakers waving anti-armistice banners already were talking angrily on dozens of street corners in Seoul.

Eisenhower's letter, dated June 6, stressed that the economic aid, mutual defence pact and other Allied offers would come after a truce is signed.

It was delivered to Rhee by Gen. Mark Clark, UN Far East commander, who flew from Tokyo in the teeth of an approaching typhoon. Rhee released the text without comment. Clark flew back to Tokyo after the meeting.

Eisenhower told Rhee the U.S. would work toward unification of Korea in the political conference following a truce and in the United Nations, but he pointed out:

"We do not intend to employ war as an instrument to accomplish the world-wide political settlement to which we are dedicated and which we believe to be just."

TRUCE IMMINENT

Eisenhower indicated that a truce was imminent when he told Rhee:

"The enemy has proposed an armistice which involves a clear abandonment of the fruits of aggression. The armistice would leave the Republic of Korea in undisputed possession of substantially the territory which the republic administered prior to the aggression, indeed this territory will be somewhat enlarged.

"The proposed armistice, true to the principle of political asylum, assures that thousands of North Koreans and Communist Chinese prisoners (who don't want to go home) . . . will not be forcibly sent back into Communist areas . . . .

"It is my profound conviction that under these circumstances acceptance of the armistice is required of the United Nations and the Republic of Korea. We would not be justified in prolonging the war . . . in the hope of achieving, by force, the unification of Korea."

Rhee's government ordered return of the entire South Korean officers corps now training in the U.S., including Gen. Paik Sun Yup, chief of staff, and cancelled scheduled departure of any others for the U.S.

Authorities Outlaw Kenya African Union

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Kenya government's war against the Mau Mau terrorists brought the outlawing today of the Kenya African Union, the British colony's principal African political organization.

Most of the union's members are members of the Kikuyu tribe, from which the secret Mau Mau society also draws its membership.

The union's president formerly was Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta, sentenced April 8 to seven years imprisonment as a chief organizer of the Mau Mau.

A court today sentenced 12 Kikuyu to death for their part in the massacre of 150 persons in the village of Lari, March 26. It was the second of 13 mass trials arising from the massacre. Previously 17 Mau Mau knifemen were given the death penalty.

No Tax Deductions Unless Defence Cut

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Saturday night there can be no substantial reduction in taxes unless the defence program is reduced or there is a continued increase in productivity.

He spoke at a nominating convention of the North Grey Liberal Association. The convention nominated Colin Bennet, who has held the seat since 1949, to contest the riding in the next general election.

The document is ready, now, as far as the United Nations is concerned. The only item remaining to be settled is the exact inking of the line of demarcation and as far as the UN is concerned it should be the line of contact.

That was the principle adopted the last time it was drawn and to that principle the UN still stands.

To Smash Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP) — Britain's new East Africa commander, Gen. Sir George Erskine, arrived by air Sunday and declared he plans to smash Kenya's Mau Mau terrorists as fast as possible. As he arrived colonial police announced that Mau Mau terrorists were manufacturing home-made bombs and hand grenades in their forest hideouts.

Prices Shift Lower In Marked Declines

TORONTO (CP)—Prices shifted lower in early-afternoon stock market declines today.

At 1 p.m. the only bright spot in the market was provided by Western oils, which showed a rise of almost half a point on the exchange's index. Industrials stalled and dropped back after a firm open. Golds improved from a weak open to trade at mixed prices but base metals were down in all sections.

Uraniums came in for continued pressure throughout the first half of the session with a wide list of losses the result. Gunner was off another 40 cents and was joined by Rix, Chimo, Gaitwin, Beaver Lodge and Brunston in the minus column.

Anacon refused to confirm the lower trend in New Brunswick base metals by posting a 10-cent gain. Conwest slipped back 15 cents. Brazilian touched a low of $9.87 with a fractional loss. Bathurst Power was another weak sister.

Prices mixed in all sections of the golds. Gains by Lake Shore and Wright-Hargreaves were about balanced by losses by Giant and Teck Hughes in the seniors group. Campbell was down 25 cents among the juniors but East Malartic and New Dickenson were strong.

Western oils maintained their early strength as Canadian Atlantic, Bailey Selburn, Albermont and Security prospered. United Keno and Consolidated Smelters traded as much as 25 cents lower.

Manitoba Voters Go To Polls; No Predictions

WINNIPEG (CP)—The people of Manitoba voted today in a provincial election marked by a number of uncertainties.

It was the first time in more than a decade that Premier Campbell's Liberal-Progressive administration has gone to the country on its own record. In the past three elections, it has campaigned on the basis of a coalition, now ended, with the Progressive Conservatives.

Because of Manitoba's past record of acclamations, it will be the first time some constituencies have seen an election-day vote in some years. There is no recent elective yardstick to determine how they might go.

In the 1949 provincial election, there were 16 acclamations. This year, there was one.

RECEIVE ACCLAMATIONS

Two of the leading figures in the contest—Premier Campbell and Errick F. Willis, Progressive Conservative leader—have received acclamations in the last three general elections. Their last test at the polls was in the 1936 election.

Voting will be in progress from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. CDT, with 55 of the 57 legislature seats at stake. The member already has been acclaimed in one seat and the election deferred a month in another.

A record 170 candidates are in the running, including 48 Liberal-Progressives, 43 Social Credit, 38 Progressive Conservatives, 25 CCF, 15 independents and one Labor-Progressive (Communist) party standard-bearer.

The House standing at dissolution April 23 was:

Liberal-Progressive 30; coalition 5; Progressive Conservatives 9; CCF 7; independent 1; Labor-Progressive 1; vacant 4; total 57. The five coalition members supported the government.

Port Hope Wharf Costs $178,000

Construction work on the $178,000 Queen's Wharf in Port Hope has now been going on for six weeks and one crib is almost completed. It will probably be launched this week.

The federal government is paying the cost of reconstructing and renovating the wharf.

When it is completed more than 1,000 square feet of storage space will be added to the Port Hope waterfront. It will be rented to coal dealers and others requiring storage facilities and some of the rent will be turned over to the town.

The area between Queen's Wharf and the shoreline is to be filled in and the wharf itself is to be rebuilt.

Five cribs, now being constructed on shore, are to be floated out into position and will be fastened by stones and fill. They will form the base for a pier running from the end of the present pier to the end of Queen's Wharf.

Queen Knights Beekeeper Who Conquered Mt. Everest

LONDON — The Queen has knighted the New Zealand beekeeper who conquered Mount Everest and promised a suitable reward for the Nepalese guide who struggled to the summit with him.

Also knighted was Col. John Hunt, 42-year-old leader of the 13-man expedition.

The awards, announced by the palace on Saturday night, came as a surprise because Royal honors are normally announced only twice a year— at New Year's and on the Queen's birthday.

The New Zealand, 34-year-old Edmond Hillary, and Tiger" Tensing, the Sherpa mountaineer, reached the 29,000-foot summit of the world's highest mountain on May 29.

News of their victory, which came after the failure of 10 expeditions in 31 years, was flashed to London last Monday night on the eve of the Coronation. It was immediately hailed as a sign of British resurgence in the new Elizabethan era.

CREATED KNIGHT

The announcement said Hillary had been created a knight commander of the Order of the British Empire and Hunt a knight bachelor.

It readt

"The Queen has been graciously pleased to approve that the honor of knighthood be conferred upon Col. Henry Cecil John Hunt, CBE, DCO, and that Mr. Edmund Hillary be appointed a knight commander of the Order of the British Empire.

"It is also Her Majesty's desire to recognize the achievement of the Sherpa Tensing. Since he is not a British subject, this requires consultation and no immediate announcement can be made."

The British Government was reported in touch with Nepal already on what form Tensing's honor would take.

The Sherpas are a Nepalese tribe who live on the southern slopes of the eastern Himalaya. Tensing, a veteran of nine assaults on Everest, has been paid $47.60 monthly with a danger allowance of 63 cents daily.

Hillary, a lean six-foter, served with the New Zealand Air Force during the war. He returned to Auckland to take up beekeeping and practised climbing in the New Zealand Alps.

Hunt, a regular army officer, is an experienced Himalayan climber. During the Second World war he served as chief instructor to the commando mountain and snow warfare school.

Thousands In Nicholls Oval To Take Part In CGE Picnic

Yes, kids' day it was on Saturday afternoon in Nicholls Oval, as only children can enjoy it, with sparkling eyes and ravenous appetites, as they devoured hot-dogs and all-day suckers at the annual employees' picnic of the CGE.

More than 5,000 parents crowded the Oval with their children to attend the gala yearly event, directed mainly towards the children of the employees' of the CGE.

The picnic was officially opened with the drawing of the first of the employees' five draws.

Younger children were kept occupied on the swings and slides, while there was a special program planned for the older kids and adults. There were 20 separate races for the different age groups, ranging from five to 14, and special prizes were awarded to the winners.

There was bait casting, horseshoe throwing, golf and various types of obstacle races for the men and women.

FATHERS BUSY

Fathers were kept busy supplying ice cream and pop for their kiddies and trying to keep up with junior, who was determined to run off and play with the older children.

Mishaps of the day were few. The only serious ones being kids dropping their suckers and the bottom falling out of their popcorn; and mother and dad busily trying to satisfy their wants and vainly trying to keep their youngsters' faces and hands clean.

Main event of the picnic were the 10 comedy acts from Buffalo. The first part of their show was held in the afternoon for the benefit of the children; and the side of the hill facing the main stage in the Oval was packed with kids, their faces beaming with excitement as they watched Cliff Faust, the millionaire tramp magician with his bag packed full of clever comedy tricks and Herb Ross with his comedy high-wire aerial act. Bozo the clown and Gritz and Gravy who stole the show as far as the children were concerned, as he featured his mule and midget auto.

KIDS TRAIL PIPERS

Following the children's show the CGE Pipe Band marched onto the parade ground of the Oval trailed by throngs of youngsters strutting and imitating the marching bandsmen.

During the supper hour the Pipe Band entertained the picnickers at their supper; and most of the crowd had come prepared with their picnic baskets packed with food to supply the many hungry mouths of the children.

Last item on the program for the evening was the finish of the main stage show, and again the slope of the hill was packed with on-lookers, who laughed uproariously and applauded Helen Hayes, the versatile mistress of ceremonies, at her stories and her unending repertoire of songs. Budd and Hollis with their twin banjo act were another favorite of the crowd and double-jointed Carol Joy amused the crowd with her acrobatic dancing stunts as did the Salters with their hand-to-hand balancing acts. Finally the Sarson Cyclonicians were another great favorite of the crowd.

Main attendance draw prize, the CGE electric dryer, was won by Mary Chestney of 694 Water St., and Mrs. Gerald Abrams was the winner of the employees' wives draw and won an automatic toaster. The winners of the other 10 draws were: E. J. Bills, A. D. Buott, W. Barker, N. Fletcher, C. W. Lee, Austin War, R. J. Stewart, Miss Joice Alexander, Amos Grant, and Fred Stephens.

The program committee of the picnic under the chairmanship of P. Calladine, were: Bas Phelan, Bob Batley, T. McCabe, E. G. Myles, A. L. Malby, E. Cotton and J. A. Wilson.

Slange En Reine

Glens' Tradition Lauded By Brigadier At Dinner For 6th Annual SD & G Reunion

"Slange en Reine, slange en mac en ben agus en gleann, slange en duna an chaw, sous leish, sheas lais—Health to the Queen, health to the sons of mountain and glen, health to everybody present, up with it, down with it."

Thus Pipe-Sergeant Neil Campbell of Cornwall proposed the toast, in Gaelic and English, at the sixth annual D-Day reunion dinner of the 1st battalion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders in the Armoury Saturday night.

A native of the Isle of Syke, Pipe-Sergeant Campbell was educated in Glasgow where he became a locomotive engineer and then went to sea as an engineer. During the First World War, he served in the Royal Field Artillery and came to Canada in 1923.

He joined the 1st battalion of the S. D and Gs in 1940 at the age of 52, a fact which he managed to keep from the military authorities. Unable to go overseas with the battalion, he joined the Royal Canadian Navy in 1941 and served as a stoker petty officer on the corvette HMCS Rimouski.

PIPES LAMENT

Saturday night he rejoined more than 350 comrades from dozens of centres in Eastern Ontario and piped the Lament as they remembered the 297 members of the battalion who died or were killed during the fighting in Northwest Europe.

Guest speaker was Brigadier D. G. Cunningham, CBE, DSO, D-Day Commander of the 9th Canadian Highland Brigade, of which the Glens were a part.

"The Glens have a tradition second to none of any battalion in the Canadian army," he said. "I have always regretted that I have never been a Glen but now I feel that I am one of you. I have never seen a better spirit in any reunion than you have each year that you carry it on."

A telephone message was received from Major-Gen. Rod Keller, Kelowna, B.C., D-Day commander of the 3rd Canadian Division. One was also arranged with Col. G. H. Christiansen of London, England, who commanded the battalion when it landed in Normandy on June 6, 1944, but an overseas circuit was not available at the time of the dinner.

WELCOMES GLENS

A civic welcome was extended by Acting Mayor T. D. Miller, an RCAF veteran, whose brother Walter served with the Glens.

"Peterborough has two fighting battalions," Mr. Miller said. "In the first war it was the 93rd battalion and in the second war it was the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders."

The toast to fallen comrades was proposed by Lt.-Col. the Rev. W. J. Gilling, OBE, who was chaplain of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment during the Second World War.

The toast to the first battalion was proposed by Col. R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, MC, who recruited the battalion in 1940. In proposing the toast he used the words of the motto contained on the regiment's badge "Dileas Gu Bas" (Faithful Unto Death), and the unofficial motto "Up The Glens." The response was made by Major A. M. Hamilton, second-in-command of the regiment until he was wounded.

Col. John Dewart, former Commanding Officer of the Prince of Wales Regiment, many of whose members joined the S D and Gs, also spoke, as did Lt.-Col. James Turnbull who was second-in-command of the regiment under Col. Hicks-Lyne. Other speakers included Lou Dirkin, president of Peterborough Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion; "Spots" Bergeron of Cornwall; Stan Leslie of Brockville; Sgt.-Major H. Prizes Distributed As School Holds 74th Annual Closing LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, Deputy Minister of National Health, was guest speaker on Saturday afternoon when the Lakefield Preparatory School held its 74th annual closing and distribution of prizes.

Only recently returned from Geneva, where he attended the World Conference on Health, Dr. Cameron said that it was one of the great movements in the world today. Attended by representatives from 65 different countries, these delegates were all there to advance, in the interests of their own ccountry, the state of health of their people. Campaigns are being organized to eradicate certain diseases from the face of the globe. The meetings were held in the magnificent palace built to house the League of Nations.

'The Canadians are held in very high regard by all these people," said Dr. Cameron. "Every time I come back from one of these conferences, I am struck by our extremely good fortune that we live in Canada. We are more fortunate than any other country I can think of."

Urging the students to strive for fine ideals in life and not be ashamed to own them, Dr. Cameron said in closing, "A sound basis for the right attitude towards life can be found in the 15th Psalm. Read it. No words of mine could place the matter in such concise language as you find it there."

A beautiful oil painting by Winnifred Lampman was presented to Dr. Cameron by Headmaster G. Winder-Smith.

In welcoming the guests to the closing Mr. Smith said the school had enjoyed a successful year. He gave a brief resume of the activities in sports and the academic field. He deplored the fact that "we were becoming a nation that had to be entertained" and suggested that during the holidays the boys should take one hour a day for something either constructive or educational. He urged the boys to think independently, know the world today and yesterday and have a desire to improve their intellectual horizons.

Mr. W. M. Pearce, who has recently retired as chairman of the board of governors, spoke briefly and at the conclusion of his talk was presented with an illuminated address which was read and presented to him by Blair Whittemore, head prefect of the school.

The acaremic prizes were presented by Mrs. G. D. W. Cameron, the sports prizes by Mrs. W. Pearce, and a number of special prizes by Dr. Cameron. Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie presented Coronation spoons to all the prefects. The ladies were given flowers by junior boys of the school.

Special prizes were won as follows: Memorial House prize, R. Baker.. L. R. Crombie prize, A. Ramsay; the Board of Governors' prize, K. Little; the Ted Pease, senior, F. Pearce, R. 3 Freighters Unload Ordnance Cargoes COBOURG (ENS)—Three more freighters have been unloaded during the past few days at Cobourg harbour with cargoes for the ordnance depot. In order to store supplies during the transfer from the pier to the ordnance depot, a long metal warehouse has been built out on the pier where the freighters unload. About ten ships have discharged cargoes here this year for the depot.

Mission Band Meets

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Planning their July picnic was the important item of business at the June meeting of the Mission Band of Roseneath United Church.

The meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Reginald Crego.

The president Lucille Robins presided with Helen Sandercock as secretary. The Mission Band leader, Mrs. Wm. Hammill was pianist.

A chapter of the study book pertaining to misscionary work in Africa was presented by Jean Davidson, Marie Robins, Roberta Brown and Helen Sandercock.

Two Full Houses For Opera Workshop

COBOURG — (ENS) — Full houses both nights, on Friday and Saturday greeted the presentation of "The Pirates of Penzance," a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, by the Opera Workshop of the Cobourg Opera and Drama Guild. The musical director for Doris Dunlop and the stage director was A. G. McDowell. Sets were designed and painted by Yarko Zavi, well-known ceramist who makes his home at Cobourg.

Although the drama guild has been functioning only a comparatively short time, it has already established itself as a going concern and for the first time in a considerable number of years, Cobourg has an active and enthusiastic theatre group. Its efficiency has been demonstrated by the quality of the entertainment it has provided and each presentation has been drawing larger crowds.

$7,000 Barn Fire On Tobacco Farm

COBOURG (ENS)—A barn owned by Elmer Robins at Centreton was destroyed by fire on Saturday afternoon along with implements, fertilizer and equipment used in tobacco farming. Loss is estimated around $7,000. Cobourg fire department was called but the fire had gained such a start that the barn was practically burned down when the firemen arrived. Baltimore fire brigade and the forestry fire truck kept the Cobourg fire pumper supplied with water but all that could be done was to prevent it from spreading.

The Film Censorship Grows More Liberal

We have read the annual report of the Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch of the Treasury Department of Ontario with interest, as we always do. These documents are not, for good reasons, expansive, but we think that over the years we have mastered the trick of reading them in such a way that they reveal something of public taste, as well as of the official acts of the Censorship. For the past three years we have found the reports encouraging in this respect. We compare what the Censorship (through the words of its Chairman, Mr. O. J. Silverthorne) reports to the Prime Minister, with what we see in the movie theatres, and we draw our own conclusions.

* * *

Those conclusions cheer us, because we think that the Censorship is liberal in spirit, and sympathetic toward what is good in movie production. This past year it did not reject any films, though it required that some films be altered or cut. In making such recommendations we do not think that it is moved by a severely or narrowly puritanical spirit. Films which dealt seriously with serious themes were permitted a good deal of freedom of expression. Such films were passed, of course, as adult entertainment.

* * *

Foreign films in particular have been treated of late years with greater understanding than was apparent in the past. Canada's population is growing, and many people from foreign lands have joined us. They have been accustomed to a different approach to problems of crime and sex in the movies, and it may be said that they are broadening our outlook. We are glad to see foreign films attracting wide attention in Ontario, because they provide not only entertainment, but also the broadening experience of travel to people who cannot hope to do much travelling in reality. A good film of French or Italian life can give an audience an experience of France or Italy which is more quickly and easily assimilated than it would be if they attempted to learn the same things from books. Broader experience means broader understanding and sympathy. Movies can do much to spread the concept of One World.

* * *

The Censorship report says that care has been taken to watch for representations of crime and gangsterism, of sex and intoxication, which might be harmful to movie goers. Such vigilance does not rule out these elements as material for movies; it does see that they are not made attractive. Inevitably there is some falsity involved in such censorship; it is not true that crime never pays; it is not true that deviations from the strictest puritan morality in sex are always attended by unhappy consequences; it is not true that intoxication follows all use of alcohol. The Censorship has to steer a careful course between what is true and what many movie-goers consider desirable, and we think that it brings a commendable degree of taste and discretion to its work.

* * *

What accounts for this improvement? In part we think it is owing to the recognition by movie exhibitors that there is not one huge audience for movies, but several smaller audiences. People who want to see such films as Come Back, Little Sheba and The Seven Deadly Sins are not the same people who want to see Westerns in which the Good Guys invariably defeat the Bad Guys. The public which keeps Pride and Prejudice and Henry V in the moneymaking class is not the same public which likes Quo Vadis and Salome. The Censorship, knowing this, can permit passages in a film for one public which it could not approve in films intended for another. Is this undemocratic? No, for there is not, and never has been, any democracy in tastes. The movie censorship has recognized this fact and is making allowance for it, and by doing so it has greatly improved the quality of its own work.

President Eisenhower Draws A Line

It has been apparent to anyone reading political news from the United States that President Eisenhower has carefully avoided even the appearance of interference in the Congressional domain since he took office. Last week, however, he demonstrated very clearly that he does not intend to allow Congressional infringement on his own domain. The issue was the conduct of foreign policy, and a Senate committee was moving to tie the President's hands in a field which is constitutionally a Presidential prerogative.

The State Department Appropriations Bill was being considered, and Senator Dirksen of Illinois proposed a rider to it forbidding any contribution by the United States to the United Nations if the latter should admit Communist China to membership. Senator Bridges, Republican dean of the Senate, and Senator Knowland, acting Republican leader, both endorsed the measure, and it was approved by a vote of twenty to three. President Eisenhower knew nothing about it until informed by a reporter at his press conference the next day.

President Eisenhower acted immediately. He called Republican Congressional leaders to an urgent conference, at the end of which it was announced that the proposed rider would be dropped. In its place, Congress would be asked to approve a resolution similar to the one adopted two and a half years ago, under Democratic control. This simply expressed opposition to admitting Communist China to membership in the United Nations.

When it is fully realized what the rider could have meant, its withdrawal must have relieved statesmen in nations allied with the United States and officials of the League of Nations. If the rider had been approved by Congress, and if Communist China had been admitted to U.N. membership, it would have meant that the U.S. would leave the U.N., and the President could do nothing about it. And since the U.S. supplies more than a third of the U.N.'s annual budget, that would have meant the certain wrecking of the world organization on two counts, for it will be recalled that absence of the U.S. meant that the League of Nations was foredoomed to failure.

Mr. Eisenhower's emphatic disagreement with Senator Taft's foreign policy statement and his quick action on Senator Dirksen's rider are reassuring signs that he intends to remain primarily responsible for U.S. foreign policy. And that policy, as he expressed it, is that no single free nation can live alone in the world—"we have to have friends."

Sa Gracieuse Majeste

A correspondent of ours now living in Paris wrote that it seemed as if the Queen of France were being crowned on June 2nd, or that France had become a partner in the British Commonwealth. The French capital was decked from end to end with flags of Britain and France. Thousands of shop windows were dominated by large photographs of the Queen identified in flowing script as "Sa gracieuse majeste". Newspapers spoke of no one else. Movie houses ran television views on their full-sized screens, instead of ordinary movies.

Paris had rain, too, but it did not prevent tens of thousands of excited and animated people from blocking the pavements outside hundreds of shops which, for seven hours, relayed the Royal events in London on television sets. Our correspondent writes:

"But most impressive was the sidewalk on the Avenue des Champs Elysees outside the offices of the Paris daily Figaro. It was thronged with a crowd of up to three thousand strong, intently watching the five television sets the newspaper had generously erected beneath its windows. Some animated, some immobile because moved, the French people cursed the occasional bursts of sunshine that made the screens fade, or roared at those individuals who opened umbrellas and blocked the view when it rained. All stood rooted to the spot watching a seemingly endless parade of foreign soldiers in another land as if their lives depended on it. Although there are only sixty thousand television owners in France, it is estimated that up to one million people watched the Coronation in Paris alone, and if there were many wet feet, there were also many wet Republican eye-lashes."

The cordiality of the French towards the British people and British institutions warms the heart. Their enthusiasm for the British monarchy—a passionate interest made poignant by the empty majesty of Versailles—shows that the person of the sovereign is more than a link between peoples of the Commonwealth. In her person and state, the Queen is a uniter of many peoples, if not of their governments. Churchill did not underestimate the warm feelings of the ordinary people of France when he dramatically proposed full and complete political union between Britain and France in the darkest days of 1940. In time governments may catch up with the will of the people they govern and peace may reign among nations.

A columnist inquires what became of that fellow in California who was known as Nature Boy? Our guess is that he made enough money to move indoors.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

YES, I got up at 5 o'clock last Tuesday morning, and though I felt jaded the rest of the day I shall never regret it, for the broadcast from London of the Coronation was one of the most moving experiences of my life. For the greater part of the time reception was amazingly good. I was surprised beyond all measure at the accuracy of the timing. Everything went off according to schedule in spite of the enormous problems inherent in such a vast undertaking. Incidentally the Metropolitan Opera in Toronto started dead on time too when I went there the preceding week. I mention this detail because so many local concerts start late for no particular reason at all!

✧ ✧ ✧

PARRY'S ANTHEM, "I was glad", struck the right note of pomp and circumstance at the opening of the service. Herbert Howell's Introit, to which I was looking forward, did not disappoint me, though it was almost too quiet and intimate for the occasion. The Creed and Sanctus from Vaughan Williams' Mass in G minor, for unaccompanied double chorus, thrilled me with their combination of tenderness and austerity. Here was the right music in the right place at the right time. So also was the plainsong "Come Holy Ghost", and so was "Zadok the Priest", though in an entirely different way. Nobody but Handel could have engineered the rising excitement and tension from the beginning of the introduction down to the first massive thunderstrokes of the choir with such simple means; a handful of arpeggi in the violins to a pounding accompaniment of chords. The extrovert in Handel delighted in great state occasions, whether in real life or in his operas and oratorios, and he certainly rose magnificently to the occasion of the crowning of that undistinguished monarch George II.

✧ ✧ ✧

HEALEY WILLAN'S Homage anthem went with a fine swing and displayed as usual his fine sense of choral effect. It sounded more closely-knit than appeared on paper—and it rejoiced. As for Sir William Walton's new and eagerly awaited Te Deum, it sounded splendid, exhilarating and solemn. Certainly not for everyday church use, it should prove popular with choral societies. Sir William is comparatively orthodox in his harmonies, but within his framework he is quite convincing. There is a particularly beautiful modulation at the words "Also the Holy Ghost, the Comforter" which thrilled me even more than some of the more spectacular pages of this vivid and exacting work. Compared with Britten Walton is a slow worker, but his output though small is distinguished.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN I made arrangements some time ago to attend a performance of Tosca by the New York Metropolitan Opera Company in the Maple Leaf Gardens it was with some misgivings. The idea of mounting opera in a barn-like structure of Babylonian dimensions presents all manner of acoustical and visual problems. It was not surprising to me that they were not satisfactorily solved, for even in this age they would appear to be completely insoluble. It is for this reason that I was perhaps less disappointed by what I actually saw and heard than those who had come with higher hopes. The fact that for ten successive nights Toronto could produce the largest audiences ever known to attend the opera speaks much for the awakening interest in that art of which I have spoken more than once. Doubtless the Saturday afternoon broadcasts have done much to stimulate this appetite, but there are other causes too: the experience of our troops in Italy, the influx of "new Canadians" from continental Europe, the present wave of prosperity, and the work of various bodies such as the Royal Conservatory Opera School have all contributed to the movement en masse towards the "home ice" during the pre-Coronation week. It may be, too, that the pendulum is swinging away from pure instrumental or vocal music, which is becoming so cerebral, towards the warm and vibrant realm of music drama. I do not pretend to be an expert in prognosticating fashions and tastes, but there is a very definite trend towards opera. Canada is still on the fringe and it is doubtful whether it will get much further than the semi-amateur stage in this country except perhaps in Toronto, the musical capital of Canada, where most of the conditions for success are already in existence. There is certainly the audience, if 12,000 or so can be tempted for ten successive nights to attend a spectacle under such generally unsatisfactory conditions, and at high prices, too.

✧ ✧

FROM my seat the action on the stage resembled the antics of performing fleas, while any resemblance between the "Met" and the sound that reached me by means of the amplifying system was probably purely coincidental. But even this was nearer to the real thing than the best recording or broadcast. One was at least almost in touch with the performers. But how much better it could have been, even with singers of much smaller reputation, in less Gargantuan surroundings. If the opera could have been performed by pantomime giants 20 feet high and equipped with loud speakers the effect might be grotesque but it would be to scale with the enormous dimensions of Toronto's roofed-in Colosseum.

✧ ✧ ✧

SO FAR as I could see and hear from my observation post in the fastnesses of the Greens it was George London, the Montreal-born bass-baritone, who stole the show as Scarpia. Even as a tall and sinister-looking flea he was convincing, while Jan Peerce, though in excellent voice, so far as one could judge, was too short and tubby as a romantic hero, and his acting gave the impression that he was impersonating an operatic tenor. Dorothy Kersten has a beautiful soprano voice of great richness and purity. She has not yet sufficient maturity to suggest the "amorous tigress", as she is described by Scarpia; a girlish Tosca such as she portrayed would be no match against the cruel and cunning Chief of Police. The real Tosca was a woman of the world, mature and poised even when cornered, sensuous and voluptuous in the grand manner. She belonged to a type that has died out with the social conventions of the age that produced it. Living on the fringes of a rigidly hierarchical society she submitted to convention in an unconventional manner. Maintaining her position by virtue of her beauty and brains she strove to give the impression that she was born to the purple. That Miss Kersten was only partially successful in filling the role is due not only to her youth but also to the lack of suitable living models.

CROWNING OF THE QUEEN OF THE HIMALAYAS

Peking 'Disappearances'

By ROBERT FRANKLIN

Interpreters of the Communist China scene are seeking to find a pattern in the disappearance from public view of a number of prominent Peking Party members.

Those who believe that there is a militant pro-Russian faction in the Chinese Communist Party are nodding significantly over the fact that three of the five or six prominent officials who appear to have dropped out of sight have always been regarded as members of this group. In fact, the existence of such a faction has never been verified.

Probably the best known of the "missing" officials, but by no means the most important, is Li Li-san, who quarrelled with Chairman Mao Tse-tung in the late 'twenties over what course the revolution should follow, was expelled from the Party, and subsequently spent fifteen years in Moscow.

He was re-instated as a member of the Party's Central Committee in 1945, and upon the establishment of the People's Government in 1949 was made Minister of Labour and a vice-chairman of the All-China Federation of Trades Unions.

Li was not re-elected to the latter post at the recent trades union congress in Peking; nor was he given a place on the eighty-man committee. His name was not mentioned during the congress, and he played no part in the May Day celebrations in Peking.

Having been dropped from the Federation of Trades Unions, it seems likely that Li may also have lost the labour portfolio, because of its close connection with trades union matters. Li has not appeared publicly in Peking for more than six months.

The other two officials said to be members of the Russian or international clique of whom little has been heard for some time are Chen Shao-yu and Kang Shen.

Chen, known sometimes as Wang Ming, spent five years in Moscow in the 'thirties as a member of the Comintern praesidium. He is a member of the Party's Central Committee and a vice-chairman of the Committee of Legal and Political Affairs. Whatever the reason, he has been inactive for a considerable time.

Kang Shen, who once was reputed to be a member of the Politburo, is a member of the Central Committee and the policy-making Central People's Government Council. Although this body meets regularly Kang has not been in attendance for more than two-and-a-half years. At the same time, however, his appointment to a regional administrative committee was announced only a few months ago. He appears to be moving in less exalted circles these days.

Two of Communist China's top military men are included in the small group of prominent officials who have been inactive for some time. They are General Lin Piao, Fourth Field Army Commander and China's ablest soldier; and General Hsu Hsiang-chien, Chief of Staff of the People's Liberation Army. There is no question of political disfavour here, however, for there is considerable evidence that both men are suffering from tuberculosis.

Other officials who have not been mentioned by the Peking Press for some time—although normally they would be—are Chen Yun, a Politburo member and chairman of the important Committee of Financial and Economic Affairs, and Chang Yun-yi, member of the Central People's Government Council and the Central Committee. Some Of The Best Things Are Free

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

Ontario this year has opened six new roadside parks to enhance the enjoyment, convenience and economy of users of her highways. This brings to 62 the total of such parks. They are generally small in area, but in some cases they include more than 300 acres. The provincial Department of Highways has issued a booklet which, for the first time, appears in a French-language as well as an English edition. It is completely descriptive of these recreation grounds.

The booklet, or bulletin, shows the highways upon which these parks are situated in all parts of the province, establishing the location with respect to the distance and direction from the nearest town. It identifies the lake or stream upon which the site is located, the acreage, whether or not boats are for hire, whether there is fishing and species of fish to be obtained, whether there is swimming, if there is a camping section, the nature of the drinking water, how many fireplaces are available, if firewood is provided, how many picnic tables there are, nature of garbage disposal, if a caretaker is in attendance and the nature of the terrain.

Pure water is to be found at most of these parks. Some have a dozen or more fireplaces and one has as many as 70 picnic tables. Some have floored tent sites and some even have stoves. In most places cut firewood is available.

And for this, all the Department of Highways asks from the camper, Ontario resident or visitor, is that he or she, finding nature undefiled, kindly leave it that way. This places the enjoyment of nature's beauties within reach of anyone who has or can arrange for transportation. It is a boon to those who find summer hotel rates beyond their purses and it goes far in the promotion of health and contentment.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which God created and made ....

But there went up a mist from the earth and watered the whole face of the ground.

And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul .... And the Lord God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it ..... And the Lord God caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. (Gen. 2: 2, 6, 7, 15, 21, 22.)

O send out thy light and thy truth: let them lead me; let them bring me unto thy holy hill, and to thy tabernacles ....

Why are thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God. (Ps. 43: 3, 5.)

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE FLOAT OVERLOOKED

Sir: In your write-up of the Coronation Day Parade you mentioned four floats, the Young Progressive Conservative Club entered a float which I believe was the best one in the parade, and more in keeping with the Coronation than some of the others present. I expect their float entailed a great deal of work.

In your report you failed to mention the grand job done by this organization in helping to make this parade a success.

I was disappointed by the lack of support by the business and industrial sections of our community. I believe those civic minded groups who took the trouble to enter a float should be congratulated for a job well done.

I am not a member of this organization or any political party. I do believe in giving credit where credit is due.

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) MACDUFF.

Series On Canada

(Windsor Star)

Significant among the Pulitzer prize winners for fine writing is Mr. Austin Wehrwein, reporter on the Milwaukee, Wis., Journal. He took top honors for international reporting with his 26-article series on "Canada's New Century".

Obviously Mr. Wehrwein did a fine job, else he would not have received the award. From the Canadian viewpoint, however, the importance is that a newspaper of this high standing in the United States should have regarded this country of sufficient interest to warrant such a lengthy series of articles.

The award is a tribute to Mr. Wehrwein. It is likewise a tribute to Canada, our development and our potentials.

Seek Leader For Evangelism

TORONTO (CP)—The Presbyterian Church in Canada will look for a suitable person to engage for a program of mass evangelism, Ernest C. McCullagh of Dunnville said Saturday at the annual meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

The efforts of Billy Graham, an evangelist in the United States, and other leaders has been of great assistance to the church, he said.

Mr. McCullagh, convener of the committee on evangelism and social service, said the church will hold three schools of evangelism this winter, one in the Maritimes, one on the Prairies and the third in British Columbia.

"A primary task of the church is evangelism," he added.

Baby Tied In Crib While Parents Work

SUDBURY (CP)—A father admitted in court Saturday that he and his wife left their 10-months-old baby tied spread-eagled in a crib for three hours each night while they went to work.

The couple, whose names were not disclosed, were given a year's suspended sentence on a charge of ill-treatment of the child.

Police who entered the couple's apartment at the request of neighbors said they found the baby's hands and feet taped to slats so it couldn't roll from the crib.

Plane Loaned For U.S. Race

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Betty Smitham of London, and Mrs. Phillis Noble of Guelph were losing hope of taking part in the fifth annual "powder puff derby" between Welland and New Smyrna, Fla., on June 10 as one flying club after another turned down their request to borrow a plane for the race but their persistence paid off.

Saturday, the Kingston Flying Club announced it will let them use a Cessna 120 for the flight. The women had hoped to be able to borrow a Canadian - built Fleet Canuck for the flight, but any plane is better than no plane, said Miss Smitham.

Miss Smitham will be co-pilot on the flight. She was the first woman pilot licensed by the London Aero Club.

Discuss Bible Study At WMS Meeting

OMEMEE (ENS)—"Adventures In Bible Study" was the theme of the May meeting of Trinity United Church WMS.

Group leader Mrs. L. Casey, assisted by Miss C. Connell, Mrs. A. Rutherford, Miss M. Faulkner and Mrs. H. Graham, discussed the Bible in daily living and advantage of group Bible study. Bible reading in the home was emphasized. In private Bible reading it was recommended to make a note of three things: What you don't understand, truths you have become aware of for the first time and passages which especially fit your own case. This was considered a good preparation for a profitable discussion.

Miss Faulkner sang "The Love of God." The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. D. Hicks. Mrs. Casey led in prayer. Highlights from the recent Sectional Rally in Lindsay were given.

The treasurer reported that half the allocation would be reached by the end of June. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. G. Overholt for remembrance while in hospital. Mrs. S. Northey was appointed delegate to the Whitby school for leaders. Mrs. Moyer announced that the bale would be packed next week. Lunch was served after the closing hymn and prayer by Mrs. Casey.

UEW Defeats Belleville 6-4 As Hoyle Scores Four Goals Merchants Lose To Kingston

Peterborough UEW crept further ahead in the Eastern Ontario football league Saturday when they won another, this time 6-4 over Belleville Northern Electrics in Belleville.

Their rivals, the Peterborough Merchants, failed in their attempt to keep pace with the UEW when they lost 3-1 to Kingston Concordia Saturday at King Edward park. Kingston are now second and the Merchants third in the league race, both following the UEW, last year's champions.

In Belleville the UEW opened with only 10 players but after 15 minutes play their 11th man showed up. This helped Belleville as they opened the scoring after 10 minutes, but Hoyle notched the equalizer within five minutes.

Belleville came back shortly after to put the Electric up 2-1, but it was Hoyle who tied the score but not until a half-hour of play had passed. Two minutes after Hoyle's second goal, he performed the hat-trick for his third. This time, just before the half, Belleville tied the score three-all.

In the second half Holroyd took a corner kick for UEW and Croll headed it in, to give UE the lead 4-3. Not long after Belleville rallied to tie the score four-all. Holroyd came through with the winning goal, putting the shot through the goalie's legs.

With five minutes to go Hoyle made sure of a UE victory when he lifted the ball over both the full backs' and goalie's heads.

Meanwhile at King Edward park Kingston had opened the attack on the Merchants after they missed several times from close in, the Merchants broke away. Buchan moved in to score. Just after that Payne missed a chance to put the Merchants two up when he hit the cross-bar.

Sparked by their centre who had played professionally in England, Kingston came back to test the Merchants who managed to stem the attack time and time again. But finally Kingston tied the score on a kick from 20 yards out to make the half-time score, one-all.

In the second the Merchants held their own, taking up most of the mid-field play, but their forwards missed a number of chances to score when within scoring distance. Then Kingston, not to be denied, went ahead 2-1. The Merchants scored on a special kick when the Kingston goalie carried the ball, but a technicality ruled that one out. Kingston later made the score 3-1 to assure a win.

Experience Tells As U.S. Golfers Down Canadians

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Experience told the story in a pressure last-nine finish Sunday when the United States swept to a 27-18-point victory over Canada in the international golf team matches for the Hopkins Trophy.

Although they had a seven-point lead from four-ball matches and singles going into the final day, it wasn't until the fourth match of Sunday's singles over the Beaconsfield Golf club course that the Americans were assured of victory. Then Jack Burke, Jr., sank a 25-foot eagle putt on the 18th green to split points with Bobby Locke of South Africa and raise the U. S. point total to 23, enough to take the team championship.

Jim Turnesa came through with a solid back nine to defeat Stan Leonard of Vancouver, and Julius Boros, U. S. open champion, finished with a last-nine rush to overcame Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon. Turnesa and Boros each accounted for 2½ points.

Until the last nine Sunday, Canada led in three of the six singles, tied in two and trailed in only one. The U. S. lead of 17-10 after play of Friday and Saturday had shrunk to 18-14.

Little Jules Huot of Montreal was the lone giant man Sunday—the only player to sweep all three points in a singles match. Huot overwhelmed Doug Ford, running up a five-hold lead over the high-ranking American. He lost three, got them all back in a row and finished the last nine by chipping out a 60-footer for an eagle three on the 18th.

Ted Kroll took the first cut at the growing Canadian point total by taking two of the three points from Bill Kerr of Montreal. Kroll took the first nine by two holes, lost the second nine by one and took the match. He shot a medal 69, the same as Huot. From there on the Americans did no worse than break even. Tommy Bolt was one down to Peter Thomson of Australia, playing for Canada, after nine holes but took three holes to Thomson's two coming home. Both had medal scores of 71.

South Africa's Bobby Locke, trying to aid Canada's cause, had a one-up lead over Burke through the first nine. Burke birdied the 12th to get all square, lost the 13th to Locke's birdie deuce and bounced back in front with a par and birdie at the 14th and 15th.

Locke took the 16th with a birdie three and the 17th with a par three. But Burke calmly sank his 25-footer for an eagle three at the 18th to take the last nine, finish all square on the match and give the U. S. team enough points for victory. Burke had a medal 69, three under par, to Locke's 70.

In Saturday's singles, the U. S. outscored Canada 12½ to 5½. The teams finished Friday's four-ball matches with 4½ points each.

The strong men Saturday for the American team were Bolt and Ford. Bolt handed Locke a decisive setback, taking each nine by one hole and shooting a medal 67 to Locke's 69. Ford, with another 69, capitalized on erratic putting by Dick Borthwick of Hamilton to ring up another three points for the U. S.

Leonard ran wild over Boros, who had a fine medal 70 himself, and accounted for more than half of Canada's points.

Cobourg Defeats Liflocs 17-4

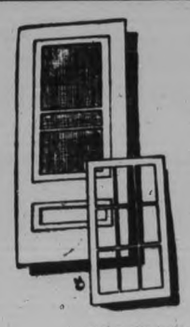
With five players out studying for high school examinations, the Peterborough Liflocs ran into difficulties Saturday when playing Cobourg in a lakeshore baseball game. The Liflocs revamped lineup couldn't keep pace with Cobourg's pitching and batting went down to a 17-4 defeat.

Making his first start on the mound for the Liflocs, Roger Jenkins of Bobcaygeon suffered a case of nerves and lasted to the third when L. Sullivan took over. But Sullivan walked too many and ran into trouble. McGrath came to his rescue and finished the game.

Cobourg collected 18 hits and cashed in on the Liflocs miscues to run up the score. Meanwhile, the juniors collected 11 hits, but just couldn't push their baserunners around for the valuable counters.

Tonight, the juniors face Colborne at Riverside park at 6.30 p.m. In their first meeting Colborne just managed to eke out a one-run win.

Batting Slump Worries Musial



BROOKLYN (AP)—Even the greatest athletes worry when they're not doing what is expected of them and Stan Musial is no exception.

The St. Louis Cardinal star, in the throes of one of the worst batting slumps of his career, is far from frantic over his lowly .247 mark. But he admits he is worried.

"Suppose you were in business and it fell off 50 per cent," he asked. "Wouldn't you worry? Well, baseball is my business and I would say my work has fallen off 50 per cent this year."

Musial's frank appraisal of himself is typical of Stan the man. He gave no excuses. He doesn't blame his batting slump on injuries. The poor weather hasn't affected him.

"I just haven't been hitting the way I should," he said. "My timing is off. Don't ask me why. I just don't know."

3 Schoolboys Break Records

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Three schoolboy rowing records were broken Saturday in the eighth annual Canadian Secondary Schoolboys Rowing Association meet. Records were smashed in the open heavy singles, open heavy doubles and the championship eights.

Don Guest of Etobicoke Collegiate cracked a mark set by his brother, Jack, Jr., in the open heavy singles when he covered the distance in 5:51. That was 23 seconds faster than the old mark set in 1951.

Guest also teamed with Larry Stephen of St. Catharines to win the open heavy doubles final. The third mark was set by Buffalo Lafayettes who covered the course in 4:39.3. The former record was 5:02.3.

St. Catharines Collegiate Institute racked up the highest point total, gaining 54 points. Welland Notre Dame was second with 50 and Buffalo Layfayette and Buffalo St. Joseph's were tied for third place with 30 points apiece.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

The sporting world, everything from chess and checkers to hockey, baseball and soccer, has a great friend in Archie Campbell, masseur for the Toronto Maple Leafs (the hockey variety).

During his 35 years in sport he has been a coach, manager, trainer and just plain helper to professional, semi-professionals, amateurs and even kids' teams. There isn't a sport Archie hasn't had something to do with in some way during that time.

Archie's popularity across the country finally downed him for an eight-count recently and doctors ordered him to have a rest before he went down for the full count. "Get away from your friends and close acquaintances" was the order.

Where does Archie turn up? Right here in Peterborough where he is surrounded by friends, former NHL stars, the lacrosse players (the Trailermen), the Kiwanians, and dozens of others who have met him along the sporting trail.

But Peterborough is like any other place Archie might have chosen; he'll always have friends wherever he goes.

Helped Out Timbermen

Archie likes this district which he has gradually known through associations with Dit Clapper and Dave Kerr, his very good friends. Then for the past several years the Timbermen called on him to help mend their bruises, sprains and other injuries sustained during playoff time.

The stocky masseur helped last season in keeping star Ike Hildebrand around long enough to help put the Trailers into the playoffs. You'll remember Ike suffered an injured shoulder late in the season. Well that shoulder received the Campbell treatment which allowed Ike to play sooner than expected.

Working directly under doctors, Archie has years of experience in mending sportsmen, often providing many surprises for nurses and doctors. That's why he's one of the Leafs' most important persons.

OLD FRIENDS, ARCHIE AND DIT CLAPPER

This year when the Leafs folded early, Archie went to the Barrie Flyers and into the Memorial Cup games. Actually he went along to keep an eye on star Orv Tessier's severe charley horse.

Tessier suffered the charley horse on a Wednesday. By Saturday after treatments by Archie the star was able to play, much to the surprise of doctors and nurses who just wouldn't believe that it could be healed in such short order. That's just an example of the work he's been doing through the years.

Helped Mend Stars

Archie, through his work, has helped mend stars in all sports back into playing condition. He's worked on such great athletes as Syl Apps, Teeder Kennedy, the Conachers, Busher Jackson, Joe Primeau, Mose Raliegh, Richard and Bouchard from hockey, Jack Kramer from tennis, and many, many top stars from all other sports.

During a visit to Quebec last winter Archie met Jean Marc Beliveau and was greatly impressed with the French-Canadian hockey idol.

Archie said despite the hero-worship Beliveau is still a "retiring, unassuming fellow, a swell kid to meet." The Aces' star, according to Archie, "looks more like a movie star than a hockey player" and warned Peterborough men to hold their ladies in tow if and when the lad comes to town.

Archie said police were used to hold the girls back when they crowded after Beliveau, seeking his autograph.

Even though he's noted for his treatments to big-name sportsmen, Archie loves to mingle with the neighborhood kids, helping them in their various sports. He glories in talking to the young fry.

Recently the Riverdale Kiwanis club (of which he is a member) raised $1,100 at a sports day, promoted by Campbell, at Toronto's Cedar Brae. There fellow Kiwanians and sportsmen backed him to provide that money which will be used for youth work. He hopes that Peterborough people will back the Peterborough Kiwanis Club by attending the circus on June 17 and help raise funds for community work.

Lacrosse Smooth, Lovely Game

Archie is a lacrosse hound. He loves the game and has been associated with it for years.

During those years he has found that lacrosse is over-rated as a rough game and it is actually a "smooth, lovely game to play." He pointed out that people see the cuts in lacrosse and think the game rough. But in football, which he considers rougher, they don't see the serious injuries such as dislocations.

Archie believes lacrosse is one of the great conditioning games. He has American football coaches to back his beliefs for they often have their players play lacrosse for conditioning. Besides like hockey it develops co-ordination between the brain and muscles.

In Gunner Lynch, Trailer trainer, Archie believes the lacrosse players have a top-notch trainer. During his visits the veteran conditioner has watched Gunner at work and commented that he holds the respect of the team and is doing a very good job.

Archie will be back in town later this year, especially if the Trailermen make the playoffs.

St. Catharines Wallops Hamilton 24-7

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Catharines Athletics and Orillia West Yorks still are tied for first-place in the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association.

St. Catharines managed a home-game win from Hamilton Tigers 24-7 Saturday night and at Orillia the Yorks defeated Mimico Mountaineers 18-9. In the only other game of the evening Brampton Excelsiors dropped Fergus Thistles 14-11.

Leading the Athletics' attack was Derry Davies with five goals. Al Frick and Don Frick scored three each. Doug Smith, Jim Bradshaw, John Dewar, Skip Teal and Bill Bradshaw had two each and singles were by Max Wolly, Emil Uhrynuk and Don Moore.

Playing coach Arnold Smith starred for Hamilton with two counters. Butch Guthro, Barney Welch, Al Doyle, Doug Davidson and Bob McFarlane gained singles.

TOP MAN FOR ORILLIA

Orillia's top man was Kent Croft who threw in four goals and assisted on another. Jim McNulty had three goals and three assists. Two goals apiece were scored by Elmer Lee, Les Digby and Don McPhail. Singletons went to Jack Kapasky, Tony Damico, Joe McNulty, Leo Teatro and Tom Banks.

Veteran Pop Chard headed the Mimico scorers with three goals, Fred Sandford and Jim McNeil each held a matching two goals and two assists.

At Brampton, Pete Bradkin paced the home team with three goals and two assists. Jack Bionda, Gord Steel, Nick Ferri and Bob Sutherland got two each. Singles were added by Jack Sibbald, Al Garbutt and Chuck Simpson.

Fergus marksmen were Ron Landoni, Stan Abbott and Jay Hill with two each. Marlowe Woods, Don McWhirter, Don Gear, Elmer Harris and Jim Halls contributed singles.

Queen Praises Richards' Win

EPSOM, England (AP) — The Queen Saturday saw the king of jockeys beat her out of British turfdom's top prize—the Epsom Derby.

Although disappointed, the Queen took it like a good sport. She had a big smile and congratulations for the winning jockey, Sir Gordon Richards, who piloted Pinza to a four-length victory in the historic 1½-mile race for three-year-olds.

The Queen's horse, Aureole, finished second.

Only five days earlier the Queen bestowed a knighthood on the stumpy, 49-year-old jockey, who has won more races than any other man in the world during his 33-year career.

It was the first time Sir Gordon had come in a winner in the Derby in 28 tries.

But was the Queen annoyed? Not at all.

"The Queen said how delighted she was," Sir Gordon reported after being received in the royal box.

Hi-Lo's Forbes Wins At Roosevelt Raceway

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Hi-Lo's Forbes, a five-year-old, raced to a mile world record for pacers on a half-mile track Saturday night when he was clocked in 1:58 3-5 at Roosevelt Raceway.

The listed record of 1:59 3-5 was established by Sampson Hanover as a four-year old at Delaware, Ohio, in 1951. The mile track record of 1:55 is held by the late Billy Direct.

Henry Clukey held Hi-Lo's Forbes, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wagner of Landover, Md., off the early pace as Ferman Hanover stepped the first quarter in 28 4-5 seconds, the half in 58.4 and the three-quarters in 1:28.3.

Then Clukey brought the Wagner pacer up fast and he pulled away in the stretch to finish 1¼ lengths in front of Meadow Rice, last year's three-year-old pacing champion. Thomas B. Scott was third.

Pats Edge Brampton 11-10 For First Junior OLA Win Brioux, Hill, Batley Star

Doug Miller's Peterborough Pats broke into the win column in the Junior OLA league Saturday when they edged past Brampton, last year's Minto Cup champions, 11-10 at Miller Bowl. Although they lost their first two starts, this victory over the Excelsiors indicated that the Pats can be considered a contending team for Ontario honors this season.

In the closing moments of the fourth period, Brampton Excelsiors managed to tie the game when Russelle scored to force an overtime period. From the start of the overtime it appeared that the Pats would be behind the eight-ball.

Brampton's McLaughlin whipped home the first tally by Hill in the opening seconds of the extra period, but successive goals by Carl Brioux, Bob Allen and Rock Batley for the Pats clinched the game.

Goalie Hill of the "Pats" was the star of the show, making some outstanding stops, especially in the first and second periods, which later proved to be a decisive factor in the outcome of the game.

Before the fourth period, one of the Brampton players was heard to remark, "Let's win so we can enjoy ourselves on the way home," but the "Pats" sparked with such stalwarts as Allen, Brioux, Bloom and Batley disapproved, and showed it by scoring the three successive goals in the 10-minute overtime period.

In the opening ceremonies, acting Mayor T. D. Miller, a former lacrosse player, and D. A. McGillis squared off in a formal face-off, with acting Mayor Miller coming up with the ball. Lineups:

Brampton — Goal, Millar; defence, Savage, Johnson; wings, Hillson, Caruso; rover, McLaughlin; centre, Laidlaw; alternates, Armstrong, Malloy, Clark, Russelle, Island.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The main attraction, out on our local greens, this coming week is the ladies open rink tournament for the "J. J. Duffus" Trophy. Play is called for 1.30 o'clock Wednesday.

Last season there were twenty-seven rinks entered from clubs in this district, and the ladies are hoping for even a larger entry, Wednesday, Mrs. Cross Belleville rink won the J. J. Duffus trophy in 1952.

On Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, regular schedule games.

Friday night, June 12th, we are holding our first "invitation" night, more information later.

Saturday evening "The Family Hour" tournament.

And this announcement is especially for the men: Men's rink tournament (open), Wednesday, June 17th, 1.30 o'clock. Strattan Trophy, fee $10.00 per. Remember the good time we had at this tournament last year.

There were 40 rinks competing. Aaron Black is chairman again this year and if you have not already given him your entry, do it to-night.

We ran across this little piece of "spiced tongue", the other day: "For years," said the little woman, "I did not know where my husband spent his evenings. One night I got home early, and there he was."

Royals Upset Toronto In Doubleheader

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some fine hurling gave Montreal the best of a three-game, week-end series with Toronto Maple Leafs and kept the Royals comfortably on top of the International Laseball League.

The Royals took both ends of a Sunday doubleheader from their arch-rivals, 4-3 and 4-1.

Righthander Ed Roebuck went the route for the winners in the initial contest, allowing only four hits for his sixth victory against one loss.

Lefty Ken Lehman pitched five-hit ball in the abbreviated night-cap, Equalling Roebuck's won-and-lost performance. Cuban outfielder Sandy Amoros blasted a homer and a double in three times at bat.

The Leafs won the Saturday game 5-2, rapping three Montreal hurlers for 14 hits. Lou Sleater gave up eight safeties for his second win against as many losses.

The Royals hold a three-game lead over Rochester Red Wings, who jumped back into second place ahead of Toronto by taking two of three games from the seventh-place Baltimore Orioles.

The Wings swept a Sunday twin bill from the Orioles, 10-5 and 7-6 but lost the Saturday encounter 9-5.

Righthander Floyd Mellier got his initial win in a free-hitting Sunday opener. Baltimore's Stan Jok brought home all his team's runs in the nightcap—which the Orioles lost—with two three-run homers. Reliefer Bob Tiefenauer got the win.

The fourth-place Ottawa Athletics Sunday halted Syracuse win-streak at five games by taking the nightcap of a doubleheader, 3-1. Bob Trice hurled six-hit ball.

The Chiefs won the opener 6-5. Duke Markell was given the win although he was knocked out in the seventh. The A's outhit Syracuse 11-8, but were charged with four errors.

The sixth-place Chiefs won their fourth straight Saturday by edging the tail-end Springfield Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

Buffalo Bisons, tied for fourth spot with the A's, took both halves of a Sunday double bill from Springfield Cubs.

Frank Carswell and Jack Wallaesa, making his debut in the Buffalo line-up, drove in six runs to highlight the Bisons' 11-4 opening victory. Veteran Bill Voiselle, who pitched one-hit ball in five innings of relief, got the win.

Milt Jordan won his own game in the abbreviated nightcap by hitting a homer with two out in the seventh inning for a 4-3 decision.

Cleveland Takes Doubleheader; Yanks Take Two

By ED CORRIGAN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League is beginning to level off and as New York Yankees today took a casual glance behind, who was galloping along in second place but their old friends, Cleveland Indians. The only trouble with the Indians is that they have an alarming tendency to fold in the stretch and play dead when they go up against Casey Stengal and his operatives. In 1951, for example, the Yanks won 15 and lost only seven to the Indians.

Last year, Cleveland made a better fight of it and the Bronx Bombers' margin was only 12-10. So far this season, the Yanks have won three and lost none against the Indians, who still are 5½ games off the pace.

The Indians will have a good opportunity to make up some ground this weekend when the Yankees invade Cleveland for a four-game set.

Manager Al Lopez of Cleveland can see one bright ray through the clouds. He probably will have Bob Feller, who until Sunday had not won a game in more than a month, available.

PITCHES SIX-HITTER

Feller pitched a nice six-hitter Sunday in the opener of a doubleheader against Philadelphia. The Indians won it, 8-4, then went on to take the nightcap, 4-3, Early Wynn, Dave Hoskins and Bob Lemon handling the mound chores.

But the Yanks also won a doubleheader from St. Louis Browns, 9-2 and 7-2. The second triumph was the Yanks 11th in a row and marked their longest winning streak under Stengel.

Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox, in the midst of a battle for third place, split a doubleheader. The Nats piled up a 16-2 margin to enable Bob Porterfield to coast to the victory in the first game. But in the nightcap, Harry Dorish posted a 5-1 triumph for Chicago.

Detroit Tigers, as usual, lost. The Red Sox beat them, 4-1. Skinny Brown went the distance for the winners and hit a home run.

CLOSE BATTLE

In the National League, Milwaukee Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers continued their neck-and-neck battle for first place, and today it is the Braves' turn to occupy the top rung. They won two games from the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-0, on Johnny Antonelli's four-hitter, and 5-3. The Brooks took a single game, swamping St. Louis Cardinals, 10-1.

The Milwaukee triumphs dropped the Phillies 4½ games behind to third place.

Among the second division clubs, Chicago Cubs, aided by a pair of homers by Ralph Kiner, won two from New York Giants, 10-5 and 5-3, and Cincinnati Redlegs took a pair from Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-1, and 11-6.

The Cubs broke a six-game losing streak with their first victory over the Giants. Warren Hacker won the first game after losing eight in a row.

QUEEN ELIZABETH POSES in the gown she wore at her Coronation on Tuesday. The picture was made on Coronation Day and released at the Queen's request so everyone could see the gown's beauty. It is unlikely she will wear it again. It will be preserved for posterity. Designed by Norman Hartnell of jewelled, embroidered white satin, it has a moulded bodice, cut square over the shoulders but curving to a slightly heart-shaped centre. Sleeves are halfway to the elbow, slightly shorter outside than inside the arm. It has a full-flaring skirt, slightly trained and embroidered with 11 emblems of the British Isles and Commonwealth countries, including Canada's maple leaf.

Only Few Cruise Ships Left On Great Lakes Run

By BUD SPRUNGER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Except for cruise ships and a few ferry boats, passenger travel has all but ended on the Great Lakes, once a 1,000-mile artery over which swanky steamers carried thousands of immigrants to help fill the West.

William Semler, a ticket agent here for 40 years, can only think of six lines operating this season and only four vessels aside from the ferrys.

Semler, of course, was not in on the lakes passenger trade in its heyday—the period after the Erie canal was completed in 1825 and the West started filling up.

990 STEAMBOATS

A decade after that, the trade was approaching its peak and around 100 sailboats as well as 990 steamboats put in at Cleveland alone.

Railroads crimped the service, Semler says, but what really did it in was the automobile.

Still in operation are the Georgian Bay Line's North American and South American, seven-day cruise ships which call at Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, Chicago, Duluth and the Bay. The ships also offer some short-haul trips between the various cities.

The Owen Sound Transportation Co., Ltd., has a new cruise ship operating in Georgian Bay and a ferry from Tobermory to Manitoulin Island.

The Pelee Shipping Co. runs the steamer Pelee from Sandusky across Lake Erie to Pelee Island and Leamington and Kingsville, Ont.

CAR FERRYS

And on Lake Michigan, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway runs car ferrys from Ludington, Mich., to three Wisconsin ports.

Another line—the Wisconsin and Michigan Steamship Co.—goes from Muskingum to Milwaukee.

The last regular passenger service—the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Co.'s—ended in 1951 when the line called it quits and tied up its ships along the Michigan city's waterfront.

Semler remembers when that line operated from April 1 to Dec. 1 between Cleveland and Detroit, Buffalo and Detroit, Detroit and Chicago, and Detroit and Mackinac Island. The line's Greater Detroit and Greater Buffalo could each hustle 1,200 passengers over the water.

Another big lakes ship, the Cleveland and Buffalo Line's Seeandbee, was converted into an aircraft carrier during the Second World War.

Other lines Semler recalls were the Anchor Line, between Buffalo and Duluth; the Northern Navigation Co. between Detroit and Duluth; the Ashley and Dustin Line, between Toledo and Sandusky and Detroit; the White Star Line, which operated the Tashmoo between Detroit and Port Huron; and three firm which operated on Lake Michigan between Chicago and Mackinac Island: the Goodrich Steamship Co., the Michigan Transit and the Arnold Line.

All have stopped service.

Passenger ships at their peak settled the West.

The first ship on the lakes west of Niagara Falls was the Grisson, launched by La Salle, the explorer, in 1679. She sank with a load of furs on a return trip after he had left her.

Canada launched the first steamer, the Frontenac, in 1816. And the first upper lakes steamer was the Walk in the water, launched at Buffalo, in 1818. She was wrecked in 1821, too flimsy to stand a powerful Lake Erie storm.

In the 1840s, the steamer Chesapeake offered prairie chicken meals, games of chance and an orchestra. Another swanky boat of that era was the Hendrik Hudson, launched in 1847 at Chicago with silk velvet settees, cut-glass chandeliers, carpets and gilded walls.

A record total of 2,655,000 visitors to Canada's national parks was registered in the 12 months ending March 31, 1953.

TV Network With Europe Now Technically Feasible

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—It now is technically feasible to build a live television network connection with Europe in as little as two years but the cost remains a huge obstacle, says an industry engineer.

W. W. Watts, a vice-president of Radio Corporation of America, says "I don't know if private enterprise can afford or would want to finance it alone."

But Watts foresees probably large military and other benefits from such a connection, which also would provide hundreds of other communications circuits.

There are several possible ways of setting up a TV link with Europe, says Watts, but he believes the most practical would be up through the Arctic where the water gaps are the shortest.

USE RELAY TOWERS

Microwave radio relay towers of the type now in wide use on TV network routes could be set up over the land portions of the route to Europe, he says, and cable employed to bridge the water gaps too wide to be spanned by microwave.

Such underwater use of cable for TV has been made possible, he says, by development of repeaters or amplifiers that operate with transitors requiring only a fraction of the power needed for vacuum tubes now used in repeaters. Heretofore, a cable capable of carrying TV signals could not be used any great distance under water because of the large quantity of electric power required to push current out to the most distant underwater repeaters.

It would be possible, he declares, to build such a link to Europe by a route on which the longest water gap would be 290 miles.

ALTERNATIVE ROUTE

An alternative route could be up through Alaska, across the narrow Bering strait, and through Russia's Siberia into Western Europe, he says.

Watts says global TV would be a great force for peace and international good will "when we can see what's going on in Moscow and they can see what's going on in New York—or you can sit in the living room in Chicago on a Saturday night and watch the Folies Bergeres from Paris in color."

If such a link were in existence now, Canadian and American TV viewers would have been able to watch the Coronation Tuesday as it happened instead of waiting for films to be flown across the ocean.

RECORD CROWD

Norm Crowe estimates the CGE picnic crowd Saturday at approximately 25 per cent more than any other of the last three years, and an all-time attendance record.

TOP FLIGHT CLOWN

BUSINESS CHANGE

In business at 424 George St. since 1921, the retail firm of M. S. Zacks & Son has moved down to 255 George St. Transfer was completed this morning. Harry Zacks is continuing in the merchandizing of women's and men's wear.

DECORATIONS COMPLETED

Decorations to the Murray St. Baptist Church have been completed according to the Rev. Ivan Morgan. The walls have been repainted and a completely new wiring and lighting system has been installed.

DAYS OF FRAGRANCE

The locust trees are scenting the air with their fragrant flowering these days, a wonderful bouquet with the syringeas. The miracle of nature's recovery from the depths of winter seems to recede in the lushness of June, the dimming memory of December.

PLOWMEN'S MEETING

The year is moving on in the direction of the International Plowing Match at Cobourg. The monthly meeting of the general committee will be Wednesday, at 8 p.m., in the counties council chamber. Floyd Lashley, Ontario supervisor of agricultural societies and fairs, will be present.

EXAMS BEGIN

Promotion exams for Grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 begin today at PCVS. The examinations will run approximately a week. Departmental examinations for Grade 13 will begin Tuesday and continue until June 13, with 17 different examinations being written.

DECORATION DAY PLANS

Officials of the IOOF say that the main speaker for their ceremonies on Decoration Day, June 28, will be the Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church. Members of the city fire department are expected to march in the parade and lay wreaths on graves of former comrades at Little Lake cemetery.

LABOR COUNCIL MEET

The Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) are holding their June meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the labor centre. The council, consisting of unions affiliated with or chartered directly to the CIO and CCL, has been active in support of the Quaker Oats Co. strikers. Local 293, UPWA (CIO-CCL), is one of the most influential locals in the council.

MONAGHAN ROAD PAVING

Motorists are reminded of the preparations by City Engineer Chalmers' department for paving of two sections of Monaghan Road. The longer stretch is from Braidwood Ave. south to Concession Road, at Crawford's Grove, and the other is north of Frank St. to the vicinity of Prince of Wales School. This work was authorized in 1952, but was held over, and placed at the top of this season's program.

STRIKERS VISIT HAMILTON

Strikers from the Quaker Oats Co. went to the Westinghouse plant in Hamilton last week and in a plant-gate collection obtained $1,038. They were feted by the executive and members of Local 504, UE. The ladies' auxiliary brought lunches to the dozen Peterborough collectors and later they were all treated to dinner. Another plant-gate collection was taken up today at the CGE plant here and sometime this week the strikers will visit Toronto plants under contract to the UPWA (CIO-CCL).

YOUR NEW POST OFFICE BUILDING is proceeding satisfactorily, according to the contractors. In the all-over picture above, looking southeast from the corner of Louis and Charlotte Sts., the complete basement walls and floor can be seen in place and, in the foreground, the start that is being made to forms for the pouring of cement for the main floor. Contractors say that the main floor should be completed by about the end of June.

Motorcycle-Car Crash Injures Couple Slightly

Two people were injured slightly Sunday afternoon when their motorcycle collided with a car on River Road north of the city.

Police said the accident occurred when motorcyclist Claude Johnson 19, 463 Albert St., tried to pass a car driven by Norman Davis, 325 Euclid Ave. Both were travelling north.

A small English car, southbound, forced Johnson to cut in too quickly and his motorcycle hit the front of the Davis car. Johnson and his passenger, Shirley Rogers, 18, 512 Romaine St., were thrown from the machine to the gravel road.

Johnson received a gash over one eye, another gash on his left leg, cuts and bruises. He is being treated by Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield and is to be X-rayed later today to determine if he has any broken bones.

Miss Rogers received outpatient treatment at St. Joseph's Hospital for cuts and bruises on her face and hands. She has a bad cut over one eye.

The southbound car did not stop. OPP Corporal Fred Rawlings and Constable Ernie Lunn investigated.

Trinity Church Starts $30,000 Renovation

A $30,000 renovation program has started at Trinity United Church which will be completed by the end of the summer.

Starting in July, the Trinity congregation will meet with St. Andrew's United Church for the two summer months while the work is being done.

Renovation will include redecoration of the church auditorium, the installation of new flush lighting in the auditorium, the acoustic tiling of ceilings throughout the new hall, a new asphalt roof, insulation of the building, and touching up masonry on the exterior walls.

New equipment will also be installed in the church office and a new piano in the church auditorium. Work already started is the painting of the church basement.

Expect Critical Barrage On Cut Road Appropriations

When the Peterborough County Council meet Wednesday morning there is expected to be a barrage of criticism levelled against the Ontario Department of Highways for cuts in road appropriations. The main purpose of the June session is to draw up the equalized assessment for county purposes in 1954. But this may be pushed into the background if the criticism gets too hot and heavy.

At the last session of county council the glum members heard that their approved appropriation for county road purposes had been cut $33,000 by the department.

CUT $35,000

In the meanwhile they have learned the fate of their individual municipal bylaws. Altogether the 15 municipalities have been cut $35,000.

In the county alone, then, this means $68,000 less will likely be spent on roads. The City of Peterborough was cut $40,500, but as the city subsidy is only 33⅓ per cent (and that only on certain items of road construction and maintenance) the blow to it is less severe.

Similar reduced road appropriation bylaws have been reported all across the province.

Masons Hold Church Parade

Members of the 12 Masonic lodges in the Peterborough District attended the annual District Masonic Divine Service held at Murray St. Baptist Church Sunday night.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, district chaplain, used the coronation pledge and Psalm 90 as the basis for his sermon, entitled "Leige Men of Life and Limb."

Christian men must be liege men of life and limb of Jesus Christ, he said.

The lesson was read by District Deputy Grand Master L. H. Ingram.

Special music for the service was provided by the choir, which sang, "Non Nobis Domine," by Quilter, under the direction of Stanley Northrop, organist. Mrs. Leslie McLaren was soloist for the service.

Grabs Pan On Stove, Lakefield Boy Scalded

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Two-year-old Elwood Stockdale was badly scalded Saturday evening when he overturned a pan of water heating on the stove at his Chippewa St. home. His mother, Mrs. Sherman Stockdale, had put the pan there to heat a baby's bottle in

"It happened so fast I didn't even see it," Mrs. Stockdale said. The boy reached up for the pan, grabbed it and was scalded on the neck and chest.

Treated by Dr. Hugh Gastle, Elwood was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his condition is reported today to be "quite good."

Skin grafts may be needed to repair the scalded area.

Agreement Near On IUE Contract

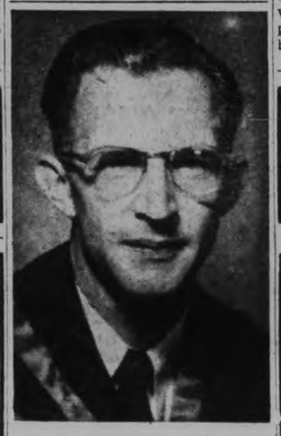
Agreement on the terms of a new contract between the office and salaried workers at the Canadian Genefal Electric plant and the company is expected soon. Chances are that a tentative agreement will be reached later today.

Local 599 in Peterborough and Local 567 of the Davenport Works, Toronto—representing 700 office and salaried workers under contract to the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL)—are today in negotiation in Toronto with company officials. At noon there was no official word on the progress that had been made but the parties feel there is a strong possibility of agreement.

Local 599, representing nearly 500 employees in the Peterborough plant, want a substantial wage increase; a reduction of the work week from 40 to 37½ hours with no loss of take-home pay; and other contract improvements. The work week in Davenport is already 37½ hours.

The two-year contract ended April 1.

Heading the union side in the joint negotiations are Eric May, president of Local 599; Leslie Swainston, president of Local 567; and Joe Wirtz, Canadian IUE co-ordinator.



Freshness, Talent Marks PCVS Art

Peterborough Collegiate students of drawing and painting have a selected exhibit of their year's work on show at the Public Library gallery. It contains some interesting pieces, some amusing, some showing unusual talent. In all there is a freshness and earnestness which is a credit to them and to their instructors. Zoltan Temaszy heads the art department at the Collegiate.

One series in the anteroom interprets horoscopes, and some of the pupils have taken the star under which they were born portentously, resulting in literal and surrealistic designs a whit amusing.

The two rooms are well filled with working sketches, abstracts, figure drawings, framed scenes, pencilled figures, cover designs for the school magazine, and even some pieces of carving.

It is invidious to mention only two or three pupils by name, but one cannot help remarking the gifts of Ron Wilson, aged 17, who has several pieces of distinctive merit, including "Blue and Red Landscape"; J. Boorman with two Siestas, and Nancy Zolyomy, a good head and a landscape. — T. J. A.

Cenotaph Rites End Reunion For Highlanders

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders ended celebrations of their sixth annual reunion here Sunday by marching proudly forth to the chant of the CGE Pipe Band. Accompanied by members of the 4th Anti-Tank Regiment, 32nd Light Anti-Aircraft Battalion and the 3rd Field Park Company, RCE, the Glengarrians formed rank at the Armouries shortly after noon and proceeded out McDonnel St., down Aylmer to Hunter, across Hunter and up George St. to Confederation Park.

Some four hundred Glens, marching smartly, turned into the park and formed in circular ranks at the foot of the Cenotaph. The memorial service was opened with the reading of the names of the men killed in action in the past war. Major Archie M. Hamilton read the 299 names clearly and thoughtfully and many a head was bowed for a moment at the mention of some friend or loved one.

Immediately following the reading of names Capt. the Rev. Henry Cotton spoke the prayer for the Queen and Forces.

PLAYS LAMENT

With the playing of a lament by Pipe Sgt. Neil Campbell, the wreath-laying ceremonies took place. RSM F. A. Lockhart, MM, placed the wreath for the Glengarrians and the 4th Anti-Tank Regiment was represented by C. Dorrington, the 32nd Light Anti-Aircraft Battalion by G. Davis and the 3rd Field Park Company by O. Brown. With the playing of the Last Post by Cecil A. Gallagher, the Union Jack was slowly lowered and a minute of silence prevailed in honor of the men who had died. Then reveille was sounded and the flag raised once again.

Mr. Cotton ended proceedings at the cenotaph with a blessing and the veterans moved out in the street again for the march past.

Marching across Brock St., up Water to London, and then down George, the four companies made ready to give the salute. With a well synchronized "eyes right" the marchers passed Brigadier D. G. Cunningham, CBE, DSO, who took the salute directly across from the main entrance of the city hall.

FINISH AT ARMOURIES

Passing Brigadier Cunningham, the men turned "eyes front" once more and followed the pipe band down George, across Brock, up Aylmer and Murray to the Armouries where lunch was served.

Inside the Armouries the parade broke off and the men were served sandwiches buffet-style. Some of the pipers continued to play in the old Scotch tradition, as they had done before the parade. Soon out of town members were leaving for Kingston, Cornwall and Brockville and the S D & G's 6th annual reunion was over.

Chairman Ken Kingston was more than pleased with the turnout as were all those concerned.

At the banquet Saturday night at least 50 more than expected were there and Sunday morning's parade saw this number increased by still another 40 men.

Once A Week Garbage Collection

Suggested Change In City Be Studied In Next Few Weeks

Peterborough's collection of garbage, twice a week since its institution years ago, may be cut in two at the beginning of September.

And the disposal method has virtually taken to the woods in an entirely new system that has deserted the old incinerator on Rink St. and declared it obsolete.

The sanitation committee of the council contemplated briefly the other day the prospect of only one collection a week throughout the residential areas. That is as far as they are going at present, but Superintendent Elmo Pierce was asked to prepare a report which will be considered further on in summer.

City Clerk Outram recently obtained from cities in the province a summary of their methods of collection and disposal with other department information. According to that tabulation quite a number of cities in Ontario are making only one collection weekly.

"So, we certainly wouldn't be pioneering if we went into one collection a week," Ald. Harold Rehill remarked.

WAIT UNTIL MARCH

Acting Mayor Miller suggested that the proposed switch to once a week might be deferred until next March "when the people are more budget conscious," meaning that they would be more disposed to accept any change effecting an economy.

That reference of economy raised a point of quality of service to which the people of Peterborough have long been accustomed. The committee agreed on one aspect, that convincing explanation would have to be presented to the public.

In the background of the radical change that has come upon the garbage disposal system, is the increase in population and acreage during the last 10 years. So, the job has become bigger, and, as generally reported, the incinerator's capacity has been overborne by the mounting deposit of city refuse.

Meanwhile, the staff is demanding a 40-hour week, and to the point of reference to the Department of Labor. In the words of chairman Ald. W. J. Beggs, last week, the collection and disposal of garbage is costing us a lot more than it used to."

SERIVCE VS. COST

To acting Mayor Miller's observation the chairman said: "We'll receive a certain amount of criticism in any case, but it's one thing against the other, service and cost."

Ald. Rehill remarked that winter would be the wrong time to adopt the change in collection. Ashes are out in volume then. "I think it would be better about Sept. 1 when the people are home from vacations."

City Clerk Outram expressed some doubt as to whether more than 200 people set out garbage twice a week the year round. Expectation of the committee is that the reduced service could be provided at a cost that would partly offset the elevated wage scale.

Ald. Norman Graham said it was about time the department put a stop to collecting material that wasn't garbage. He mentioned some place where there has been a replastering job, and scrap material was set out on the curb for the sanitation staff to pick up. And that, he said, was not an isolated instance.

Altogether, the sanitation committee has been forced by successive circumstances to reorient its thinking about garbage disposal, once a neat and expeditious service of which Peterborough was proud. Apparently the incinerator is being abandoned, and on that phase of the change there has been no written report in council. The fact of quantity of garbage back-logging on the capacity of the furnaces has been accepted by the city council as writing off the incinerator. And in that conclusion they turned to landfill.

Loses Ring, Faints

What would happen if I lost the ring or forgot the pocket I placed it in? Have not these questions been a source of worry to every best man at a wedding? Well it happened on Saturday, and in Peterborough, too. The best man started to worry just as soon as the wedding ceremony commenced in one of the largest churches in the city. He continued to worry: "Where did I put the ring? What pocket is it in?" These thoughts continued and at last they proved too much. Just as the minister was praying the groomsman fainted, striking his head on a pew. He was out cold. The ring was found in the very pocket where he had placed it.

Supreme Court Upholds Gale Guild Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today upheld an Ontario court decision revoking the certification of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) as collective bargaining agent for a group of employees of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

The court divided five to two on an appeal brought by the union from a decision of Mr. Justice G. A. Gale, which had been upheld by the Ontario Appeal Court.

The majority consisted of Justices Patrick Kerwin, R. L. Kellock, Wilfred Estey, C. H. Locke and Gerald Fauteux.

Dissenting were Justices I. C. Rand and John W. Cartwright.

CONTROVERSIAL ISSUE

The group of union workers directly involved in the case were employees of the circulation department of the Toronto newspaper. The issue stirred up perhaps more controversy in labor ranks than any Canadian judicial decision in recent years.

It arose from an application of the Toronto local of the American Newspaper Guild for certification as collective bargaining agent for a bargaining unit of employees in the circulation department.

The application was made, under Ontario provincial labor law, to the Ontario labor relations board.

Main point in question was the board's refusal to allow counsel for the newspaper to cross-examine a guild witness at a hearing on July 12, 1950. Counsel wanted to try to establish whether some employees who had signed union cards might have resigned from the ANG before the certification hearing.

Later, the labor board granted certification to the union.

On appeal, Mr. Justice Gale of the Ontario High Court of Justice set aside the certification. The Gale decision held that the labor board's refusal of cross-examination had denied "natural justice" to the newspaper.

District Man Jailed In $600 Theft

Pleads Not Guilty On Two Counts; Arrested In London

William Mullen, 20, of Norwood was picked up by police in London Saturday and brought here to face two charges of breaking, entering and theft.

He appeared in police court today and pleaded not guilty to the first charge involving theft of more than $600 from the Keith Innes service station on Charlotte St. Hearing of this and a similar charge involving theft from Danby's Snack Bar in Otonabee was adjourned until June 15. Bail was set at $2,000.

The theft from the service station occurred some time Wednesday night when slightly more than $600 was taken from a drawer in the office. The day's proceeds were kept in the locked drawer while an additional $100 in a nearby safe remained untouched.

ENTERED REAR WINDOW

Mr. Innes discovered the money was missing on his arrival at the service station Thursday morning. Entrance was gained through a back window.

Another window was first broken and the second window unlatched through the first. A screwdriver was used to pry off the hasp of the drawer from which the money was taken. Besides the money in the safe, 30 cents was left in the till and two rolls of nickels in the drawer.

GOAT'S BEARD BLOOM

Maintenance of way men of the CNR did such a good job a year ago on the nuisance weed goat's beard that it is hoped they will apply their scythes to the conspicuous blooming inviting renewal of their work now. Along the Millbrook track from Lake St. most of the way to Monaghan Road, "the beard" is ready for cutting right now. Some of it is scattered about the Utilities lot and also along Romaine St. west of Park.

Crippled Girl Making Success

CALGARY (CP)—Vivacious, 24-year-old Jean Lapointe is proving that a handicapped person can make a success of life.

Miss Lapointe, who has the use of only one hand, was graduated from the provincial institute of technology and arts here as a trained worker in weaving, ceramics, water colors, leather and metal work. She is as skilful an artisan as anyone who has graduated from Calgary Tech.

After working more than three years for a Saskatoon insurance firm she enrolled at the institute here, and by the end of her first year had demonstrated so much talent that she was awarded a scholarship for the last two years of the course.

Miss Lapointe's hobby, Siamese cat-breeding, was the inspiration last year for a batik work called "the Siamese cats" which brought her a $100 award from the Alberta visual art board. Batik is a Malayan method of executing color design on textiles by coating with wax the parts not to be dyed.

Another extra-curricular achievement which provided successful was a stage design for the play "The Devil Comes to Alcatris."

You can't go "ALL-OUT" If you feel "ALL-IN"

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and waste remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

Black Cattle Average $332 In E. Ontario Spring Sale

Twenty-seven head of Aberdeen-Angus cattle averaged $332 for a total of $8,964 at Morrow Park Saturday at the spring sale of the provincial breed association.

With only several exceptions the consigned cattle were distributed throughout eastern Ontario, thereby realizing the purpose of the Ontario Aberdeen-Angus Association in broadening the field and increasing the number of owners east of Toronto.

The top price was $585 paid by W. Clifford Hall of Cavan township for a bull from the herd of Thomas Henderson of Guelph. Born in Sept., 1951, Black Prince of Glen Ross was bred by Wm. L. Stephens of Woodbridge, and has recent blood lines of Bandolier of Anoka 44th on the paternal side. His dam was Barbara Rose of Woodslea.

The second highest price was $420 for one of the two female entries from the herd of Don Head Farms, Richmond Hill. Elba of Don Head 7th, with a calf at foot, was bought by Dora Brothers of Bowmanville, who are hoping to build up a herd of the black beef cattle. The name is necessarily a pseudonym.

The second top bull, consigned by Gordon L. Berry of Glanford Station in Wentworth county, went at $460 to Ross Van Dyck of Bath in Lennox-Addington. The next was Clifford Hall's yearling bought for $385 by Cyril R. McKinnon of McDonald's Corners in Lanark.

And, the fourth bull, consigned by Malcolm Bailey of Uxbridge, sold for $375 to Wm. C. Dunlop of Balderson, in Lanark.

Second highest price for females was $400, paid by Ross Van Dyck of Bath for a bred heifer consigned by J. S. D. Tory of King. He bought another for $250 from the herd of Ronald Marquis of Sunderland.

Two bred heifers sold for $375. One was fom Donn Head Farms, to Alex Troup of Lyndhurst in Leeds; and the other, consigned by Orton Mitchell of Rothsay, to J. H. King of Perth.

Clifford M. Lowes of Peterborough, led the buyers in cheque and number, paying $1,225 for four females, all bred. They ranged from $385 to $250. One of them from the herd of A. H. Fraser, Agincourt, is in calf to Enchanter of Don Head 88th. Another, consigned by J. S. D. Tory of King, is also carrying a Don Head calf.

Clifford Hall sold three head for a total of $935. His bull brought $385 from Cyril R. McKinnon, McDonald's Corners, Lanark, and two females were taken by Ernest Cavano of Pontypool for $550.

Norman McConkey's bid of $295 picked up "Pride of Boyne Valley 4th" consigned by Borden Kerr of Everett. She is in calf to Burgess Banoldier of Anoka 14th.

Bruce McKellar of Lakeside, Que., paid $350 for a bred heifer consigned by T. Jackson & Sons, Malton. The J. S. D. Tory cow, for which Ross Van Dyck of Bath paid $400, sold with a March calf sired by Black Barbarian, the bull purchased by McDonald College ta the 1953 Bull Sale.

L. J. Balharrie of Ottawa, sold two heifers for $595, and paid $335 for one of the three females from the A. H. Fraser herd, Agincourt. R. Pinchon of Clarkson took three for 965.

Lawrie Cooper of Cameron, in Victoria county, took home a Fraser heifer for $335, in calf to Enchanter of Don Head 88th.

Fourteen breeders comprised the consignors to this eastern sale.

W. L. Ham of Fergus, president of the Ontario Aberdeen-Angus Association, was secretary of the sale, and attending directors were: Vice-President Gordon Berry of Glanford Station, Malcolm Bailey of Uxbridge; Thomas Henderson, Guelph; Thomas Todd of Lucknow; G. B. Beatty of Richmond Hill; and Ernest Rittelmeier of Donn Head Farms.

Auctioneer was Duncan Brown of Shedden, assisted by Cameron McTaggart on pedigrees.

Mr. Beatty said the sale was quite satisfactory. It was switched to Peterborough as the convenient centre between Toronto and Ottawa, largely for the purpose of bringing the Angus cattle more directly to the attention of farmers of this section of the province.

Sunday School Dedicated At Marmora

MARMORA (ENS)—The three congregations of the Marmora circuit of the Free Methodist Church united at the Marmora church on Sunday afternoon for the dedication of the new Sunday school room in the basement of the church by the Rev. A. B. Moffatt, district superintendent. The Rev. G. H. Bache, pastor, officiated for the major portion of the service which opened with a hymn and prayer. Lorne Park men's trio, consisting of the Rev. H. McLeod and Messrs. J. Shepherd and E. Kay sang "Jesus Is Always There."

Mr. Bache welcomed the enlarged congregation for which the church auditorium had to accommodate the overflow.

Under the direction of Mrs. Everett Derry, scholars of Beaver Creek Sunday school rendered a sacred chorus.

Ritchie Wells, Sunday school superintendent, testified to his pleasure and that of fellow laymen at what had been accomplished, pledged continued zeal for Sunday school work and lauded the group which had carried out the excavation and fitting up of the basement.

FORMER PASTORS

Mr. Bache called on three former pastors for short addresses. The Rev. N. Basko said "Put God first and make everything beautiful for Him." The Rev. A. Sedore spoke of his pastorate around 1924, when the congregation, after using a rented hall, acquired the former Presbyterian church. He said he took off his hat to all who held the vision of the value of the Sunday school. The Rev. L. C. Ball said as he thought of the construction of the new room and the great labor it had entailed, it reminded him of a line in an old song, "When we start, we will fight, fight, fight."

Mrs. P. L. Chase of Frankford, representative of the Conference Sunday School Board, pointed out that the Sunday school room was literally built on rock and what a joy it was to work for eternity. She wished the Sunday school every success in its new quarters.

John Goodrich, a leading layman of the church in charge of the construction, spoke of the formidable task which had been faced. The excavation meant the removal of great rocks without the use of one stick of dynamite and without any injury to the volunteer workers. "We were never stuck for help," he declared, "and it was assuredly through God's help we succeeded as we did."

The pastor thanked those who had contributed towards the welfare of the special service they were engaged in and mentioned opportunity would be provided for contributions to the cost of the project. A collection was then taken.

The Lorne Park trio sang "Pray Till the Victory Comes." The Rev. A. B. Moffatt, district superintendent read two passages of scripture and preached from the text "From a child thou hast known the scriptures which are able to make thee wise unto salvation."

He dealt with the Sunday school movement under Robert Raike and stressed the great importance of maintaining it.

The dedication followed with the Rev. L. C. Ball assisting the district superintendent and the Rev. P. L. Chase pronouncing the blessing after the hymn "Let the lower lights be burning" had been sung.

SWEEPSTAKES WINNER — Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lent, of Brampton, Ont., 25 miles northwest of Toronto, are winners of $140,000 in the Epsom Derby after Sir Gordon Richards piloted Pinza to victory in the 174th running of the English classic. They are among three Ontario residents with Irish sweepstakes tickets on the winner. In Quebec, Egide Labrecque, of St. Marguerite, won $46,000 with a winning ticket on the Army and Navy draw.

Dog Is Decorated

OAKVILLE (CP)—Sir Pinnington, a large Labrador retriever, Saturday was given the silver medal and bar, highest award of the Ontario Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. The presentation was made by Mayor James Black. The dog, owned by Lawrence Kenney, jumped into a creek during a cold spell last March to save another dog.

Welcome New Congregation Into Baptist Fellowship

HAVELOCK — (ENS)— The recently organized Fellowship Baptist church, was received into the Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches of Canada and its pastor, Lawrence V. Bigelow was ordained into the ministry of that denomination on Friday.

Two impressive services were held. The one in the afternoon was the Service of Recognition" of the new church and the evening was the ordination of its pastor, The Rev. Morley Hall of Hamilton, field representative, was the moderator and conducted both services. The Rev. William Stanley of Cornwall officiated as secretary. There were 26 messengers present representing 11 Baptist churches, of this number 10 were pastors.

The recognition service was opened with a hymn and prayer by Pastor Bigelow. E. T. Brummel, the church clerk read the minute calling the ordination and recognization council. Donald Clark, the church treasurer presented the financial statement. Pastor Bigelow presented the history of the church which commenced in 1949. In June of that year, the Faith Mission Pilgrims, owned the building which is now the Baptist church and had been holding meetings regularly. The work was no longer encouraging and the Faith Mission people decided to sell the building and move to more fruitful fields.

The Rev. Harry Butler, who was pastor of a Baptist church in Chatham was passing through Havelock to his cottage at Belmont Lake, and he heard of the Faith Mission leaving the town. He talked to several families who said they would be interested in attending a Baptist Fellowship He took the matter up with the Rev. J. F. Holliday who was at that time, field representative of the Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches. Mr. Holliday came to Havelock, surveyed the area and found a student, Frank Sisson, who took over the work here for the summer months. The meetings were first held in the Orange Hall. When it came time for Mr. Sisson to leave, it was considered that the work was worthwhile and L. Bigelow who was assisting the pastor at Calvary Baptist Church, Oakville, was sent to take over the work in October, 1949. In December of that year the Baptists purchased the Faith Mission property. The work continued as a Baptist mission until April of this year when The Rev. M. Hall reported that the church had accepted the Fellowship constitution and statement of faith at the organization meeting in April, 1953.

A question period followed and a motion was carried unanimously and welcomed into the Fellowship ly that the church be accepted of Independent Baptist Churches of Canada and that they proceed to recognization service.

Following this the candidate for the ministry, Pastor L. V. Bigelow who was introduced by Donald Clark presented his threefold statement in its entirety. The council then proceeded to question the candidate regarding Following a meeting of the things pertaining to the ministry. ity of proceeding to ordination, council to consider the advisibil- the decision was unanimous to recommend to the church that they proceed to ordain their pastor, and a committee was appointed to make arrangmements for the evening service.

EVENING SERVICE

The evening session was opened with a song service conducted by Pastor Douglas Sloan of Little Britain with Mrs. W. Hubble, the church pianist, at the piano.

The Rev. Maurice Gibson of Bobcaygeon read the Scripture Lesson and offered prayer. The Rev. Roy Vanderlip of Cobourg expressed appreciation to the ladies of the congregation for the banquet they had served.

The Moderator spoke on the duties of the church, and the beliefs of the Baptist Fellowship, which holds to the old historic position, contending earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints and the ordinances of God, the Lord's Supper and immersion as the first step of the convert. When you are welcomed into the Fellowship and you are established you then press on to other fields he said. Our work is a missionary one. Christ's last command said "Begin at Jerusalem". Havelock is your Jerusalem. Then you must go further afield. In closing he said strong home bases are the greatest need in the work of evangelizing the world.

The Rev. G. S. Monk of Bethel Baptist Church, Peterborough, delivered the charge to the church.

The Rev. Jack Pickford of Vancouver, B.C., delivered the charge to the minister.

The ordination ceremony for Pastor L. Bigelow followed, with all the clergy taking part in the laying on of hands. The ordination prayer was offered by the Rev. Donald Merritt of Dalesville, Quebec. The welcome to the church was extended by the Rev. G. W. Searle of Union Baptist Church, Montreal.

The message was given by the Rev. Roy Hisey of Boston, Ontario.

Mrs. L. Bigelow was the soloist, with Mrs. R. Hisey as the accompanist.

The service was closed with the benediction by the Rev. L. V. Bigelow.

Canadians More Venturesome In Investing Their Capital

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For years the eyes of the world have been trained on the tremendous movement of foreign capital flowing into mushrooming Canadian developments.

But little known is the fact that Canadians, too, have grown more venturesome over the years, risking growing portions of their wealth in foreign lands.

And just as Canadian investment market has become popular with the American investor, so has the American investment market proven popular with Canadians.

In fact, the thriving American market has become so popular that, government experts estimate, total private Canadian direct investment in the United States by the end of 1951 had almost doubled with respect to the 1945 position. It jumped from $455,000,000 to $906,000,000.

Rising by more than $400,000,000 over the six-year-period, total direct Canadian investment in foreign lands climbed to $1,160,000,000 at the end of 1951, compared to $720,000,000 at the end of 1945, the bureau of statistics estimates in its official review of Canada's international payments position for 1952.

ONE-QUARTER OF INVESTMENT

Canadian direct investment in the U. S. at the end of 1951 amounted to almost one-quarter of U.S. direct investment in Canada —compared to one-fifth at the end of 1945.

What kind of American investments do Canadians favor? They like industries Canadians know a lot about—oil and minerals, distilling and agricultural implements.

Canadian direct investment in American industries and commercial concerns rose to $533,000,000 in 1951 from $214,000,000 in 1945. Investment in American mining and petroleum industries tripled. Increases in the distilling and agricultural implements industries were "substantial," the bureau says.

All in all, total private long-term Canadian investment in all countries rose in the six years to $1,763,000,000 from $1,341,000,000.

This amount, added to Canadian government credits to help put Canada's allies back on their economic feet after the Second World War, brought total Canadian long-term investments in foreign lands to $3,685,000,000 in 1951, a rise of $1,600,000,000 from $2,048,000,000 in 1945.

In that period direct U. S investment in Canada rose to $3,922,000,000 from $2,304,000,000. Coupled with other American investment, total U. S. capital plowed into Canada amounted to $7,303 000,000, up from $4,990,000,000. Increases in 1952 brought the total to $8,000,000,000.

Norwood Church Anniversary

NORWOOOD— (ENS) — St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Sunday celebrated its 102nd anniversary. Two services were held in the morning at 11:30 and in the evening at 7:30. Services were cancelled in Westwood and Havelock Presbyterian churches, Norwood United Church, and Norwood Baptist church in the evening for this event. The guest speaker for the day was the Rev. A. E. Toombs of Campbellford.

In the morning, the special selections of music were "Face to Face" a solo by Fred Bennett of Havelock and "Break Forth into Joy" an anthem by the choir. In the evening, the special music selections were "Dear Spirit Lead Me," a quartette by Misses Shirley and Beverley Bennett and Joan and Elaine Graham, all of Havelock, and an anthem "From Glory Unto Glory." The Norwood choir was assisted by the Havelock choir in all singing.

Mr. Toombs' text in the morning was "Now commandeth all men everywhere to repent because he (God) hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world." In the evening, his text was "My name shall be there." In his sermons he brought in many illustrations of his life and adventures in India to bring across his point to the many people at the two services. Visitors were present from the other local congregations, Havelock, Cottesloe, Westwood, Peterborough, and other surrounding districts.

10 Records Broken At Meet For High School Athletes

By ROMEO MAGERA

MONTREAL (CP)—Despite rain and poor ground conditions, 10 records were broken and two equalled Saturday as more than 300 boys from Ontario and Quebec met at Molson Stadium in the annual high school Dominion interscholastic track and field meet.

The boys, representing 56 schools, ranged up to 20 years in age. The events were run off in five classifications: Class 1 for those under 14; class 2, under 15; class 3, under 16; class 4, under 17, and class 5, senior, under 20.

Tom Skimming, from Toronto Runnymede, came through with one of the most impressive performances to win for his school the class 5 senior championship and the Currie Cup.

Skimming, who smashed the meet's pole vault record, compiled 18 points to edge Montreal High School which scored 15. Montreal High won the class 1 and 2 championships. Skimming's vault of 12 feet, 3¾ inches bettered the old mark of 12 feet 3-16 inches

One of the highlights of the meet was the one-mile open, won by Ron Wallingford of the University of Michigan in 4:34.4.

WINS 100-YARD OPEN

J. Foreman of Toronto St. Michael's, who tied the meet record for the class 5 100-yard dash, also won the 100-yard open, points it in 10.5. G. Gluppe of Hawkesbury, Ont., was second.

Foreman equalled the interscholastic meet record of 10.1, outrunning W. Lynch of Sherbrooke, Que., and G. Hickey of Cornwall

M. Molot of Ottawa' Fisher Park heaved the class 4 shot put 48 feet 4½ inches to beat the provincial mark of 44 feet 6 inches. Molot also won the class 4 discus throw with a toss of 131 feet 9½ inches.

A. Robertson of Cornwall won the class 4 100-yard low hurdles in 12.8. E. Barclay of Cornwall finished second to R. Ryan of Montreal High School in the class 3 440-yard run. J. Sloan, another Cornwall entrant, ran second in the class 2 100-yard dash.

D. St. Remi of Kingston won the class 2 80-yard low hurdles in 11 seconds.

T. Braham of Gananoque was first in the class 2 shot put with a heave of 43 feet, 2½ inches.

Kesselring Winner Of Thames Tourney

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Gerry Kesselring, lanky Kitchener golf star, won the Thames Valley invitation tournament here despite a bad start.

Kesselring topped his first drive and ended the par-four hole with a five. But went on to best the field of about 200 with a sparkling one-under-par 69.

Joe Robson of the London Highland Club was second with 73.

Ross (Sandy) Somerville, the only Canadian to win the U. S. amateur golf championship — in 1932—returned to tournament competition and carded a 74.

Three Road Accidents Probed By Police

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — About $100 damage was done to an old model car early Saturday evening when the car, reportedly driven by Carl Dalgleish, 26, of Campbellford, broke off a telephone pole and came to rest against a tree on the lawn of a home on Saskatoon Ave. The car was going north on Saskatoon Ave. when the driver lost control. The driver was uninjured. Constable Sam Baird and OPP Constable Doug Ross investigated.

Jack Locke, 17, R.R. 5, Campbellford, escaped injury early Sunday morning when his light truck went out of control and left the road on the English Line, about 4½ miles east of town. Damage to the truck, which struck a telephone pole, amounted to approximately $150. Provincial Constable Archie Eady investigated this accident.

A late model car, owned by Charles Fraser, Victoria St., received a broken windshield when the right front tire blew out, causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle. The car struck a mail box in front of the farm home of Wesley Wilson, on the old Havelock Road, about a half-mile north of Campbellford. No one was injured in the accident which happened early Sunday afternoon. OPP Constable Doug Ross investigated.

Bowling Association Has Changed Name

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Bowling Association, which has operated as the ruling body of the sport in Ontario for the last 26 years, changed its name Sunday to the Ontario Bowling Association.

The old name has been taken over by a national association formed two months ago in Regina.

The meeting also ratified an east-west uniform scoring system which has the pins marked, from left to right, 2-3-5-3-2. Formerly the east scored 4-2-1-3-5.

Snares Carp With Hand

TORONTO (CP)—Eleven-year-old Brian Styles of nearby Lakeview likes to catch rock bass with his bare hands in underwater sorties in the Etobicoke river. During an underwater hunt this weekend his head hit an obstruction. He instinctively made a grab and snared a carp—a 33-inch, 15-pounder.

STANDING BACK OF THE CANADA CUP is the Hon. Brooke Claxton, Minister of Defence and acting Prime Minister, who presented the huge mug to the winning Argentine team. Gathered around the cup are John Jay Hopkins, sponsor of the matches, Tony Cerda, low scorer in the two-day event, Hon. Brooke Claxton, Roberto DeVicenzo, other member of the winning team, and Frank Pace, Jr., former United States Army Secretary.

Rifle Tourney Held In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Suburban Long Branch rifle range was the site during the week-end of what is believed the largest civilian sporting and match rifle tournament ever held in Ontario.

The All-Ontario sporting and target rifle matches held by the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association Saturday and Sunday drew a total attendance of more than 350. Entries totalled 1,260.

Communities represented included Ottawa, Trenton, Windsor, Collingwood, Camp Borden, Hamilton, St. Catharines, London, Brantford, Orillia, Port Hope, Toronto and Whitby.

Winners for trophies awarded by the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association for the sporting rifle shoot here included:

Individual prone for the A. E. Armstrong Trophy—Fred Stanley, Hamilton, 200-18.

Molson's (Ontario) Trophy for the five-man team — Mrs. Terry Hughes, Mrs. Betty Batzold, Bern Irvin, O. P. Batzold, James O'Connor, Hamilton, 981-44; Ted Harrison, Kay Harrison, Jean Eichenbaum, Donald Jennings, Voldemar Metski, St. Catharines, 955-57.

King-Savoie Winner Moves Nearer Title

TORONTO (CP)—Li'l Arthur King fights Armand Savoie tonight for the Canadian lightweight title he held before he left Toronto to campaign out of Philadelphia. The promoters claim the British Empire lightweight title also will be at stake.

King, who had the Canadian title taken from him for failing to defend it after he left Toronto for the United States, is favored over the title-holding Montrealer. Should Savoie confound the experts, however, there are those in the fighting world who won't recognize him as the new British Empire champion, namely the British boxing board of control.

The board said Thursday it took King's Empire title from him last September and announced it recognizes Frank Johnston of Manchester as the champ as a result of his knockout of Australian titleholder Frank Flannery.

King disagreed; promoter Frank Tunney shrugged off the board's pronouncement.

NEVER BEATEN

"I've never been beaten for the title," King said. "It's mine and they're not going to take it away from me this way. No one challenged me until Savoie came along."

Tunney said the winner will be presented a $250 belt—paid for by Tunney—as an emblem of the Empire title.

Victory will improve either fighter's chances of meeting top lightweight Jimmy Carter in a non-title bout in Montreal. Savoie also beat Sandy Saddler, regarded as one of the roughest lightweights in the business, but recently lost out to Paddy DeMarco, the Bronx billygoat.

BEAT DE MARCO

King beat DeMarco about a year ago, twice dropping the powerful fighter who had never been on the floor in 70 professional fights until that one.

Savoie's success over Carter and Saddler leads him to believe he can stop King tonight. He says he has picked up valuable experience since King beat him here in their last meeting two years ago.

But King isn't worried. Said Li'l Arthur on the eve of the encounter:

"I beat him once. I can beat him again."

King has had only two fights in the last six months. Savoie has fought three times in the last five weeks and says his fights keep him in shape.

Each posted a $1,000 bond as evidence of good faith in making 135 pounds.

Both eased up training Sunday. Savoie, 133½ pounds Saturday, rested. King worked lightly and tipped the scales at a fraction more than 134.

Lunenburg Fears Bad Times Now Lie Ahead

LUNENBURG, N. S. (CP)—For Capt. Angus Walters, most famous Nova Scotia Skipper of modern times, this fishing town's 200th birthday party is more like the death knell of an era.

The rest of the town of 3,000, faced with an uncertain future after decades of progress have made it one of the richest per capita in Canada, feels pretty much the same way.

The famed Lunenburg fishing fleet, whose thousand masts once shadowed a busy waterfront, has dwindled to a few schooners and diesel-powered trawlers. And on the fleet alone hinged a town's prosperity.

"The outlook isn't bright," said Capt. Walters, who sailed the proud schooner Bluenose to four North Atlantic fishermen's championships. "I'd rather be a booster than a knocker but I've never seen it worse. And fishing is all this town has left."

UNVEILS PLAGUE

Capt. Walters, 72 tomorrow, unveils a plaque today in memory of the fleet-limbed ocean greyhound whose name he made known the world over.

Another plaque, commemorating the sack of Lunenburg in 1782 by American privateers, will be uncovered by William Clayton Jr., a direct descendant of the garrison's commander at the time.

The Bluenose, which Capt. Walters once saved from the auction block, was sold during the war to a West Indies shipping company and, stripped of her topmasts and driven by diesel, plied the Caribbean until she foundered on a Haiti reef in 1946.

The landing of nearly 1,500 settlers, virtually all German farmers, on the shores of the sheltered harbor on June 7, 1753, will also be re-enacted later today by 50 residents, 32 dressed in costumes of the period and the rest as Indians, stripped to the waist and coated with a brown oil.

They will disembark from a converted dragger.

3 MONTHS OF CELEBRATION

More than three months of celebrations will mark the bicentennial of the town, second oldest British settlement in Canada and home of the country's first Lutheran and Presbyterian churches. It will end with a memorial service for fishermen lost at sea.

The original Lunenburg settlers lived a short while in Halifax, where their discontentment with garrison life—after being promised land to settle—finally forced the governor to transport them 50 miles down the province's south coast.

They named the settlement Lunenberg in memory of the German town of Luenburg and cleared land by the sea. It was not long, however, before they turned to fishing for a livelihood.

Although business has receded and there is little hope of luring fishing vessels back from Cape Breton ports, closer to the fishing grounds, the town reflects only prosperity—and the character of the canny Lunenburger.

BRIDE FROM JAPAN—Sgt. Masao (Karl) Kawanami, of Hamilton, Ont., 29-year-old Japanese-Canadian veteran of the Korean war, returns to Canada with his pretty 23-year-old bride, Yoko, from Japan. He met his wife at No. 23 Canadian reinforcement group headquarters where her mother is employed. Sgt. Kawanami served with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Korea and was mentioned in dispatches. He and his wife view Vancouver from the waterfront.

Deep-Freeze Operatio Fails To Save Life

DENVER (AP)—Mrs. Constance Stark, 51, who underwent a seven-hour deep-freeze anaesthesia for a liver operation, died Saturday.

The operation was performed last Thursday in an attempt to correct a condition resulting from an accident Feb. 15 when a horse reared and fell on Mrs. Stark and a saddle horn punctured her liver. The length of the new type anaesthesia was thought to be a record by Denver doctors.

Death was caused by bronchial pneumonia.

Candidates Give Final Talks

VANCOUVER (CP)—Candidates got in their final campaign licks during the week-end as British Columbians prepared to vote in a provincial general election Tuesday.

After weeks of stumping the hustings in one of the most bitter campaigns on record, many of the 229 candidates took to the air waves Saturday night as the deadline for election broadcasting drew near. A few political rallies tonight will wind up the electioneering.

Premier Bennett, leader of the minority Social Credit government which was defeated on the floor of the legislature in March after only seven months in office, has charged the other parties with carrying on a "smear campaign."

Early election issues such as the Doukhobor problem and financing of educations costs were all but forgotten in the final week as sensational charges involving the president of the B. C. Social Credit League grabbed the headlines.

P-TAC Speaker Gives Ideas For Discussion

Many Roman Catholic parents in the Diocese of Peterborough will regret they did not take advantage of the opportunity to hear Very Reverend J. Elliott MacGuigan, S.J., on Sunday afternoon when he was guest speaker at the second annual convention of the Parent-Teacher Association Council.

Out of a total membership of 1,200 there were less than 100 parents present in St. Peter's auditorium. Hoewver, Father MacGuigan "tossed out" a number of "thoughts" that he hopes will be discussed at unit meetings.

"I aim to give a wealth, I think, of ideas, and let you mull them over and reflect on them", he said at the beginning.

His first idea was on "the primary purpose of marriage"—begetting, bringing into the world and educating children. "I suggest that we stress overmuch the begetting and bringing into the world" he said. "Education is an obligation that devolves upon parents." He also stressed the point, "The school is not to supplant but to assist parents."

Father MacGuigan dwelt secondly on relations between parents and teachers, which he said should be cordial, friendly, free of bias and prejudice; their purpose, to present a temporal state of peace and tranquility.

"We are not instilling the pride in the Catholic religion that we should" the Father suggested. "We cannot live to ourselves alone, we can't go off and hug our faith in an ivory tower. We should insist on the fact that the Catholic church is a teaching church. But Catholic children are not realizing the infallibility—that we 'can't go off the rails'."

"I fear we are not making the contribution to civic and municipal affairs we should" the speaker also suggested. This is another reason why we need adult education—so we can give intelligent and reasonable service.

"You could debate emotional training and control" Father MacGuigan added. He stated that study clubs cannot be praised too highly and said the arrangement should include a general group and small groups of 10 or 12 people. "There is danger of too many people and of covering too much.

Turning to sex education, on which he is a well known lecturer, Father MacGuigan stated, "Parents are not fulfilling their duty."

"You are failing because you are not sexually healthy, mentally, yourselves," he said. "Young people are setting up their own standards of conduct and it is because their parents have failed.

"We do not give the respect for law that we should," also said Father MacGuigan. "We find lying and stealing more among Catholic people. We have to hang our heads too because it is Catholic boys who are the hoodlums in these gangs." He suggested there is excessive pietism and that there should be concentration on grace to correct these faults.

The priest answered most helpfully a number of written questions at conclusion of his address.

Outlines 3 Items On Agenda Of P-T A Council

An outline of the possibilities and achievements which the Parent-Teacher Association Council is striving for in the coming year was given at the convention Sunday by Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, president of the Catholic Federation of P-TA of Ontario.

"We want a more wholesome cinema," she said. "The cinema is more powerful than the press or the radio. It can be terrifying or it can be edifying."

She advised that a local theatre manager has consented to provide a chart of the pictures to be shown at his theatre in advance and it is hoped to place a copy in the hands of each P-TA unit president so that members can be advised of the type of pictures they are.

It is hoped by the council to be able to present pictures for children on Saturdays, probably in St. Peter's auditorium.

The second item she discussed was salacious literature. Mrs. O'Brien said it is intended to ask each unit to appoint a vigilante committee which will review the magazines on the news stands and will speak to the proprietor about any magazine or publication which it considers unacceptable.

Thirdly, she spoke about adult education. It is hoped to form groups in every unit in the province to have study on various subjects of adult education, Mrs. O'Brien advised. Topics for study will be sent out and it is hoped to have all units started very early in the fall.

Bishop Speaks At P-T A Council Diocesan Conv.

The matter of kindergarten for Roman Catholic children was discussed briefly by His Excellency Bishop Berry when he spoke at the Parent-Teacher Association Council's second annual convention on Sunday afternoon at St. Peter's auditorium. "The kindergarten has a definite function to perform" he said.

"I would like to see them established where they can be established and maintained. Here it is the big thing of money that prevents," explaining that in eight years he has been in Peterborough 43 new class rooms have been opened and since many of the teachers going into them are lay teachers the expenses have risen, this rise being greater than the increased income.

"Grants do not come for kindergartens, so the only answer is a private kindergarten," he said. "I hope that you will talk about this on the basis of what can be done."

The Bishop added congratulations on the adoption of some form of parent education in the units. He praised study groups and discussion groups as a means of opening horizons, extending education and using God-given brain power. He added "Learning to take criticism is a very wonderful thing too. Taking part can round off the corners of our character and broaden us."

Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, president of the Catholic Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations of Ontario, also had congratulations to offer the council. She said the consensus of opinion is that it is doing the most effective work in the province.

Council president Mrs. W. H. Toal said that two new units were formed last year and at present there are 13 units with a membership of 1,200. One important step was the formation of a study group on christian homes which will lead to the building of homes at considerably lower cost on completion of the course of study. Another was the purchase of a set of Christopher recordings on sex education which are available to all units.

Unit reports of progress were given by St. Anne's, St. Alphonsus, Immaculate Conception, St. John the Baptist, Sacred Heart, St. Peter's and St. Francis de Sales of Peterborough, Lindsay, Holy Family, Bridgenorth, St. Margaret's, Coboconk, St. Michael's, Cobourg.

Miss Marie Dunford as bridesmaid for her sister wore a nylon tulle frock in summer orchid shade with fitted bodice and tiered skirt. A nylon net bolero topped the frock and her headdress was of mauve flowers. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Groomsman was Donald Garbutt and ushers were Roger Dunford and William Judge.

At the reception, held at the home of the bride, her sister, Mrs. Max Rosborough, received the guests, gowned in orchid lace with white accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. She was assisted by the groom's mother, in a gown of powder blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

For a wedding trip to the United States the bride donned a navy suit with navy and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

On their return they will live at Clear Lake for the summer and later take up residence in their new home on Highway 28, south of Lakefield.

DOROTHY DIX:

Business Friends Feared May Lead To Temptation

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband's employment requires him to be away from home most of the time. I am unable to go with him since our child is in school. This aspect of our difficulty is a great problem in itself, but I have managed to solve many of its complications. However, my real trouble is that Roger travels with a group of four men, of whose actions in general I do not approve. Two of them drink quite heavily two of them are single, therefore free to seek feminine companionship on these trips. I'm afraid Roger might be tempted to carry the business of their association too far. Practically everything these men do is against everything in which I believe. So far, none of Roger's good has rubbed off on them and, though I do trust my husband, I'm afraid some of their "bad" may be transferred to him.

GLORIA D.

ACUTELY ANXIOUS

ANSWER: Your letter, which I had to shorten somewhat, shows many signs of acute anxiety, most of them concerning matters which absolutely cannot be altered, and all showing lamentable lack of confidence in Roger. The only perfect solution would be for your husband to find work closer to home, and this, I gather, is impracticable. Have you ever stopped to realize that he might have the same sort of worry about you? A young, attractive woman, alone most of the time, might be easily tempted, too. Of course, he realizes that you are a person of exceptionally high moral standards, and he can put his faith in you. You have, for your part, the knowledge that Roger is a man of fine character, impeccable reputation, with good sense and taste. These should be enough to hold your confidence. Since he can't choose his travelling companions, there's nothing concrete you can do about his situation. Build up your faith in him and confidence in yourself. For a self-addressed stamped envelope I'll gladly send you a list of books that may bolster your morale, and help overcome your tendency to worry.

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I met a boy just a week before he was to leave for Florida (he's in the service). In that week he showed a lot of interest in me. I haven't heard from him since he went away; now he's due to return home, and I'm worried whether he will call or come to see me.

MISS S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You may be presuming too much on such short acquaintance. If he cared for you, he would probably have written. However, he might just need a reminder, such as seeing you again would provide. Just look for the best, but don't pin too much hope on the young man.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Though I'm only 18, I'm considered quite mature for my age. At my place of employment I met a man of 24. He was once engaged but it didn't work out. We went out together a few times, and became mutually attached. Recently, he was transferred some distance away. Before going, he asked me to marry him, but I didn't take him seriously. I suggested that we correspond, but have never heard from him. He came back last week end, and though he made a date with me, he didn't keep it. When he went back, I wrote, asking whether he was still interested in me or not. No answer! Now he's coming home again,

Wife Of Eisenhower Makes Big Hit With Americans

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sure, they like Ike—but you should see how this town loves Mamie.

It's not just the official wives or embassay hostesses who are crazy about Mamie Doud Eisenhower. It's the kids and the grandfathers, the boys in uniform and the government girls. Everybody loves the First Lady of the United States.

Soon there are liable to be more Mamie Eisenhower anecdotes around town than there are congressmen.

A hotel, you remember, was where the President-elect and his wife left their suitcases the morning of the Inauguration. Recently the First Lady ducked into the same place to keep a luncheon appearance. When someone called out, 'Hey, Mamie, that's an awfully pretty hat you're wearing," the President's wife turned around smiling. It was a group of office girls waving at her from the building next door.

"Why hello there," she called, waving back. "I haven't seen you since the Inauguration. How are you?"

THRIVES ON HUMOR

The President's prize partner thrives on humor, the kind without a sting—like the day she had her picture snapped at a shindig with actress Gloria de Haven. Miss de Haven, carried away, wanted a print of the picture autographed by the First Lady.

Certainly, smiled Mamie suggesting that the movie star come to visit and bring the picture. Miss de Haven almost had to pinch herself.

Change the spot or pick another day—Mamie's there with the perfect phrase at the right time. How does she do it? Washingtonians agree that it's because she means it.

Beside's there magic in being First Lady. All you do is smile at someone; say a few words to them and you've given them something pretty special to talk about for weeks. Dispensing such happiness makes Mamie happy, too.

There was the husky serviceman at the Soldiers, Sailors, Marines and Airmen's Club, for whom Mamie broke off a piece of her cake to give him.

The tea in honor of the First Lady was more like a homecoming. She explored the kitchen and the pantries, shook hands with the cooks on duty. When she walked into the recreation room, she exclaimed, "I wondered where that old pool table was!"

During the war Mrs. Eisenhower had chalked up long hours behind the club cash register besides serving meals to the boys.

On leaving the party the First Lady noticed a group of passersby had gathered to get a look at her. Impulsively she went up to them, shook a few hands, and smiled a friendly greeting to others before climbing into the White House car.

Things like this happen whenever Mamie sets foot outside the gate on Pennsylvania Avenue.

IT IS NATURAL

But it would be wrong to get the idea that the First Lady's personality is all breeze. It's naturalness.

When Mamie crowned Washington's Cherry Blossom Queen her thoughtfulness saved the situation. The tiny crown bearer began to cry and the First Lady knew just how to console her.

"May I help you, honey?" she gently inquired.

Through much of the ceremony Mamie's motherly eye rested on the three-and-a-half-year-old. Her hand touched her shoulder or patted her blonde hair. Washington mothers were highly impressed.

A high diplomat's wife who returned to her homeland took along some of Mamie's favorite recipes which the First Lady had given her. Worth two good will treaties, at least, say Washington's feminine protocol experts.

Mrs. Eisenhower's a natural with the embassay wives. But a friend quickly points out, there were no foreign airs about her when she returned from living in Europe. She was the same sensible soldier's wife she went over.

A certain Virginia poultry man will vouch for this, too. Having had the Eisenhowers for customers at Fort Myer, he dispatched a letter to the White House asking the President't wife if she remembered the fellow who used to deliver eggs.

Mamie wrote back that she remembered him, indeed. And would he be kind enough to start leaving eggs at her new Washington address—the White House?

At Inauguration time, Army friends were touched by notes from Mrs. Eisenhower's secretary alerting them to a special bus which made it easier to get from the swearing-in ceremony to the parade. Inside the bus friends found packed lunches waiting for them.

Thoughtfulness at a time like this is typical, part of Mamie's modesty and marvelous lack of pretension.

Like the other 'down-to-earth glimpse of the President's wife at the Inauguration squirming out of her new pumps and rubbing her ankles unaware that it was being shared by all of America on TV.

The First Lady's uninhibited—but with great inward reserve. She never tells you anything she shouldn't.

Tomorrow: Trinkets, aprons, cookies and cakes.

DISPENSING HAPPINESS makes Mamie Eisenhower happy, too. Here the camera captures the First Lady of the United States in a laughing mood.

HOSPITABLE FIRST LADY, Mamie shares a piece of cake with Airman Robert Spieker at servicemen's club reception.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Beautiful Dinners Take Time

It took from three until six o'clock for me to prepare dinner yesterday. I was not moving at high speed every minute, nor was I dawdling.

But that tyrannical Pete (bless him) had brought me a magazine advertisement in full color of a beautiful burnt sugar cake with mocha frosting and said, "Mum, I want a cake exactly like that." What's a gal to do? I have some kind of a reputation to maintain so replied meekly "Yours to command, Little One." At that he picked me up and tried to put me in the sink, but I'm wiry and he's ticklish so I landed safely on the floor.

It was Marianne's afternoon off and she brought one of her nursing-student friends home with her, so in all we were five.

By popular request we had roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. The vegetables were mixed diced carrots and tiny limas, and the inevitable asparagus because I can't resist it when it looks nice and freshly cut. The individual salads were sliced tomatoes and cucumber on bed of watercress (which we gathered ourselves when we were on a picnic on Saturday). Dessert was a rhubarb sauce this family likes (see below), and the Burnt Sugar Cake with Mocha Frosting I have already mentioned. Marianne took what was left of it back to her buddies at the hospital. Nuf sed.

BURNT SUGAR CAKE
With Mocha Frosting

First you carmelize ½ cup white sugar in your heaviest frying pan. Do this over medium heat, but do not let it get any darker than maple syrup. Stand off the heat and slowly add ½ cup boiling water, standing well back, for this will spatter. Stir until caramel and water are mixed. Pour into measuring cup and add enough cold water to make it up to 1 cup. Now stand sieve in large mixing bowl and in it put 2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt and sift them into bowl. Make well in centre and in it put ½ cup soft shortening broken up, and a little more than ½ of the 1 cup of caramel liquid. Now beat by hand or in beater for 2 minutes or until smoothly mixed. Now add 2 eggs and remainder of caramel liquid and beat about 2 or 3 minutes longer or until perfectly smooth. Turn into buttered and paper-lined layer cake tins and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 25 minutes. Do not over bake this cake—it might burn. Turn out on cake racks to cool. Make frosting

Mocho Frosting: Over low heat melt ⅓ cup butter in ½ cup cream or top milk. Remove from heat and add 2 tablespoons powdered instant coffee. Stir and let stand until just warm then add 3 cups sifted icing sugar and beat until of spreading consistency. When cakes are cool spread this frosting between layers and on top and sides. Sprinkle with chopped walnuts or pecans if you have them on hand. Now stand it in front of the hungry wolves and see what happens.

JUNE RHUBARB SAUCE

Plain rhubarb stewed has lost a little of its early-spring glamor so I've been doctoring it up a bit. To serve five I cut up 3 cups of it, unpeeled, of course, added 1 orange, rind and all, but cut very finely on the chopping board, and ½ cup finely diced fresh pineapple. I added ½ cup sugar and 2/3 cup hot water and covered it and put it on to cook until it boiled hard; then I turned off the heat and let it stand over the burner for 15 minutes, to cook that orange rind, without breaking the rhubarb to bits. You may want to add more sugar, but the combination of fruits is a welcome change.

Queen Given Big Welcome By Cockneys

LONDON (AP) — The Queen, wearing a blue coat over a dress of lighter shade, was given a boisterous reception today as she drove through the streets of southeast London.

She made a stop in the borough of Bermondsey, where the dockers work and live.

The region is the spiritual home of the uninhibited cockney, and a portion of her 22-mile drive in brilliant sunshine took her through Lambeth Walk country.

It was a poor man's Coronation procession, the third of four she is making through some of the dingier parts of London, and from the point of view of unrestrained enthusiasm it was a smashing success.

GREAT RECEPTION

Not until she got to Bermondsey, where a half dozen borough mayors had gathered, did the Queen see formal clothes. But the region squirmed with children, all uncommonly clean, and home-made decorations fluttered from windows.

Crowds were so dense that the Queen, usually punctual to the second, was three quarters of an hour late on returning to Buckingham Palace.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were weary from waving, but obviously moved by the demonstration of the cockneys.

Jailed Month, Blames Liquor

Aurele Vallee, 45, of no fixed address, was sentenced to a month in jail today for stealing eight pairs of socks valued at $13.50 from the F. W. Woolworth store.

PC Victor McConnell gave evidence that he arrested Vallee on George St. Friday afternoon and discovered he had possession of the socks. He said Vallee had been drinking but was not drunk.

In passing sentence, Magistrate W. R. Philp commented that the record showed Vallee had spent almost as much time in custody as out since 1928, with the exception of time spent in overseas service during the Second World War.

"What have you got to say for yourself?" he asked Vallee.

"I blame it on drink, Your Worship," was the reply.

Charge Oshawa Youth With Manslaughter

OSHAWA (CP)—Donald Harding, 16, was charged with manslaughter today in connection with a fire that killed his mother in their apartment last month.

Harding was charged with arson after the May 29th fire. Police said then that they found burned newspaper wadded under steps of the Harding apartment.

Donald and his father suffered face and wrist cuts when they jumped from a second-storey window during the blaze.

and though I am still interested in him, I plan to avoid him. Do you think this would be the best thing to do?

ANSWER: At 18, and mature for your age at that, you should learn how to handle problems better than running away from them. Perhaps your young man is interested only when you're available, or perhaps he has found a new heart-throb at his present place of business. It will be impossible for you to avoid him altogether, since you live in the same town and know the same people. Why not be more casual about the whole thing? Be gracious when you meet him, make no effort to pin him down to a declaration of love, or promise of marriage, and, above all, no nagging about his failure to write. Let him set the pace from then on.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX. I have been going with a girl for several months. I am going into service next month and asked her to become engaged and wear my ring, or better still, marry me now. She's in the tenth grade. However, she wants to wait until she finishes school. I feel hurt about her not even wanting to become engaged.

A. N.

ANSWER: The girl, young as she is, is much more sensible than you are. She is too young to be tied down to an absent fiance, and her education should be completed before she marries. Don't be hurt; her concern is as much for you as herself.

Charge Networks In U.S. Broke BBC Agreement

LONDON (AP)—A new transatlantic furor howled today over the commercials with which some U.S. networks punctuated British radio and television coverage of the Coronation. Critics got particularly hot about a chimpanzee that shared billing with the monarch.

British newspapers reported that one station "introduced a chimpanzee for advertising purposes during the showing of the abbey service" and that "another cut in to publicize a deodorant just before the Queen received her Bible."

Across the Atlantic, television critic Jack Gould of the New York Times wrote that the "impeccable coverage" of the ceremony by the BBC "even survived the tasteless embellishments and outrageous behavior of some of the American networks."

ASK FULL REPORT

The BBC asked its New York office for a full report on the commercials.

The non-commercial British network furnished its telefilms to the U.S. networks free, as a public service. Hugh Carleton Green, assistant comptroller of the BBC overseas service, said the Americans agreed the ceremony in the abbey should be "free of commercials of any kind" and that sponsorship of the films would be "in a dignified way without stressing the advertisement of . . . products."

"I don't know yet to what extent the agreement was broken and I don't know what action, if any, we shall be able to take," Greer said, "but if the evidence is black, we shall at least be able to tell the Americans what we think."

Gould's criticism was quoted approvingly by several papers. The Daily Telegraph's New York correspondent wrote: "If there was one criticism of American television coverage of the Coronation, it was that advertisers spoiled it by indulging in excessive and vulgar advertising."

Mrs. Alex. Sexsmith

HAVELOCK (ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. Alexander Sexsmith was held on Friday and was largely attended.

She has lived here since then with the exception of three months in Toronto where her husband, who was a foreman in the bridge and building department of the CPR, was transferred and where he died, about 40 years ago.

Mrs. Sexsmith was born in Rawdon township and was formerly Anne Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson. Her death followed a long illness.

The Rev. W. C. McCarney celebrated mass, with the Rev. P. J. Lynch, of Ennismore, in the sanctuary. Mrs. Crowley died Friday after a brief illness.

Pallbearers were: Raymond, Fred and Carl Crowley, Joseph and Ambrose Clancy and Joseph Kylie. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery, where Father McCarney said graveside prayers.

New Operation Now Cuts Amputations By Two-Thirds

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A United States navy surgeon is using a new operation to reduce amputations by two-thirds.

Scores of marines are walking again, using arms and hands normally, who might otherwise be experimenting with artificial limbs.

Lieut. Frank C. Spencer, 27, of Haskell, Tex., is credited with saving them through use of arterial graft surgery.

A severed blood vessel is repaired by sewing a piece of undamaged artery to each end of the damaged blood vessel. These come from "artery banks," stocked from limbs so badly mangled amputation was essential.

80 OPERATIONS

Spencer performed more than 80 arterial graft operations with the 1st marine division, recently withdrawn to the rear after 33 months of front-line duty. In more than 65 cases the arm or leg of the wounded man has been saved.

Some sources estimate that one-third of all amputations in the Second World War resulted from inability to repair blood vessels of wounded men at or near the front.

In the last four years, Spencer said, the arterial graft program was developed in the United States, largely to save so-called blue babies. Spencer worked under Dr. Alfred Blalock at Johns Hopkins University, a pioneer in blue-baby technique.

Here, in Spencer's words is a description of the operation:

"When an artery is wounded, the missile destroys a section of it. What is needed is a tube to reconnect the two ends, to bridge the gap resulting from damage to the blood vessel.

USE SMALL STITCHES

"The arterial grafts are sewed in place with very small stitches so that the connection will be watertight to let the blood pass through. The operation takes from two to four hours."

"Complete recovery is expected in about one month and usually the patient is walking in about three weeks after surgery."

Spencer said the operation has to be performed within six to eight hours after injury to be successful.

"If 10 hours have gone by," he said, "the chances of saving a leg or an arm decrease rapidly, and increasingly so as each hour goes by."

40% Spring Grains Not Sown In Dufferin

SHELBURNE (CP) — Bruce Matheson, Ontario agricultural representative here, said Saturday that from 30 to 40 per cent of spring grains have yet to be sown in three Dufferin county townships.

He said damage to grains already sown from wet weather was reported mainly in the low lands in the western part of Dufferin county. It is estimated that 25 per cent of the grain planted from here west to Mount Forest may have survived.

Mr. Matheson said considerable grass seed had been washed out of fields between here and Mount Forest, but the hay growth is above average.

Urges Memorial Museum

KINGSTON (CP)—Establishment of a museum here as a memorial to Sir John A. Macdonald, Conservative statesman who was Canada's first prime minister, was suggested Saturday by Alex Edmison, vice-president of Queen's University. Speaking during a Macdonald memorial ceremony at Cataraqui cemetery, Mr. Edmison said Canadians are prone to revile public men while they are in office and forget them when they are dead.

Producers Jump On O'Connor Bandwagon

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Two years ago Donald O'Connor's status in Hollywood could be summed up as a stooge for a talented jackass.

Right now he's the hottest song and dance star in the movie business.

Hollywood, which had the young comic for 15 years, let television discover just how really good he is. Now the movie-makers have jumped hard on the O'Connor bandwagon.

The youngest old timer in the business at 27, he literally has been knocking out audiences since he was 13 months old.

CREDITS TV

For his sudden emergence into major movie prominence O'Connor gives television the major credit, and "Singin' in the Rain" a big assist.

Some of his friends go back even further to a picture he made with Jimmy Durante called "The Milkman." That, these friends hold, established O'Connor as a major comic. His dancing ability never was discounted.

From the Durante picture came his long and successful tieup as confidante of Francis, the talking mule. This series, made on a shoestring budget, helped to pull Universal-International from near-bankruptcy and established O'Connor as a box-office draw.

NBC, dangling a $100,000 weekly bankroll from Colgate, signed up Bob Hope, Martin and Lewis and Eddie Cantor for TV's comedy hour. The network desparately needed another comic to fill out the one-in-four week schedule. O'Connor was picked despite some shaking of official heads. As one NBC official said:

LITTLE APPREHENSIVE

"Frankly, we were a little apprehensive of pitting O'Connor against such a fast field of established comics. We figured him to be the weakest of the bunch. That he finished the season as one of the strongest is due more to O'Connor than our judgment."

O'Connor joined his family's vaudeville act 26 years ago with a toddling black bottonm dance. At three, he was tap dancing and at four he was singing.

Television got Don a role in "Singin' in the Rain," one of last year's most successful musicals. He was in fast company with Gene Kelly but O'Connor, to many, was the hit of the show.

Now Universal-International has put its former muletender in "Walkin' My Baby Back Home," the most expensive musical the company has made in years. But that doesn't mean O'Connor has broken with Francis.

STILL HAS FRANCIS

There's still "Francis Covers the Big Town" and "Francis Joins the WACs.

O'Connor, who wants a vacation so he can put on some weight, doesn't look like he's going to get it. As soon as Bing Crosby returns from Europe, Paramount wants to team them in the Irving Berlin musical "White Christmas." The part originally was written for Fred Astaire but the old master bowed out. That O'Connor was second choice is indicative of how his stock has risen.

It also will be a re-teaming. As Bing's small fry brother in a picture called "Sing You Sinners" back in 1938, Don made his movie debut.

Dalmatian Coast Delightful Spot

By I. NORMAN SMITH
(Special To The Examiner)

TRIESTE (Delayed) — Maybe just a light piece on the famous Dalmatian Coast of the Adriatic, with nary a word of politics or economics or even communism?

The Adriatic, of course, is the blue and peaceful sea which separates Greece from Italy, and, more northerly, Yugoslavia from Italy.

We jogged and twisted our way down to it on a narrow gauge railway from Sarajevo, a bare-bottomed hard-seated run in old carriages with the conductor using a lantern. It was ten hours without what Americans would call comforts or conveniences, but it was ten hours of scenic bewilderment and fantasy.

Steep, irregular, jutting rocky hills and mountains yielded occasionally to deep-gorged rivers; peasants' huts varied from mountain huts made of the stone that lies about in such abundance to thatch and straw in the softer areas. The only thing they had in common was poverty, unless you add the irresistable smiling and frank countenance of the people.

PEARL OF ADRIATIC

Dubrovnik, everyone says, is the pearl of the Adriatic. Indeed there on a little point stands a whole village, nobly fortified against succeeding centuries of invaders who questioned the right of that little community to rule seas and even colonies, which once it did. If you have an eye to ruins, to old streets throbbing with new life, to tall dark aristocratic girls in graceful and almost stately costumes; if you have an eye to old Croatian or Montenegrin jewellery or handicrafts; if you like swimming off clean rocks in the most buoyant of salt water upon whose garden-like bottom you can see vegetable life fathoms deep if you have an eye to walking miles under wind-swept skies along the cliff ramparts and baking in the noon day sun even in mid-May—then Dubrovnik is your pearl.

But you mustn't ask everything of the Adriatic. You mustn't ask the Yugoslavs for your kind of food, or the hotels for Western comfort, or for sandy beaches, or for uncrowded lounge rooms or buses or restaurants. For Yugoslavia is coming out from behind and luxury of the American kind isn't here yet. You will find everything embarrassingly cheap, and you will not be beseiged by outstretched hands seeking tips, and you will enjoy finding yourself over and over again in places where no one speaks a word of English, French or German. They are starting to appeal to tourists, but the tourists, praise be, have not yet got at the place.

I did hear one gent wearing a Coney Island jacket that looked like pyjama tops complaining that there wasn't a golf course in the place, and there are rather more Germans than you might care to find having in mind what the Nazis did to Yugoslavia. But mostly the man you swim beside or smell garlic from or greet on the mountain lane or pass in the village square is a genuine Yugoslav and proud of it. One, incidentally, the deputy mayor of Dubrovnik, was a sailor during the war and tells vivid stories of his memories of Canada which feature (a) trying to get a drink in Halifax Christmas Day, and, (b) freezing to death in Fort Churchill.

Speaking of reminiscences I must recall another from a British soldier during the war whom I met on the Adriatic who remembers Lord Alexander best because of a high level campaign conference at which the then General showed obvious boredom at all the talk and doodled away on a pad. A peak at the doodle later revealed a good-sized cannon firing happily away.

From Dubrovnik some Americans drove their cars along the coast roads and two doughty British women pedalled and pushed their bicycles, but the little steamer is the easy way and the sun fries you on top deck as you watch the mail being put ashore and another little fishing villages slips by. Split we stopped at overnight, not because its swimming was good—it isn't—but because there the Roman Emperor Diocletian retired and built his palace in 305 A.D. And his palace has streets and shops and churches and 3,500 residents and it is fascinating even to one with an under-developed sense of architectural history.

NOW MUSEUM

Besides, at Split is the former home and workshop and now museum of the Yugoslav sculptor Mestrovic. As he is not a Communist and is now a self-declared refugee in America, Mestrovic is being much sought after by the Yugoslavs to return and bring glory to his native land, and rumor says he yet may. In any case from Belgrade right on through the country we have seen many of his works and they appear to this untutored eye the best sculpture of present day. His men are not mere pompous shells or poses; they sit and worry, or they reflect on past glories, or defeat, they stand up and fight or they lie beaten in spirit and body. His women are worthy of his men, though they seem all to have known greater grief. Still, probably that is true of most Yugoslav women, ancient and modern. The Communists adore Mestrovic, though not his politicis, and his work is not ordered unspeakable as in Russia it would be by Pravda.

Come sunset—but after spending a good hour with the other children watching a diver bubble away under the surface cleaning the harbor and occasionally come up for air to have his head unscrewed—another boat sweeps importantly into the quay and picks you up amid a general yammer of that same confusions that seems to sweep over all ships once they touch shore. Once afloat again, and free of land's squalor, everything fell to order and good government and the setting of the sun somewhere out there in the water towards Italy was sign enough for bedtime and clean sheets to settle in.

VAST SEAPORT

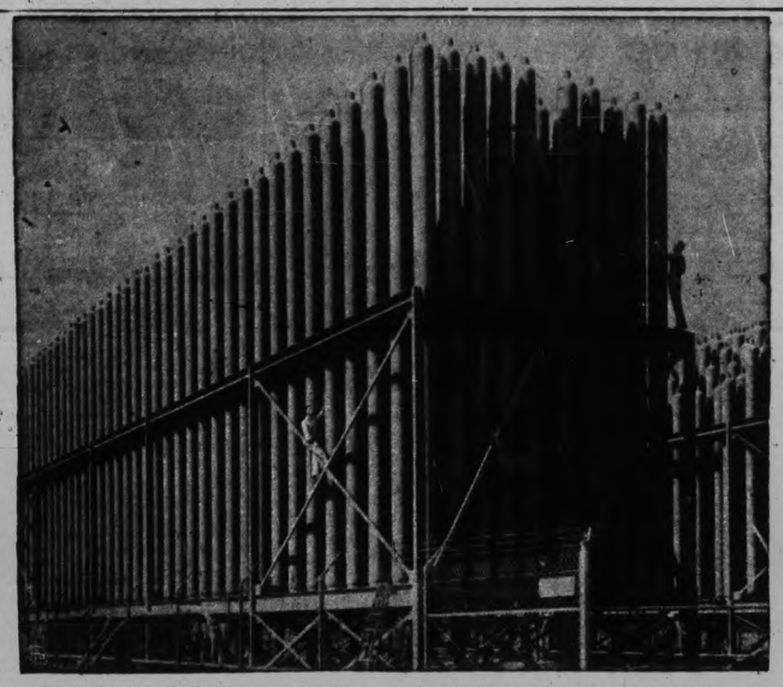
Rijeka, which we called Fiume for so long when the Italians had it, is a vast seaport of utterly business attributes and nearby Opatijj which calls itself the Balkans' watering place is to be sure a place on the water but it is ridden with hotels with squidgy little gardens and no privacy and no place to exercise or loaf. Canadians blessed by God with ample space and water and trees and lawns will probably want no more time in Rijeka or Opatija than it takes to turn around and get out.

An interesting way to get out is to drive north and west into Slovenia over the mellow hills that must be the German or Austrian or Russian route to the Adriatic, depending on which one is doing the invading at the time. The hills are softer and more lush and more like home than the characteristic ruggedness we saw elsewhere in Yugoslavia. Incidentally, this was our parting from Yugoslavia through a little imigration and customs point along the road and then no more than when we entered that Communist country did they make the least fuss. Our bags were not opened, our papers were examined quickly and politely.

A few more miles through what is now the British-American zone of Trieste and we came down the hills to the sea again and found ourselves in a waterfront hotel along the quayside that could have been Marseille, Genoa or most any other continental port. It was hot. It was very hot. And when the British gentleman who lives there and is some punkins in the place told us we really didn't have to see anything in Trieste except one old castle and cathedral we glorified Britain and her works. For after a while a castle is just the same as all other castles, and cathedrals when not "in service" can become after 37 other cathedrals the most uninspiring places known to man.

STAGING RACES

However, we went to the last castle and just to show how you never know your luck there in the courtyard were the Trieste police in Whitsun holiday mood staging motorcycle hurdle races and immediately alongside the cathedral immaculately scrubbed and dressed young boys and girls were being confirmed under the proud eyes of mother, father and family and then posing al-la-Mussolini to have their pictures took.



And that, plus a not-too-successful venture into the shrimp they call "scampy" in these parts which like logster and lie even less quietly, that, plus a last glimpse of the Adriatic at Venice as our train will scurry in and out en route to Paris tomorrow, that, as I keep trying to say, was our last look at the Adriatic, our last bit of Dalmation holiday.

VISIT YUGOSLAVIA

Should you go to the Adriatic to holiday, I'd reverse the usual saying. I'd say go to Yugoslavia, all of Yugoslavia or many parts of it and certainly Belgrade and Sarajevo. And while there you can sun yourself a bit on the Adriatic going or coming, at islands with such improbable names as Krk or Rab, or Drg.

But since you ask, I'd not urge you to go all the way to the Adriatic just to holiday along its shores. The French Riviera, at Bandol, say, is just as charming, its trees are lusher, its meals better, its beaches more welcoming, its water as buoyant.

The Dalmatian coast was a little disappointing in its sameness, its severity. But Yugoslavia as a whole, if you will mix a little hardship and study with your pleasure, must be just now one of the most interesting, exciting and, in many ways, stimulating countries one can visit.

NO HOT AIR EITHER—It looks like a monster candle-covered birthday cake. But it's just bottled air. The clean dry air is stored in these tanks at the NACA's Gas Dynamics Laboratory at Langley Aeronautical Laboratories. The air, weighing some 250 tons, is stored at 5,000 pressure per sq. inch in 630 special "bottles" on the tank farm. It is needed for use with supersonic jets at extremely high pressures and temperatures.

Canadians Make Big Money Out Of Irish Sweepstakes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

"How do you like that? We win a cool $140,000 in the sweepstakes and I'm left speechless. But my wife just takes it matter-of-factly and sticks to her housework."

That was Thomas Fyfe's comment after he won $140,000 with an Irish Hospital sweepstakes ticket on the 174th running of the Epsom Derby Saturday, He was one of more than 70 Canadians who raked in about $1,000,000 on the race.

The big payoff went to three Ontario persons, including Fyfe, a Scottish-born office manager with an electrical products firm in Toronto. The three held sweeps tickets on Pinza, ridden to victory in the Derby by Sir Gordon Richards.

Altogether, the thundering hoofs of the 28 derby thoroughbreds kicked back $576,000 to seven Ontario persons holding tickets in either the Irish Hospital sweeps or the Quebec Army and Navy sweepstakes. They had tickets on Pinza, the second-place Aureole and Pink Horse, which ran third.

CONSOLATION MONEY

Many other Canadians picked up consolation money of $2,000 or so to boost the total to $1,000,000.

2 'Scientists' Face Multiple Theft Charges

OTTAWA (CP)—Two 15-year-old "scientists" today face multiple theft charges as a result of a raid Friday by city police and RCMP on their secret, gadget-filled laboratory near the city's centre.

The equipment, valued at thousands of dollars, is alleged to have been stolen from the Ottawa General Hospital, the national film board and the national research council.

Both boys said they intend to be scientists when they grow up, one a chemist, the other a physicist.

The laboratory, in a shed behind one boy's home, was filled with weird home-made machines and expensive electronic control instruments, valuable optical lenses, ammeters, voltmeters, test tubes, chemical flasks and electrical parts.

Technical Sessions At Chemical Parley

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The 36th annual conference of the Chemical Institute of Canada ended Saturday following highly technical sessions.

E. R. Rowzee, 45, Sarnia, is vice-president.

Truce Teams Hold Brief Talks

Armistice Expected To Be Signed Within One Week

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Allied and Communist teams met in the tiny truce hut at Panmunjom for 12 minutes today amid increasing signs that an armistice may be signed within the week.

Although an Allied spokesman gave no hint of what took place in the hut, the briefness of the meeting indicated that only finishing touches remained before a cease-fire agreement is reached.

Lower level officers assembled after the plenary session—possibly to iron out the wording of the document that would call a halt to the three-year war.

The Reds asked the recess in the plenary session and another meeting was set for Wednesday morning.

CEASE-FIRE LINE

Review of the cease-fire line to follow the present battle line probably was one matter discussed by negotiators and staff officers. The original line was drawn up in November, 1951.

The big obstacle was swept aside Monday with the signing of the agreement providing for voluntary prisoner exchange.

Still, the threat of continued South Korean warfare after a cease-fire agreement worried top United Nations officials. There was no indication what would happen if the Republic of Korea armies refuse to acknowledge a truce.

All fighting is to halt 12 hours after the armistice is signed. Within 72 hours troops of both sides are to pull back to create a

De Gasperi Claims Victory

ROME (AP) — The Italian government today announced that the four-party pro-Western coalition won a hairline majority in the country's record vote for the Senate.

ROME (AP) — A government spokesman claimed today that Premier Alcide de Gasperi's centre coalition had won absolute majorities in both Senate and Chamber.

Interior Minister Mario Scelba, a Christian Democrat, confirmed that the coalition of four parties had won more than 50 per cent of the Senate, but declined to say what the result would be in the Chamber of Deputies, the more important lower house. He said he would announce the results at 5 p. m. (12 noon EDT).

The electoral office was still compiling a record vote of 93.78 per cent of the eligible voters in the Sunday and Monday election, the first since 1948. The results will determine whether the same coalition which has kept Italy in the pro-Western camp the last seven years will continue to rule.

Results in the Senate race were counted first.

If the government wins more than 50 per cent of the Chamber vote it is guaranteed 64.5 per cent of the seats under a new election law. This "bonus" would give it 390 of the 590 seats, a bloc calculated to give Italy a five-year period, at least, of stable government.

A BYSTANDER POINTS to the wagon rack that Jack Smith (inset), 20-year-old Manvers Township farmer was working on Monday afternoon when he was killed by a .22 calibre bullet that pierced his heart. Police say they believe now that the shooting was accidental. They are holding a .22 rifle for ballistics tests. The spot marked X shows where Smith's mother found him when she went to the barn to take him a cup of tea. See sketch on Page 2.

Accidental Shooting Police Theory In Millbrook Death; Test .22 Rifle

A .22 calibre rifle bullet—believed fired by a careless hunter—struck 20-year-old William John Smith of Manvers Township in the chest early Monday afternoon as he was working behind the barn at his mothers' farm. He died almost instantly. Provincial Police from Peterborough and Cobourg are investigating the mysterious shooting that occurred sometime between 1:30 p.m. and 2 p.m. Monday. Inspector Louis Needham of the Criminal Investigation Branch arrived late in the afternoon to take charge of the investigation which is not yet completed.

A break in the case was reported today by District OPP Inspector J. A. Stringer.

"Our views at the present time are very definitely that the shooting was accidental," said Inspector Stringer. "That's our finding as far as the investigation has progressed and it's highly improbable that it will change."

A gun has been seized, it was learned at press time today, and is being held for a ballistics examination.

No further details have been released by OPP headquarters here. The owner of the gun has not been named and the only other information is the conviction of the OPP that the fatal shooting was accidental.

Suicide has been ruled out. There was no gun found at the scene.

The family, the farming community where the youth lived, and the police were all puzzled at the strange shooting. A half hour elapsed between the time his mother first heard him hammering as he worked at the rear of the barn and then found him sprawled beside a hay-wagon.

RULE OUT SUICIDE

Suicide was immediately ruled out. There was no gun found at the scene.

At first the OPP had to check several theories. Was somebody trying to pay off a grudge? Was it a stray shot from some careless hunter. Or some other unexplained accident.

They are now convinced it was accidental though they were offering no theories. District residents say that ground-hog hunting is a favorite pastime in the Manvers

Queen Attends Service To Thank God For Crown

LONDON (CP)—The Queen went to St. Paul's Cathedral in brilliant sunshine today to sit at the feet of the Archbishop of Canterbury and thank God for the crown she received from him a week ago. The great church bells peeled a welcome as she drove from Buckingham Palace in an open car with the Duke of Edinburgh. Thousands lined the streets.

In the cathedral were the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Duchess of Kent, Sir Winston Churchill and the prime ministers and representatives from the Commonwealth including Prime Minister St. Laurent of Canada.

The Queen seemed to be a small, decout and wholly dedicated girl. For much of the service, in which 3,000 persons participated, her head was bowed. She faced the high altar, under the pulpit, and occasionally she glanced shyly across an aisle at Churchill, who gave her a reassuring smile.

Beside the Queen was the Duke and next to him the Queen Mother. They sat on crimson chairs of state brought from Buckingham Palace.

CHURCHILL READS LESSON

The lesson was read by Churchill. Carefully he climbed the half-dozen steps to the lectern, and then read in a solemn, booming voice from the sixth chapter of the Ephesians:

"Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this

Forces Alerted Against Storm

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Public safety forces massed early today at the threat of a tornado in one of the greatest alerts in western New York's history, but the tornado failed to appear.

News of more than 100 dead in the midwest and a series of special warnings from the U. S. weather bureau caused a wave of alarm through the area.

The storm front reached here shortly after midnight, causing thunderstorms and winds as high as 55 miles an hour.

Trees were felled and electric power was halted in parts of the Chautaugua and Cattaraugus counties, but there were no reports of injuries. Property damage was minor.

Police and fire departments, U. S. Coast Guardsmen and volunteers stood all night duty, awaiting the storm. Civil defence forces were placed on the alert.

Commercial vessels on Lake Erie hurried to the nearest port.

Howe Hopes Queen To Visit Canada Soon

LONDON (CP)—Trade Minister Howe today expressed the hope that the Queen will pay another visit to Canada before long.

Addressing the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain, Howe said:

"Our young Queen has given a new and deeper meaning to the abstract principles upon which the Commonwealth is founded.

"When Canadians sing the national anthem they no longer think of a sovereign living in remote splendor thousands of miles away, but of the charming young woman, who, with her gallant husband, visited Canada so soon before she had to assume the heavy burdens of the throne.

"I am sure all of you joing with me in hoping that Her Majesty will be able to again visit Canada before very long."

June 22 Campaign

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is expected to launch his election campaigning at Windsor, Ont., June 22.

Tentative arrangements have been made, it was reported today, to have the prime minister make the campaign keynote speech in the southwestern Ontario automobile city.

Don't Slacken Defence Effort Ridgway Warns

PARIS (Reuters)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway, outgoing Allied supreme commander in Europe, today warned West European countries that any slackening of their defence effort would leave them open to decisive and disastrous defeat.

In a report to the military committee standing group of the North Atlantic Pact organization, Ridgway said he knew of no facts leading to the conclusion that the military danger from the East has lessened.

Soviet bloc forces have been built up in the last year. Satellite forces have increased from 1,000,000 at the beginning of 1952 to 1,300,000 now—not including 100,000 armed police in Communist East Germany.

NOT FINISHHED YET

Ridgway placed the strength of Soviet Union forces in May, 1952, at 4,500,000. Russia then had 175 line divisions, 20,000 front-line planes with a large reserve and more than 300 submarines.

In reply, the West had built up a "momentum of incalculable power," Ridgway said, but it must not lose it. Allied forces were still critically weak.

NATO forces, he reported, lack the necessary number of modern planes and some NATO countries are lagging in development of air warning systems.

City Of Flint Hardest Hit With 113 Dead; Doctors, Supplies Rushed

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Six roaring tornadoes, their black-clouded funnels dealing death and multi-million dollar destruction, ripped furiously through parts of Michigan and Ohio Monday night, killing 141 and injuring 750. The most deadly of the shrieking windstorms flung full force against Flint, a heavily-industrialized city of 163,000 about 70 miles north of Detroit. In Flint alone at least 113 persons were killed. Forty houses in one Flint street were flattened like pancakes. Many mangled bodies were found today in the wreckage of homes. A tornado struck Michigan while the state was still cleaning up the May 21 twister that whirled through the outskirts of Port Huron, Mich., and jumped the St. Clair river and tore through Sarnia, Ont.

The first tornado Monday night lashed Erie, Mich., just over the Michigan-Ohio line from Toledo, O., at 7:25 p. m. EDT. At 9:10 p. m. a twister hedge-hopped through Washtenaw county, 15 miles to the north and swept into Milford, Oakland county, 15 miles the northeast. Tawas City, midway up the eastern coast of Michigan on Lake Huron, was hit at 9:25 p. m. and Flint at 9:45 p. m.

The tornado area extended from Tawas City down across the Ohio-Michigan border to Bowling Green—a path of 350 miles.

16 DIE IN OHIO

Eight persons died in the twister that struck the Cygnet, O., area; one each at Elyria and Ceylon.

Michigan fatalities, in addition to those at Flint, included four dead at Erie; four dead at Tawas City; one at Ann Arbor; and one in Brown City, near Lapeer.

Flint hospitals were filled with the injured—many crowded into corridors still stunned by the swift destruction that hit their homes.

City officials predicted that the toll eventually may be one of the highest ever suffered by a U. S. city from a tornado.

MAY DOUBLE COUNT

Some of them said it may double the present count when the last of the rubble is cleared away. Records show St. Louis, Mo., had 306 killed in a tornado May 27, 1896.

One Flint man who went through it all said "it was the most terrible thing I ever saw."

Apparently the same tornado which wrought so much destruction here and in Lapeer county also cut a swath on through Lakeport. This is a Lake Huron village a short distance north of Port Huron, where another tornado hit May 21, moving on to Sarnia, Ont., with a small loss of life but heavy damage.

Gov't Returned To Office In Manitoba

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitobans put their Liberal-Progressive government back into office Monday in a provincial election that saw the Social Credit party crushed in its second bid for power in Manitoba in 17 years.

In a contest that was as quiet as the campaign that preceded it, the electors returned Premier Douglas Campbell's administration with virtually the same majority that it enjoyed in the last legislature, adding another term to the party's 30 years of dominance in Manitoba politics.

Perhaps as significant as the government's victory was the defeat of the Social Credit group, with its possible and imponderable effects on the British Columbia provincial election today and the federal election later this year.

The Social Crediters first tried to gain power in the 1936 general election, but elected only five members, joined in coalition with the government in the early 1940s, elected two in 1945, by-passed the 1949 election and then fielded 42 candidates in this contest.

LATEST STANDING

Latest results from Monday's voting showed this party standing, with the number of ridings in which parties were leading in brackets:

Liberal-Progressives 24 (6); Progressive Conservatives 9 (3); CCF 2 (3); Social Credit — (1); independents 3 (3); Labor-Progressive (Communist)—(1).

Two of the three independents returned have declared their intention of supporting the government.

Angry Koreans Demonstrate

SEOUL (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of chanting South Koreans surged through Seoul and other cities today in angry demonstrations against an impending armistice.

Some rocks were hurled by one mob of more than 100,000 which stormed a barricade of bayonet-wielding U. S. military policemen and Korean police outside the 8th army headquarters compound here.

Fire hoses played on the street ahead of the advancing mob halted its forward momentum. As the crowd milled around, 50 Korean policemen waded boldly in, shouting and shoving. A few minutes later the crowd began breaking up.

No U. S. military personnel were reported injured, but many Koreans in the unruly mob were trampled.

Storms Leave Damage Trail Across Ontario

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Thunderstorms and high winds ripped across Southern Ontario Monday night, flattening barns, killing livestock, and cutting hydro wires.

Weather officials at Toronto said tornados which killed more than 100 persons in eastern Michigan were part of the same disturbance. They said Ontario might have suffered heavy damage and loss of life had it not been for the few miles of water separating the province from Michigan.

One tornado blew itself out over Lake Huron after hammering at several Michigan districts across the St. Clair river from Sarnia.

SMALL TWISTER

Some Ontario residents said Monday night that a small twister hit a southern section of Point Pelee, a long peninsula which juts into Lake Erie about 40 miles southeast of Windsor. It is Ontario's southernmost section. Trees were downed by high winds and hail.

At Galt, lightning destroyed two barns, 16 pigs and other livestock. Hydro lines were cut by falling trees.

Violent electrical storms swept the province from Windsor to North Bay, and east to Montreal. Weather officials said the eastbound storm petered out over the Maritimes.

Woodstock residents got the jitters when a tornado was reported heading for Forest and Parkhill, east of Sarnia. Telephone communications were knocked out by high winds. However, little other damage was reported.

Weather officials said Ontario may have been spared the effects of the Michigan tornado because it struck late in the evening. It hit Flint, Mich., at 9:40 p. m. EDT.

Officials said atmospheric conditions around 10 p. m. usually are not conducive to tornados and so the United States twister petered out before it got to Ontario.

Search Sioux Houses For Flood Victims

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—A house-to-house check of more than 3,000 flooded homes for possible flood victims was begun today after the receding Floyd river left Sioux City to recover from one of its worst floods in history.

Tentative estimates of property damage exceed $1,000,000, city officials said. The damage is expected to be more than from the great Missouri river flood here last spring.

Because the Floyd's flood waters poured into Sioux City with devastating suddenness, officials feared today's check would reveal more fatalities.

Will Operate On Eden Again

BOSTON (AP)—The Lahey clinic said today that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will undergo an operation Wednesday for a gall bladder condition.

"The medical investigation completed by Dr. John W. Norcross indicated his condition is as satisfactory as can be achieved," a bulletin said. "Full pre-operative preparation has been carried out."

The operation will take place in New England Baptist hospital where Eden has been staying since he flew from London last Friday.

Estimate $10,000,000 Damage

More Than 200 Homes Piles Of Splinters

By FENTON LUDTKE

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—A devilish, savage tornado whiplashed the Flint area Monday night, leaving an unofficial toll of 111 dead and 650 injured by its murderous blow.

It was the worst tragedy in the history of the Flint area.

More than 200 homes were smashed into twisted grotesque piles of splinters and confetti of bricks.

Damage was estimated up to $10,000,000.

The angry twister whirled down one path—Cold water road—for eight miles. It struck at 9:40 p. m. EDT one mile north of the Flint city limits.

It swiped at homes, barns, and stores like a heavy fisted dictator knocking pawn from a chessboard.

FEELING OF DEATH

A suffocating feeling of misery and death filled the air along the road. Police and ambulance sirens wailed back to hospitals in downtown Flint.

There was crying. There was disbelief.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, his eyes sore with sleeplessness, stood at the disaster scene.

"It's so much worse than anything we saw at Port Huron and Sarnia," he said.

He stepped inside a state police car and called Lawrence Farrell, his executive assistant in Lansing.

"Larry, see that President Eisenhower is notified of the tornadoes in the state and ask him to declare the stricken places disaster areas," he said.

What happened at 9:45 p. m. Monday?

TRY TO IDENTIFY DEAD

The national guard armory and grief stricken faces tell the answer. In long lines, bodies covered the armory floor. The count of dead included 38 children, 34 women, and 29 men.

Tense, tight-lipped relatives walked fearfully among the bodies.

A woman crumpled near a body. She sobbed hysterically. A priest touched her shoulder. Others looked and found nothing. They walked out into the night.

Only the name—Coldwater road—remained today.

Uprooted trees and sagging powerlines and muddy paths and pink flares and thousands of sobbing and curious awed persons—that was what remained today of Coldwater road.

It had been a road with modest, mostly wood frame homes. Factory workers from Flint's busy industries had lived in many of them.

Many fathers and husbands were at work when the twister struck. They hurried home to find nothing.

For miles down Saginaw street, Flint's main street, to Coldwater road at the northern outskirts, wreckers were lined, awaiting a call to lift rubble from homes.

Backward Glance At Britain's Great Day

Coronation Given Britons A New Pride

By I. NORMAN SMITH
(Special to The Examiner)

RUDGWICK, Sussex. — Hurry along, please hurry. The familiar cry of the London bus conductor is the order of the day now in England even down here in the country where the cuckoo call replaces the roar of London traffic. Did you know that sometimes the cuckoo arrests his call on his upper note and leaves you standing waiting for the lower one. The Queen is crowned, Everest has been climbed, and Gordon Richards won the Derby despite his added weight. The mood now is let us get on with it, there's the Test cricket on Thursday against those rude Aussies; for example the Korean Peace, Bermuda and something more lasting than a plat du jour in Paris. And there's knuckling this country down to its economic knitting. Tomorrow in St. Paul's Sir Winston Churchill will indubitably say it splendidly when he reads in the Thanksgiving service the lesson from Ephesians, chapter six: "Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day and having done all to stand therefore."

The coronation service and festival was so great and genuine a success that these modest English are rather apologizing for their enthusiasm as a cricketer might say, "I'm most awfully sorry" to a bowler he has just knocked for six. They suspect emotion and success especially in themselves, and the coronation was loaded with both. Connsequently the vogue now is to be sternly realistic. The poet laureate John Masefield started it by saying, "The coronation was mightily needed because we as a people have been split in sunder by all a century of thoughtless greed."

REVIVAL OF CHRISTIAN VALUES

Then The Times went to work to say that the coronation was all very well but that unless it meant a revival of Christian values, morals, conscience, energy and unity then it would be an empty symbol. The Times was most outspoken about England, about great industries becoming the plaything of politics, about expediency raised above principle, about the voice of duty only half heard, meanness of spirit. The Times added, envy and jealousy sour too much of our national life. And the Manchester Guardian felt the same way saying it was worth it, but on balance it probably set us back in our economic [illegible] than it helped us.

ALL QUIET DURING SERVICE

"The dislocation of London and the transport system, the huge diversion of resources, the loss of production may well offset the increased tourist revenue. No one will begrudge this, but there must be no illusion that we do not have to pay." But for all this sobriety I suspect there will follow a lighter mood. Certainly down here in Rudgwick there is no sour postmortem. They had a wonderful parade in the village, full of jollity and carnival. On one lorry in nearby Horsham was an 18 foot dragon, on another a group of actors catching rabbits. You could turn out arrayed as King Solomon or the village halfwit, but provided you sang the hymns lustily. There was free beer and tea. The parades were not during the Coronation service though. The radio and television brought Westminster Abbey to the nation and every village street was deserted during the hallowed hours. It was a television triumph and oddly enough it was that modern-day invention which made most nationwide and heart-felt the whole ancient ceremony and purpose. The decorations in the country places are very sporting and imaginative.

Flags and painted lamps and colored gates all vie with the brave show of lupins that stand to attention in every English garden, just now, and trumpetting scarlet of the poppies.

Sunday and Saturday London sent its largest crowds into The Mall and from Rudgwick and countless towns all over the country special buses took in sightseers ranging from Boer War heroes to kids half the height of a jampot. There are more to go. After church Sunday a little building on a hill gathering its cemetery close around its feet to keep out the encroaching public house and shops, parishioners chatted away about the gorgeous coronation and exchanged invita-

Canada Ready To Protest New Restrictions

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada likely will protest to Washington if tighter American restrictions on the import of dairy and other agricultural products go into effect.

A responsible authority whose name cannot be used said Monday Canadian trade officials "take a poor view" of the United States government's latest protectionist move, announced Monday. It was "very serious."

On the advice of U. S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson, President Eisenhower set standby import quotas on dairy products such as flaxseed and linseed oils, peanuts and peanut oils, if the U. S. Defence Production Act is allowed to lapse.

Regulation of these products at present takes place under the act. President Eisenhower's proclamation would transfer administration of these products to the U. S. agriculture department unless the act is extended by further legislation.

MAY DROP CONCESSIONS

Although official Canadian comment was unavailable, one trade official said Canada may consider withdrawal of certain tariff concessions granted to the U. S. in the years following the Second World War if the American restrictions go into effect.

He emphasized that such withdrawal could in no sense be considered a retaliatory measure. It would involve re-negotiation of certain agreements by which import concessions were granted certain U. S. products.

There was little expectation that Canadian protest would bring relaxation of U. S. import controls.

A June, 1951, measure which put a ceiling on American imports of a group of dairy products drew two Canadian protests without apparent effect.

Last December, the list of restricted products was expanded by the inclusion of dried milk products and Canada followed with a 450-word note expressing to the Eisenhower government its "serious concern" at this "infringement" of agreements to which both the U. S. and Canadian governments were parties. The note, referring to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and others, brought no change in the restriction.

The restrictions announced Monday are likely to affect U. S. imports from some European countries to a relatively greater extent than they will affect U. S. imports from Canada.

Principal Canadian export on the new list is cheddar cheese, a relatively minor item so far as the Canadian export total is concerned. But the fancy cheeses which the new measure would restrict form a significantly large part of total U. S. imports from such a country as Denmark.

LAYOUT OF THE FARM HOME where Jack Smith, 20, of Manvers township, was shot Monday afternoon, is shown here. The body was found beside the hay-wagon — screened from the roadway by the house and barn. Likelihood is that the shot came from the fields to the north where nearby residents and hunters roam to shoot groundhogs.

Surprises, "Unfair" Queries Feature Driving Charge

In a case which saw surprise exhibits, "unfair" allegations by the crown and admissions by the accused that he could consume large quantities of alcohol at single sittings, James McAdams of Apsley was found guilty on a charge reduced to impaired driving and fined $75 and $21 costs, today in Magistrate's court.

Cross examining the defendent on a drunk driving charge laid May 16, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, asked if he had told "the boys" at Apsley that he didn't have to worry about drinking and driving as long as he could get Mr. Fair to defend him.

W. Arthur Fair, QC, defence counsel, jumped to his feet claiming the question was out of order. Additionally he commented "I doubt if I have risen to such eminence in criminal law .... that question isn't fair."

Involved in the case was a part bottle of rye with about 16 ounces missing. Another witness, Gerald Whitmore of Apsley, said "I drank most" and that McAdams had only "a couple swallows."

Draggi from the accused the admission he had made in a previous liquor hearing that he could consume a quart of wine in less than an hour, Crown Attorney Bradshaw asked McAdams if it took more than "a couple of swallows" to affect him.

"Oh yes," said the defendant.

According to OPP Constable Jack McKendry and two Oakville women who observed the incident in May, McAdams swerved from side to side as he drove along Highway 28 north of Young's Point. He "smelled strongly of alcohol....did not appear to be his usual self .... was unsteady .... stumbled, ... slurred his speech ....appeared unsure.... fell."

Though it appeared to Constable McKendry that McAdams was intoxicated and Whitmore only affected, another witness, William Bray of Apsley said Whitmore had been drinking and McAdams seemed sober.

McAdams had been driving through Young's Point when his car had a flat tire. That was repaired and he proceeded on with Whitmore in his car to a point a short distance north when Mrs. Margaret Ware and Mrs. Shirley Pawson of Oakville caught up with him in their car. Going along the road, McAdam forced the constable, coming in the opposite direction, to the shoulder.

PC McKendry turned around gave chase and stopped both McAdams and Mrs. Ware.

Testifying, Mrs. Pawson said that during the time she was stopped in Mrs. Ware's car, she heard a clink which sounded like glass hitting something.

This evidence was passed without comment until Crown Attorney Bradshaw confronted Whitmore with a full bottle of rye.

"What did you do with this?" he asked.

"Oh, we threw it out of the car," Whitmore replied. It was the first time the second bottle had been mentioned and the witness went on to explain how he threw two more bottles out of the vehicle and later retrieved them.

With both Whitmore and the accused saying he had only "a couple of swallows," Megistrate J. R. Philp concluded, "I don't think the evidence is strong enough for intoxication and I'm registering a conviction on impaired."

The penalty of $96 carried an alternate 45 days.

Canada Lauds Truce Agreement

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday night Canada welcomes the news from the Far East indicating that an agreement has been reached on exchange of prisoners.

The prime minister added he is "somewhat disturbed" by what is reported to be the attitude of South Korea's President Syngman Rhee, some of whose statements have suggested his country will fight on regardless of any agreements.

He confirmed that the Commonwealth prime ministers, in session since last Tuesday, are agreed on the desirability of high-level talks with Russia. Asked about any specific agreement by the prime ministers, he said:

"The views held by us are in such close conformity that nothing in the way of a specific agreement seemed required. We have gone over the matters which we anticipate will arise at Bermuda. We gave no formal mandate to Sir Winston (Prime Minister Churchill) but we feel what he is saying is about what we would say. He will not say he is speaking specifically for Canada or Pakistan, but he knows his views are those of each of us."

U.S. Dollar At Discount

The Liberal-Progressives won an acclamation in one riding and the vote was deferred in two others.

The party standing in the 57-member legislature at dissolution April 23 was:

Liberal-Progressives 30; Progressive Conservatives 9; CCF 7; coalition 5; independent 1; Labor-Progressive 1; vacant 4; total 57. The five coalition members supported the government.

The party standing after the last election Nov. 10, 1949, was:

Liberal-Progressives 29; Progressive Conservatives 13; CCF 7; coalition 5; Independent Liberal 1; Independent Progressive Conservative 1; Labor-Progressive 1.

Constituencies still in doubt election night and requiring a second count under Manitoba's system of the single transferable vote for rural constituencies included Assiniboia, Dauphin, Gilbert Plains, Fairford, Iberville, Minnedosa and Russell.

VOTE STILL INCOMPLETE

The vote still was incomplete, though members were elected, in Carillon, Emerson, Ethelbert, Fisher, Gimli, Killarney, St. Andrews, St. Clements, St. George, Swan River and The Pas.

Four constituencies in the Winnipeg district, where vote is by proportional representation, returned only four of their quota of 12 members and further counts take place today.

Premier Campbell, 58 - year - old veteran of 30 years in the legislature, and all of his cabinet ministers were returned. One of them, Works Minister Morton, received an acclamation in Gladstone riding nomination day.

For Mr. Campbell, who succeeded to the premiership when Hon. Stuart Garson entered the federal cabinet in 1948, it was his first test at the polls since 1936. He was returned by acclamation in the elections of 1941, 1945 and 1949.

Errick F. Willis, 57, farmer-politician who has led the Progressive Conservatives since the 1930s, also was re-elected in his first contest since 1936. Along with Mr. Campbell, he has been returned unopposed in the intervening years.

The status of Lloyd Stinson, CCF leader, still was uncertain in a tight race in Winnipeg South.

W. J. Tinkler, president of the Manitoba Social Credit League and nominal leader of the Social Credit forces, was defeated in Morris constituency by Harry Shewman, independent member of the last legislature.

City Of Flint

There were injuries but no deaths reported at Lakeport.

The national guard armory at Flint was converted into a makeshift central morgue. At last count 98 bodies had been brought in. Priests and other clergymen administered last rites.

POKE THROUGH DEBRIS

State police and national guard search crews worked through the night, probing through shattered homes, piles of debris sucked up and dumped by the terrifying twisters, and overturned cars blown into open fields.

The death toll was almost certain to rise.

Up until Monday night there had been 227 persons killed in 128 tornadoes this year. Property damage had been estimated at $146,000,000. Of the death toll, 141 were reported in 15 Texas tornadoes. A destructive series of twisters had swept through Nebraska only Sunday night.

The record United States tornado took the lives of 689 persons in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana when it whipped through the three states March 18, 1925.

FLINT CRIPPLED

Flint was crippled. Pleas were radioed out for doctors and nurses. State police hurried blood there from the state health laboratory at Lansing. Calls went out for anti-tetanus drugs.

Maj.-Gen. Lester J. Maitland, Michigan state civil defence director, ordered doctors and medical supplies brought to Flint from Pontiac, Saginaw, Ann Arbor and Detroit. State police and the national guard ordered big crews of rescue workers to the area.

Centre of destruction was Coldwater Road, just outside Flint. The twister levelled 40 houses in a double row in a residential area for auto factory workers. One family of four was wiped out there.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan came here to direct state agencies in their rescue and relief work.

RED CROSS SHELTERS

The Red Cross set up relief shelters at Flint and Port Huron, the latter for the Lakeport area injured.

At Detroit, meteorologist W. W. Oak said the number of tornadoes that hit southeastern Michigan were unparalleled in the history of the state. Oak said the tornado paths indicated there were four or possibly five.

TREMENDOUS FORCE

One incident in the Erie tornado testified to its tremendous force. A 30-foot truck-trailer was picked off U. S. 124, blown across the highway and dumped on its side into a ditch. The driver had jumped out and miraculously escaped death.

At least 15 were injured in the Erie twister, three of them critically.

Police said the known dead there were Walter Lewis, 55, of Erie, who succumbed of injuries in hospital. Carol Ann Winkler, 6, Judith Winkler and Mrs. Virgie Rush, 3, of Dearborn.

The Rush family saw the terrifying black funnel approaching and attempted to abandon their car. As they alighted, it struck. The father and two children, Shirley and Willa Dean, were hurt.

That tornado blew on out over Lake Erie toward Canada.

world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand."

Then in a brief sermon the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, looking down on the Queen, told her that at the moment of her Coronation last week the British association of nations was close to the kingdom of God. The crowning of the young Queen in solemn ceremony, he said, had awakened a widespread appreciation of the power of religion.

"God has set us to maintain and increase among all peoples of the Commonwealth a creative partnership of free co-operation, to which all contribute in due proportion," he said.

"This great task demands wisdom, not worldly wisdom (though worldly wisdom has its place as one of the instruments for our use) but the wisdom of Christ, who knows what is in man, and the word of Christ, who knows the way he could go."

Then, seeming to speak directly to the Queen, he counselled:

"Let the peace of God rule in your heart."

Accidental Shooting

hills and the shot might have come from one of these huntsmen.

Neighbors and residents of Millbrook who knew Smith are inclined to the theory that it was a stray bullet, not an intentional shot, that killed him. They point out that he was well liked in the community, worked hard, and though only 20 years of age had been running the farm since the death of his father, William Smith, two years ago.

"As far as I know he didn't have an enemy," said one village acquaintance.

Here's what happened, according to the meager information available:

Mrs. Smith, the dead youth's mother who lives with him on the farm, heard him hammering away behind the barn at 1.30 p.m. She knew that he was repairing the racks on a wagon that could be used for hauling hay or grain.

She told provincial police that at 2 p.m. she decided to take him out a cup of tea. The hammering had stopped and when she walked around the corner of the barn she saw him lying on his back, dead.

He had fallen beside the tongue of the wagon. Apparently he had been facing the rack, his left arm looped over the rack, as he drove a nail. A .22 calibre bullet, that police describe as fired from a "fairly close" distance, struck him just below the left armpit.

The bullet penetrated his body and struck his heart, an autopsy performed Monday night in Peterborough revealed.

Today provincial police are fanning out through the district questioning the owners of .22 calibre rifles who could have been in the vicinity. They hope to have a break in the case by Wednesday night, perhaps earlier.

CAME FROM NORTH

The likelihood is that the bullet came from open country to the north of the barn. Smith was working about 50 feet from the barn and was hidden from view to anybody standing on the Millbrook-Pontypool Road.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. J. W. Wright, of Millbrook.

He was born in Manvers and lived his lifetime on the farm where he met his death — five miles west of Millbrook on the 3rd Concession. He attended the nearby Marsh School in Cavan township. His father was the late William Smith and his mother the former Edith May Jones.

One of a family of eight children, he was the only boy.

His sisters are Mrs. Douglas Nicholson (Maude), of Alberton, P.E.I., Mrs. Glyn Edwards (Ada Jane), of Peterborough, Mrs. Orville Moncrief (Jean), of Fraserville, and Lila, Bessie, Josephine and Sadie—all of Peterborough.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Lt.-Col. Tate Named Intelligence Director

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Col. Edward Samuel Tate, 47, of the Royal Canadian Artillery and formerly of Guelph, has been promoted colonel and appointed director of military intelligence, army headquarters announced today.

He succeeds Col. N. S. Cuthbert who is leaving the army.

In 1941 he was adjutant of the 12th Canadian field regiment in the United Kingdom, and the next year became a staff captain, artillery, with the 3rd Canadian infantry division.

BITTER OVER AGREEMENT

South Korean leaders were bitter over the prisoner exchange agreement. They said it failed to live up to the United Nations "fundamental principle of human freedom."

The agreement provides for the release of all prisoners who want to go home within 60 days after signing a truce. Reluctant prisoners would remain in custody of a five-country commission for 90 days.

12-Foot Boat Stolen From Rye's Pavilion

A 12-foot flat bottom boat tied by the Rye's Pavilion was found missing from its berth Monday by its owner, Stewart Cummiskey, of 78 Sophia Street.

The boat, aluminum covered and painted green inside, had been chained and padlocked to a tree in the area. Police suspect children played some part in the theft.

Assembly Votes To Reject Truce

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—The South Korean National Assembly called today for "all necessary measures" at the front lines "to prevent another Communist aggression and be prepared for a northward advance."

The assembly also voted unanimously—129 to 0—to reject any armistice unless it provides for the withdrawal of Chinese Communist forces and dissolution of the North Korean Army.

The members shouted their approval of a four-point resolution reaffirming South Korea's opposition to an impending truce and threatening to fight on alone.

"In order to prevent another Communist aggression and be prepared for a northward advance, all necessary measures must be taken quickly at the front lines as well as in the rear area," the resolution said.

This was not further explained immediately, but observers said the assembly apparently was recommending that the South Korean Army prepare to fight on.

Train-Busters Honored With Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—The skipper of the train-busting champion of the UN navies headed a list of eight awards announced Monday to Canadian seamen for their deeds in the Korean war.

The Distinguished Service Cross was awarded to Lt.-Cmdr. John Bovey, 36, of Montreal and Victoria, commander of the destroyer Crusader which has run up a better record than any other UN ship in molesting Communist trains.

Crusader's record is 4½ trains wrecked, three of them completely. The citation praised Lt.-Cmdr. Bovey's leadership, coolness under fire, excellent judgment and cheerfulness.

The DSC was also awarded to Lieut. Douglas F. Tutte, 33, of Saskatoon, for his "inspiring" leadership in gunnery aboard the destroyer Iroquois.

The Distinguished Service Medal, lower-deck equivalent of the DSC, went to PO. G. E. Jamieson, 28, of Ottawa, another Iroquois gunnery expert. In particular he was cited for his courage on Oct. 2, 1952, when a shell killed several of his men but did not prevent him from rallying the survivors and keeping the guns blazing.

Mentions in dispatches were awarded to five others, including the late Lt.-Cmdr. John L. Quinn of Prince Rupert, B.C., and Moose Jaw, Sask. He was killed on that Oct. 2 shelling.

Gets Seven Days On Theft Charge

LINDSAY (ENS)—A series of thefts from cars, still under investigation by Lindsay police, was partially solved yesterday in court, when two local men appeared and pleaded guilty to charges, after they had been apprehended on Saturday following a police watch.

James McGuire, 29, of no fixed address pleaded guilty to the theft of a blanket, which had been stolen from a car, after he had been watched by officers as he tried to sell the blanket to a hotel waiter. After his arrest he took officers to a hiding place behind some main street stores, where Chief Hunter found a bag of groceries, some of which had been eaten, a bag of tomatoes, and another blanket, or car rug. McGuire pleaded guilty only to the theft of the first blanket and implicated the second accused, Archie Quibell, 39, of Lindsay, in the theft of groceries.

McGuire told police he had taken the blanket when he found it on lawn of McDonald Park in Lindsay. He had taken it to the hiding place where he had found food, given to him by Quibell, he said. The second blanket already was in the hiding place when he called, he said.

Police had received complaints covering all the thefts, said Chief Hunter, but the owners of the various items did not appear in court to claim them.

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan asked for a remand for sentence for McGuire, to carry on the investigation into the other thefts. Quibell pleaded not guilty to the theft of the food, three loaves of bread, and some lettuce, stating that the first time he had seen it was when it was offered to him by McGuire. He admitted that he had had something to drink on the day of the theft and that he might have taken it.

Magistrate Gee found Quibell guilty and sentenced him to seven days on the charge.

Too late for Agincourt

EVEN THE BOWMEN who toppled armor-plated knights at Agincourt would have been impressed by the range of a modern aluminum bow used at a recent British archery championship. It shot the winning arrow a distance of 353 yards. Made of a special alloy, the bow had a tensile strength of thirty-two tons!

While sturdy aluminum is playing an essential part in Canadian defence production for the free world, we're afraid the new aluminum bow is a little late for defence use in our atomic age. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Will Extend Reciprocal Trade Act Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives ways and means committee today approved a one-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act beyond June 12 as urged by President Eisenhower.

Committee members said the vote, in a closed session, was 23 to 2 for a compromise version of the trade act which represents a victory for the administration.

The bill extends for one year Eisenhower's authority to lower tariffs on foreign goods coming into the U. S. in return for trade concessions to the U. S. by other nations.

The president called for the extension in a special message to Congress two months ago, but the measure had been stalled for weeks in the committee by Republicans seeking to increase trade restrictions rather than lessen them.

The bill as approved would create a special 17-man commission to study tariff and trade problems for one year, and also would add a seventh member to the tariff commission, in effect giving Republicans a 4-3 majority.

The bill also speeds up—from 12 months to nine months—the time allowed for the tariff commission to act on an industry's request for higher tariffs to block out allegedly injurious foreign imports.

Airman Drowned Helping Comrade

BAYFIELD (CP)—A drowning victim here Monday night was identified by RCAF officials today as AC1 Joseph Noel Henri Gagnon, 25, of Quebec City.

Gagnon apparently was drowned when he went to the aid of another airman who was in difficulty.

Bayfield is 40 miles northwest of Stratford.

MRS. GRACE F. CUDWORTH of Boston, Mass., on Monday was named president of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, at the annual meeting. An active Christian Scientist for almost 50 years, Mrs. Cudworth has been a Christian Science practitioner in Boston for more than 40 years.

$240 Damage Estimate In Two-Car Accident

Damage estimated at $240 was caused Sunday afternoon in a two-car accident at the intersection of Park and Charlotte Sts. Drivers involved were Wilfred Gedge of 537 O'Connel Rd. and Clare G. Collins of 528 Hunter St.

Gedge was driving north on Park and had just passed the intersection when he began to slow for a stop. Collins, westbound on Charlotte, turned right to drive north on Park when his car came into collision with the Gedge vehicle.

Collins' car was damaged to the right side and Gedge's, to the left rear corner. The Collins vehicle's damage was estimated at $200.

Britain Satisfied With Truce Arrangements

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that "nothing ought now to stand in the way of the conclusion of an armistice (in Korea) except necessary administrative arrangements."

Churchill said he was confident the administrative details "may soon be completed."

"We are satisfied," he added "that the arrangements now agreed will ensure that no prisoner of war is repatriated by force."

Churchill went on:

"Under the decisive guidance of President Eisenhower a result has been achieved which, unless new disappointments occur, will be of high value in itself and also important in relation to the world position.

"I do not feel that full justice has been done by us here during the last few months to the difficulties to which General Clark and General Harrison were subjected not only by Communist obstinacy but also by the attitude of the South Korean government under Mr. Syngman Rhee."

Gen. Mark Clark, the American general heading the United Nation forces in Korea, and Gen. William Harrison, chief UN negotiator in the truce talks, have repeatedly come under fire of Labor members in Parliament.

Truck Driver Freed Of Blame

COBOURG (ENS)—A coroner's jury Monday night brought in a verdict attaching no blame to the driver of a truck with which a car collided last Wednesday killing two people in an accident four miles west of town. Driver of the truck was C. J. Brown of Kitchener. The car was driven by George Harrison of Oshawa, who with his passenger, William E. Gratton of Havelock, were killed.

Only eyewitness was the truck driver who said that the car suddenly swerved over into his traffic lane, coming headon, and sideswiped the rear wheels of the transport tractor. The car was going at a high speed, he said.

Provincial Constable Frank Clough gave evidence as to marks on the highway, which indicated that the car had swerved over to the wrong side of the road just before the collision. The truck driver ditched his vehicle in a vain effort to avoid the crash.

The jury found that the two men died at 3:30 a.m. on Highway No. 2 on June 3 "and that the truck driver did all he could to avoid the accident."

New Boarder In Zoo

NEW YORK (AP)—The Bronx zoo has a new boarder today, but no one knows how the bird, a penguin from the southern tip of South America, made his way north. The penguin, a Humboldt breed, was turned over to he bronx zoo Monday after Joseph Marano found it in his front yard.

Importance Of Political Controls

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P., was guest speaker at Rotary Club on Monday. Dr. Robertson stressed the importance of development of political controls and the extension of government functions in the dynamic progressive society. As the basis of Confederation, in the British North America Act, was envisaged a strong central government having power over the "peace, order and good government of people scattered over a relatively thin strip of land adjacent to the U.S. border." The Act provided for a House of Commons and a Senate, the latter serving as a curb to the preponderant representation of the larger provinces and protecting the minority representation from any infringement on their rights. The Senate is appointed on a geographical basis.

"Our government is responsible to almost 15 million people. The past few years has seen the greatest development in the exploitation of resources ever seen in the history of the world," he said. The development of the western oil fields, the great iron and uranium finds, have brought the problem of conservation.

"From the Anglo-Saxon interpretation of democracy our political heritage is patterned. It has been modified to our needs which have of course, changed through the centuries. It is a far cry from the original concept of democracy where the individual was comparatively self-sustaining to the complexity of business as it is today. Likewise has the function of democratic government been changed. Democracy is designed to give freedom to the people and responsibility to their representatives. It is not necessarily suited to all races and peoples, but presupposes an enlightened people.

"The federal government recently recommended to the Crown the first Canadian Governor-General. He is the Queen's representative in Canada and about the only political tie left with the Mother Country. The Queen, and she is the Queen of Canada, exerts a tremendous influence on the Dominion—an influence which none can either mention or deny."

Dr. Robertson was introduced by Dr. Arn. Bright and thanked by President Frank DeCarrol.

Council Asked To Buy Land For New Street Allowances

COBOURG— (ENS)—The Calhoun sub-division was discussed by council again Monday night. In accordance with a town ruling that streets must be 66 feet in width in new subdivisions, Mr. Calhoun has had to change the lot lay-out. In a letter to council he said that it meant loss of $1,489 to turn over the required land as street allowance and he said he would do so if the town reimbursed him for his loss and also paid the legal fees.

Councillor Otto Curtis said that if the land belonged to the town as a street allowance, the town should not be required to pay Mr. Calhoun for it. Mayor Jack Burnet said that council should either throw the regulations overboard or live up to them. Mr. Calhoun was in effect asking the town to pay him because he was living up to the regulations, the mayor said. After considerable discussion the council decided to talk over the legal points of the matter with the town solicitor.

The town engineer recommended that subdivision regulations include two clauses. One was that the owner of a subdivision must construct at his own expense the underground utilities services and the other that the town lay sewers to a subdivision boundary, foot for foot to the extent laid inside the subdivision by the owner. On motion council accepted his recommendations.

Permission was granted the retail merchants to hold a street dance some night during the international plowing match here, the area for the dance to be the section on Third St. from Albert St. to the ferry dock. It was stipulated that it could be held on the night of the banquet for the plowmen at the recreational centre but not on a night which would conflict with other attractions scheduled at the centre.

In reply to a request from the public school board for the opening of a street from D'Arcy to the new school, council felt that the main thoroughfare should be from Major St. and that a pedestrian passage only be made from D'Arcy St. On motion it was decided to call for a joint meeting with the board.

A by-law was passed setting up a planning board for zoning and building regulations, to be comprised by Miss Madeline Rooney for a three-year term; Eldon McFadyen and W. N. Bradley for two years and Robert Shepherd for one plus two members from the sitting council. Council passed a resolution whereby the town assume the recreational centre deficit up to $3,000.

Cornish Hurls 2-Hitter In Little Britain Win

LINDSAY — (ENS) — The Lindsay Muskies' win streak in the Victoria independent league ended last night, when they dropped a 3-2 decision to Little Britain.

Mickey Cornish pitched the game for the winners, and allowed only two safe hits in the seven innings. Two of the winners runs were unearned, coming off a series of Muskies' errors. Their one big blow was Lionel Hall's inside-the-park homer which resulted when his outfield bouncer was misjudged by the Muskies centre fielder, who let it through him for a homer. Ken Kelly went the route for the Muskies.

In the seventh, the Muskies scored their two runs, and had the bases loaded with two out, when Cornish struck out the last man, with McTaggart coming home, to end the game.

Crash Damage Slight

Only slight damage was caused in an accident at the corner of Simcoe and Water Sts. Monday afternoon. Involved drivers John Harrison of Lakefield and George Lang of 386½ Water St. were both facing east on Simcoe at the corner when Harrison's car collided with Lang's as the Lakefield man backed up out of the path of Water St. traffic. Total damage was estimated at $25.

NEW YORK (AP)—Judge Irving R. Kaufman again Monday refused to halt the scheduled June 18 execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. Kaufman specifically denied a motion for a new trial for the condemned couple, sentenced April 5, 1951. They have been in the death house at Sing Sing prison since then.

ONCE IN A LONG, LONG TIME, a really new and wonderful dessert comes your way. I'm happy to have my share in telling folks about the latest such dessert — Frosted Fondant Pudding. Perhaps you've seen the color picture of Frosted Fondant Pudding at your grocer's, or in color advertising. The secret of its luxurious smoothness and heavenly-rich flavor, is that it uses double-rich Carnation Evaporated Milk in a new way with Jell-O Puddings. That does wonders for the puddings. And this new dessert combines two marvellous flavors of quick, thrifty and wholesome Jell-O Puddings, for a new taste delight. Maybe you already have your leaflet with Frosted Fondant Pudding and with other dessert recipes from your grocer. If not, until you do get it, here's

FROSTED FONDANT Pudding

1 package Jell-O Vanilla Pudding
1 package Jell-O Chocolate Pudding
3 cups Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 cup water

Prepare Jell-O Vanilla Pudding according to package directions, but using 1½ cups Carnation Milk and ½ cup water for the milk. Do the same with the Chocolate Pudding. Cool, but do not chill. "Frost" the edges of dessert glasses. Put the puddings by spoonfuls in the glasses, alternating flavors. With a small knife, cut through puddings in a zigzag course, to "marble". Chill. Serves 8.

To "Frost" Dessert Glasses: Dip rims of glasses in slightly-beaten egg white, then in fruit sugar. Let stand until set.

IT'S SMALL WONDER if housewives become confused by claims and counterclaims for food products. How can a person be sure which is best? Well, I can speak for milk, anyway. But I'm going to be different. I won't make any claims for Carnation. I'll just let these questions and answers speak for themselves:

1. What milk is double-concentrated for double usefulness — grand for milk purposes, and for cream purposes? CARNATION.
2. What evaporated milk is specially heat-refined for super-smooth cooking results? CARNATION.
3. What evaporated milk is extra rich-tasting, for richer flavor in cooking . . . in baking . . . in coffee? CARNATION.
4. What is the world's leading brand of evaporated milk? CARNATION.

VEGETABLE VARIETY can do so much to make meals enjoyable. One way that I count on achieving variety is with interesting sauces. And among my favorite sauces, is a Mock Hollandaise that gives a real lift to vegetables. It achieves that smooth richness you look for in Hollandaise, by using double-rich Carnation undiluted . . . and it gets its piquancy from thick salad dressing.

MOCK HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
(4 servings)

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup Carnation Milk
½ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup thick salad dressing

Blend butter and flour in saucepan over low heat. Mix Carnation and water. Add gradually to butter mixture, stirring constantly; stir and cook until thickened. Add salt and salad dressing, and serve at once.

There is no better proof of Carnation's quality, than the fact that Carnation Milk is used and recommended more for baby feeding than all other brands of evaporated milk combined.

WANT A WHIPPED TOPPING to add the last perfect touch to Frosted Fondant Pudding — or to berry shortcakes? Couldn't be simpler — couldn't be thriftier. Use Whipped Carnation Topping. Here's how:

Chill undiluted Carnation in freezing tray of refrigerator until small crystals form around edges. Or chill unopened can several hours on ice. Chill bowl and beater. Whip rapidly. For each ½ cup Carnation used, add 1 tbsp. lemon juice after whipping to the foamy stage. Whip stiff — sweeten to taste. (For recipes that call for whipped cream folded in, omit lemon juice and sugar).

Cease Fire

It is too much to expect that the truce following the signing of the agreement on prisoner-of-war exchange will be smooth and easy. There have been too many obstacles, too much temporizing, too many years of bitterness and blood for a cessation of hostilities to be clean, without sparks. Although the Reds may be sincere in wanting and trying to effect a "complete cease-fire without delay", the South Korean government's brand is still flaring. Many weeks will pass before the last shot is fired. Nevertheless the Korean War has come to an end. There is little rejoicing; there is much heart-felt relief.

* * *

The Korean War has never been a popular or a noble cause. At best it was a necessity heavily borne. The United States and U.N. entered the war to deter aggression. If the war was a mistake, the mistake was made by the North Koreans who invaded South Korea. If it was a useless war, the North Koreans made it direly useful. What has been the use? The Reds have been driven out of South Korea, and that outpost of western policy has been saved—not for the South Koreans, but for the West.

* * *

There can be little sympathy with Syngman Rhee's point of view, that the truce terms are unjust to the South Koreans. What justice is it to them to continue the havoc and bloodshed? The U.S. and U.N. did not go into Korea to win North Korea for the South Koreans; it entered the war to keep South Korea on their side of the fence, and the North Koreans and Chinese Reds out. This has been accomplished. The war should not be continued in order to set up a corrosive South Korean regime over the whole peninsula. In the past year the South Korean soldiers have fought well; it is no dishonour to them if the U.S. and U.N. refuse to support a reckless foray right to the borders of China in order to exalt Rhee and his handful of generals and political cronies.

* * *

The U.N. commitment has been fulfilled. The terms of the prisoner of war exchange are sensible and honourable, and from these stem the truce. Both sides have put their arms to test. The test has not been conclusive except to show that negotiation is better than warfare, and that a limited war can be sustained only at great cost, and at great risk of unlimited war.

* * *

Much honour is due the Americans. They have borne the brunt of the fighting in the Allied camp. They have paid much of the cost. At times their forbearance was at breaking point, when, for instance, the war was rashly carried by MacArthur to the Chinese border. Their forbearance wore thin in the last year of truce negotiations. Honour is due them for their achievement, their patience, and finally, their acceptance of terms which other U.N. nations favoured. Canada, which has played a very small part in the war compared with the American effort, should have nothing but praise for the American conduct of the war (which confined it to Korea) and now, for the sensible armistice terms being concluded.

Unequal Compensation

In a letter printed on this page today a reader calls attention to a disparity in allowances to dependents of injured or killed workmen. This results from amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act passed by the Ontario Legislature this spring. The changes increase the monthly payments to a widow or an invalid husband from $50 to $75 a month, and allowances for children are scaled accordingly. However, the beneficent changes apply only where the accident happened on or after April 2nd of this year, when the revised Act came into force. Dependents suffering loss because of an accident which happened before that date, will continue to receive compensation at the old and lower rate.

The inequality is glaring. It puts a premium on the date of the accident. Dependents created before April 2nd face the same costs of living as those recently made dependent, yet receive smaller monthly payments. It is an arbitrary arrangement and unfair, but unfortunately such is the nature of the Workmen's Compensation Board and the Fund, that nothing else can be done without scuppering both.

The Board is an independent body of three members. It has exclusive jurisdiction and authority. It determines to whom and how long compensation shall be paid. It collects money for this by assessments against the company or private employer for whom the injured or killed person worked. Say an accident occurred ten years ago. The Board says to the company or other employer: "You have a financial responsibility under law to pay compensation to the dependents; you will pay $50 a month to the widow." The company usually consolidates its responsibility in this by giving the Board a lump sum. The principal and interest on this will be sufficient to cover the assessment. Thereafter, the employer has no more financial responsibility. If the Board or the Legislature decides in 1953 to increase the rates of payment, the increase cannot be made retroactive. It cannot be made to persons eligible for the compensation long ago, for long ago the employer paid off his full responsibility, through the Board. The funds of the Board have been built from employer payments at the old rate.

The only way to right inequalities resulting from a change in the rates as made last April is to make the Board a governmental agency and supply it with monies got from taxes, not from employers. This would be a radical change indeed, substituting for what is basically a private co-operative arrangement, another state social welfare fund. These are already numerous. If a case of real hardship results from the inequalities, there are other agencies and governmental funds to attend to them, now as in the past before the new rates went into their limited effect.

One Garbage Collection A Week?

Many Peterborough citizens will be in favour of the proposal made to the Sanitation Committee of the City Council that the men who work on the garbage collection should have a five-day week. But we cannot imagine many householders favouring the accompanying proposal that this should be achieved by a single garbage collection each week throughout the city. The Sanitation Committee's first task is to provide sanitary services for Peterborough, and one garbage collection a week would be neither sanitary nor satisfactory.

A five-day week can be achieved in many types of work without diminishing the service to the public if those who arrange it will realize that the extra free day need not necessarily be Saturday. In many plants the employees work for five days a week, taking their free day on any day from Monday to Saturday, according to seniority. This system can be worked out with the employees of the garbage service, if the five-day week is adopted for them, and householders can continue to have collections of garbage twice a week.

The disadvantages of a single garbage collection are many. First, it is an unsanitary nuisance to keep a week's garbage, and for dwellers in apartments it is virtually impossible. Next, it would involve every householder in expense for double the number of garbage cans he now owns. Third it would make streets where garbage collection was expected even more unsightly than they are at present, for every house would have from four to eight garbage cans, standing at the curb. The only section of the community which would be pleased by such a system would be the dogs who love to rummage in garbage cans, and strew rubbish over the lawns and streets.

We must not lose sight of the fact, either, that householders now pay a special tax for twice-weekly garbage collection, and that if the service is cut in two without their permission, they have been wronged. Reduced service must mean reduced taxation, or many householders who still work more than five days a week will have little sympathy with the employees of the garbage service.

If it is possible for each member of the garbage service to work five days a week, we think that most of the public will be in favour of it. But if it is suggested that the garbage service should operate only from Monday to Friday, and that the service to the public be halved, we cannot see why any householder should be expected to face the nuisance and expense which such a plan would involve.

Trade And China

By PERCY ARNOLD

THERE is a sharp contrast between Anglo-U. S. relations and Russo-Chinese relations. Between the former there is a shared a common heritage and a common purpose which is seldom discussed because it is not controversial —controversy rages on minor points which are not fundamental. In the latter case we hear no controversy— all party members tend to speak with the same voice because they have to, and this fact conceals a basic disunity of interest between Russia and China.

It follows that the first principle governing the China Trade is that it would be wrong to cut off all trade with China and thus by making China uniquely dependent upon Russia and its satellites, drive Russia and China into each others arms. The second principle is scarcely worth mentioning because the whole free world holds it in common: that it is wrong to send strategic materials to China which directly assist it in making war on the United Nations.

❖ ❖ ❖

BRITAIN, in fact, controlled the sale of arms to China long before the outbreak of the Korean War. After its outbreak a wide range of strategic goods was embargoed as well. Controls were intensified progressively and since the United Nations embargo on stragetic materials in May, 1951, no items of significent strategic importance have been exported from the United Kingdom or Colonies. The main effect of the resolution was, indeed, to bring other countries into line with Britain.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE BRITISH LIST has been published and falls under six main groups: (1) arms and munitions, (2) electric and electronic equipment, (3) a range of machinery and equipment, such as cranes, ball bearings, diamond tools, flexible metal tubing, etc., (4) certain metals, iron and steel, lead, tin, mercury, etc., (5) oils, rubber, and certain chemicals, (6) land and water transport equipment of strategic importance.

❖ ❖ ❖

WHAT is or is not a strategic material has sometimes been hotly debated. An example is the case of antibiotics like penicillin and streptomycin. Some of these are essential for maintenance of large military forces, but all are valuable for the relief of disease and suffering among civilians. British policy since August, 1951, has been that exports to China will be limited to normal civilian requirements. Some western Europe countries have been exporting unlimited quantities of these drugs but their goverments have now imposed restrictions similar to Britain's. Thus there is agreement among the Governments of the countries of the free world on this point. Individuals still hold vigorous opinions on the subject, however, and a debate took place a short time ago in the House of Commons on a motion by a private member.

❖ ❖ ❖

SIMILARLY, individuals disagree about whether any trade at all should be carried on with China but there appears to be a wide measure of agreement among governments that there is no point in checking trade in non-strategic goods which gives benefits to the free world greater than any possible military advantage it can give China. British trade in non-strategic goods is often under attack particularly among certain groups in the U. S. A. (even though such trade between the U. S. A. and China is at least twice as large as that of Britain). Those who argue on this basis forget that trade is a two way street and that the balance of advantage to the free world lies on the side of retaining these unwarlike trading relations on which other free countries depend for their economic health.

❖ ❖ ❖

SUCH DIFFERENCE of view should not obscure certain broad and relevant facts. China is obtaining most of her foreign materials of war from the iron curtain countries and these materials are coming mainly the hard way— overland. Ironically enough, in the case of non-strategic materials, it was the Peking Government which deliberately turned its back on all trade with western capitalists, only to find that the alternative trade promised by Russia did not develop as expected, so that shortage occurred.

❖ ❖ ❖

THIS is one reason why exports from the West of China were recently above normal. Another important reason is that the Peking Government at the beginning of 1952 had money in hand which had been extorted from Chinese peasants and businessmen during the so-called anti-corruption drive. Nevertheless, this awakening realization in China of a need to have relations with the west is an encouraging development which needs to be fostered.

❖ ❖

IN DISCUSSION of the China trade, military considerations naturally loom large but there are some countries which regard their usual trade with China as almost vital and certainly as very important to them. These places are: Hong Kong— which draws most of its food from China one of the best customers for its cotton; and finally Ceylon— which buys rice from China to feed the people of Ceylon. These realities must be remembered. Are those who talk about ending all trade with China ready to risk political chaos following an economic distress in several vital centres of Asia— or are they perhaps willing to buy and sell at fair prices all that those countries now sell to China and obtain from it?

No wonder that most countries accept the present compromise: a control affectively enforced which permits trade with China— except de strategic materials.

Golf Used to Be a Game

(Ottawa Journal).

A despatch tells of the U. S. Professional Golfers Association proposing a $15,000 minimum purse for its sponsored tourneys.

Golf used to be a game; one of the best of all games for fun and recreation. They are trying to make it into a business, and, what is worse, into a circus.

A professional golfer used to follow the honorable vocation of teaching others how to play golf. Now he's becoming a wandering nomad, part of a caravan of golfers treking over the continent to play golf for money, with danger of reducing a noble sport to the level of prize-fighting, which has become largely a racket.

At one U.S. "club", the "Tam-o-Shanter," they have golf tournaments which turn the participants into veritable clowns, with numbers on their backs, and with all sorts of cheap tomfoolery to attract the customers.

Golf would do well to purge itself, before it is too late, of such shoddy nonsense.

AT STAKE—THE CONFIDENCE OF THE WORLD'S MASSES

Why "God Save The Queen"

By JOYCE CARY

(Noted British Novelist, in the New York Times Magazine)

ELIZABETH is the Queen, and queens do not choose the post. They are different even from a priesthood which follows a vocation. The Queen is unique, she is born to a duty, a long and difficult service from which there is no escape, a sentence for her whole life.

A flag is in fact only a piece of bunting, but as a symbol it is unique and powerful, it is set apart. To insult the flag, to treat it with too familiar a carelessness, is to injure a nation. The flag stands for the nation's honor, and as a religious thing it is consecrated. And so the Queen at her coronation is blessed and consecrated.

She is a consecrated person, and so she must not demean herself for that would be to demean her office. She may not even defend herself from insult or slander because she is set apart, and the setting apart is essential to her function as symbol.

But she is greater than any national symbol as her functions are more complex than that of any hierarch. They are not only ethical but political, in a sense so wide that nobody knows their limit.

HER actual power as monarch is defined, but the real is far beyond the actual. She is at the centre of Commonwealth and empire. It is said commonly that this power is one only of sentiment. What are love of country, pride of tradition, but sentiments— sentiments, as every statesman knows, which are nine-tenths of modern politics. Sentiment is a mighty power, and modern publicity, the illustrated press, broadcasting, films, television, everything that makes a unique person more widely known, increases the real power of the Queen.

The world grows more romantic as it grows more mechanized, and this might be expected. There is in every man an increasing need for self-respect as an individual, for personal dignity as much in his private as in his public life.

The Royal Family in its private function is essentially a family, but one marked by the special dignity that belongs to its position. It lends, therefore, personal dignity, it is the symbol of an important function, to father, mother and children.

That is why the people were so firm in their will that the Duke should ride in the same coach with his Queen. He is the royal husband for all wives, as she is the royal wife for all husbands, and their children are the princes of our blood.

❖ ❖ ❖

AND this intuition too, the intuition of millions of wives and husbands, fathers and mothers, belongs with the very springs of political action. It was in the family that all society took its spring and found its sanction, of authority freely accepted, or freedom realized under protection of authority. In family life it finds still the perpetual renewing of its faith, its will to live.

The Queen as woman is bride, wife and mother for her people; as Queen she is the symbol of their history.

The virtue of a state needs expression as the essence of a faith needs ritual. Without expression its meaning is vague even to itself, and easily forgotten. It disappears among the sordid quarrels of everyday politics.

No one can measure the value to a state of the ritual which sums up a thousand years of history in terms of duty and self-sacrifice. The Queen belongs to her people as she belongs to their history, she is a living tradition of honour and duty, a living sarifice for her people. She cannot escape the double burden laid upon her, the dedication of her life, both public and private.

This is an inevitable fate understood by the humblest of her subjects. It lies beneath and beside their special loyalty, their special sympathy. In the public joy at her marriage, the public sympathy at the birth of each of her children, there was a complex feeling deeper than common sentiment—the wish that she should not be deprived by her destiny as Queen of a woman's fulfillment and happiness.

No one in Britain envies royalty, its responsibilities are too heavy even to the imagination. To those who understand what is implied in the coronation service, "God save" and "God bless" are not empty prayers.

Incomplete Survey

(Windsor Star)

An interesting tactic designed to keep drunk drivers off the road has been put to work in Hull, Que. Between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m. provincial police stopped 400 cars on what has been called "a favourite route for nightclubbers" — and checked the drivers' sobriety. As a result 30 cars were impounded, and at least five drivers will face charges.

The score shows this check-up was warranted. Even if many of the drivers taken from their cars were no more than a bit tipsy, it was better to have them off the road. But this police scrutiny should not stop at inspection of drivers. It should reach back to the places the tipsy or intoxicated ones obtained their liquor.

It might then be found that many night spots sold liquor to patrons who already had more than enough. Are such places to be left in enjoyment of their licences and without sharing any of the responsibility for the impaired drivers' condition?

It might also be learned that some intoxicated drivers got that way at select clubs. Are those places to escape punishment for permitting drunkenness on their premises?

What has happened at Hull probably could be repeated wherever a similar situation exists. That is why a Hull investigation which covered all contributory causes of driver impairment would provide statistics of more than local significance. Having gone as far as they did, the Quebec provincials should complete the job, without fear of offending big names in the liquor-selling business. Ontario could study the results with profit.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I came forth from the Father, and am come into the world: again, I leave the world, and go to the Father. (John 16: 28.)

❖ ❖ ❖

These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee: as thou hast given him power over all flesh, that he should give eternal life to as many as thou hast given him. And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent ....

❖ ❖ ❖

And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was. I have manifested thy name unto men which thou gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me; and they have kept thy word .... Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word .... And the glory which thou gavest me I have given them; that they may be one, even as we are one ....

Father, I will that they also, whom thou hast given me, be with me where I am; that they may behold my glory which thou hast given me: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world. (John 17: 1-3 5, 6, 20; 22, 24.)

Letter To The Editor

WIDOWS' CLAIMS

Sir: According to an amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act passed recently in the Legislature, widows' claims on and after April 2nd, 1953, will be $75.00 per month and those claims made prior to that date will receive the old rate of $50.00 per month.

This to my mind is almost incredible. We all have the cost of living to contend with, irrespective of when our claim was filed, therefore, when making a change, why not to the benefit of all concerned? Giving each widow $60.00 per month would be a much fairer way; and would avoid discrimination.

Thanking you for your valuable space. It would be interesting to read what others think on this matter.

Patriotic And Expensive

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Seattle's city light department "unpatriotically" awarded a contract for 67,000 feet of cables to an English firm. It acted on the sound business priciple of economy in giving the contract to the lowest bidder. It would have cost Seattle taxpayers $50,000 more if the bid of an American firm had been accepted.

The Federal Government is forbidden by law to practise such wise economy. The "Buy American Act" forbids the Washington government to give any federal contracts to foreign firms unless their bid is 25 per cent. or more under that of an American bidder.

Seattle taxpayers are lucky, as are consumers of private corporations which are not bound by such a parochial law. But those who are Federal taxpayers have to bear the burden of this miscalled "patriotism."

Turpin, Humez Tangle For Crown

LONDON (AP)—Randy Turpin, golden boy of British boxing, fights Charles Humez, former coal-mining lion of Picardy, tonight for Britain's version of the world middleweight title and an autumn shot at the full-scale world crown.

Their 15-round fight, before a sellout crowd of 54,000 at White City Stadium, should be followed by an offer of a trip to New York in September.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, is here for the fight and almost definitely will offer the winner a September date against the winner of the Paddy Young-Bobo Olson elimination fight. Young and Olson meet in New York June 19.

Even though odds and most British sentiment were against him, the French middleweight was far from discouraged. Humez said he thought he would win because, he said: "I'm the hungry fighter. Randy Turpin is rich now. I'm the hungry man. I need the victory and the money."

STRANGE STORIES

Strange stories have leaked out of Wales about Turpin's training program—how he has been eating 20 grapefruit daily, his "mean" state of mind in which he pounded hard on sparring partners just as he did in July, 1951, before he upset Sugar Ray Robinson and won the world's middleweight title, the personnel shuffled among his trainers, and his inability to find worthy sparring partners.

Similar stories have come from Boulogne and the Humez camp. He has battled through an astonishing 300 sparring rounds. He also had trouble finding sparring opponents; has done hundreds of miles of road-work and spent the remainder of his time fishing.

MANTLE REACHES TOP

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Mickey Mantle's ability and the Yankee youngster is out to prove it's all true.

The Yankee phenom, getting hotter with the weather, has zoomed into a tie for first place in both batting and runs batted in in the American League.

The 21-year-old outfielder banged out 13 hits in 29 trips to the plate last week to boost his batting mark 20 points to .347 and a tie with Washington's Mickey Vernon. Getting the hits when they were needed, Mickey has driven in 39 runs for a tie for first in that department with another Senator, Clyde Vollmer.

In the National League Red Schoendienst of St. Louis Cardinals continues to set the pace with a .376 average. The peppery second baseman showed a five-point increase on 12 safeties in 30 trips, through Sunday's games.

Averages cover games played up to and including those of Saturday, June 6.

George Kell of Boston Red Sox is third in the American League at .345. The transplated outfielder tailed off 22 points with only three hits in 17 tries.

Gus Zernial, slugging outfielder of Philadelphia Athletics, has hit 13 home runs to lead in that department.

Runner-up to Schoendienst in the National League is Johnny Wyrostek of Philadelphia Phillies. The veteran outfielder climbed two points to .360 last week. He had three-for-eight.

Jim Greengrass of Cincinnati Redlegs dropped 21 points to .341 but holds down the third spot, a shade in front of teammate Gus Bell and Milwaukee's Del Crandall, tied for fifth at .337.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella, who appeared to be making a runaway of the home run race, now holds the lead by one. He has 17 to 16 for Ed Mathews of Milwaukee.

Frank Smith, Cincinnati Redleg relief pitcher, is the nominal National League pace-setter with a 4-0 record. But Robin Roberts of the Phillies has won the most games, nine, and dropped only three.

In the American League, southpaws Ed Lopat and Whitey Ford of New York Yankees, both unbeaten in six decisions, are tops.

The other test players and their scores were: Mrs. Lionel Ross of Cobourg, 88, Rose Kampman of Kitchener Westmount 91 and Donna Noble of Hamilton Glendale 96.

Aussies Down Hampshire, Earn Day's Rest

Canadian Creditors Holding $1,750,000 German Bonds

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal financial officials sounded out on the value of the West German debt settlement plan feel there now is a chance that a lot of Canadian holders of German bonds eventually will get back their money.

Some 500 Canadian corporations and individuals claim they are creditors of Germany, holding at least $1,750,000 worth of bonds and other forms of indebtedness piling up since the years following the First World War.

Under an agreement signed last February—but still not ratified by the German Parliament — West Germany agreed to make a settlement with 19 countries, including Canada, on some $5,500,000,000 worth of public and private pre-war German debts incurred since the 1914-18 conflict.

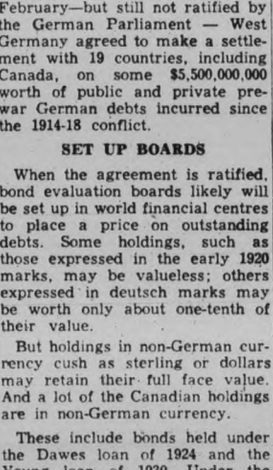
SET UP BOARDS

When the agreement is ratified, bond evaluation boards likely will be set up in world financial centres to place a price on outstanding debts. Some holdings, such as those expressed in the early 1920 marks, may be valueless; others expressed in deutsch marks may be worth only about one-tenth of their value.

But holdings in non-German currency cush as sterling or dollars may retain their full face value. And a lot of the Canadian holdings are in non-German currency.

These include bonds held under the Dawes loan of 1924 and the Young loan of 1930. Under the agreement the interest rates are reduced but arrears are to be paid in the form of 20-year bonds. In each case the maturity dates are extended, to 1969 from 1949 in the Dawes loan and to 1980 from 1965 in the Young loan.

The agreement also covers settlement on the German konversionskasse bonds, external bonds issued or guaranteed by German states, municipalities and similar public bodies within West Germany, as well as some Austrian government external bonds.



OUTSIDE OF PLAN

Bonds for which the West German government will not be responsible under the settlement terms are those of the city of Berlin or of states, municipalities and similar public bodies in Eastern Germany or bonds payable in former German currencies such as the mark or the reichsmark—other than bonds issued and payable outside West Germany denominated in reichsmark.

The terms of settlement are extremely complicated, federal officials say, and persons who want more details should write to the federal finance department or the custodian of enemy property.

Settlement terms were worked out after more than two years of preparatory work and five months of almost continuous negotiations in London.

Besides the various bonds, the agreement also covers a wide range of claims connected with other pre-war debts or obligations, such as those arising out of goods and services transactions and capital transactions, whether payable in reichsmark or in a foreign currency and with or without a gold clause, including claims for pensions, wages and salaries and various bank debts and blocked accounts.

Petes Barely Beat Tigers In A 13-11 OLA Fixture As Hickson In Their Goal

HAMILTON (Special)—Peterborough defeated Hamilton Tigers 13-11 here last night and that's just what every lacrosse fan in the province figured they would do. But few had it figured out that the Canadian champions would have to go all out with a couple of goals in the late stages of the game to get the nod. As a matter of fact, the Petes trailed 5-4 at the end of the first period, 7-5 at the half and 9-8 at the three quarter mark, but then they began to gather the speed they are noted for and wound up by out-scoring the lowly Tigers 5-2 in the last 15 minutes of play.

It was a rather listless affair at the outset with the Petes standing idly by as their goal-keeper was assaulted for four counters before they even had a shot on the Hamilton net, which by the way was guarded by Joe Hickson, spare goaler for Peterborough. By mutual agreement the visitors allowed manager Jordan of Hamilton to use the lad when the two Hamilton goalers failed to appear.

LED THE WAY

Leading the Peterborough attack was Russ Slater with five goals while Curly Mason had three and Ross Powless two. For the Hamilton team the top snipers were Doyle, Welch and Capula with two each.

Hickson gave a grand display in the Hamilton twine and was in no way to blame for the defeat as several of the goals scored by the Petes came from just outside the crease. The win moved Peterborough to within one game of the leading St. Catharines Athletics while the loss left Hamilton in the cellar and still without victory.

Officials—Joe Murphy and Lou Vipond.

THE BIG GUNS—Curly Mason, left, and Russ Slater were the big guns on the Petes' attack in Hamilton last night as the locals won 13-11 in a keen OLA senior game. Mason scored three goals and helped on another, while Slater was top lamp-lighter with five markers in a fine performance.

King Awarded Decision Over Savoie In Unimpressive Bout

TORONTO (CP)—Arthur King of Toronto once again holds the Canadian lightweight championship but the lack-lustre way he regained the crown didn't add to his prestige.

King, potentially a great fighter as his ranking among the leading lighweights of the world indicates, showed little to back that up as he scored unanimous 12-round decision over Armand Savoie of Montreal Monday night in a bout that had more clutching than action.

A crowd of 7,000 in Maple Leaf Gardens, one of the largest in recent years for a fight here, voiced its displeasure with frequent booing and yells for action. It had expected a more rousing battle between Canada's two top lightweights.

The fight didn't clear up the muddled situation affecting the British Empire lightweight title. King claims that crown and the fight was billed also for that championship although the British boxing board of control has announced it now longer recognizes him as the claimant.

The British body said last week it had stripped King of the title for failure to defend it in a stipulated time limit. In its eyes Frank Johnson took over as empire champion with his knockout victory over Frank Flannery of Australia.

King, who at 134¼ had a pound advantage over Savoie, was a 9-to-5 favorite and let Savoie force the fight. He repeatedly caught the French-Canadian boxer with lefts to the head. They didn't carry any damage but they piled up points for him.

Both fighters were warned by referee Bobby Lawrence after the eighth round to make a fight of it. It didn't do much good and afterwards Savoie, who held the lightweight title since September, 1951, when he beat Solly Cantor of Toronto, said he "wouldn't have been surprised if the referee had stopped it and called the whole thing a no contest."

Savoie, beaten two years ago by King in their only other previous meeting, admitted that the Toronto Negro, who for the last few years has been fighting out of Philadelphia, is the better fighter.

King, who held the championship from February, 1948, to September, 1949, when the Canadian Boxing Federation lifted it from him for failure to defend it, said he hurt his hand in the sixth round and blamed that for his unimpressive showing.

ACTION IN FIFTH

The only round the crowd got any action to speak of was in the fifth. Savoie connected with five hard rights to the face and three jolting lefts to the body. The blows didn't do any damage and King, like Savoie, wasn't marked much at the end.

Savoie's showing was far off the impressive display he gave in winning a decision over lightweight champion Jimmy Carter of New York in a non-title bout in Montreal last February.

In a six - round preliminary, Tommy Corrick, 127, of Toronto, defeated Don Grinton, Brantford, 128.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

"In case of rain, 12 completed ends will constitute a game played."

That rule, which has been long standing in the local club, came to the aid of the schedule committee last evening. The rain came in earnest about 9:40 o'clock and the boys had to withdraw from the greens. All games were past the 12-end mark, and one game had compelted the 18 ends. All were declared games played.

On account of the ladies holding their open tournament on Wednesday, the mixed doubles tournament for Wednesday evening has been withdrawn.

The ladies are postponing their games this Friday night, in order that the greens will be available for the visitors on Invitation Night. These games will be called by the ladies' games committee.

The three Jones brothers—Bill, Walt and Stan—won first honors at Oshawa Saturday.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

Lawn bowling is one of the world's oldest sports. Several thousand years ago, people rolled a rather round pebble at an object and today they're still doing it under the name, lawn bowling.

Lawn bowling in Peterborough has more than held its own among other sports. While some sports have faded out, then came back, lawn bowling has remained quite healthy. This has resulted in the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club being recognized as one of the best clubs in the province.

Believed First Played In Stone Age

For a moment let's glance back at this sport's history. It's actual beginning has never been set down to any one age, but historians say it probably grew out of the stone age when those people spent idle moments rolling one stone at one another.

Modern historians can trace the sport to early Egypt, then Greece and finally Rome. From pottery they have found that between 3,500 and 4,000 years ago lawn bowling was quite popular with rich folks.

Roman athletes referred to the sport as bocce and as its popularity expanded to England and Scotland it became known as Bowles, from there to bowling, and finally to lawn bowling to distinguish it from alley bowling.

In Peterborough, lawn bowling dates back to the days when the greens were located on the James Stevenson homestead where the YWCA now stands. The greens ran from Aylmer St. easterly to the building where the Knights of Columbus hall now is and was then the home of James Stevenson.

Probably the only remaining bowler of those days is Robert Cottrell, a retired CGE worker, now living on McDonnel St. Others who bowled there were George Giroux, Dave Moore, Jack Fitzgerald, and Tom Pratt.

But shortly after the turn of the century, the property was sold for the YWCA building and the lawn bowlers shifted their activities to the Fleming Place lot on Brock St. There they enjoyed their sport until 1930.

Only a few of the Fleming Place bowlers are still with the club. To mention a few, they are: George Coleman Jr., Nels Routley, Jack Fitzgerald, Harold Freeman, Herb Martin, R. F. Downey, Howard Clegg, Robert Hendry, Ernie Wall, Jim Cullen, Reg Dyer, Mrs. Charles Seymour, Mrs. Reg. Dyer, Miss Lottie Allen, Mrs. William Greenslade and others.

During 1929, the club started to build new greens and a clubhouse on the old Hatton pastures on McDonnel St. west. There the large 120-foot greens, the beautiful clubhouse, the spacious grounds around the greens and house have become the envy of other Ontario Clubs.

THE PETERBOROUGH LAWN BOWLING CLUB

First To Instal Floodlights In City

Next year, the club will celebrate its 25th anniversary on the site. Looking back the members will see that the club was the first sporting group in the city to instal floodlights and that it has developed several of its tournaments into the largest in Ontario.

Next week, the bowlers will compete for the district's oldest trophy, the Hon. J. R. Stratton trophy. Then next month, Ontario bowlers will be bowling in the Lift Locks men's double tournament, the largest of its kind in the province. In August, they have the Black Memorial trophy tournament for mixed doubles' play, again the largest of its kind in Ontario.

Besides these large events there's numerous other tournaments and of course the regularly nightly play throughout the week.

Club responsibilities this year fall upon the shoulders of past president, Jack Fitzgerald; president, Don Anderson; vice president, L. H. Bearne; secretary-treasurer, Fred Dearborn and directors, Harry Beatty, Roy Lewis, Fred Martin and L. R. Mitchell.

May's Juniors Win

May's juniors took a 19-11 school softball victory over Queen Mary yesterday as they broke out with eight runs in the first inning and 10 in the third, after tallying once in the second. The losers got two at first, five next time to bat and four in the fourth. Teams:

Queen Mary: Jones, c; Hill, 2b; Bignell, 1b; Bruce, p; Watson, 3b; Banks, c; Stickle, rf; Gordon, lf; Heywood, ss.

Umpires—Hill and Coombes.

Posties Beaten By Bell In Close Game

Bell eTlephone trimmed Post Ofifce 10-8 in a fine, close Civic Softball League encounter at the Bowl last night, rain halting the other tilt of the twin bill. Games Wednesday: Fairviews v. Bell, and Police v. Busmen.

Bell last evening scored two runs each in the first, seventh, and eighth innings, with three in the third and one in the fourth. The losers notched one in the fifth, five in a sixth-inning outbreak, and two more in a late try in the eighth. Reid took over in the slab for them in the third. The winners had 14 hits to 17 for Posties, but the latter had the only four errors. Teams:

Bell — Gillespie 1b, Sheldon 1b, James c, Greatrix cf, Lowin cf, Smith ss, Ackford 2b, Wade 3b, Tushingham rf, Bullied rf, Gordon lf, Brown p.

Umpires—Olmstead and Mason.

Cricket Teams Play

The council cricket team match between the local "A" and "B" teams, postponed on June 6, wil be played on June 13 at the Oval. Those interested in cricket should enjoy the match as there is keen rivalry between the two Peterborough teams.

The "A" team has won all three of its games so far this season by substantial margins. The "B" team played two matches, losing to Parkdale but defeating St. Simon's of Toronto. Victims of the "A" team were St. Simon's, Toronto Grace Church and Parkdale.

In grading "A" and "B' teams the Toronto and District Cricket council rules that all players in the club be registered and, where a club operates two teams—as the Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club does—eight players must be rated in "A" category, and none of these may play for a "B" team.

Bantams Get Win

Peterborough westend bantams defeated Janetville 7-5 in a neat baseball tussle. Though outhit 12-11, the winners had but two errors to four for the losers. They scored two runs in the fourth inning, three next time up and one each in the sixth and seventh. Janetville counted three in the first frame, and one each in the next two, being blanked after that. Hayden allowed 11 hits in three heats, Casey one in one inning and W. Rowe none in two. Whitehill had two good catches. Graystock hit three for three and Whitehill two in twice up. McGill on the losers' mound whiffed 13, but walked two and gave 12 hits. Teams:

Westenders: Gilders, R. Rowe, Patterson, W. Rowe, Griffin, Graystock, Borland, Morley, Hayden, Whitehill, Casey, Stevens.

Janetville: Walker, Tait, Smith, Finney, Jackson, McGill, Brown, Jack, Pue.

Umpires: Wade and Gilders.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

A strange tale of coincidence that stretched across a 3-year span, and involved two goalers who had successively occupied the nets of a major league hockey team, was written during the Stanley Cup series last April.

Back in 1950, in the midst of a semi-final Cup series, between Canadiens and New York Rangers, the Canadiens' goaler Bill Durnan, seven times winner of the Vezina trophy, had the courage and sporting spirit to tell coach Dick Irvin: "Dick, I'm not doing the team any good. My reflexes have slowed down, I'm through."

And so Durnan stepped out of the picture and ended a career, to be succeeded by little Gerry McNeil. But Rangers were roaring ahead, the wizardry of McNeil, then a rookie youngster, halted them only temporarily, and Rangers went on to win the round, and give Detroit Red Wings a grim battle for hockey's most coveted prize.

On the Thursday night of April 2, last, Canadiens were defeated by Chicago Black Hawks, in a Stanley Cup semi-final game. That game gave Hawks a 3-2 edge in a best of seven series. One more victory, and the Chicago team was into the finals, Canadiens were out. And the next game was in Chicago, before a fanatic, victory-mad Saturday night crowd scenting a Stanley Cup triumph for the first time in years.

On the Saturday morning, the long arm of Coincidence stretched across the years. For this time is was little Gerry McNeil, the successor to Durnan, who waited on coach Dick Irvin, and declared: "Dick, I'm not doing the team any good. My nerves are shaky. My reflexes are shot. Put Jacques Plante into the net. He'll win a game for us."

Irvin gave the matter lengthy study. McNeil continued to urge the change. It was a desperate gamble, but Irvin decided to take it. He benched not only McNeil, but three other regulars, tossed in four rookies, including Plante, a hawk-faced, sharp-eyed French-Canadian youngster who had played a few games for Canadiens during the season. Canadiens rallied in spirited fashion, won by 3-0, and first to greet Plante and throw his arms around the rookie goaler was McNeil himself, who had raced almost the complete circuit of the rink to be first to congratulate his replacement.

Plante played three more games after that. Chicago was eliminated with the dead-pan Habitant in the Canadien nets. Then, in the second game of the Cup finals against Boston Bruins Plante faltered, and Coincidence, if you like to call it that, entered again. "You better put Gerry back in there" Plante told coach Irvin. So McNeil was switched back, scored two shut-outs in the next three games, and Canadiens marched off with the Cup.

Redlegs Pulverize Opposition, Clip Brooklyn 8-5

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Rogers Hornsby, reported on the skids as manager of Cincinnati as recently as a week ago, was riding high today with a five-game winning streak and the sluggingest club in the majors. With the advent of June, the hit-happy Redlegs have busted out all over. They've pulverized opposition pitching for 65 hits in their last five games, producing 46 runs in their longest victory string of the season. On their current road trip the Redlegs are playing at a .750 clip, winning six of eight including an 8-5 verdict Monday night over Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cincinnati's success was a bitter pill for the Dodgers, who slipped a full game behind Milwaukee Braves. The Dodgers had started the day only seven percentage points back of the rampaging Wisconsin outfit, but the Braves plastered New York Giants 12-8.

St. Louis Cardinals, who had lost five straight, battled 12 innings against Pittsburgh Pirates, winless in their last four starts, before picking up a 5-3 victory. Philadelphia defeated Chicago 7-3 in the other National League game.

TIGERS WIN

In the only American League contest the Detroit Tigers finally won a game after 13 setbacks interspersed with two extra inning ties. The Tigers scored four runs in the seventh inning to whip Boston, 6-3, their first success since May 22.

A single by Walt Dropo brought home one run and two more scored on a triple by Matt Batts in the victory rally. Ned Garver was the winner.

Cincinnati got ahead in a hurry at Brooklyn, scoring twice in the first inning on Bell's two run homer and then adding five more in the fourth on five singles, including a two-run blow by Bell, and a pair of walks.

The Giants and the Cubs both suffered fielding collapses that would have looked pretty bad in a class D league.

4 UNEARNED RUNS

At the Polo Grounds the New Yorkers, ahead 2-1, presented Milwaukee with four unearned runs in the sixth inning on three errors and one lonely hit. The Braves poured in seven more runs in the next two frames to move ahead 12-2 before the Giants quite recovered. Eddie Mathews hit his 17th home run.

At Connie Mack stadium the Cubs committed four errors in the second inning which permitted the Phillies to score four runs—their eventual margin of victory.

Steve Bilko doubled home Red Schoendienst with the tie-breaking St. Louis run in the top of the 12th at Pittsburgh and rode in on a single by Rip Repulski.

Bisons Edge Springfield In 4-3 Defeat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Everyone seems to pick on the tail-end Springfield Cubs. This time Buffalo is having its turn collecting a mess of wins.

The Bisons, currently holding down fourth spot in the International Baseball League, Monday night nabbed their third triumph over the Cubs 4-3 and extended their winning streak to four games. Buffalo gets another crack at the cellar-dwellers tonight.

Springfield now is 15 games back of the pace-setting Montreal Royals. The Cubs have registered only 12 victories in 41 starts.

Rookie Frank Lary, pitching one-hit ball until Springfield set off a three-run spurt in the seventh, gained credit for Monday night's victory—his fifth against three setbacks. He was given a hand by veteran Milt Jordan.

EDGE SENATORS

The Royals, who hold a 3½-game lead over Rochester, edged Ottawa Senators 2-1 in the second of three scheduled contests.

Tom Lasarda was credited with the win, his sixth against two losses, but he needed help from Ed Roebuck in the ninth. Lasarda allowed eight safeties and fanned seven. Roebuck faced only three men striking out one and watching the others pop out.

Howie Fox of Baltimore Orioles stopped the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 with a seven-hit performance.

Discuss Question Of Representative

TORONTO (CP)—Members of the United Harness Horsemen's Association of Canada met Monday to discuss the question of a representative on the Ontario racing commission.

A panel of names will be submitted to Premier Frost, who will choose one to fill the vacancy on the commission created by the death of Burton McLean who served as supervisor of harness racing.

The UHHAC, a newly-formed organization, was recently given a Dominion charter.

Opening of the centre—a nerve centre for reports from volunteer ground observers—will be followed by official opening on an operational basis of six more centres across the country. These units already support more than 2,200 observation posts manned by approximately 13,000 civilian volunteers from coast to coast.

The ground observer corps comes under control of the RCAF's air defence command, and ties in with similar units operating in the United States.

Sailors Offer Blood For Girl

SAN DIEGO, Cal. (AP)—Canadian Navy men Sunday offered their blood, and it will be accepted, to help save the sweetheart of a United States Marine.

Spokesmen for the crew of the Canadian destroyer Algonquin, here on a visit, said approximately 200 pints would be given for Nancy Davidson, 20.

The pretty fiancee of Sgt. Guy Warren needs a pint of fresh blood at least every two days.

Her doctor said she was ill with a severe anemia, threatening her life.

The Canadian crew's offer was made through CPOs L. W. Murray of Dartmouth, N. S., and Carmen Driscoll of Halifax.

They read of Miss Davidson's plight in the San Diego Union and canvassed the crew.

Nearly the whole crew volunteered.

NO STORM DAMAGE

No damage was reported to hydro or telephone wire because of the storm which hit the city last night. A few individual circuits were put out of commission for a short time as were some lines in the Haliburton areas.

NEW McGINNESS DATE

Although the spade work of formality was performed last week the actual breaking of ground for construction ends was begun Monday afternoon at the new site of H. B. Ginness Ltd. on No. 7 Highway immediately east of the Belleville line of CNR. Considerable movement of earth was accomplished by the time the whistle blew. Brick is already piled nearby. Monday, June 8 became a new date in the annals of the Peterborough industry that has outgrown its original site on McDonnel St.

PURCHASE APPROVED

Purchase of a $20,637 bulldozer for the landfill disposal of garbage, recommended by the sanitation department, was approved by the finance committee of the council Monday night. It replaces the original machine that cost the city $16,586. That sum becomes a credit in the buying of the new one. The substitution is recommended for winter work, requiring a heavier machine for frost conditions.

JOINT LABOR DAY DO

Monday night the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) agreed to plan a joint celebration of Labor Day with the Peterborough Trades and Labor Council (TLC). The two executives will discuss the holiday plans and the program will be announced later. The project had already been approved by the local Trades and Labor Council.

TWO PETERBOROUGH YOUTHS were sworn into the Royal Canadian Navy Monday at the armouries by Lieut.-Commander G. C. Wilson who conducted a recruiting drive in the city and district recently. Council Split On Change In Balloting

Three Vote Support For Eliminating Vote-For-Four Clause

Only Ald. Norman Graham supported the motion of Ald. W. J. Beggs and Ald. P. J. Anglesey seeking repeal of Peterborough's peculiar and singular restriction on the municipal franchise as it pertains to the election of aldermen.

Actually the motion proposed that the validating "vote for four" aldermanic candidates be submitted as referendum to the electors next December. All the aldermen were present except Ald. S. J. Black. Acting Mayor T. D. Miller presided.

A letter to the committee from William Triggs, secretary of the Peterborough and District Labor Council, acknowledged receipt of the brief prepared by City Clerk Outram by direction of the Council explaining circumstances of the Peterborough private bill which secured legislation which, it was said last night, sets Peterborough apart from the other municipalities of the province in the compulsion of voting for four aldermanic candidates to qualify a ballot.

"CHANGE FOR BETTER"

Mr. Triggs wrote that the Labor Council was still convinced that repeal of the restrictive clause in the private bill would be a change for the better and was backed by sufficient interest to justify organized labor's proposal.

It was also said that the two Labor councils in the city were in agreement in their separate requests to the council for the opportunity to vote on the electoral question.

Ald. Anglesey recalled that it came to the council last October and Ald. Beggs said that consideration was deferred until the origin of the private bill was studied.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson suggested that Mr. Triggs letter be acknowledged, and that he be notified the council did not feel that there was sufficient interest in the matter to justify a referendum.

Ald. Anglesey said "I think we have all been asked some time or other why voters are required to mark their ballots for four aldermanic candidates."

MUST VOTE FOR FOUR

The rule is that a voter may mark his ballot for four or five aldermanic candidates to make it valid. He must vote for four.

Ald. Beggs said the requests from the two Labor Councils were ample evidence of interest. He explained that a Labor council is composed of appointed representatives of labor unions, that labor in Peterborough is quite extensively organized, and therefore the petition from even one Labor Council signified broad membership supprt.

Ald. Farquharson said he had not noticed any public discussion of the pros and cons about the method of electing members of the council. "I don't think we should be ordering a referendum without more interest than has been shown. I know we have had two letters, but there hasn't been anything to indicate any great cry for a change."

Ald. Farquharson commented that if the council would order a referendum on the request of only two letters, it might clutter up civic business with referendums.

"You're going to be known as the county bum, par excellence, if you don't smarten up," Magistrate E. A. Gee warned Grant Kelly, 29, of Fenelon Falls. Kelly appeared in magistrate's court Monday to plead guilty to a third charge of intoxication. Chief Hunter of the town police noted the charge was listed as a first offence, although Kelly had answered a second offence charge a month ago. Magistrate Gee fined Kelly $25 or two days in jail.

Empress Loses Familiar Front Balcony

Plans for decorative alterations to the exterior of the Empress Hotel will remove the familiar portico and balcony, as shown in a sketch received by the finance committee of the council Monday night from manager Dave Kerr.

A resurvey of the hotel property by John Pierce discovered encroachments on both Charlotte and Water Streets. The east wall of the hotel extends 3 ft. 5 in. over the street line at the corner, narrowing to 3 feet at the south end of the building. And, on Charlotte Street, there is an encroachment of 1 ft. 4 in. at the west end of the front, reducing to 5 inches at the Water Street corner.

Custom of the council recognizes the overlapping of downtown buildings on city street lines established when surveys may not have been so exact as they are today. Policy charges a nominal rental of one dollar a year.

Mr. Kerr reported the fact, and asked for a licence to continue in the encroachment. It will not be increased by the changes, and may be slightly reduced by the recessing of the main entrance. The application was granted in Ald. Dewart's motion.

Unemployed Figures Drop Again

District Conditions Improve To Cut Number On Claim

Better employment conditions in Peterborough and district have resulted in the fourth straight monthly decrease in the number drawing unemployment insurance at the National Employment office. James Sharp, manager, said today only 786 men and women from the city and district which stretches into Haliburton County were on claims at the end of May.

This year the unemployed peak, 1,916, was reached in January. Since then the monthly totals have decreased to 1,842 in February, 1,715 in March and 1,176 in April.

At the same time the comparative figures for May, 1952, and May, 1953, show those on claims this year are only half the number on claim last year. Then 1,474 were drawing funds.

The decrease in May followed much the same pattern as the decrease in April. Again the city unemployed decreased from 540 men and women out of work to 428. This is due to "steadier" employment in city factories and better and more outside work.

MAJOR DECREASE

But the major decrease in May was in the district unemployed which has remained fairly high since the peak was reached. In April there were 636 district people on claims but this number decreased to 358 in May.

The unemployed people on claims a year ago in May numbered 1,055 in the city and 419 in the district.

The job opportunities in May were slightly more than a year ago. Mr. Sharp said there were 149 jobs available which required single girls for factory work, men as farm hands and specialized workers and women as good stenographers.

The manager also pointed out that summer resorts in the district still need help. These jobs include cooks, cook's helpers, laundry workers, maids, housekeeping couples and handymen.

BUILD NEW PLANT

Nicholson File Co. at Port Hope has let a contract for a new building to provide 140,000 sq. ft. floor space, about twice their present plant. Work will begin at once between the main line of the CNR and Highway 2. Frank H. Bridon, vice president, will be in charge of the new plant. He has been 37 years with the Nicholson Company in Canada. It will be the largest file manufacturing plant in the British Commonwealth.

Brantford Man Given Call To Mark Street

The Rev. Dr. Neil D. Patterson of Wellington United Church, Brantford, has been called by the congregation of Mark St. United Church.

He succeeds the Rev. B. S. Morwood, who has been called to Trinity United Church, Kirkland Lake, and will conduct his first service in the Peterborough Church, July 5.

A native of the Maritimes, Dr. Patterson has served in Brantford for the past three years. His other charges have included churches in North Sydney, Cape Breton; Mossamin, Sask.; Granby, Que.; and Dundas, Ont.

Recently the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Dr. Patterson by Queen's University, Kingston.

Dr. and Mrs. Patterson have two daughters. One, Mrs. Douglas Shanks, the former Ethel Patterson, was a social worker with the Peterborough Children's Aid Society for two years, 1949-51.

Explain Needed Addition To Queen Elizabeth School

The necessity of building in 1954 an eight-room addition to Queen Elizabeth School in the north end of the city was explained to the finance committee of the council Monday night by G. Wilson Craw of the Board of Education, and K. S. Wightman, its Superintendent of Schools.

And at the opposite end of the civic pole, prospective four-room enlargement of Grove School at Cameron St. and Erskine Ave. looms in the background, making a total of twelve rooms that will have to be provided for the increasing juvenile population of the city.

Finance committee gave its assent to the financial procedure the board is adopting in its approach to the expansion of Queen Elizabeth School's accommodation.

TAKEN IN ANNEXATION

Board of Education acquired this school in the city's annexation of a large block of Smith township. Constructed by suburban ratepayers, it comprised two classrooms and a large basement.

"We are now using one small room in the basement," Mr. Craw said. "On September 1, we have to operate a kindergarten. Townships at present are not supplying kindergarten classes. But, when a school comes into the city, that is the first thing asked for."

With overcrowding in Queen Alexandra School, further south on Barnardo Ave., Mr. Craw said, the Board of Education was confronted with the problem of providing increased capacity for the new northern section of the city. It was felt that plans for an eight-room extension of Queen Elizabeth School should be drafted this year "so that we shall have accommodation for September, 1954.

COST NEAR $200,000

"The Department of Education has approved a $160,000 investment, but we can't put that addition there for that money. The board doesn't know exactly what it will cost, but it should not be more than $200,000."

The board was requesting the council's approval of the financial aspect of the project "so that we can go ahead and get the plans ready, call for tenders and then advise you how much money will be required."

In the past, Mr. Craw recalled, the preliminary stage had been carried along in another way, estimating the cost to be set out in the requisite bylaw and then finding that the actual amount needed was not enough or too much. And that procedure called for revision of the bylaw.

"By October 1 the board should know what the Queen Elizabeth addition is going to cost," Mr. Craw said, "and that amount can be included in any debentures you expect about the end of the year."

AWARE OF NEED

Acting Mayor T. D. Miller, chairman, said members of the council had some awareness of the need for increased accommodation at Queen Elizabeth School. "Probably that was one reason why Smith was willing to get rid of it."

Approval of the ultimate financing was recommended to council in a motion by Ald. A. B. Burrows and Ald. J. A. Dewart.

As to the outlook at Grove School, Mr. Wightman said, "We got a four-room addition built just a year ago, and that gave us eight rooms. There were four rooms when that part of North Monaghan was annexed."

SOUTHERN EXPANSION

"The attendance then was fewer than 100 children. Now we have eight rooms for 311 pupils, and by September we have got to go back and use a room that was carved out in the basement. We had used it until the first addition was completed."

Mr. Wightman said that if it were not for the new school on Cameron St. that will be ready in September, "we'd be up against it."

"As it is at Grove, we have a nine-room school but only eight rooms. There is quite a number of new houses being built in that area, and most of them will be complete by next year. So, it is possible that before the end of this year, the board may have to ask approval for another four-room addition."

Union Jack Gone From Armour Hill

Someone in Peterborough let national pride overcome his sense of right and wrong sometime Monday night, Parks Department Foreman Armar Butcher discovered today.

Arriving atop Armour Hill to take down a Union Jack placed on a flag pole for the Coronation, Mr. Butcher found the large flag gone. According to others in the area, the flag was there on Monday.

Peterborough police department detectives are investigating the theft.

Transfer Deed Soon Of McDonnel St. Site

The property at McDonnel Street and Monaghan Road which the city is buying from Dominion Woollens and Worsteds Ltd. for $20,000 extends 628 feet 8½ inches on Monaghan Road by 500 feet on McDonnel Street.

This area was reported to the Finance committee of the council Monday night in a letter from the company, reporting that they were preparing the deed for transfer.

"All that we have to do now is pay for the land," Acting Mayor Miller remarked. Authority to issue a cheque for $20,000 on the production of the deed was recommended in a motion by Aldermen Graham and Burrows.

Women Lose Out In Chance For Jury Duty

Here it is the month of June—the year is almost half over—and still no Peterborough County woman has sat on a petit jury here. Several have served on grand juries but none has yet used her feminine judgment to help decide a case.

Although there were women on the petit jury panel at the Spring Assizes in March none was chosen to hear a case.

At the Geneal Sessions of the Peace it looked as though the distaff side would come into its own at last. Two women were picked on the grand jury—though this was no precedent—and two more, Mrs. Gladys Craig of North Monaghan and Mrs. Christina Blewett of Bridgenorth, were selected on a petit jury that was sworn in, ready to hear a case today.

However, some witnesses failed to turn up, and the motor accident case in which Ross Irwin of Lakefield was suing two brothers from White Lake for $1,079 damages, failed to go ahead. It was laid over until the fall sessions, November 16.

Once again teh women were edged out of the picture.

Track Winners Given Trophies

Winners at the recent district high school track and field meet were presented with their trophies today. The meet, which was a two-day affair, was jointly sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Recreation Commission.

At an assembly today in St. Peter's High School the two St. Peter's coaches—John Lynch and Mary Scanlon — were presented with the trophy for the winning school. St. Peter's chalked up 178 points at the meet, the highest number recorded since the track and field competition was organized four years ago.

The trophy was presented by Dennis Fitzgerald.

Intermediate trophies, presented by Pete Labranche of the Review, went to Mary McDougall and John Martyn.

Bruce Edwards, president of the Jaycees, presented the Senior Girls' trophy to Joanne Kearns; and Douglas Vaisey, also of the Jaycees, presented the Junior Girls' trophy to Ruth Hickey.

The public speaking award, won by Robert James at the recent Kiwanis Music Festival, was presented by Mr. Edwards.

Last Friday the Junior Boys' winner, Peter Ballantyne, was presented with his trophy at a Kenner Collegiate assembly. Robert Allan, winner of the Seinor Boys' entry and the only PCVS student in the prize list, has still to receive his trophy.

They informed the finance committee of the council Monday night that they intend to remove the two buildings on the corner property, and replace them with one modern service station. City Engineer Chalmers approved the plans, and the committee recommended issuance of a building permit, in a motion by Aldermen Rehill and Longhurst.

Otonabee Considers McGinnis Annexation

Reeve William Chambers of Otonabee told The Examiner today that the Township Council considered last night the proposed annexation by the city of the property of H. B. McGinnis Ltd.

"We didn't reach a decision, but we realize that these changes take place, and we have to go ahead with them," Reeve Chambers said. "The council felt that several details should be discussed with the city, just to make certain of everything. I'd say there is no doubt that the annexation will have to take place."

Madoc Chief Rejects Campbellford Offer

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—John Rankin, police chief at Madoc who was offered a similar post in Campbellford, has rejected the Campbellford offer, it was learned today. Chief Rankin will stay in Madoc.

Town council will now interview others who applied for the chief constable's job.

SHOOTING IN THE DARK; infantry soldiers at Fort Dix train their rifles on "moonlight range" targets, which are purposely lighted here to show in picture. In actual training, men have only the natural light which faintly outlines embankment in background.

EVIDENCE of effectiveness of training for night shooting is shown on target held by Capt. James L. Mosley at Dix.

Moonlight Range Simulates Night Shooting Conditions

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

FORT DIX, N.J. (NEA)—The U.S. Army has at last found a way to teach soldiers how to shoot a rifle accurately at night.

With 90 per cent of the action in Korea taking place in darkness, it is hoped that this new training technique will soon produce better results in the battle zone.

Up until now troop commanders in Korea have complained bitterly and have written endless reports back to the Pentagon about the inability of U.S. infantrymen to fire their rifles effectively during night fighting.

Brig. Gen. Oliver P. Newman, an assistant commander of the famed Third Division in Korea, was one of the critics of the situation there.

"I could never figure it out," he says. "In the morning we'd have reports of Red attacks during the previous night. The enemy was getting up close enough to throw hand grenades at us. The reports would tell of great numbers of the Reds being killed. But when it got light they couldn't find any bodies.

"I knew they weren't bothering to remove all their killed and wounded. They don't do things that way. The only thing I could figure out was that we just weren't hitting them with our rifle fire. The men apparently just didn't know how to shoot accurately at night. And darn few of them were learning even under actual combat conditions."

Today, as acting commander of the Ninth (training) Division here at Fort Dix, it appears that Gen. Newman is on his way to licking this chronic problem.

A key factor in the new training is so-called "Moonlight Range," which simulates actual night combat conditions with various electronic devices.

It's actually three 75-yard ranges. This distance was selected because in combat in Korea the average distance for shooting at an enemy with a rifle at night is 60 yards and never more than 75 yards.

One range has stationary man-shaped targets illuminated with a faint, bluish light. Another has the same lighting, but the targets move. The third has flashing lights with the men shooting at simulated enemy rifle fire.

The instructions given trainees before trying the range stresses that the overwhelming tendency in firing at night is to shoot high. The instructor says:

Completely lower your rear sight and with your eye directly behind the rear sight and as close to the top of it as possible, sight down along the top of your rifle and align your front sight with the base of your target.

In order to insure that your eye is in the correct postion, lower your head until the rear sight blocks your vision and again raise your head just enough to see the target. You align your front sight on the base of the target to compensate for the high firing."

There are other more complicated instructions, and the men are shown how to correct for the errors they tend to make at first.

"The important thing about this new method of training," Gen. Newman explains, "is that the men are actually being taught how to shoot at night before they get into combat. They don't have to learn how after they get to Korea, where it's probably too late."

This reporter spent a night on Monlight Range watching a group of trainees get their instructions and then fire their M-I rifles at the almost-invisible targets. Their effectivness was astonishing.

One group had a total of 72 shots at the rifle-flash targets and scored 22 hits the first time they tried it. The instructor, a Korean vet, said that this rate of accuracy in combat would stop an enemy attack cold.

On the stationary target range, the men are given four shots and then allowed to examine their scores. A special backdrop shows them where their "misses" hit About half the class was getting two of the first shots into the target, and close to three-quarters of the group got two out of four hits during the next attempts.

This Fort Dix teaching experiment has been so successful it is expected the technique will be adopted Army-wide as soon as possible so all men will have the advantage of it before they are shipped to Korea.

BREMEN, Germany (Reuters)—A strike of almost 14,000 shipyard workers which has paralyzed this West German port for six weeks ended Monday. Five Generations Of Family Attend 93rd Birthday Party

BETHANY (ENS) — There were five generations represented at the birthday party held for Mrs. Stephen Sisson of Bethany. Mrs. Sisson was 93 years old on Friday, June 5, with the family gathering held at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Hannah on Sunday, June 7.

Mrs. Sisson, whose maiden name was Adelaide Devitt of Bowmanville, though a great-great-grandmother, is remarkably active despite her advancing years, helping with the daily household tasks in the home of her daughter, with whom she has lived since the death of her husband. She loves company and takes a keen interest in everything that goes on in the community. The evening before her birthday she was able to attend a shower, and on Saturday, the wedding of her great-niece Kathryn Jarvis and thoroughly enjoyed both events.

Mr. and Mrs. Sisson were widely known in the township of Manvers, of which the late Mr. Sisson was Reeve for many years. He was a farmer and machinery agent. He pioneered the telephone system of the village, having the first telephone line built at his own expense from the old Grand Trunk Railway station to his home and having to pay the railway company for this privilege. Later he built a continuing line to the store of Mr. Naismith at Lotus and installed a "switch" in his home, and Mrs. Sisson is especially remembered for her faithful service in relaying messages for neighbors. She is a member of St. Mary's Anglican Church, and has always been keenly interested in all its organizations.

During the afternoon the newest addition to her family was baptized by the Rev. Dr. R. P. Bowles of Nestleton. The five generations are: Mrs. Sisson, her son Karl D. Sisson, his daughter Mrs. Maxwell Rishor (Ella), her daughter Mrs. Earl Minor (Dianne Copping), and her six-months-old daughter Beverly Elizabeth Minor, all of Peterborough.

Incidentally this was also an occasion to be remembered by Dr. Bowles, for he has officiated at the baptismal service for the last mentioned four generations.

Mrs. Sisson has three children Karl, Elmo and Vera (Mrs. Hannah), eight grandchildren Mrs. Maxwell Rishor, Mrs. Marvin Baker, and Mr. Donald Sisson, all of Peterborough, Mrs. Gordon Staples, Cavan, Mr. Stephen Sisson, Bowmanville, all of whom were present at the birthday celebration. Three other grandchildren were unable to attend, J. M. Sisson, Victoria, B.C., Mrs. H. Green, Niagara Falls, and Mrs. S. A. Henderson, Windsor. Another grandson John Hannah of Bethany died several years ago. There are six great-grandchildren: Mrs. Earl Minor, Peterborough, Richard, John and David Staples of Cavan, Sue Ella and Charles Baker of Peterborough, also Shirley and David Sisson of Victoria, B.C. the latter two being unable to attend.

Dr. H. P. Bowles and Mr. W. G. Bowles of Nestleton also shared in the celebration. Bethany friends join in extending sincere congratulations on this birthday occasion.

Fear Detroit Water Supply May Be Polluted

DETROIT (CP)—The entire Detroit water supply faces severe pollution from Canadian oil refineries unless the Michigan conservation department moves to prevent it, Laurence G. Lenhardt, general manager of the city water department, said Saturday.

He said that the present limited output of gasoline at the Sarnia, Ont., refineries, about 55 miles northeast of here, has already caused "constant traces of phenol in the water."

Imperial Oil, Ltd., and Canadian Oil Refineries, Ltd., have completed huge new additions at Sarnia and Sun Oil of Canada, Ltd., will complete a new cracking plant in August, Mr. Lenhardt said in an interview.

"With their output greatly increased, we fear Detroit water will be polluted to the point that it will be undrinkable."

Equipment could be installed at the refineries, he said, to dispose safely of the poisonous phenol, a cracking plant waste derivative.

"But our own Michigan water resources board has told us these precautionary measures have not been made and that this equipment is not being installed."

The only group which can force this installation is the Michigan conservation department, Mr. Lenhardt said.

He said increased production at the Sarnia refineries will be made possible by a 635-mile pipeline which will run through Michigan and across the St. Clair river from Port Huron, Mich., to Sarnia. It will bring oil from Superior, Wis.

"The law is positively clear that the state conservation department has absolute discretionary powers in the granting of easements for pipelines.

Revise Rules For Teachers

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of education announced Monday that qualifications for teachers' certificates have been revised to allow compensation for time spent by teachers in the armed forces.

The department said that under the new scheme teachers can substitute 30 months of service in the armed forces of 15 years teaching experience for the five grade 13 subjects ordinarily required for a cerificate.

A second alternative is for the teachers to have grade 12 qualifications plus the specified service in the armed forces or teaching experience, plus normal school.

The department said, however, that the normal procedure for teachers still will be to obtain standing in five grade 13 subjects, attend a one-year normal school course and teach for two years.

Hastings To Open New Public School

HASTINGS (ENS)— This village's new public school of four rooms which has only recently been completed is to be officially opened on Friday evening. A representative from the department of education is expected to be present.

Council at its June meeting decided a clip job will be done on the streets and the business tax levied on R. K. Runnels will be cancelled.

SLUG FEST—Slugger Rocky Marciano (right), heavyweight boxing champ of the world, shows President Eisenhower his lethal right fist during a visit to the White House. Says Adequate Use Not Made Of Prison Probation System

EDMONTON (CP)—The former deputy commissioner of Canadian penitentiaries says too many persons go to jail with resultant hardship and suffering to families because most courts make inadequate use of the probation system.

Joseph McCulley, now warden of Hart House, student centre at the University of Toronto, asid in an address here that every province should develop an effective adult probation system.

"Local jails are poor examples of modern prison knowledge," he said. "Persons awaiting trial, convicted prisoners and first offenders, old and young, spend the bulk of their time in unproductive idleness with a minimum of segregation.

"This tends to aggravate the problem of treatment if such individuals are later transferred to provincial jails, reformatories or penitentiaries."

Mr. McCulley said Canada also has a need for greater use of the parole system. Experienced prison administrators were well aware that a prisoner comes to a certain point where he is a better risk for release than he would be later on.

NEED FAIR CHANCE

It was no use providing better treatment for prisoners unless they could be assured of a fair chance to earn a living and to resume their place in society.

"The final test of the effectiveness of any prison system is at the moment of the return of the prisoner to society," Mr. McCulley said. "The responsibility for proper treatment at that stage is a purely personal and individual responsibility which should lie heavily on the consciences of all of us who call ourselves citizens of a humane and enlightened society."

"At times the court responds to an hysterial public outburst at some particular crime or series of crimes by awarding heavy deterrent sentences. Within the same jurisdiction there are frequently wide disparities of sentence for similar offences.

SHOULD FIT CRIMINAL

"It should be a maxim that punishment—if such it is to be called—should fit the criminal and not merely the crime."

An adequate solution to the problem had to be approached by providing more pre-sentence investigation with intelligent recommendations for treatment before sentence and not after. More adequate provision might be made within Canada's legal and judicial procedure for a review of sentences which seemed excessive.

Swine Auction Sets Record

MILTON (CP)—An Ontario record for swine auctions was set Monday when the Kelmscott herd of E. L. Taylor was sold here. The 206 lots went for a total of $34,078, an average of $165.

The sale was originally slated for Hays Sales Arena at Oakville, but an outbreak of hog cholera resulted in a change. Some 50 swine sold to United States bidders will be held by Mr. Taylor.

Top price at the sale was $2,300 for an imported boar, one of the best animals in the Kelmscott herd of English Yorkshires.

Young Canadian Actor Said To Be Film Find In Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A young Canadian actor with the stage name of Vernon Gray has just signed a long-term film contract, and he's already being talked of as a British "find."

Gray, known to his friends at Elk Point, Alta., as Vernon Raham-Gray, has the dark good looks of a budding Tyrone Power. With the British, screen short on romantic leads, he seems to be just what the script writer ordered.

"At last, a new Man for British pictures," says Betty Box, the film producer who visited Canada last year in search of suitable backgrounds for a forthcoming movie, "Campbell's Kingdom." Miss Box spotted Gray for films when he appeared here opposite Olga Landiak of Fort William, Ont., in a television play.

Gray, just 23, says he has to pinch himself to believe it's really happened—a choice contract after one appearance in films.

PLAYED U.S. CORPORAL

The film that landed the contract was "A Day to Remember," in which the Saskatoon-born actor plays a corporal in the United States Army. The leading lady is Joan Rice, promising young British star who used to be a London waitress.

Gray's new contract gives him an assured future and at the same time allows him to do stage work. In these austere days in Britain's film world, this is quite a catch.

Gray's family was dead set against his bid for a show-business career. Chief opponents were his father, Arthur Raham, a railway agent in Elk Point, Alta., and three engineering brothers. They wanted him to be an engineer.

"Ever since I can remember, I've wanted to be an actor," said Gray.

IN WEST-END PLAY

Gray recently appeared on the West End stage as "Duke" in the Broadway hit, "Stalag 17." Although the acting in the London production got good reviews, the play folded in 10 days—a keen disappointment to Gray and Vancouver's Lee Patterson, who played one of the leads.

This was Gray's first West End stage part, but he considers he's been lucky since he landed in Britain. After making contacts with theatre agents here, he went into pantomime at Christmas, 1951. Then came Theatre Club and provincial parts until he landed a role in "Death of a Salesman," at the Repertory Theatre in Windsor, Berks.

He was spotted at Windsor by a producer, who nailed him for the lead in a television play. It was this part that brought him to the attention of Miss Box.

Gray has been acting since high school days. While working with an automobile firm in Windsor, Ont., he acted for the Windsor Theatre Guild and later joined the Ottawa Repertory Company.

FILM "FIND" — Saskatoon-born Vernon Gray at 23 is called a coming star in British films and stage work. Gray, known to his friends at Elk Point, Alta., as Vernon Raham-Gray, has signed a long-term contract with J. Arthur Rank, British film producer, which permits him to do stage work in addition to his movies. In Canada he had done some stage work in Windsor and Ottawa before going to England.

Two Canadians Assigned To Honor Guard

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Two Canadian soldiers have been posted to 8th army headquarters in Seoul to join the army commander's permanent honor guard.

The first two Canadians assigned to the special detail are from the 3rd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. They are Pte. D. T. Wilmouth and Stewart D. Lord, both of Vancouver.

The Patricias were asked to provide the first Canadian representatives because the battalion is the "veteran" Canadian unit here. Smith and Lord were chosen because both are smart-looking six-footers.

The giant-statured honor guard at 8th army headquarters previously was drawn exclusively from the United States Army.

Its job is to provide sentries and guards at the entrances to the headquarters' main offices, and ceremonial guards when important guests visit the army commander, Lt.-Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

FROM MANY LANDS

It has been decided to try lending a United Nations flavor to the guard by forming a special platoon comprising soldiers from all other countries represented in the fighting here. The Commonwealth division is providing British, Australian, New Zealand and Indian soldiers, besides the two Patricias. With them in their platoon will be French, Belgian, Netherlands, Thai Colombian, Ethiopian, Turkish and Philippine soldiers.

There will be many problems for the platoon sergeant responsible for drill. While the Commonwealth soldiers use similar arms drills, most of the others employ their own or the American style.

They may have to compromise on a common drill, or else execute the commands in some order of succession.

If the idea does work out the normal tour of duty at 8th army headquarters will be one month.

It also is expected that the various combatant units of the Canadian brigade will take turns in providing the guard detail.

MAIDEN VOYAGE — This is the first time a guided missile has made a take-off before news camera, and the scene is of a Fairchild "Lark" blasting off the Navy's guided missile ship, the Norton Sound. Used as an anti-aircraft weapon, the "Lark" leaves a trail of smoke from its booster rockets which push the "bird" off and allow it to continue under its own rocket motors.

Harwood WI Plants Coronation Maples

HARWOOD (ENS) — A tree planting ceremony took place at the June meeting of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. R. E. Drope and Mrs. Garnet Isaac planted three Canadian maples in honour of the Coronation. They were assisted by Melville Harvey.

The Roseneath branch were guests of Harwood branch for the Coronation meeting.

Mrs. Garnet Isaac, president, presided. Roll call was answered by 30 members by naming a song with the words in it "flag or freedom."

Each member was given a new Sunshine Sister for the coming year. Last year's Sunshine Sisters were named. Mrs. Ina Dennison read letters of thanks from recipients of gifts from the fruit and flower committee.

Mrs. George U. Isaac and Mrs Melville Harvey were nominated delegates to the district annual in Cobourg along with the president Mrs. Garnet Isaac and district director Mrs. R. E. Drope.

Mrs. Drope was convener of the program. After singing "O Canada," Patricia Cotter sang a solo. Miss Lottie E. Drope gave a paper "The Coronation", Mrs. Crick a reading "Trees" and Mrs. R. S. Johnson a reading "Trees". Mrs. G. U. Isaac also gave a reading. The Maple Leaf was sung by all.

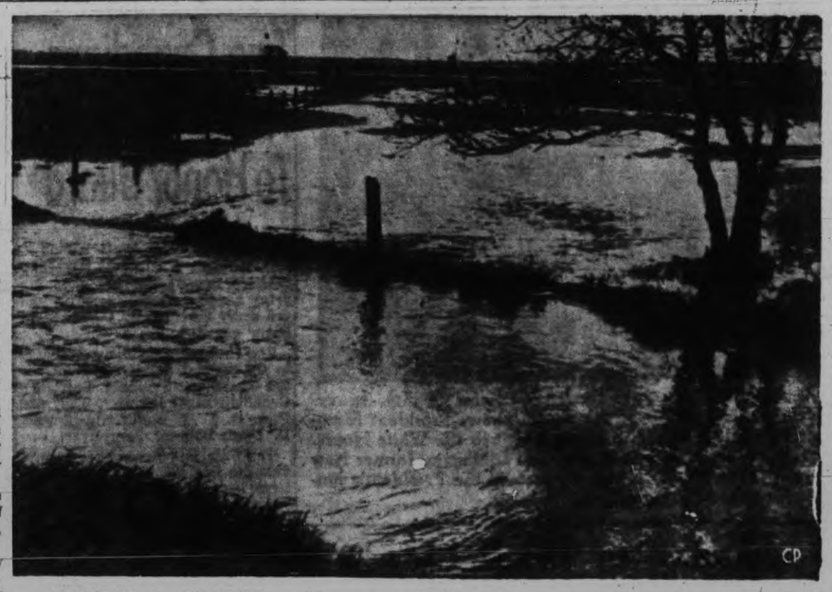
Supreme Court Upsets Board Ruling

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada ruled Monday that a local labor relations board was not justified in refusing to certify a trade union because its organizer was a Communist.

The appeal, brought by Smith and Rhuland, Ltd., shipbuilders, was from the judgment of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia which set aside the rejection by the province labor relations board of an application for certification by the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of Canada (CCL).

The board refused certification because J. K. Bell, secretary of the marine workers' federation, and organizer of the union, was Communist. He became secretary of any new union organized by the federation until it elected its own officers, and as such, the board held, "dominated" it.

The Nova Scotia court on appeal held the board to have had, in the circumstances, no discretion to refuse certification, and ruled that even if it had the discretion was improperly exercised.



MAJORITY VERDICT

Dismissing the appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada with costs, Mr. Justice Ivan Rand, in a majority verdict, questioned whether the board in its refusal to certify had acted, within the limits of its discretion.

The board held, he said, that Communist domination was evidenced by Bell's forcefulness in a key position, by the fact that the party espousing those teachings demands of its votaries unremitting pressure by deceit, treachery and revolution to subvert democratic institutions and to establish a dictatorship subservient to Soviet Russia.

"No one," he said, "can doubt the consequences of such doctrines, and the problem presented between toleration of those who hold them and the restrictions that are repugnant to our political traditions is of a difficult nature. But . . . there is no law in this country against holding such views nor of being a member of a group or party supporting them.

"This man is eligible for election or appointment to the highest political offices in the province; on what ground can it be said that the legislature of which he might be a member has empowered the board in effect to exclude him from a labor union or to exclude a labor union from the benefits of the statute because it avails itself, in legitimate activities, of his abilities."

MANITOBA FLOODS — The worst flood in 30 years in some sections of Manitoba washes across wheat fields. It routed families from their homes. This field near Brandon is typical of the damage resulting from recent torrential rains and swollen rivers. Highway and rail communications in the Riding Mountain area were disrupted.

Local Rejects Agreement Made By Union

TORONTO (CP)—The Hamilton local of the Teamsters' Union (AFL) has turned down an agreement accepted by the Toronto local with the Automotive Transport Association in Ontario and has not replied to a proposal by the employer group that the wage dispute be submitted to arbitration.

The possibility has developed that if the Hamilton local strikes, a large section of the highway trucking industry in Ontario will be tied up.

F. W. Murray, manager of the Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau, which does the bargaining for 36 Ontario transport firms employing 3,500, said the situation is serious.

The Hamilton local represents 950 employees. In the event of a strike many of the 2,500 Toronto employees would be cut off from serving areas in the jurisdiction of the Hamilton local.

The agreement rejected by the local was based on a conciliation board recommendation. It consisted of a seven-cent-an-hour increase for city drivers, checkers and dockmen; eight cents for semi-skilled maintenance men, and 11 cents for mechanics.

Princess Pats Move Into Line

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—The Princess Patricias moved into the line Sunday, relieving the Royal Canadian Regiment which has seen some stiff action since it took over its section of the front April 20.

The move leaves the 3rd Patricias—the battalion now is on its second tour of operations in Korea—manning the Canadian front with the 3rd battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment. The RCR's 3rd battalion now goes into reserve for a well-earned rest.

During the RCR's tour of front-line duty they had some bitter fighting. The battalion, with strong artillery support, repulsed the strong Chinese attack of May 2 when a two-battalion attack was beaten back. In the enemy's big drive of May 28 the regiment, with the Van Doos, was under severe artillery fire when a British unit on the Hook was attacked.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canada's Air Force whistled its first Comet jet liner from Toronto to Winnipeg Monday in just two hours and 27 minutes.

The air transport command plane covered the 960 miles at an average speed of 385 miles an hour and a top speed of 420 MPH.

Flying at 35,000 feet in a -45 degree centigrade temperature, the four-jet de havilland aircraft started to let down for the Winnipeg landing near Kenora, 150 miles away.

"It was a long approach," said Sqdn. Ldr. C. S. Olsen, the pilot.

Coldwell Asks Canada Recognize Red China

TORONTO (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, Monday night called on Canada to recognize the Chinese Communist government.

Speaking at a York South nominating convention, he referred to a statement he gave the press earlier in which he said Canada must persuade the United States to "take amore realistic attitude" towards admitting Communist China to the United Nations.

"Recognition of a government does not mean approval of a government," he said.

The meeting nominated Joseph W. Noseworthy, present sitting member, to contest the seat again at the next federal election.

Big Revenues Avoid New Tax

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Secretary Welsh said Monday night that swollen revenues resulting from the general increase in Ontario's prosperity have enabled the province to lend a helping hand to municipalities without imposing new taxes.

In an address over a provincial network of the CBC in the concluding series of free-time political broadcasts on provincial affairs, Mr. Welsh said Ontario now is paying more than $50,000,000 a year in education grants, compared to $8,000,000 in the early 1940s.

Grants to municipalities for road construction and maintenance have been boosted from $3,600,000 a year to $28,500,000 in 1952, he said.

"Today, the government is distributing grants of about $120,000,000 a year to municipal governments," he said.

Anti-Freeze Inquiry Ends

OTTAWA (CP)—The tariff board has completed its inquiry into the price spread of anti-freeze, Finance Minister Abbott said Monday.

The minister said he has received the board's report. It will be made public at the opening of the next session of Parliament in accordance with the law.

The inquiry formed part of a double-barrelled tariff board study following complaints by Canadian anti-freeze manufacturers that ethylene glycol, basic ingredient in making anti-freeze, was coming in duty free.

The minister last August asked the board to examine the case for a possible tariff boost and at the same time measure the spread between the manufacturer's price and what the consumer pays for the product.

Progress Being Made In Getting Minister

At a meeting held last Thursday in St. Alban's Parish Church, the Venerable Archdeacon W. P. Robertson stated that progress was being made in securing a minister for the parish.

A new church building was mentioned and serious planning and a building fund will commence soon. Mr. Hodges' financial report was encouraging.

In the meantime the men of the parish plan to paint the old church and plant some trees on the grounds. All extra money, however, will be placed in the building fund

The women's church year will begin immediately with Mrs. J. McCormick in charge of the penny-a-day boxes.

Board Urges 6-Cent Raise

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A conciliation board majority report Monday recommended a six-cent-an-hour pay increase and a 44-hour work week for employees of the Sandwich, Windsor and Amherstburg Railway Co., which operates a bus line between Windsor and nearby communities.

The majority report, signed by Judge R. S. Clark of Guelph and Stanley L. Springsteen of Windsor, suggested three cents of the six-cent award be retroactive to Jan. 1.

A minority report, filed by Earl Watson, president of local 195, United Automobile Workers, (CIO) recommended an additional 6½ an hour with all increases retroactive.

The majority report also recommended a two-year contract between the company and the employees, members of local 616, Street Railwaymen, (AFL).

Blames Roads For Failure To Take Trailer

Poor roads in Northern Ontario were blamed for failure to deliver a cabin trailer from Peterborough to Edmonton and a car to Vancouver, when David Symonds, 21, of RR 3, Peterborough appeared in police court Monday charged with theft of the $3,350 trailer from H. B. McGinness Ltd.

Symonds pleaded not guilty and Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment until June 15.

Douglas Smith, McGinness' sales manager, gave evidence that Symonds had contracted to deliver the trailer to Edmonton in February when the company had advertised for people to make delivery of the trailers to the West. Symonds had been paid $100 in advance and another cheque for almost $150 was made out to the Edmonton purchaser to be paid to Symonds on delivery.

Mr. Smith told the court that the delivery was to be made "as soon as possible" and nothing was said about the route to be taken.

"If he wanted to go by way of Mexico City it was quite all right, was it?" the magistrate asked.

"That's right," Mr. Smith replied. He said Symonds had picked up the trailer February 5 but it was never delivered. The company is presently negotiating with the Edmonton purchaser who had not paid for the trailer.

Inspector William Clark said that the accused had told him the roads were bad and had damaged the car so he ditched the trailer north of Kirkland Lake and drove the car to Vancouver. Then he returned with the car to Estaven, Sask., where it was picked up by police. The trailer had been picked up meanwhile.

Symonds said he had contracted to take the car and trailer West in order to take his wife and two children for a visit. He had an accident and a garage operator, five miles from Swastika had told him the roads were pretty bad further on and he'd never get through. So he left the trailer with the garage man.

He said he tried to arrange in Edmonton to have the trailer sent there but the cost was too much and by that time the police had picked it up. He said he didn't let the company know because he didn't think it was necessary nor did he contact the purchaser in Edmonton.

Under cross-questioning by Crown-Atorney John A. Bradshow, QC, Symonds said that his wife and family returned here when he had abandoned the trailer.

He admitted he had gone to Prince George where he had cashed the cheque made out to the purchaser. He had signed his own name and somebody else had signed the purchaser's name.

"Is it correct that the garage near where the trailer was abandoned had no knowledge of you?" the Crown Attorney asked.

"That is incorrect," Symonds said.

Saving Of Lives Only Gain In Truce Congress Sees

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Congress members, wary of possible Communist trickery, balanced liabilities against assets today and found little beyond the paramount saving of lives to approve in a Korean truce.

Without notable exception the members expressed hope that the Republic of Korea government will accept an armistice and avoid what some of them said otherwise could become a dangerous situation for U. S. troops on the battle line.

Unanimously, the members who commented were happy that the shooting seems likely to stop within a few days.

But there was evident dissatisfaction with the truce terms, mixed with a realization among the members that a cease-fire will bring little, if any, decline in U. S. expenditures and will offer no solution to pressing Asiatic political problems.

EXPECT NEW DRAIN

Senators Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.) and Burnet Maybank (Dem. S. C.), both members of the Senate appropriations committee, said in separate interviews they expect immediate requests for U. S. economic aid in Korea to eat up most of the economies that might accrue from halted military operations.

Ferguson said the situation will have to be surveyed to find out how much prompt rehabilitation can be undertaken in line with President Eisenhower's promise to South Korean President Syngman Rhee that the U. S. will continue economic aid to restore Rhee's devastated land.

Maybank said rehabilitation costs are likely to be high. The pending mutual security administration bill would provide $111,000,000 for rehabilitation on the limited scale possible while the fighting still was going on.

Presbyterians Withdraw From Project

TORONTO (CP)—The Presbyterian Church in Canada has withdrawn from a project with the United States Presbyterian Church to produce a book of praise for use in North American Presbyterian churches.

A special committee reported the withdrawal Monday at the annual meeting of the Canadian general assembly of the Presbyterian Church, because U.S. church leaders would not agree to the Canadians' wishes to have a separate section for metrical psalms.

18 Canadians Red Prisoners

SEOUL (AP) — Under the prisoner agreement signed at Panmunjom, the Allies will exchange about 75,300 North Korean and Chinese for 12,000 captives now in stockades in North Korea.

The Communists have furnished no breakdown of prisoners they hold since December of 1951, but figures given then would be a rough approximation of those to be returned.

While the Communists have, of course, captured numerous Allied prinsoners since then, they also released more than 800 sick and wounded under the recent exchange.

Here are the figures, based on latest Allied estimates and on the old Communist lists:

Prisoners in Red camps: 3,198 U.S.; 7,142 South Koreans; 919 Britons; 234 Turks; 40 Filipinos; 18 Canadians; 10 French; 6 Australians; 4 South Africans; 3 Japanese (these undoubtedly are of American descent); 1 Greek; 1 Dutch.

Prisoners in Allied camps: 70,300 North Koreans; 5,000 Chinese.

Have No Right To Name Spot For Executions

TORONTO (CP)—The province of Ontario has no right to name any community as the provincial centre for executions, Dr. S. F. Leavine (PC—Waterloo North) said Monday at a meeting of the legislature's select committee studying reform institutions.

Chairman William Stewart (PC—Parkdale) said the committee has been asked to select some isolated place where persons waiting to be hanged can be kept.

"If they are kept in existing jails they disturb the morale of the other prisoners and upset the residents of the district," he said.

The committee decided to do nothing until a sub-committee confers with the chief justice of the province.

Mr. Stewart said segregation of condemned prisoners in a central point would remove any deterring influence their execution would have on society.

Dr. Leavine said: "The best way to handle it would be to reduce the publicity given to hangings."

CCF leader W. J. Grummett urged that there should be a central point for executions, but that no date should be announced, "just the week."

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver said there is a need for a new type of institution to take care of persons awaiting certification as insane.

Holds Judgment In Forgery Case

Magistrate W. R. Philp reserved judgment Monday of a charge of uttering a forged cheque for $57, signed Arnold Steele and payable to himself against Aurele Melanson, 34, of R.R. 9, Peterborough.

Arnold Steele, a general contractor, gave evidence that he had never seen the accused and had not authorized the cheque.

Keith Innes said that the accused had driven to his service station at Charlotte and Rubidge Sts. on May 18 and asked for four quarts of oil. He had put the cans of oil in the back seat and handed him the cheque.

Innes said it didn't look like Steele's signature and he had gone in and phoned Steele but he was not home.

"I came out and said: 'This isn't your signature; you wrote it out, didn't you?' He gave me a funny look and said: 'Take the oil.' So I took the oil and he drove away."

Innes said he then called the police who picked Melanson up and brought him back in five minutes.

PC Bert Howden said that he had located Melanson up on George St. in a near-drunken condition and arrested him on another charge. He searched him and found the cheque and took him back to the garage.

Defence counsel John W. Corkery moved for a dismissal on the grounds that there was no evidence given that the accused knew the cheque had been forged. The magistrate reserved judgment on this point until June 11.

DENMARK'S QUEEN? — A recent national referendum places this 13-year-old girl, Princess Margrethe, next in line for the throne of Denmark. The referendum changed the national constitution to permit a woman to succeed the king. Asks Support For Refugees

TORONTO—The Rev. Stuart B. Coles of Oshawa appealed Monday to the 79th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada for a greater effort on behalf of refugee Christians and their churches.

Mr. Coles, convenor of the committee on the Canadian Council of Churches, said that even the splendid effort by Presbyterians last year must be bettered if the 20th century was not truly to become "the century of the homeless man."

"Our Christian responsibility toward this work of brotherhood and Christian mercy should cause us to give even more than we have done before," he said. "Too few of the Canadian communions have risen to their commitments and it would be unfortunate should the Presbyterian Church, who gives the lead in providing relief abroad, retreat now."

Railroad Men Betting Turtle's Destination

SAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Men were plunking down bets on the speed and destination of a turtle here today.

Algoma Central Railway lands and forest rangers in this Northwestern Ontario district were wagering on the progress of a turtle heading north toward Hawk Junction between the rails of the main ACR line.

Rangers spotted it Sunday as it inched northward near Perry. It ignores trains and apparently has no hankering to climb the rails for the solitude of the bush.

If the track switch is open at Hawk Junction the turtle has 40 miles to go to Michipicoten Harbor on Lake Superior. If the switch is closed, there's another 200 miles between the turtle and Hearst.

Chamber Of Commerce Brief Opposes Freight Equalization

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A chamber of Commerce brief presented to the board of transport commissioners Monday opposed the proposed freight rate equalization plan and sought special consideration for Windsor in view of its geographic location.

The brief, one of seven presented by various Western Ontario firms and organizations during the one-day hearing, outlined three alternatives to the proposed rates system scheduled to come into effect next Jan. 1.

There is a fixed rate now for all shipments to the western provinces which originate within the Montreal-Toronto-Windsor area.

Under the proposed new set-up rates would be assessed on a mileage basis.

In terms of the new rates schedule Windsor, despite its proximity to western points, would have higher shipping costs than say Toronto because freight from here must travel 240 miles east to Toronto before starting the westward haul.

ALTERNATIVES SUGGESTED

Alternatives suggested by the Chamber of Commerce were:

1. A rates table which would base rates on Canadian lines similar to the shorter, actual mileage through the United States to western points from Windsor.

2. A rate schedule based on water mileage from Windsor to the Lakehead and then via rail to the west.

3. Maintenance of the present "group" system which maintains a blanket freight rate for the area included in the Montreal-Toronto Windsor region.

Other briefs, generally in agreement with the chamber's presentation but with minor variations, were presented by Chrysler Corporation of Canada; H. J. Heinz Co., Leamington; Dow Chemical and Polymer Corporation, both of Sarnia; Producers Cold Storage of Windsor and Brunner-Mond Canada, Ltd., Amherstburg.

L. J. Childs appeared for Polymer Corporation and J. S. Handysides represented Dow Chemical. Mr. Handysides said that if his company's shipping rates were increased "and those of our competitors decreased, it may force us to withdraw from some markets in Quebec and the Maritimes."

Fears Witches Are Busy Might Ensnare Her Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married 36 years and are as much in love as the day of our wedding. Our children are married and in their own homes, and now we have the time and a little money to enjoy ourselves. The trouble is that so many women envy my happiness and I'm afraid one of them will step in and spoil it. Other women are always telling my husband what a fine person he is, and he tells them I am just as fine. Of course I'm glad he appreciates me, but do you think all this praise will turn his head? Perhaps I'm too much in love with him. We always go out together, or stay home and watch TV. However, I can't get rid of the notion that someone may be trying to take him from me.

D. G.

LOOKING FOR TROUBLE

ANSWER: If anyone spoils your perfect marriage, it will be yourself. You are picking trouble right out of the blue, and if your faithful mate ever realizes that you doubt him, or doubt his devotion to you, he'll be so hurt that he might seek solace with someone else. Can't you just settle down to complete thankfulness for the wonderful blessings you have? Many women at your time of life have already become widows. Can't you be grateful that this fate has escaped you? Probably you have too much time on your hands, and find, after a busy life, that worry makes an easy replacement for work. You need some sort of occupation. The very best cure for needless anxiety, or self-pity (and the two are akin), is service to others. Your city certainly must have welfare agencies ready to welcome volunteer workers. Try giving a day or two a week, or even a few hours a day, to the needs of others, and your own domestic bliss will take on a new meaning. No one can fill an entire life with service to one person only, unless, of course, that person is an invalid. Your home and husband can spare you part of the time, particularly as your absence probably will make you a much better wife.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am sure my dreams foretell my future, since so many of them have come true. I have met a boy I dreamed about and we have become good friends. Now I have dreamed that we are going to break up. Do you think I should believe this dream since the others came true?

TROUBLED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm quite sure that if you made a list of your dreams over a certain period, you'd find that most of them did not come true. You have doubtless been worrying about losing this boy to the point where the obsession has been reflected in your dreams. If you should lose him, don't blame it on the dream, but try to figure what you have done to displease him. If he doesn't take you out as often as you wish, remember that he works in a hospital where the work is hard and irregular. He can't always count on his time off, and probably doesn't have too much money to spend, either. Learn to work out your own problems; don't leave them to dreams.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 14, and my mother doesn't think I should date. I haven't yet tried to sneak out on a date because I'm afraid I'll get caught. I like a boy very much, and think he likes me, but when he asks for a date I have to think up an excuse.

B. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why make excuses to the boy? Tell him the truth, and let him show by his actions that he's worthy of taking you out. Bring a nice boy home, let your mother get to know him, and maybe she'll relent a bit about your dating. Give up any thought of sneak-dates; once you betray your mother's trust you'll never have a chance to date. To attain adult privileges, show adult judgment.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: There's a boy in my class whom I like very much. We seldom speak to each other, since I am very shy, and whenever I pass him I put my head down. Maybe he thinks I'm stuck-up. How can I get over this habit and be a little friendly?

CANDY

ANSWER: You are giving the boy a very poor impression of you, Candy. Since it's the girl who is privileged to open a conversation, or at least extend a greeting, you most certainly should hold your head up and say "Hello" when you see him. In fact, do it with everyone. Never avoid giving a greeting to anyone.

Havelock Women Plan Supper And Bake Sale

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mrs. R. G. Newman was in charge of the devotional period at the meeting of the Women's Association of Havelock United Church. The thought for the day, "Purity of Heart," was given by Mrs. Newman. "To talk about purity of heart is one thing, to possess it and keep it is another," she said. "This can be done by loving our neighbor, also by setting up in one's life a spirit of sincerity and simplicity for 'Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God'."

The president, Mrs. H. Agnew, opened the meeting by reading a poem, "Elizabeth Regina."

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Strawberries Now Offer Lift From Your Dessert Slump

Next week I'm going to bust out all over with strawberries — a rash of strawberries in a rush. They will settle the dessert problem for a few weeks and keep you out of mischief too with your jam-making.

But if it were not for the faithful humble rhubarb and the luscious proud pineapple we'd be in a dessert slump. As a matter of fact, I am in one, for when we do not have plenty of apples to draw on it leaves a big gap in the dessert possibilities.

Sam threatened me with some dire—but smiling—consequences if I wrote up his visit in the paper, so being a lady and admirer of Sam in a proper cousinly fashion I'll only say he took me and my sister out to dinner when he and his assistant assesor, John, were attending a convention in town.

The restaurant is famous for its Dutch chef and the Dutch chef is famous for his Dutch apple pie . . . and I'm not so unknown for my Dutch apple pie either and I'm going to be better known almost immediately for here it is:

EMEM'S DUTCH APPLE PIE

I used to go to great trouble to cut lovely Spys in eights after paring and arrange one row clockwise and the next counter clockwise and so on in the pastry-lined deep pie plate. But lately I've been known to use any kind of apples — even canned pie apples. Whatever kind of apples you have to make do with until the new ones come in August, make layers of them at least two deep. Mix together 1 cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons flour, then beat into them 1 egg and 1 cup cream. (I've been known to use O horrors! — 1 cup plain water instead of cream.) Pour this mixture over the apples, sprinkle cinnamon over and dot with butter. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for a starter of 10 minutes and finish at 350 deg. Fahr. for another 35 minutes, or until apples are tender when tested with a fork.

Some of our young readers want detailed recipe for making their pastry flakier. No more appropriate time seems at hand, especially when I'm on the subject of pies.

RICH FLAKY PASTRY

Two cups sifted pastry or all-purpose flour sifted with 1 teaspoon salt, 2/3 cup shortening, 5 or 6 tablespoons ice water. You can use your finger tips but a pastry blender keeps the dough colder, and your hands cleaner. Into the flour and salt work ⅓ cup of the shortening until it is as fine as fine oatmeal. Now add remaining ⅓ cup shortening but do not work it so finely — just until it is in chunks about ½-inch in diameter. With a fork make 5 or 6 little depressions, and put a tablespoon ice water in each. Stir with fork until all of the floury particles have been moistened. Turn out on lightly floured board and press the dough into a ball that will hold together. Chill it. This amount will roll out into two crusts. Work quickly to keep the dough cold.

LEMON PIE WITH NON-WEEPING MERINGUE

Line a deep 9-inch plate with pastry made as above but use half the recipe for 1 crust. Flute the edge. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 375 deg. Fahr. until crust barely begins to turn gold. Cool.

Filling: Mix together in top of double boiler 1⅓ cups sugar, 5⅓ tablespoons cornstarch and when mixed stir in 1½ cups boiling water. Add 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind and stir until thick over boiling water. Cook, covered, 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour a little of this over 3 beaten egg yolks, then return this to double boiler and cook, stirring, for 1 minute. Remove from heat and add 3 tablespoons each butter and lemon juice. Pour into cooled shell. Cool, then cover with Non-Weeping Meringue: Beat 3 egg whites with dash of salt until stiff but still clinging to sides of bowl. In all add 6 tablespoons sugar but add only 2 tablespoons at a time by sprinkling over whites. Beat hard between additions, until meringue is stiff and glossy. Pile on cooled filling, then be sure to spread it so that it touches the pastry all around edges. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 15 or 20 minutes or until tinged with gold all over.

Bigelow, and Mrs. Bigelow for the ordination of Mr. Bigelow into the Ministry of the Fellowship of the Independent Baptist Churches of Canada. International Dolls Making Canadian Tour

REGINA (CP)—If dolls could talk, Hazel Lawrence at Junior Red Cross headquarters here would have heard some stirring tales of children's adventures in Greece, Japan, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Germany and Poland.

But the dolls, collected by the International Red Cross, and dressed by children all over the world, tell their story visually.

The Red Cross in collecting the dolls sought to promote international understanding and friendship between children of various nations. The collection was sent on a tour of Canada and Miss Lawrence took them from her office here to Moose Jaw, Yorkton and Shaunavon before returning them to Toronto headquarters.

PICTURESUE DRESS

One doll depicts a Parisienne aristocrat simply gowned in chic white net with the hair piled on top of the head and a single white flower at the side for accent.

Two dolls from Czechoslovakia are dressed in the traditional colorful peasant costume. They are mounted on a board and appear ready to go into a folk dance.

Another doll from Czechoslovakia is probably the most elaborately clad. Over several petticoats, she wears a skirt of gold stain brocade edged with a wide border of white lace. Her white blouse has balloon sleeves to the elbow.

On her head is a skull-cap beaded in bright colors and attached to the cap is a crown of lace and flowers. She wears black stockings and black shoes of soft leather that seem to have been made by a shoemaker.

The Japanese doll wears a kimono and has long, black, straight hair.

The Polish doll is wearing a tiny white kid money pouch in which someone has inserted three Canadian cents.

NEW FALL STYLE — New fall styles are being introduced to the public and trade buyers at Toronto showings this week. A note of regal sophistication is introduced in this sheer black wool evening dress, trimmed in white bengaline and embroidered in black jet and boucle braid. The designer adds a touch of formality for dinner and dancing with a miniature bolero. Wool is prominent in the new styles, showing its influence in the silhouette and a variety of weaves.

Queen Attends Premiere — Glittering Audience Present

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP)—As six heralds blew a royal fanfare, the Queen entered her golden box at Covent Garden Monday night for the first performance of a new opera dedicated to her.

The opera, Gloriana, by Britain's leading modern compose Benjamin Britten, celebrates the triumphs of the first Queen Elizabeth. It was especially commissioned for the Coronation.

It was the first time since King George II attended the premiere of Handel's Atlanta in 1736 that a reigning monarch has come to this ancient citadel of music for the first performance of a new work.

The Royal box, especially decorated for the occasion, was hung with cloth of gold and sparkled with myriad brilliants. The whole house was banked high with many thousands of blossoms and the Queen's anteroom was transformed into a garden of English roses.

GLITTERING AUDIENCE

The audience was a glittering sea of tiaras, diamonds and rubies such as had not been seen here for decades.

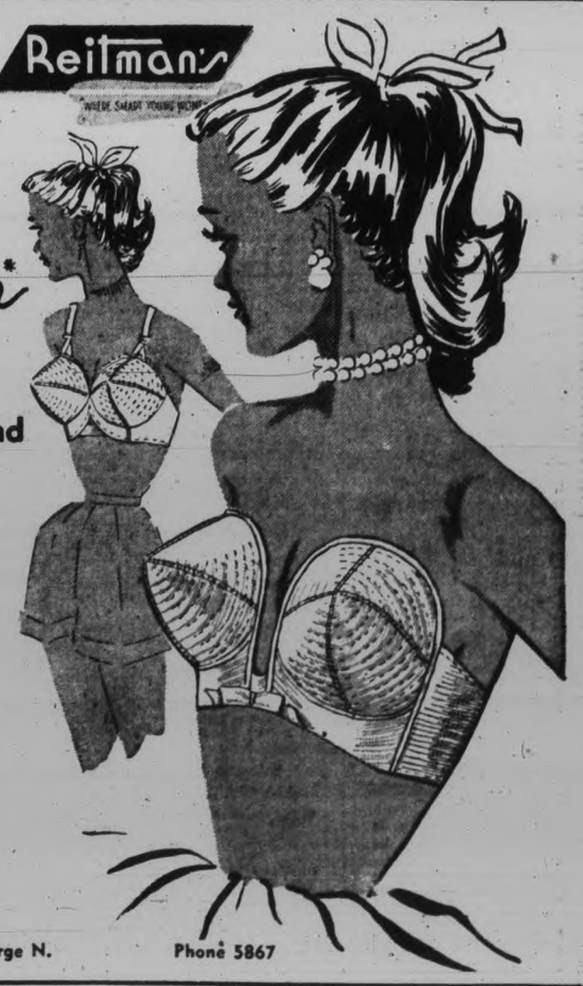
The Queen was accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and had with her in the Royal box the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret, the Crown Prince and Princess of Norway, Princess Astrid of Norway, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Duchess of Kent and 21 others.

The radiant young Queen wore a full-skirted white silk evening dress trimmed at the neckline with golden paillettes, a diamond tiara, diamond necklace and earrings and the ribbon and star of the Order of the Garter.

All the prime ministers of the British Commonwealth — except Sir Winston Churchill who preferred a quiet evening at home— were seated in the Grand Tier as were all the ambassadors accredited to the Court of St. James and countless other dignitaries.

It was a premiere of such brilliance and spectacle on this side of the footlights that what happened on the great stage was dimmed by the diamonds, the gold and the pageantry in the Grand Tier and stalls.

The opera Libretto, by William Plomer, is based on Lytten Strachey's biography Elizabeth and Essex. The opera contains a ballet inspired by Elizabethan masque plays.



SMARTLY CASUAL—A two-piece sportswear favorite is this black wool jersey with novelty tweed striped skirt and matching reversible stole introduced at a preview of fall styles in Toronto. The designer has emphasized the horizontal weave as important for fall fashions. Woven stripes appear in varying types and colors in lightweight wool.

Council Split

To that remark, Ald. Beggs said: "Those two letters were largely representative. I don't know how you could get more."

SEES NO REASON

Ald. Harold Rehill said that he had not seen any reason brought out that would indicate an improvement in any way.

Acting Mayor Miller recalled from City Clerk Outram's review that in one year under the present legislation organized labor had elected five aldermen, and in another year four. That was shortly after the private bill was passed by the Ontario legislature.

I move that arrangements be made to take a referendum vote at the next municipal elections," Ald. Beggs proposed.

As to some reference to plumping, if the requirement for voting for four candidates were cancelled, Ald. Beggs said: "I don't know that there would be more plumping than there is now."

"There has been a general kick for the last 10 years against the vote-for-four," Ald. Graham said.

Hands in support of the Beggs-Anglesey motion when the vote was called by the chairman were: Anglesey, Beggs, Graham.

Outline Merits Of College

The purpose of Lorne Park College is "to give God his rightful place in the lives, training, and environment of the young people", said the Rev. L. C. Ball, business manager of the college, in an address Sunday night in the Free Methodist Church.

He said that high purpose has been maintained throughout the 30 years the college has been in existence.

Mr. Ball, who is also field representative, said a new administration building will soon be started.

The LPC male trio sang two songs. And speakers included Eldon Kay, dean of men; H. McLeod, for the bible department; and Jack Shepherd, for the high school department.

Three of the local Free Methodist congregation are attending Lorne Park: Esther Jane Robinson, George Green and Paul Johnston.

Record Tolls For Tornadoes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death tolls in some other tornadoes:

420, on Feb. 19, 1884, in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

306, on May 27, 1896, at St. Louis, Mo.

268, on May 21, 1932, in Aalabama.

231, on March 21-22, 1952, in Arkansas, Tennessee, Missouri, tucky.

MORE ABOUT—
Coronation Given

tions to tea to come and let's swap memories. I'd like to swap some memories myself but my greatest thrills have all been stated many times. The earnest Queen, the tapestry of color, the luxurious sense of movement and order, the symphony to the ear wherein the boys of the chapel and Royal and the archbishop's voice had their place, no less than the wondrous clatter of St. Margaret's bells next door, the fanfare of trumpets and the proclamation of the guns.

Looking back though I still regret that Sir Winston Churchill and the Commonwealth Prime Ministers might not have had some even minor role to play. When the Coronation service was designed centuries ago a Prime Minister was non-existent or small potatoes and to fit him or them in now might well upset the applecart considerably, for if they came in at all, they'd have to come in in full power and ahead of the Lord Chancellor, the Lord Great Chamberlain, the Lord High Constable and the Earl Marshal. It would be difficult.

But still, there are other things one sees again on looking back, the smiles all round when the loudspeaker in the Abbey, after the service, was marshalling the departing asesmblage section by section and there came this solemn announcement, "For Orange may now move the bishops' wives in O"; and also in leaving the Abbey a little game of Alphonse and Gaston between Canada's High Commissioner Norman Robertson and some other Commonwealth nabob each bowing the other to please proceed, and it was the Canadian who won, though if it had gone on another minute the Earl Marshal himself might well have cried out "Hurry along please, hurry along."

FUTURE IS VEILED

But enough of reminiscence. The gantries along the Thames were all at work the next day and life was moving on despite the Times and Guardian and despite Sir Winston's own scowling phrase that the present is hard and the future veiled. Everest of course added a great spice to hte days that followed the Abbey, though neater than any of the English comment surely was that of the French mountaineering official M. Felix Germain who said, sentimentally speaking, mountain climbing is veritably decapitated. And as I hinted earlier there's much peering ahead to the Test cricket. The London Star's cricket writer has been upbraiding the stolid unenterprise of England's batsmen and urges that it is better to have attacked and failed, than never to have attacked at all. There's also been room in the papers for the announcements that butter and meat rations are to be increased and for letters about the deplorable trick of the National Gallery of putting sticky stuff on their roof to keep away the starling and for the open golf tournament and for the Sunday Express to talk nonsense about it being a blow to England that Eden should have gone to an American doctor. If you ask me what all this has to do with the Coronation I can only reply that it has nothing whatever to do with it and that's the point of the story. For all over England this last weekend and today (except in London which still has the fever and a rush of crowds to its main arteries) people are busily getting on with things. But don't let them fool you. They are glowing with pride and I'm sure very much the better for it. I think they feel they know a secret.

Mrs. R.H. Collingwood

Mrs. Robert Henry Collingwood, nee Mary Annie Hendry, of 337 Downie St., was buried yesterday in Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Collingwood died on June 6. Her funeral was at the Kaye funeral home yesterday with the Rev. M. P. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church officiating. Pallbearers were: H. Davis, H. Lane, H. Hilson, C. Batchelor, W. Peryer and J. Clark.

Clerk Says Half Set Out Garbage Twice

Ald. Norman Graham pointed out to the Examiner today an error in the report of a meeting of the sanitation committee of the council, published Monday, regarding the sanitation committee discussion of a suggestion that the collection of garbage may have to be reduced to one a week instead of the present two collections.

"The report said that City Clerk Outram expressed doubt as to whether more than 200 people set out garbage twice a week the year round," Ald. Graham said. "What Mr. Outram said was that possibly not more than half the residents consistently put out garbage twice a week the year round. I have had a number of people asking me about it today, and I assured them the City Clerk did not mention any definite number, and certainly not 200. In fairness to Mr. Outram I think the correction should be made."

In the general discussion concern was uppermost about the possibility that the service might have to be reduced to one collection weekly. Superintendent Elmo Pierce supported Mr. Outram's comment about probably half the number of homes putting out garbage only once in some weeks. The trend of opinion was against the change unless it became a necessity.

It was agreed that during the summer, Mr. Pierce should make a survey of the service, and prepare an informative report for the council dealing with the effect of the 40 hour week in the department, and generally on its cost, and the prospect that economy in cost advise the one collection a week.

As a former chairman of sanitation, Ald. Graham said all the members were reluctant to think about a change in the number of collections, and as summer advances the public would be fully informed of the progress of survey.

Say Manitoba May Poll Largest Vote

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba may have polled its biggest provincial election vote Monday in returning Premier Campbell's Liberal-Progressive government.

Tabulation by The Canadian Press of the vote in 97 per cent of the province's polls showed that 255,683 votes were cast, compared with 197,053 in the 1949 election. Previous high in the last six elections was 254,662 in 1932.

The Liberal-Progressives captured 39 per cent of the vote, the same percentage as in 1949 when the party was in coalition with the Progressive Conservatives.

The Progressive Conservatives received 24 per cent of the vote, compared with 12 four years ago. The CCF got 17 per cent compared with 25.

Social Credit, with 42 candidates in the field, got 12 per cent of the vote. The party did not contest any seats in 1949. In 1945 with four candidates it received two per cent of the vote.

FIGURES TO DATE

With tabulation almost complete (1,390 of 1,456 polls), the figures were as follows (percentages bracketed):

	1953	1949
Lib-Prog	98,591 (39)	77,132 (39)
PC	56,133 (22)	23,564 (12)
CCF	43,693 (17)	49,931 (25)
SC	33,836 (13)	—
Others	23,430 (9)	46,426 (24)
Totals	255,683	197,053

(These figures, however, do not indicate the total number of voters but the votes cast. In this election and in 1949 there were three four-member constituencies in which each voter could mark his ballot for four candidates and one two-member constituency in which he could vote for two. In 1945 one constituency had 10 members.)

Car Hits North Bridge At Trent River Canal

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A Norwood man's car was damaged Monday when it hit the more northerly of the twin bridges at Trent River.

Driver, Kenneth R. Trumpour, 23, was not injured. He told police he was driving north when a southbound car, taking too much of the road, forced him to apply his brakes.

The car, a 1953 model, skidded on loose gravel into the east side of the bridge, doing damage set at about $200. The other car did not stop. OPP Constable Archie Eady investigated.

Press Club Gets Home

OTTAWA (CP)—Homeless for 25 years, the Ottawa Press Club Saturday will formally move into quarters in downtown Ottawa. Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's governor-general and Ottawa's No. 1 citizen, will be the first person to sign the guest book at the official opening ceremonies.

PIER'S FREDERICK GRAY, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gray of Peterborough, graduated from University of Toronto recently with honors in his Bachelor of Pharmacy degree.

Plumbers, Fitters Meet On Union

Local plumbers and pipe-fitters held a meeting Monday night in the union rooms of the Bank of Commerce building to discuss certification of their union. Joseph Connelly, general organizer for Canada and U.S.A. was present.

Many were absent from the meeting including the president and secretary and the chair was filled by James (Scotty) Chalmers, financial secretary and treasurer. Little was accomplished due to the poor turn-out.

Mr. Connelly said there was certainly no lack of interest on the part of AFL. "The union in Peterborough is her to stay". He said that this union would protect the men against discrimination concerning employment, and that it would ensure them a better standard of living, equal to that of plumbers in other Canadian cities, but that they would have to take an active part in union activities if anything was to be accomplished.

"A man can gain a great deal by accepting executive positions in a union", said Mr. Connelly, "not only for the group he represents but for his own education as well".

It was decided to delay the election of officers until the next meeting to be held two weeks hence. Mr. Chalmers will act as temporary president until that time.

Violent Storm Hits Area Around Sarnia

SARNIA (CP)—A violent electrical storm struck this area Monday night but little damage was reported. Citizens, fearing another tornado like that which recently felled barns and injured scores of persons, put in many calls to police.

In nearby Port Huron, Mich., five persons were injured in tornados that hit surrounding sections of the state.

Russians Ease Controls In Austria

VIENNA (AP)—The Russians suddenly moved back a fringe of the Iron Curtain Monday night, relaxing eight years of military controls between the Soviet occupation zone of Austria and the country's Western-held areas.

In an unexpected move in the Kremlin's "peace offensive," the Russians abolished permanent troop controls at road and rail crossing points along the 225-mile demarcation line between the Soviet zone and the British and American zones. The Russians said henceforth they would carry out only periodic spot-checks of travellers and freight to prevent "import of weapons, ammunition and explosives into the Russian zone."

In Linz, on the banks of the Danube, Austrians tore up their identity cards and danced in the streets to celebrate.

Similar scenes were enacted at a Vienna frontier bridge where crowds gathered to watch traffic cross unhampered.

RISK OF ARREST

Day after day, for the last eight years, thousands crossing the frontiers to and from work have been stopped by armed Russian soldiers and required to show their papers. Always they ran the risk of arrest. Freight has been subject to delay or confiscation.

The change also meant that foreigners could travel in and out of the Soviet zone to Vienna—deep inside the Russian occupation area—without anything more than their passports and an Austrian visa. Britons, Americans and French were allowed to pass in and out of the Soviet zone without even a check of their so-called "grey cards," required by four-power agreement.

Weston Firm To Build New Lindsay School

LINDSAY (ENS)—It has been announced that the Weston firm of Bennett and Pratt have been granted their permit to build the new separate school in Lindsay at the corner of St. Lawrence and Glenelg Streets. The 12 room building will also contain a playroom which can be converted to an auditorium and parish hall. The classroom section will be single storey and the auditorium storey-and-a-half. The Bennett and Pratt tender for $156,000 was the liwest of seven entered to the Separate School Board for the building. Architects are Servos and Cauley of Toronto.

Bargain Price

DUNEDIN, N.Z. (CP)—Three young aircraft enthusiasts at Dunedin have bought two of the famous wartime Mosquito aircraft for about $30 each. The planes, sold as surplus by the New Zealand Air Force, won't fly, but contain valuable engines and other equipment.

"GRANDMOTHER'S DISEASE," which Mamie Eisenhower jokingly admits she has, shows its symptoms in this happy closeup of the First Lady and granddaughter Susan Elaine Eisenhower.

GIFTS POUR IN TO MAMIE from all over United States. Here she samples a prize-winning cherry pie brought to her at the White House by Maxine Walker, of Huntsville, Pa.

Mrs. Eisenhower No. 2:

Mementoes Pour In Daily To Wife Of Eisenhower

By PATTI SIMMONS

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Washington isn't the only place beating the First Lady's bandwagon these days.

Mementoes pour in daily to the President's wife from housewives and grandmothers across the United States. Mostly handmade, they include aprons, pot-holders, crocheted doilies, costume jewelry, handkerchiefs, with daintily tatted borders, hats especially designed for Mamie, heaps of home baked cookies, fruits and preserves.

Mamie-admirers likewise dispatch oil or ink sketches of the Eisenhowers; photographs of the sender's family, even recordings of their kids' voices. In the trinket department elephants and pins rate high, the White House reports.

Often packages addressed to Mamie contain books, many of them on religious or historical subjects.

• • •

But women aren't the only ones bowled over by Mamie. Twenty-two of the town's most eligible bachelors think she's pretty terrific, too The White House aides ought to know. They have a better chance to see Mamie in operation than anyone in Washington.

In addition to full time Pentagon jobs, these servicemen take on the added gold braid duty of introducing visitors to Mrs. Eisenhower or assisting the President and his wife at official functions.

The First Lady's receiving line patter follows no standard form such as "nice to see you" or "how do you do" with, maybe, something more personal thrown in once in a while, one aide reports.

It's always different and it's always natural, he confides with admiration. "A few times I've heard her say—'don't you look pretty in your hat?'" And she means it, he insists, "because when she says it I look at them. And they're sharp!"

• • •

Mamie's prolonged, friendly handshake is accompanied by things like "How nice of you to come and see me," or, "Of course, I know that town, I've been there."

As one aide put it, she seems to give everyone the feeling they're the one she's been waiting to see. If the crowd isn't too large she's liable to hold up the line and stand chatting to one visitor five or ten minutes.

At a recent top official luncheon a couple of the aides were somewhat concerned about protocol and in what order several of the guests should be presented to the President and his wife.

Suddenly the Eisenhowers came into the room and promptly started to shake hands with everybody. The next thing you know, says one of the aides, there was no protocol to worry about. "Everybody just walked into the dining room together like a big happy family."

✧ ✧ ✧

This same gracious informality accounts for stars in the eyes of a photographer's wife in Washington.

When the newsman was traveling on Eisenhower's campaign train he happened to tell Mamie about his wife and two children. The First Lady remembered the conversation, and invited them all to the White House. She spent an hour with them, and even though she had just finished shaking 250 hands, took them on a personal tour.

One room she didn't bother to show them was an old storage spot which she mentioned having converted into an ironing room so the maid wouldn't have to climb stairs.

Another barometer of Mamie's coast to coast popularity comes from a big fashion designer. The nation's buyers, he reports, are demanding dresses, suits and hats just like Mamie wears to sell to their customers.

One gentleman observer of the Washington scene explains the Mamie trend this way. "It's the first time in 20 years," he declares, "that the average American housewife feels she's just like the woman in the White House."

Maybe he's right—right down to Mamie's having what she jokingly calls "grandmother's disease."

This spring, when the grandchildren invaded the Executive Mansion, one of their favorite playgrounds was Mrs. Eisenhower's bedroom. The First Lady kept pencil and paper in her room so her little visitors could write and draw. She read to them, played with them, hugged them—symptoms of grandmother's disease.

No doubt about it, Mamie's still the same gal who set up Army housekeeping with a two burner gas stove and a refrigerator in the bathroom.

She's not career-minded, doesn't want to shine except in the reflected glory of her husband, and never was awed at the thought of being First Lady.

"It will be just playing the wife again," she said at a news conference soon after the election. "And that's something I've always done."

Free Toronto Man On Traffic Charge

LINDSAY— (ENS) — A Toronto man, Fort St. Piere, of 534 Sherbourne St. was acquitted in police court here Monday of leaving the scene of an accident last Feb. 28 when he and the other witnesses swore he was not driving his car at the time crown witnesses placed the collision. St. Pierre admitted that he had been driving in Lindsay on Feb. 28, but denied having struck Delmar Rollins taxi on Lindsay Street south during the afternoon of that date.

Three crown witnesses, Arthur Sinclair, Rollins himself and James Hennessey, stated that the collision had occurred during the afternoon, when according, license that conformed with those carried by St. Pierre's vehicle, struck the rear end of the taxi which was jutting beyond a line of parked cars on the street. St. Piere, however stated that he had been out of his car at the time of the mishap and for some three hours after it. Defence cousel A. T. Lacey, moved for a nearly non-suit in the case, argued that crown witnesses had failed to place St. Pierre behind the wheel of the car and that St. Pierre had even been in Lindsay at the time of the collison.

He spotted three men fishing in illegal hours—at 1 a.m.—and when they fled he began winding one of their lines in. One of the fishermen was at the end of the line, his clothing tangled in the hook.

Death Calls, But 4 Escape Clutches

By FENTON LUDTKE

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—"It was horrible. It was the most terrible thing I ever saw."

That's the way John J. Turbin of Coldwater road described the tornado that spread death and devastation over his neighborhood.

Turbin and his wife and two relatives escaped unhurt, while neighbors were left in pain and death, their homes levelled by the twisting devilish wind that hit the area about 8:45 p. m. Monday night.

"I don't know why it didn't get us," Turbin, a retired auto worker, said in bewilderment.

His son, Carl, whispered "Thank God, thank God."

Carl and his wife came in search of the Turbins when they heard of the tornado. When they saw the sagging Turbin home, Mrs. Carl Turbin said: "I just knew they were dead."

FOUND LIFE

Instead of finding death, they found life. Carl's father, despite his terrifying experience, was out helping rescue workers when the son got there.

Carl and his six-year-old son, Dennis, had just left the elder Turbins' home minutes before the twister struck. They were steering some of Carl's belongings into the barn which was blown away after they left it.

John Turbin's recollection of the tornado was "a black looking cloud," with a terrific wind velocity.

TERRIFIC NOISE

"I looked out the dining room window," Turbin recalled, "and saw an 18-inch-wide maple tree twirled and twisted right out of the ground. There was a terrific noise and I felt something strike the house with awful force.

"A giant hand seemed to push me suddenly and I flew through the doorway into the kitchen against the stove. My wife and sister were sitting at the kitchen table. Chris (his brother-in-law, Chris Carlson) was in the dining room.

"Let's get out of here," Turbin warned them. Then he grabbed a two-by-four that had fallen from the ceiling and smashed a front dining room window and all four were safe from the savage wind

System Being Abused

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — After four years in office, New Zealand's minister of social welfare, Mrs. Hilda Ross, has formed some decided views on the welfare state.

New Zealand was a pioneer of this conception and built up one of the most complete social security structures during 14 years of Labor rule before the present National party government came to office.

The present government has maintained and even extended the system, but Mrs. Ross thinks some aspects of it are open to criticism. Here are some points she made in a luncheon address to women:

Too many people well able to help themselves are getting help from the welfare state. The government should not be father and mother to the community. It should concentrate on giving the utmost possible assistance to those who can't help themselves.

WASTE MEDICINE

"I almost admire a man who buys a bottle of beer. At least he pays for it and drinks it. But people who avail themselves of free medicine often pour most of the bottle's contents down the sink.

"I'll probably get my neck chopped off for this, but I wish we had never heard of state houses (government houses rented to tenants) in New Zealand. At present people are not saving and building, but are applying for state houses, then sitting back and waiting."

Here are some other conclusions reached by New Zealand's only woman minister during her time in office:

"The more you say, the more you're heard—and the bigger nuisance you make of yourself, the more you might get.

"When I read in the paper that you can buy Jimmy's trousers for sixpence a week, I get mad. Jimmy will have the seat out of them before they're paid for."

Rotarians Hear Travelogue

A travelogue of the West Indies with a short historical introductory address was given at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday by club member Ald. J. A. Dewart.

Ald, Dewart, with the help of colored pictures, presented an account of a trip he took through the Caribbean during the past winter. His pictures included scenic views, historic sites, rural and urban scenes and several shots of various island harbors.

Before presenting the pictures, the speaker gave an interesting account of the historical background of the Caribbean, from the time of its discovery by Columbus in 1492 to the present day and the islands, formation of the Federation of the British West Indies.

Ald. Dewart traced the rise and fall of Spanish supremacy in the West Indies, the conflict for mastery by other European nations —England, France, Holland and Denmark— and the final gaining of supremacy by the English over the French.

At the conclusion of his introductory address, the speaker predicted that the trade difficulties experienced by the West Indies due to being in the sterling area would quite probably bring them to align themselves with either Canada or the United States.

Ald. Dewart was introduced by Ald, S. J. Black and thanked by T. J. Carley.

Montreal East Refineries Interesting To Homemakers

By ALEX DIMEO

MONTREAL (CP)—Two plants of interest to the Canadian homemaker now are included in the sprawling row of refineries in suburban Montreal East.

The recently-opened petrochemical plants along waterfront Notre Dame street are producing phenol and acetone.

Phenol is used in the manufacture of synethics, adhesive glues and plastic which go into telephones, refrigerators, radio cabinets, and other furniture and wood veneers, detergents and lubricating oils.

Acetone is the base of nail polish remover, and is used widely in synthetic fabrics, lacquers, synthetic rubber, plastics and paint remover.

SPENT $2,000,000

In the past Canada spent about $2,000,000 annually to import phenol. The only large production of acetone was at Shawinigan Falls, Que., from calcium carbide, which now can be diverted to other uses.

One plant is owned by the Shell Oil Company and the other by the British American Oil Company and Shawinigan Chemicals Limited.

The plants produce their products from what, as late as the 1920s, was waste: light hydrocarbon gases, released in the refining of petroleum. Now, with natural gas, these gases provide the raw material for the petrol chemical industry.

The BA-Shawinigan plant will have an annual capacity of 13,000,000 pounds of phenol and 8,000,000 pounds of acetone and other by-products. The plant cost $2,000,000. The Shell plant produces icopropyl and converts it into acetone

The petrochemical industry in Canada experienced its first major development during the Second World War when tte federal government established the Polymer Corporation at Sarnia, Ont., to make synthetic gases out of refinery gases. Capital expenditure on petrochemical plants during the last few years has reached $125,000,000.

DEPEND ON OTHER PHASES

These plants are dependent on other phases of the industry and are located in three main areas—In Alberta, dependent on supplies of natural gas; in Sarnia, dependent on refineries; and, in Montreal East, also dependent on refineries.

The new industry has advanced since oil discoveries in Alberta in 1946. More than six years ago, Turner Valley was the only important oil field in Canada. Since the development of new fields, Canada's production of crude oil has increased seven times.

Sees Prospects For Better Trade Relations With UK

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

LONDON (CP)—Prospects for better trade relations between Canada and Britain were seen today by Trade Minister Howe in an address to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Great Britain.

He based his hopes on what he has seen in Britain during the Coronation celebrations for Queen Elizabeth and declared:

"There are, indeed, good reasons for people of Britain to hope that this is not only the beginning of a new reign but the opening of a new and promising chapter in their history.

"I am encouraged to hope that we are also at the beginning of a brighter chapter in commercial relations between Canada and Britain, which have been so bedevilled by the dollar problem."

True, he said, much depends upon policies pursued in United States, but "there's nothing to be gained and a great deal to be lost if a defeatist attitude is adopted towards the dollar problem.

MUST BE ALERT

"It is all too easy to say that problem is insoluble, that the United States will not play the game according to the rules. I do not know whether she will or not, but what I do know is that it cannot be taken for granted that the protectionists will prevail.

"Americans who believed in 'trade, not aid' are working hard and on the whole, it seems to me, with some success. . . .

"What I do urge is continued efforts to work along with the United States. . . . It will not be encouraged to do the right things by suspicion and mistrust."

Howe indicated he thought it would be i nher own interests for Britain to sign the new international wheat agreement from which so far she has abstained.

CONTINUE TO SELL

But, he added: "I have no doubt that if the United Kingdom adheres to its decision not to join in the new agreement, Canada will continue to sell wheat in this market.

"We are in as favorable a position to supply the United Kingdom as any other exporter and we will meet the competition, from whatever source it may arise.

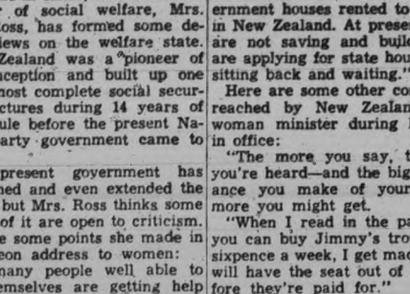
"At the present time the price for Canadian wheat sold outside the wheat agreement is above $2.05, and it may be above that level at the opening of the new crop season."

However, Howe continued, "we do not wish to charge the United Kingdom more than $2.05. . . ."

Prize-winning trout in the Flin Flon festival in northern Manitoba in 1951 and 1952 each weighed 37 pounds.

TWO KILLED IN TANKER CRASH — The burning tankers Pan-Massachusett and Phoenix (foreground) wallow together in the Delaware River off Wilmington, Del., after collidnig. The collision touched off explosions in the empty fume-filled holds of the Phoenix, which in turn ignited blasts aboard the Pan-Massachusett, loaded with 160,000 barrels of gasoline. Two crewmen died and one was missing. Some 83 others scrambled to safety.

Quaking Committee Decides It's Safe



TORONTO (CP)—"I can certify every one of you fellows and make it stick," an uncomfortable committee of the Ontario legislature was told Monday by one of its members during a discussion of treatment of the mentally ill.

Dr. S. F. Leavine, Progressive Conservative member for Waterloo, was illustrating his contention that there should be stricter supervision of how patients are committed to mental institutions.

A quaking select committee on reform institutions received comfort as Allister Johnston, another Progressive Conservative from Parry Sound, disposed of Dr. Leavine's threat.

"I don't think you'll get anywhere with that," said Mr. Johnston. "The institutions are filled up now."

SWISS REFUSAL BLOCKS WAY TO TRUCE

U.S. Officials Hope Swiss To Reconsider

See Refusal Forcing Re-Opening Of Commission Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials expressed hope today that Switzerland would reconsider its refusal to participate in a five-country prisoner-of-war commission in Korea unless South Korea agrees to the prospective truce.

This attitude is understood to have been made plain to the Swiss legation here by the state department.

Unless Switzerland changes its decision, authorities fear the whole question of commission membership might have to be reopened between the United Nations command and the Communists. That would delay and complicate final agreement terms which may otherwise be reached within a few days.

SWISS GIVE NOTICE

Swiss minister Charles Bruggmann delivered a note to the state department Tuesday night giving notice of his government's attitude a few hours after the decision was made at Bern.

The Swiss federal council (cabinet) said in a statement that Switzerland could not serve on the commission unless the mandate to do so "were received from all parties of the Korean conflict, including South Korea, and unless Switzerland were permitted to exercise it in full independence and in the common interest of both sides in the conflict."

U. Alexis Johnson, deputy assistant secretary for Far Eastern affairs who accepted the note, was reported to have told Bruggmann it was hoped his government would re-examine its position and agree to serve.

TWO UNAFFECTED

Two other members of the five-country commission indicated they would not be affected by the Swiss stand.

A spokesman for the Swedish foreign ministry said in Stockholm that Sweden's acceptance of membership on the commission carried no condition of South Korean approval of the truce, and in New Delhi the Indian foreign office indicated the government there would put no such conditions on its service.

Poland and Czechoslovakia, nominees of the Communist side, also are expected to take part.

RHEE ADAMANT

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea has contended he and his people could not accept any armistice arrangement which would leave Korea divided and has threatened to fight on alone.

Abbott Urges US Discontinue Tariff Barriers

MONTREAL (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott today urged the United States to refrain from further protectionist measures and said the Canadian government will protest against any tariff boosts which hit Canadian exports.

In a direct appeal to the American consumer and business man, Mr. Abbott declared that the imposition of American import restrictions is a costly process—"and the costs are borne by the American consumer."

"Inevitably, they must pay higher prices because domestic industry is shielded against competition from abroad," he said in a speech prepared for the 1953 summer conference of the American Marketing Association.

LITTLE TO FEAR

Mr. Abbott suggested that American business men have little to fear from their colleagues in other countries.

"The U. S. economy is strong, its factories are efficient, its mines and farms are highly productive. Imports will not likely undermine the U. S. economy or drive American business men to the wall."

But Canada, he added, has never made any secret of its concern with potential increases in American tariffs on Canadian goods. Canada had to export to live and her biggest market by far was the U. S.

MUST SHOW CONCERN

"Any government would be failing in its duty," said Mr. Abbott, "if it did not show concern over threats of artificial restrictions on the U. S. markets for some of our exports—whether they be cheese or oats, lead or zinc.

"We feel bound to protest against tariff increases, for they have a direct effect on our standard of living."

Behind the barrier of import controls, production costs tended to rise and a characteristic "flabbiness" tended to pervade the economy. Import controls set the stage for currency inflation.

The Canadian government believed that any impediment to the free flow of goods undermines the economic health of the Western world. It worked against Canada's policy of lowering barriers against imports into Canada in return for similar concessions from other countries.

"Personally, whenever I hear of a demand for a high tariff or other form of protection," said Mr. Abbott, "I suspect there has been some failure of marketing ability."

New England Tornado Kills 85

800 Known Injured More Feared Dead In 11 Towns' Rubble

WORCESTER, Mass. (CP)—The most devastating tornado ever to strike New England smashed through populous central Massachusetts Tuesday night with a toll of at least 85 dead and more than 800 injured.

At least 2,500 were left homeless in 11 communities through which the storm left a path of death and destruction.

At dawn, eyewitnesses said, the smashed area resembled pictures they had seen of the damage wreaked by the atom bombs on Japan in the Second World War.

Authorities said they won't know how high the death toll might reach until rescue workers finish digging through every pile of debris for those who might possibly still be buried.

CAUGHT IN HOMES

The crushing wind caught many families in their homes as they were sitting down to their evening meal.

Others were killed in stores, factories and on the streets.

The tornado struck here less than 24 hours after a similar storm hit sections of Ohio and Michigan with a toll of 139 dead and 1,000 injured and $15,000,000 in property damage.

The storm's boiling centre struck Worcester and adjacent towns but its destructive force was felt over an area of about 40 square miles.

Pittsfield in western Massachusetts and Exeter, N. H., also felt the effects of the tornado but no deaths were reported there.

55 DEAD IN TOWN

Worcester alone counted about 55 dead and 400 injured.

Big houses were lifted completely off their foundations and dropped yards away. Automobiles were tossed as much as 150 feet.

In Holden, Mrs. Ruth Oslund hysterically told police the wind whipped her two-week-old daughter out of her arms and out of sight after she ran from her house in the belief she would be safer in the open.

Approximately 150 men searched a wooded area through the night for the baby.

One eyewitness told how he saw a mother and her small child crushed to death beneath a big trailer truck that had been lifted by the wind and carried several feet.

Expect 11th Hour Agreement By Rhee To Truce

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO (AP)—Leading United Nations officials are operating on the theory that at the last minute South Korea's President Syngman Rhee will agree to terms of a Korean truce. But they admit they are taking a calculated risk. There have been no threats, no promises and no pleading with the 78-year-old leader who is threatening to wreck a Korean armistice. News that Switzerland had refused to serve on the neutral nation commission for the exchange of prisoners of war unless South Korea was satisfied with the terms will only help bring the Republic of Korea government into line, it is predicted.

Gen. Mark Clark and his advisers were said to believe this is the only way to look at the Rhee situation because all but one of his demands have been complied with.

Rhee has said his government will not respect a Korean truce as long as the country is not unified and as long as one Chinese Communist soldier remains in Korea.

"On to the Yalu!" Rhee slogans cried.

ALREADY COMMITTED

As for the first specification, the UNC is already committed to withdraw its troops from Korea and so are the Chinese, as soon as details for the withdrawal are settled at a peace conference.

But the UN command never can agree to march on to the Yalu and unify Korea by force, anymore than it could agree to unify Germany or Austria by force.

Free elections are one of the principles of democracy on which the Korean war was fought. The UN position is still to unify Korea by election.

NEED ELECTION

"If the Communists should win such an election, well then they win, that's all," the source said. "But we could not agree to setting up the Rhee government in North Korea by force, anymore than we could agree to letting the Communists invade South Korea by force."

When the time comes, people who should know believe Rhee will agree.

Three Moves Hint At Softer Russian Policy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Three Russian moves Wednesday gave further evidence of a new and softer Moscow policy toward the western powers.

In Moscow it was announced the Soviet government will grant permission to leave Russia to the Russian wives of two U. S. citizens and two Russian-born minor daughters of a woman embassy employee.

At the same time it was made known in Vienna that Russia has decided to appoint an ambassador to Austria and re-establish full diplomatic relations with that occupied country. This followed Russian relaxation in the last few days of a number of military and economic controls maintained by Soviet occupation forces since the end of the war.

THIRD MOVE

The third move was in Russian-occupied Eastern Germany There the Russians abruptly halted major work on construction of a giant naval base on the Baltic island of Ruegen. The Ruegen Island plan called for "dockyards bigger than those at Hamburg, for submarine pens, seaplanes bases and a special harbor to handle ships of battleship size.

The Moscow decision to permit certain Russian-born persons to leave the country after representations by U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen a month ago. It said the Soviet government also is considering the cases of other Soviet wives of U. S. citizens who want exit visas.

Those given the okay to leave are the wives of Eddie Gilmore, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow and Robert Tucker of Kansas City, Mo., an embassy employee in Moscow, and the two children of Mrs. Ethel Balashova of Los Angeles, Calif., who was divorced from a Soviet citizen and granted the custody of her children by a Russian court.

Socreds Near Re-Election In B.C.; Get 38% Of Vote

VANCOUVER (CP)—The minority Social Credit Government, defeated after seven months in office, appeared Wednesday to have been re-elected in British Columbia. First tabulation of results from Tuesday's general election put the government of Premier W. A. C. Bennett well in the lead and it appeared almost a certainty it would have increased power in the next legislature. The CCF under its new leader, Arnold Webster, was headed for the role of opposition, a post it has held in B.C. for 20 years. The election, for the second time, was conducted under the alternative voting system and only first counts were made election night.

Definite results in about 40 of the 48 ridings will not be available for three weeks. The second count will be started June 30. The delay is necessary to permit return to home constituencies of absentee ballots.

The standing:

	Elected	Leading
SC	4	26
CCF	2	13
Labor		1
Liberal		2

Total 48.

After the 1952 election the standing showed: SC, 19; CCF, 18; Labor 1; Liberal, 6; Progressive Conservative, 4. Total, 48.

PREMIER RE-ELECTED

Premier Bennett and three of his cabinet ministers were re-elected. Mr. Webster, making his first bid for political office since he succeeded the veteran Harold Winch to the leadership, was elected along with E. E. Winch, the veteran member for Burnaby. Mr. Winch, father of the former party leader, has represented Burnaby in the legislature for 33 years.

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing, who a few months ago resigned his federal seat, was in a close race in Vancouver-Point Grey with the Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston. Incomplete returns showed Mrs. Rolston with a lead in the see-saw contest.

De Gasperi Back With Majority Reduced Sharply

ROME (CP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi's middle-of-the-road coalition government was returned to power today, but with a sharply-reduced majority.

His bloc failed in its bid to win an over-all majority of the popular vote which would have insured it almost two-thirds of the 590 seats in the Chamber of Deputies (lower house).

Instead he and his allies will have a majority of 16 seats over the combined opposition in the Chamber. They thus remain the largest single bloc, but any organized defection could cripple De Gasperi.

He and his supporters have an even slimmer lead in the Senate —125 of the 243 seats, a much-reduced majority of seven.

Figures for the voting which took place Sunday and Monday were released today after exhaustive checks and re-checks.

TRAIL IN VOTE COUNT

The coalition trailed the combined opposition of extreme left and right parties in the popular vote by 115,000 ballots.

Conference Ends With Warning To Watch Russia

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—Eight Commonwealth countries Tuesday night backed Britain's drive to end the cold war with Russia, but warned the democracies against dropping their guard.

They ended a six-day conference on world affairs, defence strategy and economic problems and announced in a communique they had considered how to stabilize south-east Asia and the Far East "after the end of hostilities in Korea."

One point of view accepted generally, according to well-qualified informants: The Communist government of China one day must be universally recognized—and when its conduct conforms with the United Nations charter the Peiping regime must be admitted into the UN.

ENDORSE POLICY

By endorsing Prime Minister Churchill's policy to try for a bit-by-bit settlement of East-West tensions, the Commonwealth prime ministers were strengthening Britain's case for an early conference with Russia. Churchill has indicated he will argue that case when he goes to Bermuda to meet President Eisenhower and the French premier.

Their communique said "the Commonwealth countries associated with or interested in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expressed the hope that the European Defence Community would be established at the earliest possible date."

The interested countries would include Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

India, Pakistan and to a lesser extent Ceylon were said to have criticized Britain's policy of hanging on to her great, sprawling bases in the Suez canal zone against the wishes of the Egyptian people.

Halt Building Red Naval Base

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians have abruptly halted major operations in the construction of a giant naval base on the Baltic island of Ruegen, informed Allied quarters said today.

The East German Communist government's share in the huge plant also has been cut by more than half. A budget of 180,000,000 East marks for labor and construction this year has been sliced to slightly less than 80,000,000.

The Ruegen Island plan, a dream of the Germans for many years, called for dockyards bigger than those in Hamburg, submarine pens, seaplane bases and a special harbor to handle ships up to battleship size.

Ruegen is the largest German island in the Baltic Sea. More than 350 square miles in area, it lies virtually due north of Berlin and is separated from the coast by only a narrow channel. Developed as a naval base, it would stand athwart central Europe, aimed directly at Scandinavia.

Russian supervisors and German labor started work last fall on blueprints seized from the Germans at the time of Hitler's collapse.

The Russians aimed to establish a base that would advance their merchant and battle fleet into the heart of north European waters, due north from central Germany.

The original plans would have required 12 years to build a base Allied officers said would then be bigger than Pearl Harbor.

Allied officers said they heard two reasons for the halt:

1. A Kremlin "peace offensive" move to eliminate a possible sore spot in case of East-West negotiations.

2. Manpower shortages.

Moscow To Grant Visas For Wives

MOSCOW (AP)—The U. S embassy announced Tuesday night that the Soviet government plans to grant permission to leave Russia to the Russian wives of two United States citizens and two Russian-born daughters of a woman embassy employee.

The announcement added that the Soviet government also has under consideration cases of other Soviet wives of U. S. citizens desiring exit visas.

Those to be allowed to depart are the wives of Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, and Robert Tucker of Kansas City, Mo., an embassy employee attached to the press reading service, and the two children of Mrs. Ethel Balashova, of Los Angeles, Calif.

Mrs. Balashova was divorced from a Soviet citizen in a Soviet court which granted her custody of their two girls.

(The United States told the UN general assembly in December, 1948, that as of that date 350 Soviet wives and 65 Soviet husbands of U. S. citizens were being refused permission by Russia to leave the country. Until today, there has been no announcement that any of these have been given exit visas.)

Volcano Erupts

TOKYO (AP)—Mt. Aso, whose volcanic centre is the world's largest, erupted Tuesday hurling up rocks the size of a man's head. No casualties were reported among the 60,000 Japanese residing on the broad floor of the crater, 10 miles long and 15 miles wide. The volcano killed five persons in an eruption April 27.

Offer Year's Holiday With Pay In 10 Years

CHICAGO (AP)—A radio and phonograph manufacturing company has signed a union contract providing that employees after 10 years of service will get a year's vacation with pay or double pay for time worked during the year.

Paul M. Davidson, president of Hedco Mfg. Co., said the contract signed Tuesday with the AFL Electrical Workers Union was made in the hope of reducing employee turnover and attracting new employees. The firm has 155 employees, mostly women, whose hourly rate range from $1.35 to $1.85.

Davidson said few of the employees have been on the job more than two years as the company, started eight years ago in Mt. Vernon, N. Y., did not move to Chicago until 1951.

Armed Forces Mark Edinburgh's Birthday

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's armed forces today joined in celebrations for the 32nd birthday of the Duke of Edinburgh.

Royal naval ships throughout the world were "dressed over-all"—decked out with flags. Artillery in London fired salutes in Hyde Park and at the Tower of London.

The Duke had only one public engagement. He accompanied the Queen to the opening night of the royal tournament, a combined armed services display of drill and other activities.

Buckingham Palace reported a flood of greeting messages. For the first time in many years, the Duke was able to spend his birthday with his mother, Princess Alice of Greece, who came from Athens for the Coronation.

His three sisters are also here.

Kinsey Tells All

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey will disclose his findings about the sex life of women Aug. 20. Newspaper and magazine writers here this week are reading proofs of his long-awaited book, "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female." They are pledged not to tell anyone but their editors what the book says until that date.

Russia Appoints Envoy To Austria

VIENNA (AP)—Russia has decided to appoint an ambassador to Austria and re-establish full diplomatic relations with this occupied country, it was announced here today.

This new Soviet step toward ending the burdens of Russian occupation was disclosed by the Austrian government.

The government said it also would appoint a full ambassador to Moscow.

The announcement followed Russian relaxation in the last few days of a number of military and economic controls which had been maintained by Soviet occupation forces in eastern Austria since the end of the war.

The Russian action is no more, however, than was taken by the Western occupying powers some time ago.

Vicious Twisters

Tornado Death Toll Mounts To Nearly 450 In States

BOSTON (AP)—The U. S. death toll from the spring season's rash of tornadoes mounted to nearly 450 today with at least 76 killed Tuesday in a vicious twister which hammered 11 counties in central Massachusetts.

The worst tornado in New England's history—striking heaviest blows in the area around Worcester—injured more than 700 persons. Some 2,500 persons were homeless.

The tornado hit the Massachusetts area near the supper hour, less than 24 hours after twisters had ripped sections of southeastern Michigan and northwestern Ohio, killing 139 persons and injuring more than 1,000 others.

Of the nearly 450 persons killed in tornadoes this spring, 225 have lost their lives in the storms which hit two cities—114 in Waco, Tex., last month and 111 in Flint, Mich., Monday night. In Worcester, at least 55 were killed and some 400 injured.

The death toll in the Massachusetts disaster may rise.

Rescue workers dug for dead and injured in the debris of hundreds of homes, factories and business buildings battered by the tornadic winds.

Debris from the storm-stricken area was carried by the strong winds as far as 40 miles away from Worcester, a city of 264,000 population about 45 miles from Boston.

The Worcester downtown district escaped heavy damage. Heaviest loss of life and property damage was in the residential and industrial sections of Worcester and in several suburban towns.

Property damage in the Massachusetts storm was placed "in the millions" by authorities. A new $5,000,000 building, a machine tool plant, was a tangled jumble of steel and bricks. A big housing development in Worcester was nearly completely wrecked. There was heavy damage at Assumption College where three Roman Catholic nuns and a priest were killed.

In the Michigan-Ohio tornado-stricken area, the heaviest toll of dead and damage was in Flint, a city of about 163,000 population some 70 miles from Detroit. Property damage in the two states was estimated at $15,000,000.

Immigrant Woman Saves Children

TORONTO (CP)—Ursula Marke, a 25-year-old German immigrant, pulled five children from the path of a CNR passenger train at a level crossing at nearby Malton Tuesday night.

Police said the woman, in Canada only two months, shoved Helen Nolan, nine, off her bicycle out of the train's path and scooped up the other children in her arms. The children had waited until a slow eastbound train passed and then started across the tracks, almost into the path of a westbound train.

Children Go 'ighbrow

Cultured Accent Of BBC's Announcers Alter London's Rich Old Cockney Dialect

LONDON (Reuters)—The sons and daughters of London's Cockneys 'ave begun to go 'ighbrow.

The influence of the cultured accents of the BBC announcers and drilling by teachers are doing it.

The children are picking up their h'aitches. But they still say "You carn (can't) make me do that" and "I fink (think) it's all right."

Yet Coronation visitors to the taverns and vegetable markets of the East End still can hear old-time Cockneys sounding off in the rich old dialect which is rooted in the lusty ancient speech of outlying Kent, Essex and the east Midlands.

The news that the dialect is dying came out today in a booklet for teachers issued by the London County Council's education inspectors.

The booklet, called "The Art of Speaking," also said that upper-class people have grown less snobbish toward people who talk Cockney.

Every tourist who comes to London is eager to run into Cockneys, whose speech has won millions of admirers through movies such as "Pygmalion."

The best strategy—now that the dialect is dying—is to go to an East End pub and make friends with an old-timer. If he invites you home, you may hear him extend this invitation for tea to a neighbor:

"Tell your trouble and strife to send the kids up the apples and pears to Uncle Ned, put on your titter and come over for a cuppa char and a wad."

Translated from Cockney this means: "Tell the wife to send the kids upstairs to bed, put on your hat and come over for a cup of tea and a cookie."

The guardians of speech culture, in their booklet, also rejoiced that certain slang imported via Hollywood movies has failed to take root.

They said "okay" and "yeah" had had a big vogue for a few years. But, they added with dignity, they are not heard much any more in Britain.

The booklet ruled that the BBC is good for people's speech, but that movies have, in general, a bad influence.

It deplored such "slovenly" omissions in the Cockney dialect as "wa'er" for "water" and "bu'er" for "butter."

Negotiators Give Final Work On Truce To Staff

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

PANMUNJOM (AP)—United Nations and Communist truce negotiators—their work apparently all but finished—today handed staff officers the job of putting a Korean armistice into final form, then recessed indefinitely. All signs still pointed to a cease-fire within the week, but these developments clouded the picture: 1. Switzerland announced it would not serve on the five-country prisoner repatriation commission unless South Korea approves the truce.

2. South Korean leaders reiterated bitter opposition and anti-armistice demonstrations raged in Seoul for the second straight day.

3. A spokesman for Syngman Rhee dashed reports that the South Korean president will fly to Washington to make a personal appeal against the truce. Rhee, he said, will not leave Korea "at this time of grave situations."

Details of what went on at today's plenary session at Panmunjom were not disclosed, but the delegates presumably completed their work.

After 23 minutes, they recessed at Communist request subject to call by either side.

Lower level officers then assembled in the tiny truce hut and went to work on a review of the cease-fire line that will separate Allied and Red forces during a truce.

They met for an hour and 36 minutes, then adjourned until Thursday morning.

South Korean leaders generally declined comment on Switzerland's surprise move, but Rhee's press secretary, Chang Ki Bong, said:

"That shows that Switzerland, at least, understands our position." Chang emphasized he was speaking for himself.

While Rhee and his cabinet secretly discussed the Swiss move, thousands of Korean youths snaked through Seoul streets in apparently well-organized demonstrations.

Shouting "Yankee go home!" they marched on UN and U. S. buildings but were held back by military police.

TEAR STAINS IN SEOUL—Republic of Korea President Syngman Rhee (left) strains to make himself heard at a ROK meeting in Seoul, Korea, while Eighth Army Commander Maxwell Taylor stands by. Rhee called on South Koreans to "risk our lives and fight on to a decisive end" to the Korean war, no matter what the Allies and Reds decide about armistice terms. Between sobs, Rhee gasped, "We cannot surrender."

Ready To Fight Election Anytime: Drew

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said today he is ready to fight an election at any time but repeated his earlier assertion that a forecast Aug. 10 polling day would disfranchise "several hundred thousand" voters.

He added, however, that any person favoring hunches might think an August election would benefit his party — he led the Progressive Conservatives to victory in an Ontario general election Aug. 4, 1943, ending nine years of Liberal government in the province.

"It might be a nice 10th anniversary," Mr. Drew told a press conference on his return from a three-week visit to Britain as one of Canada's Coronation delegates.

DOESN'T KNOW DATE

The Opposition leader stressed that he has had no official word on the election date, and he declined to deal at this time with campaign issues.

But he said that alternative plans for his campaign trip have been prepared, depending on the date and he would make a statement of his party's policy in the opening speech of his campaign.

Mr. Drew said an August election "can mean only one thing—the government is in a panic over the frequency with which new evidence of extravagance and folly of one kind and another are coming to light."

It would also mean, he said, that the government was prepared to disfranchise "several hundred thousand" voters who would be away from home on holidays "in hopes of salvaging something in the voting."

However, he added, "I'm ready for any date."

The party organization was in "excellent shape—better than it has been in a great many years." There were still a number of constituency organizations still to choose party candidates, but he was sure the party would run candidates "in nearly every riding."

Commenting on the recent provincial elections in Nova Scotia and Manitoba, Mr. Drew said the increase in his party's share of the vote was "very encouraging."

He declined to comment, however, on Tuesday's British Columbia election, where the Progressive Conservatives apparently lost the four seats they held in the last legislature.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis: Cooler air that swept down from the north across Ontario Tuesday displaced the warm air in which the Michigan and Ohio tornadoes occurred Monday night. This cooler air has now bulged eastward pushing the warm air out into the Atlantic. However, before leaving the continent destructive toradoes developed in the warm air again Tuesday evening, striking the New England states. The southern boundary of the cool air extended from Virginia to northern Missouri on this morning's weather map. The contrast in temperature along this line continues to generate showers and thundershowers, some of which drifted across Michigan into the Windsor area early this morning.

Pleasant cool weather is indicated for most of Ontario today and Thursday except in southwestern Ontario where some showers or thundershowers are likely to occur during the night.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Thursday:

Eastern Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Niagara regions: London, Toronto, Hamilton cities: Sunny except for a few cloudy intervals today and Thursday. Little change in temperature. Winds light. Low tonight and high Thursday at St. Thomas 55 and 75, London, 50 and 75, Wingham and Trenton 50 and 70, St. Catharines, Toronto and Hamilton 55 and 70. Summary for Thursday: Mainly sunny.

Georgian Bay, Haliburton, Kirkland Lake, Timmins-Kapuskasing, James Bay regions; North Bay, Sudbury cities: Sunny except for a few cloudy intervals today and Thursday. Continuing cool. Winds light. centre bloc won 303 of the 590 seats in the chamber of deputies.

In the popular vote, the official tabulation gave the government bloc 13,487,036 to 13,602,156 for the combined opposition.

The government said, however, that it might still win a popular majority because some 1,250,000 invalid votes—most of them so far ruled out by contests from the oppositionists—still were subject to review.

LOSE 44 SEATS

The announcement gave this distribution for the new Chamber of Deputies as a result of the races in the individual elective districts:

Government bloc: ....
Christian Democrats (De Gasperi's party (262)loss of 44)
Moderate Socialists 19 (14)
Liberals 14 (1)
Republicans five (5)
South Tyrol People's party 3.

Opposition: ....
Communists 143 (gain of 11)
Pro-Communist Socialists 75 (gain of 27)
Monarchists 40 (gain of 27)
Fascist MSI (Italian Social Movement) 29 (gain of 23)

The difference between the government losses and the opposition gains was covered by the loss of seats by independents and splinter parties.

The results of the election showed that despite a huge turnout of more than 28,000,000 voters, the centre parties had slipped badly in popularity since the last parliamentary voting, in 1948.

In that election, De Gasperi's forces won 364 of the 574 deputies' seats and 196 in the Senate, which then numbered 334 members.

Need 40,000 Shares Sold To Run Cayuga

TORONTO (CP)—If 40,000 shares of stock at $5 each are sold within the next few weeks, the cruise ship Cayuga will go back on the Toronto-Queenston run in July.

Formation was announced Tuesday night of Cayuga Steamship Co. Ltd. a stock venture to finance purchase of the Cayuga from Canada steamship Lines, refit her and place her back in service. President of the company is Roland Michener.

The CSL ended its Toronto-Niagara service in the summer of 1952.

Lindsay Expects Record Number Of Homes Built

LINDSAY (ENS)—Lindsay Assessment Commissioner Harold Batz says 1953 should be a record year for home building in Lindsay.

The total of permits issued for five months this year is already $177,000, including $27,000 in May. Some 27 houses are either built or are in construction as the result of these permits.

Another factor that should boost the home-building total this year will be the permits, probably to be issued this month, for the Maryknoll Co-operative building scheme in the east ward of the town, which should amount to $228,000 for some 38 houses.

In classes other than home-building, a permit for $65,000 for the alteration of the former Kawartha Lumber premises for Loblaws Stores has been issued. Work will probably start today. Another large permit was issued for $20,000 for the construction of a new Pentecostal Church in the south ward.

Mr. Baty, complimented the people of the town on their co-operation in filing plans and taking out permits for their building, in line with a policy announced by town council. Some builders, however, have not complied with the plan, he said, and some $50,000 worth of building is in progress without permits. "We're after them", Mr. Baty said.

The overall total this year may not reach that of 1952, he said, because of two large projects completed during that year, which included an addition to the Visking Ltd. plant and the $8,000 collegiate addition.

Another large permit to be issued this year, he said, will be that for the addition to the Seperate School, which contract has been let for $166,000.

Progressive Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson, 33-year-old Nanaimo insurance agent, appeared to be headed for defeat in Oak Bay where Finance Minister Einer Gunderson headed the poll.

Premier Bennett said the election has great significance in the federal field.

"What the Social Credit Party has defeated in B.C. is the National Liberal organization," he said. "It will have a great effect on the coming federal election."

He also said the B.C. election means that "we have now returned to a two-party system in B.C."

CCF Leader Webster didn't concede defeat. He told a Vancouver rally that second counts will tell a different story.

Preliminary tabulation by The Canadian Press of the popular vote showed that Social Credit obtained 38 per cent of the vote and the CCF 31 per cent.

This compared with 27 per cent for Social Credit and 31 for CCF in 1952.

The Liberals and Progressive Conservatives were far behind in their bid for election. Candidates of the Christian Democratic party and the Labor-Progressive Communist party trailed.

The Social Credit cabinet victors were Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd in the Cariboo; Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan in Chilliwack and Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi in Kamloops.

The central figures in the wave of libel actions which broke in the final days of the campaign both were trailing in their respective ridings.

John Perdue, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, was running second to Anthony Gargrave of the CCF in Mackenzie riding and, in Vancouver-Point Grey, Independent candidate Dr. W. N. Kamp was far in the rear.

During the campaign Dr. Kemp charged that Mr. Perdue was a man with a criminal record and the Social Credit candidate sued Dr. Kem for libel and slander.

Dr. Kemp then sued Mr. Perdue for libel in connection with remarks Mr. Perdue made in answering the original charge. Later, Mr. Perdue brought a criminal libel suit against the Independent candidate.

Victoria County May Get Public Parks

LINDSAY (ENS)—Victoria County may save some public parks on some of its many lakes in the future, according to a motion presented at the opening session of county council Tuesday.

Deputy-Reeve Bert Hick of Lindsay moved that the property committee investigate the possibility of establishing some public parks in the county. The council agreed to discuss the measure.

Council also heard a deputation from the Victoria Federation of Agriculture asking rural representatives to consider levying an extra quarter mill on farms for Federation purposes. At present farmers, unless they object, are taxed a quarter mill on their local assessment for the Federation. There are some 2,200 farmers in the county.

The Federation is not raising enough funds itself, according to President Hugh Davidson and Secretary H. Winters, to pay its way, and must have the support of the municipalities in raising the levy to continue its work in the county.

Members of the council, however, expressed the opinion that the Federation might lose as much as it would gain in raising the levy since the farmers had the choice of payment.

Council also were informed that the Department of Highways had cut the roads and bridges budget by $87,000 this year in approving an expenditure of $138,000 for the year.

Several Canadians were believed to be among the dead and injured.

Two Roman Catholic nuns and a priest were killed at Assumption College, Worcester, where a retreat was in progress. Some 100 priests were attending the retreat.

Killed were Sisters St. Helen and St. John of God and Rev. Engelbert E. Deviñcq, a French member of the order of Assumptionist Fathers. The sisters were members of the Soeurs Antoniennes de Marie order, whose mother house is at Chicoutimi, Que. This led authorities at the mother house to believe the nuns were Canadians.

Earlier Sister Matilda of the same order was listed with the dead but it was determined later she was in St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester, critically injured.

One of the 10 reported injured at the college was Rev. Rosario Roy, a native of Bic, near Rimouski, Que.

Early casualty lists showed a sprinkling of French - Canadian names. Many of Worcester's 264,000 residents emigrated from Canada or are of French-Canadian descent.

LIKE BATTLE SCENE

A National Guard officer described the scene at the college as "just like a place that had been shelled." He added that a number of clergymen were in a dazed condition "like shell shock victims."

State police said it will be hours, and possibly days, before rescue workers go through all the piles of debris to determine the full number of dead and injured.

The crushing wind caught whole families in their homes as they prepared for their night meal.

The tornado struck the heavily-populated Worcester area less than 24 hours after a similar storm hit sections of Ohio and Michigan with a loss of 139 lives.

Churchill Calls Pacific Defence Meeting

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill has invited Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia and Sidney Holland of New Zealand to a Thursday meeting on Pacific defence.

Informants say Sir Winston requested that talks on the Pacific—including the Anzus pact among Australia, New Zealand and the U.S.—be held after the current conference of commonwealth prime ministers which ended Tuesday.

Canada is not likely to be represented at the Thursday discussions, though she may be kept informed. Prime Minister St. Laurent, who has attended the general Commonwealth meetings, is to return to Canada by air today.

NOT INVITED

During the last session of the Canadian Parliament some members of the parliamentary opposition urged that Mr. St. Laurent's government take steps either to join the Anzus pact or get into some wider Pacific defence alliance. External Affairs Minister Pearson replied that Canada had not been invited into Anzus but would not shirk her responsibilities if called on to join some general Pacific defence pact.

No official information was obtainable on the probable course of the British-Australia-New Zealand talks on the Pacific.

A dispatch from Canberra, published in the Times, has suggested that Britain may urge Australia and New Zealand to provide greater help in safeguarding British Commonwealth communications in Southeast Asia, particularly in Malaya.

Among the problems that may well be discussed is a possible redeployment of Allied strength in the Far East, particularly in the event of an armistice in Korea.

Ohio Twister Leaves 139 Dead

FLINT, Mich. (CP)—The death toll in the Michigan-Ohio tornadoes stood at 139 today as crews resumed cleanup work and the long search for more dead. More than 1,000 were injured and damage was estimated as high as $15,000,000.

Worst hit in the roaring winds that whirled down out of Monday evening's dark skies were the northern outskirts of this industrial city. The dead here were counted at 111.

But the twisters took at least eight other gigantic swipes.

Eight died in the Cleveland area, eight in Wood county, O., and one each in Elyria, O., and Ceylon, O.

In Michigan, four were killed in Erie, just across the Ohio line, four in Tawas, a northern resort town, and one each in the Ann Arbor area and the Lapeer county village of Brown City.

State Police Capt. Lawrence Meehan, in charge of hundreds of police still on the scene north of Flint, reported that workers were convinced they had found all bodies.

First Duty To Church Worship, Synod Told

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Right Rev. E. W. E. Bagnall, bishop of Niagara, today told delegates to the 17th triennial synod of the Anglican diocese of Algoma that the first duty of the church is worship.

Emphasis on practicality was the result of setting one's sights too low, he said. "We are living in a materialistic yet wonderful age, but we must see above the practical level."

The Swiss rejection was described by chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) of the Senate foreign relations committee as threatening the whole prospective armistice agreement.

Senator Walter George of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the committee, agreed. But he and others clung to the belief that U.S. officials in time can persuade President Rhee to accept the terms as they stand.

Problem Boy Harries Head Of Orphanage

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP) — The board of the Kitchener-Waterloo Orphanage couldn't solve the problem of what to do with a four-year-old boy who:

Flooded a bathroom; threw 40 pairs of children's shoes into the mud; broke a toilet bowl by chucking a stone into it; took a bicycle apart; slipped into the kitchen and scooped out the centre of a birthday cake; climbs out of top-storey windows and balances himself on the roof; throws stones through windows and pokes holes in screen doors.

But it granted superintendent Lydia Dankert a month's leave of absence "to get a rest."

Farmer Thrown Against Wall

Caught by a rope tied to a stampeding heifer and thrown against a stone wall, William Pulfer, 71-year-old resident of RR 1, Hastings, was taken to Civic Hospital Tuesday for treatment of a broken arm and fractured ribs.

Pulfer was helping his son Ray and another man, Wellington Lobb, load the heifer onto a truck when the accident occurred.

The heifer escaped and a rope which had been used to lead it caught Pulfer and threw him against the wall.

Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood attended the injured man on the scene. He was later taken to hospital where authorities today said his condition was fair.

Whitby Officers Quit, Seized Liquor Gone

WHITBY (CP)—Chief constable Lockhart Trinnell and Sgt. Fred White resigned Tuesday from the Pickering township police force.

The officers were suspended last week after an inquiry into the disappearance of liquor seized by police.

The hearing was held by the Pickering police commission which heard one officer say he had seen White drinking some of the seized liquor. Trinnell testified he had not kept a record of liquor seized in raids.

Crushed To Death

ESSEX (CP)—Janice Ouellette, 14-month-old daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Ouellette, Windsor, was crushed to death Tuesday afternoon when run over by a bread truck as it was backing out of a driveway.

Stocks Lower, Uraniums Settle

TORONTO (CP)—Prices moved lower in most groups in early afternoon stock market trading today. Uraniums settled back to mixed prices after a strong open.

Fairly heavy trading in all groups sent volume for the first three hours to 2,497,000 shares—highest since April 26.

Western oils lost ground steadily to stand more than two and a half points lower on the exchange's 1 pm index. Industrials took a wide majority of losses while golds and base metals eased somewhat.

Uraniums stalled around noon after staging earlier what had promised to be a strong comeback. Gunnar characterized the indefinite state of the group as it jumped 50 cents in the first hour but slipped back to hover around yesterday' close of $7.

New Brunswick base metals showed strength. A higher-priced stock, Brunswick, added $1.00.

The large list of losers in industrials included utilities, steels liquors, refining oils, banks, manufacturing companies and retail stores. Losses were almost all fractional but General Dynamics slipped $1.75.

Western oils showed a wide margin of minus signs as selling pressure continued. Peace River bucked the trend to post a gain of 40 cents.

Dominion Asbestos, International Nickel and United Keno led base metals lower. Higher-priced issues held firm.

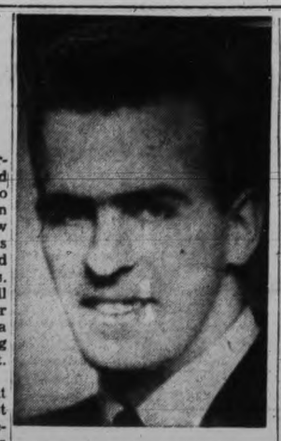
East End School Nearly Finished

COBOURG (ENS)—Work is nearing completion on the new east end public school and it is hoped to have it ready for occupancy when the fall term commences. The new school contains eight classrooms and two kindergarten rooms and will accommodate about 350 pupils.



Located off D'Arcy St, it will have a northern entrance on Major St. Under consideration is a thoroughfare for pupils extending east to the school from D'Arcy St. Cost is about $288,000.

The school will relieve current overcrowding at central and west end schools. It will eliminate the present necessity of renting two rooms outside the school for a kindergarten. Even with the new school, future population increases will present a new problem of accommodation.

Warkworth Church Marks Anniversary

WARKWORTH (ENS). — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church celebrated its 95th anniversary on Sunday with large attendances at both services. The Rev. W. H. Huestin, B.A., of Millbrook, was the guest speaker. In the morning his text was taken from St. Matthew 6: 33: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness," and the topic of his sermon was "Putting God First in Daily Living."

Keep Up Production

Governments See Seaway As Boon To Trade

TORONTO (CP)—Some foreign governments think the building of the St. Lawrence seaway will afford a new means for their countries to earn dollars in North America.

Jacob C. Prebensen, representative of the Norwegian Export Council in New York said Tuesday at a press conference held in connection with the Canadian International Trade Fair that the seaway will be of special benefit to Norway. His country's merchant marine, third largest in the world, brings in as much revenue as all of Norway's exports combined.

Some small Norwegian ships already serve Canadian ports, but the opening of the seaway will mean more shipping between Norway and North America and additional revenue for Norway, Mr. Prebensen said.

BAD BALANCE

Norway struggles under a seven-to-one adverse balance of trade with Canada. She sells $2,000,000 worth of sardines, herrings and sporting goods a year here, but buys $14,000,000 worth of Canadian goods.

Other Scandinavian representatives expressed the hope of increasing their exports to Canada. Knud Gylling, commercial counsellor of the Danish legation, said Denmark buys $10,000,000 worth of Canadian goods and sells Canada between $2,000,000 and $3,000,00 worth annually. K. Kivi, Finnish vice-consul, said his homeland is trying to find new outlets for her industries after paying off hundreds of millions of dollars in reparations to Russia.

BERLIN EXPANDS

At a separate press conference, a delegation of West Berlin business men said the city must increase its exports. They said the productive capacity of the city's industry is increasing and Western German cannot absorb all that is produced.

Thirty West Berlin firms are exhibiting at the fair.

Soonyke Kim, chief of the South Korean delegation, said South Korea is studying the international market in the hope of establishing trade relations with Canada. He said the war destroyed 80 per cent of South Korean industry but his country could export to Canada tungsten, copper, oysters and fish.

Kiyoshi Kimura, chief of the general affairs department of the Japan Export Research Organization in Tokyo, said Japan hopes to get a trade agreement in merchandise with Canada as a means of improving its export position. Japan sold $13,000,000 worth of goods to Canada last year but bought $102,000,000 worth.

Bloated Millions Of Caterpillars

Peterborough district people can have little patience with agricultural and forestry officials and Ontario bug-men who from arm chairs in Toronto or hot houses in Guelph say that the tent caterpillar infestation is bad this year but it will be less next. They have been humbugging us in these terms for the last four or five years. Last year, for instance, they said: 'Yes, we know the caterpillars are pretty numerous this year, but their cycle is running out. Next year their natural enemies (whoever they are) will have gobbled them up.' Well, here we are into next May and June, and tent caterpillars are dropping from the eaves onto our hat, eating the leaves off fruit trees, spewing their slimy green along sidewalks, roads and lawns, denuding woods and gardens. Millions of them are all over the place.

* * *

The combined confidence and failure of the agricultural, forestry and bug experts is almost as amazing as the caterpillars. If they do not know why the infestations continue, when they will end, or how to control the pest, why do they not say so and throw themselves on the mercy of the taxpayers and hope that the taxpayers will again tolerate their expensive departmental budgets? If they do know something about the caterpillar, why the misinformation? Why the lack of action to control the insects? Two years ago when this district and most of Ontario had a particularly heavy infestation, we heard soothing words from Queen's Park; 'The situation is being actively studied, action will be taken.' It seems to us that the only people actively studying the caterpillars are those picking them off their hats and trees, and that that is the only action, too.

* * *

The caterpillars continue to fatten and reproduce by their millions. The people who pretend to know and do something about the menace continue to twiddle their thumbs and twist words —and hope that the insects will quickly go into cocoon so that the public displeasure will abate and be forgotten.

Peace—It's Wonderful

The sweet airs of concord are being wafted over the Iron Curtain so fast these days that the nose has hardly had time to scent one before another honeyed perfume accosts it. There is the imminent possibility of peace in Korea. Eastward, in Germany, the Russians have withdrawn military dictation and established a civilian High Commissioner in East Germany. From Vienna this week has come news that all military scrutiny of identity papers has been abolished on the border of the Soviet occupation zone of Austria.

There is a new air, and even a new language to fit it. The Sunday Times of London reports from Berlin that 178 terms of abuse hitherto approved for use against the West by Communist speakers in East Germany have now been banned. Samples of the newly verboten vocabulary are: capitalist slave owners, capitalist beasts, imperial bloodsuckers, dehumanized Western bandits, terror plutocrats, boogie-woogie gangsters, mass butchers, moneybag hyenas, terror pilots, violators of culture, carrion vultures, scum and dregs of humanity.

As the old words pass out of use, we cannot help but observe that these acrid descriptions of ourselves as others have seen us are not really very original. They look a little tired, as if culled from the Communist American press of the early 1930's, then in full cry against Wall Street. It is to be hoped that the East German phrase-makers have changed the vocabulary not because they are smart enough to realize that time has flattened the phrases but because there has been a change of heart and face in East German and Russian authority. We cannot believe that the Western face has changed. The western statesmen formerly referred to as fascist bandit, despoiler of corpses and delerious subhuman being are the same as they were a few weeks ago when those expressions were still approved.

Perhaps the Communist rulers feel that the old terms are not sufficiently elevated for the new culture and refinement of taste developed in the brave People's Democracies behind the Iron Curtain. May be that soon their language will be as decent as that of the Captain of the Pinafore who never never swore a big big D.

This Substantial Figure Of A Woman

"A statue known the world over and symbolizing to European immigrants the freedom and security of a democratic land is the statue of 'Liberty Enlightening the World' popularly known as the Statue of Liberty, on Bedloe's island in the harbour of New York. Rising 305 feet above the water line, this substantial figure of a woman . . ."

So runs the guidebook note on the famous monument presented to the American people by the French ambassador in 1883. It is a figure of aspiration and faith to millions of Americans returning from abroad, and to immigrants arriving in the Promised Land for the first time. Some famous European visitors are reported to have said, on being asked their impressions of the imposing statue: "Ah, I see you Americans too raise monuments to your immortal dead." The quip has more wit than wisdom.

However one views the Statue of Liberty, myth, patriotism, hunger and hope have made its light a beacon. In the face of it one cannot ever believe that the United States are merely opportunist and materialist, vaunting the American eagle and reverencing only the dollar. The happiness in the eyes of returning soldiers—even Canadian soldiers—when they saw the statue eight years ago, justifies the illusion and suggests the reality behind this substantial figure: liberty.

Despite the McCarthys, the boast of power and the assertive dollar republicanism of the U.S. the symbol of the Statue of Liberty stands for something real, believed and part of the American ethos. It is not a hocus-pocus or a grandiloquent emotion, like that characterized by the slogans and the fake heroic and muscular torsos with which the Mussolini regime decorated Italian walls and galleries. Whatever its merits as a work of art, the New York statue stands for a vibrant and creative feeling of freedom which belongs to the innermost fibre of the American people. It is well for us Canadians to remember the strong idealism of the Americans when we criticize their McCarthys, their Taft-Hartley laws and their imperial belligerence. The lady with the lamp in New York harbour is sincere and ideal, even if she is substantial.

Yet one's enthusiasm for the American preaching of liberty is dampened by some of their practice. It is not uncharacteristic that the Statue of Liberty was conceived nearly a century after the surge to liberty which created the States had lost its impulse. The statue has a somewhat archaic air, as if it were indeed a monument to the illustrious dead—even though its sculptor Frederic Auguste Bartholdi lived as recently as 1904. One remembers that many of the noblest sculptures of antiquity were created after artist and populace had lost faith in the gods whom they depicted.

Another oddity, yet somehow in character with American emotion and sentiment, is this: Bartholdi's model for his Statue of Liberty was his mother. If the U.S.A. is a matriarchy, it has its symbol.

Saftey Month Vigilance At The Corner

The other day a shiny new car stopped for the red light at the corner of Water and Hunter streets. An older car came up behind, tried to stop in time, and bumped the shiny new model ahead. A policeman was standing at the corner. He went over to the cars, saw that no damage was done and went back to his wall. The new car went off, so did the other. A simple little incident. We mention it because it happened in these weeks supposedly devoted to an intensive check on the safe operating condition of cars, a campaign in which the city police are said to be taking an active part. Perhaps it never occurred to the policeman on point duty that the bumping car's brakes should have been checked.

Manitoba Returns

The provincial elections in Manitoba were as quiet as the campaign preceding them. The Liberal government of Premier Douglas Campbell was returned with as comfortable a majority as it had before dissolution of the legislature. It is the first test the Liberal Government of Manitoba has had since the coalition was formed in 1940; the Coalition was still operative when the last provincial elections were held in 1949, and was only dissolved in 1950, when the Conservatives were ushered out of it. If there is any validity in the slogan "Time For A Change" it was not perceived by the satisfied voters of Manitoba. Liberals have secured a majority in that province for the last thirty years.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A man in Wisconsin recently found a diamond ring in a bag of potato chips. We can remember the day when there was a diamond ring in every bag of popcorn.

A new electric automobile can accelerate to 100 miles an hour within 100 yards from a standing start. Just the thing for those impatient souls who honk at the car ahead of them as soon as the traffic lights turn to yellow.

After The Procession

By

THE. HON. HAROLD NICOLSON

(Noted British Author, Journalist and Parliamentarian)

I FELT SORRY, when I read the newspapers last Wednesday morning, for those of my fellow journalists whose task it had been to compose descriptive accounts of the Coronation. It is not difficult, when drawing attention to imperfections, to be critical and bright and bold: it is most difficult to describe perfection. Moreover our language —as indeed every other language— is richly supplied with words indicative of disapproval, animosity or discontent. The vocabulary available to those who wish to praise is stilted and confined. Such spontaneous adjectives as "sumptuous," "radiant," "gracious," and "solemn" had to be eliminated, since it was evident that they would be over-employed. But what other adjectives were left? There were very few other adjectives remaining in the recess of our memories. On the whole, I felt that the leader-writers, the news editors, the reporters, the columnists and the photographers did very well indeed. Their descriptions seemed to me masterpieces of sense and taste.

✧ ✧ ✧

HAD I been obliged, in the damp murk of Tuesday evening, to write an article, I should have felt that an emotional gulf gaped between the experience I had just undergone and the brisk little typewriter of my ordinary life. However studiously I might have studied the Coronation ceremony and procedure, however powerful or poignant might have been the sentences that I had elaborated in advance, I should, when divested of my State garments and seated at the familiar table, with the lamp on the left and the ash-tray on the right, have been shocked to realise that the whole business was entirely different from what I had expected.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAD FORSEEN, of course, that the ceremony would be superbly staged and that it would proceed with ordered magnificence. I had known that the service was one of deep religious significance and that priests in white and azure would move very slowly across a gold carpet holding symbols in their hands. I had attended the last Coronation and remembered all the glory and the sound. But had I been there last Tueday I should, I know well, have been so shaken by the experience that all extraordinary words would have seemed an outrage upon this strange reality, and that all ordinary words would have ceased to flow.

EVEN through the indirect medium of television, the Queen's bearing during the ceremony communicated awed surprise. Glamour, majesty and charm were what we had been prepared for; we had not expected humility. She was herself a symbol of dedication. Her very movements were stylised, hierophantic. So that we saw blue landscapes opening and golden angels singing behind her Gothic chair; so that we saw her as Iphigenia, weighted by the burden of sacrifice, walking gently from the altar to the throne. It left me and others in a mood of reverent astonishment, such as is evoked by a great work of art. That is not the mood in which it is easy for any man to write a descriptive article.

It might have marred the pleasure of the procession that followed. The anticlimax was too actual. I wished for a time that I had arranged to see only the procession on its journey to Westminster and that the final impression had been the sight of her moving down the nave. Yet I have a passion for processions; once the first white horse appeared in sight, there came all the old excitement of bands and soldiers, all the old delight in tunics and diamonds, all the private pleasure of seeing men I know looking stiff and solemn and grand. The gaiety of the wet crowd singing "I do like to be beside the seaside" became infectious. The service was over: the pageant had begun. Let us enjoy the pageant.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE STANDS from which we witnessed the cavalcade were encased and tented with coloured cloth, bearing heraldic motives upon their surfaces, with banners and pennants above them that struggled in the gale. In the half-light of these wooden pavilions the lightning from time to time flashed purple and the bayonets of the troops shone white against the darkening sky. We felt as if, on a wet December afternoon in Artois, we had gathered around the lists in wooden galleries to witness a tournament of knights. The thirteenth-century atmosphere of the service at Westminster seemed to have been transferred to the streets. There were the commons clustered in the roadway, grinning up with wet friendly faces at us whose faces were friendly but dry. Hoarse by now were the voices of those who sold striped periscopes or programmes. The hours dripped by. But in the end the great gold coach trundled slowly below us and the commons had their reward. Upon the pavements afterwards lay bunches of sodden newspapers, the discarded stones of cherries, and the husks of peanuts. The twentieth century had returned to power, our missals were laid aside. Yet I was glad indeed that I had not to sit down and write that article. I did not wish to lose the mood.

NOW that several days have passed since the occasion, I ask myself why the effervescence of emotion should still remain. In the first place, any man who has any light or life left in him should enjoy pageants. If he does not do so he should retire to some seaside resort in Iceland and write a book about the greatest of all classic bores, Athenaeus. In the second place anyone but a fool would have recognized in this celebration a pulse of unity, which in enlivening in an epoch of class consciousness. In third place, no person of any sensibilty could have failed to derive aesthetic delight from a function so exquisitely performed. In the fourth place it is most agreeable to feel sentimental in the company of all one's fellow citizens, with the sole exception of those whom one would not really wish to know or like. And in the fifth place it is gratifying to our ratner battered pride to know that no other nation on earth could organise or execute such a ceremonial without clumsiness, ostentation, or falsity; to know that we are so old, so young, that we can stage the memories of a thousand years with all the gaiety of to-morrow's birthday party; to know that the magic of our tradition is something that we share together in private; as a secret to which other countries, who may be clever or richer than we are, have no clue.

The foreign visitors who are now returning to their homes will return puzzled by the fact that the British are so very British. They will return bewildered by the sense that there must be something mysteriously in common between a sodden lump of newspaper upon a pavement and the velvet and the gold.

"NOW MIND YOUR TABLE MANNERS"

The Questions They Ask!

(From The Saturday Review of Literature)

FEW travellers from the United States who whisk through the I-couldn't-care-less customs inspections of the French or the magnificiently police-and-cursory formalities of the British have any idea what manner of inquisition is imposed on foreigners arriving at American ports. Hardly a European can resist making the appalling comparison between our entry requirements and theirs.

Anyone applying for entry into the U. S. A. must now pledge that he has never had one or more attacks of insanity, nor is addicted to narcotic drugs or alcohol, or afflicted with tuberculosis, leprosy, or any dangerous diseases.

One must attest that one is not a beggar or vagrant, that one has not been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, or been convicted of two or more offences for which he has been sentenced to a total of five years or more.

✧ ✧ ✧

TRAVELLERS must swear they are not polygamists or even advocates thereof, nor may they be prostitutes or even ex-prostitutes, or procurers or apprentice procurers, or have ever received the proceeds of prostitution.

Nobody can come to the United States to engage in any immoral act and is required so to swear. If you are a foreigner and you admit you are likely to become a public charge, the road is barred. One must not be a deporte, or a person "fallen into distress," or a former enemy alien unless permission to re-apply for admission has been granted by the Attorney General.

The visitor must affairm that he is not a stowaway, that he has not bought his visa from an illegal source, that he hasn't remained outside the country to avoid military training in time of national emergency, that he has never been convicted of illicit drug traffic, that he isn't coming over to engage in activities that would prove prejudicial to the public interest, that he has never at any time been an anarchist, Communist "or other political subversive."

By now our guests has completed 21 questions. Still, if he has not come over to engage in espionage, sabotage, an act of public disorder, or to overthrow the country, he has to say so. He must also attest to the plain fact that he is not coming merely to accompany someone who is insane, helpless, or otherwise excluded. Finally he may not gain these shores if he ever gave encouragement or aid to any alien who sought to enter the United States illegally.

Having solemnly attested to these 24 conditions and been found guilty of none, the foreigner must now dip his 10 fingers in black ink, an act which he has understood from our motion pictures is ordinarily reserved for the processing of criminal types.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE procedures have endeared the United States to few people abroad. Invoking the barest amount of imagination, one can dream of the tables being turned, and American matrons standing on a French pier and being asked (in the interests of weeding out the Communists), "Is it that Madame is entering France for the purpose of practicing prostitution?"

Ah, the cries of rage that would echo all Summer from the docks at Le Havre and Cherbourg!

Democracy

(St. John's Telegram)

Perhaps for the first time, a government sat down recently to discuss matters of policy with one of the women who clean the floors of its offices. It happened when a delegation from the Newfoundland Federation of Labour met the Cabinet in full session to discuss government policy towards labour. One of the Federation delegates was a lady who works regularly as a charlady in the Colonial Building. A striking and significant index of the time— at least so the Cabinet thought.

No Day For Golf

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

A partisan plea for appointing May 28 as "National Golf Day" was turned down by the House Judiciary Committee. Its advocate, Representative Jack Westland, of Washington, is national amateur golf champion.

National Golf Day was stymied by the argument that one day leads to another, so that other "days" might be demanded for football, baseball, table tennis or pocket billiards.

There is obviously no need for a National Golf Day. The true golfer plays his game on any day, in season or out. His big day in the year is when he breaks par, makes a hole in one; and its date cannot be determined by Act of Congress.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you, through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

And beside this giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and be brotherly kindness charity.

For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins. Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. (II Pet. 12: 2-11.)

Thou art my hiding place; thou shalt preserve me from trouble; thou shalt compass me about with songs of deliverance. Selah. (Ps. 32:7.)

✧ ✧ ✧

What time I am afraid, I will trust in thee. In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me. (Ps. 56:3,4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear. (I John 4:18.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Arthur hasn't been out one night for three weeks."

"Has he turned over a new leaf?"

"Nope. Turned over his dad's new car."

✧ ✧ ✧

A man took home a parrot as a present for his wife. "Oh, how lovely!" she said. "But why has it got a string tied to each leg?"

"Pull one and see," said her husband.

"Good afternoon, madam!" the parrot said as she pulled the string attached to its left leg. "Pleased to meet you," it responded when she pulled the string on its right

"I wonder what would happen if I pulled both strings together?" she asked, curiously.

"I should fall of my perch, you fool!" replied the parrot.

Minister Of Religion

The word minister, being simply the Latin for a servant, originally meant an officer in the Church. It slowly came to be commonly used of the great officers of State, the servants of the Crown. Long ago, when the leading laymen were landowners or soldiers, and often could not read or write, the administration, as we call it, fell into the hands of the ministers of religion, because they could read and write. In the fourteenth or fifteenth century, for example, the Lord Chancellor would be a Bishop. But as the administration passed from the clergy to the laity, the laymen who most conspicuously served the Crown were still called ministers of the Crown, while to distingish them the clergy were called ministers of religion. The separation took a long time to complete. Bishop Robinson of London was Lord Privy Seal in 1709 and negotiated the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713.

The Coronation gathers the servants of the Crown round the Sovereign. As it is a markedly traditional service, the ancient traditional ministers are there. The Bishops form the senior body. Second to them are the great officers of state, who were more powerful when the government was conducted by the Sovereign's household, and with them are mingled the leaders of the armed forces of the Crown.

The Archbishop of Canterbury is the senior person in the Kingdom after the Royal Dukes, and likewise the Bishops have precedence of the Barons. At the Homage the Archbishop comes first. The Archbishop first shall kneel down before her Majesty's knees, and the rest of the Bishops shall kneel in their places. "When the Lords Spiritual have thus done their fealty the Princes of the Royal blood do homage. After which the other princes of the realm . . . the Dukes first by themselves, and so the Marquises, the Earls, the Viscounts, and the Barons, severally in their place."

This may appear to some as unrepresentative, but it is the ancient manifestation of an ordered society, and to determine a new order of precedence in the modern state in its present stage of transition would not be easy. We all hope that the next Coronation will be many years hence, and by then some suitable aternative may have emerged, whereby the homage of many lands and peoples may be more distinctively expressed.

Revoy's Beaten By UEW In Men's Loop

Jack Crowley displayed fine form for UEW in the nightcap of Tuesday's softball league doubleheader to earn a 5-2 verdict over John Hinton toiling for Revoy Motors. It was a keen battle all the way but the shop crew, under acting coach Howie Dalton, outhit the motor lads by a wide margin and despite three minor bobbles earned a fairly convincing win. UE are now in third place, one game back of Seabrooke Motors.

Crowley scattered five hits, struck out nine and walked four, while his rival Hinton, who hurled nice ball too, was nicked for 11 bingles, whiffed 11 men and issued eight passes.

HARD HITTER

The much-feared Jack White proved UE's slugging star of the night as he staged a one-man wrecking show with the mace, including three hits for five, one a double, to drive in four runs; and he fielded well also, pulling in a honey off Red Wasson in the first after a long run. Third-baseman Bill Wood also hit three for five to match White's average on hits.

Grafstein, Jerry McGillis, Bruce Taylor, John Cupoli and Red Wasson all fielded well.

Guest Won't Row During Summer

TORONTO (CP)—Jack Guest, Jr., will not do any competitive sculling this summer.

The six-foot, six-inch son of Jack, Sr., former Diamond Sculls winner, was x-rayed Monday, but it was found that his back had not healed sufficiently to bear the strain of racing. An operation was performed last year to correct a malformation in his back which has kept him out of rowing since May 1952.

Attending the University of Pennsylvania on a rowing scholarship, the 20-year-old sculler last raced in the Stotesbury regatta at Philadelphia, May 24, 1952, winning the college singles. He hung up his shorts a few days later.

Young Guest represented Canada in the 1951 Diamond Sculls at Henley-on-Thames, but bowed out to Erik Larsen of Denmark in his first heat. He was scheduled to carry Canada's colors at the 1952 Olympics, but the back ailment prevented him from even competing at the trials.

Mounties Shade Thistles 11-10

MIMICO (CP) — Mimico Mountaineers Tuesday night won their first Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game in five starts this season, shading Fergus Thistles 11-10.

Mounties gained an early lead, then staved off a desperate fourth-quarter rally by the Thistles, who scored four goals in the final three minutes.

Mimico led 3-0, 5-3 and 8-5 by periods and appeared to have things well in hand when the visitors came close.

Ken Dixon played his first game of the season for Mimico. Bill Kelly, Don Meeke, Joe Mihilison, Pop Chard and McNeil each scored twice for the Mountaineers. Thistles' Joe Landoni rapped home six and was the only Fergus player to beat Mimico's Tomtischen more than once.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Horse players here probably would prefer to leave their shekels at picturesque old Woodbine in Toronto than at the proposed new racing plant five miles northwest of Toronto. Vern DeGeer had a recent items in the Detroit Times saying that this ultra-modern track, costing $10,000,000—yeah, 10 million—should be built within three years, with historic Woodbine absorbed in Toronto's home and property development program. Running races have become real big business in this province. Feature event Saturday at Woodbine is the $5,000 King Edward Gold Cup, an old stake, the distance being a mile and a sixteenth. A couple of dozen starters have been named for it.

Local UEW team leads the Eastern Soccer League standing with 11 points after six games, Peterborough Merchants and Kingston United are tied with nine points each, Concordia having seven, Batawa five, Trenton three, Picton two and Belleville none in five starts. A May 25 game between Belleville and Trenton will be replayed, due to a protest. UE vs. Merchants' joust of May 30 was changed to June 12 Games listed for this Saturday have been rescheduled to allow players to take in the game in Toronto betwixt Irish Internationals and Liverpool. Meaning Belleville plays Merchants on June 14 away while Concordia meets the UEW squad here on July 4. UE has scored 24 goals to date with 10 against, while Merchants have 14 for and seven against.

Just Keeps Rollin' Along

Like old man river, old man Maudsley just keeps rollin' along. We mean the veteran Scotty Maudsley, sometimes referred to as the Sailor, due to his rolling gait. At a guess, we'd say he was nudging 50 or knocking about in that neighborhood, and it is a neighborhood not overly populated with active athletes. But the Sailor is playing away again this season in the Industrial Fastball League for Woollens. Years ago he went in for quite a few sports, including hockey, football, distance running, baseball and softball. Maybe others, too. Later coached and umpired in minor ball. He was particularly good in OHA intermediate hockey and in intermediate and senior ball, being a southpaw twirler. A fine athlete who is too young to hang 'em up.

OLA senior standing as of yesterday had St. Kitts and Yorks atop with 14 points, Petes being next with 12, two up on Fergus, while Brampton, Hamilton and Mimico trailed the field. But those tailenders are starting to make it real rough for the leaders, the Petes being lucky to win in Hamilton the other night. They loaned their spare goalie, Joe Hickson, to the Tigers, and Joe almost beat them with a great net performance. Hamilton could be plenty tough here on Friday. Jim McNulty and Don Gear led scorers with 41 points in the OLA race while Ike Hildebrand of Petes had 38, one more than Kenny Croft. Pete Bradkin of Brampton led in penalties with 31 minutes, Russ Slater being next with 26. Local OLA juniors are in a four-way tie for second spot in their standing.

No Soft Diamond Touches

The diamond pace in the Lakeshore Baseball League is stepping up now as the teams begin reaching their summertime production peak. Oshawa Transporters lead the pack with a strong squad, but Lindsay (with local ex-seniors aboard) are playing real good ball lately. And Colborne has some former Belleville players on deck. Neither Whitby nor Bowmanville is a soft touch at all this semester. Our junior Liflocs have two stiff scraps coming up this week, in Lindsay on Friday and against Whitby here Saturday aft. 'Twas an unfortunate mixup at Riverside last Monday when Colborne arrived quite late, expecting a floodlight fray only to find that a twilight was advertised. Don't know what the outcome of that ballup will be yet.

Couple of keen contests run off in men's softball at the Bowl last gloaming. TPT took a 3-1 win o'er Seabrooke's for their fourth in a row to latch onto the top rung. Haddy Eakins was in oldtime slab form for the winners, while Terry Woods was good on the mound, too, but had three miscues behind him. Junior West boomed out a homer to wind up scoring in the tight tussle. Jack Crowley pitched UEW to a 5-2 victory 'gainst Revoy's, with John Hinton also fanning a bunch but giving up more hits. Jack White and Bill Wood each slammed out three for five at the platter. 'Twas fine softball. Thursday sees TPT tackle UEW, while Revoy meets Seabrooke's in the nightcap.

TPT Petes Win Close One Over Seabrooke

TPT Petes extended their current winning streak in men's city league softball to four straight Tuesday night at the East City Bowl, as they defeated Seabrooke Motors 3-1, in a hard fought opener of the regular twin bill. The victory enabled George Bennett's hustling squad to take over leadership of the loop, with four victories and one defeat as the young season waxes hot.

Haddy Eakins took over the mound duties for the hockey stars and twirled a stellar game, possibly his best in two years; he scattered five hits, struck out eight and walked but three while his mates accorded him perfect support afield. Terry Woods on the motor hill also pitched fine ball throughout, good enough to win any average game, to treat a fair gallery of fans to one of the best pitchers' duels to date. The Seabrooke meal-ticket gave up seven hits, yielding none in the final four, fanned three and walked a pair. His mates bobbled three; two in the third, when the winners scored a pair.

SCORED FIRST

Bill Sullivan's gang scored in the first when Neil Thompson, star short fielder, hammered a long hard drive off Buck Legrow's fingertips in centre and circled the bases like a hungry chicken. TPT's took the lead in the third, when Fryia reached first on a bobble, advanced on Eakins' out; and scored when Bobby Crowe smote a Woods' offering to the mid-pasture. West fanned; but Legrow was safe when his bingle found a low slinger. Then "Big Jawn" Mackness promptly singled to centre to score Crowe.

Junior West drove far over the left-field fence in the fifth for Petes' final counter; it was a terrific clout and the popular star received a big hand. A heated dispute in the ninth involving Mark Donoghue, Spinner Spencer and Umpire Leggett livened up the windup.

13 Runs Give Glamorgan Lead

LONDON (Reuters) — Thirteen runs put Glamorgan up with champion Surrey Tuesday to head the county cricket championship table.

Both teams have 56 points, Surrey having to be content with four Tuesday for a first innings lead against Northamptonshire who revived in a second innings stand.

Surrey was also seriously handicapped by the absence of the injured Lock.

Alec Bedser, England's top Bowler, took one for 105 in 35 overs. Australia's Ray Lindwall and Miller have been resting for the test since Friday.

Gloucester beat Kent to jump into third slot six points ahead of Middlesex.

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE—Danny Womber, left, managed to go the distance in Montreal Tuesday night but Johnny Bratton, at right, easily outpointed him to earn a title shot at welterweight champion Kid Gavilan. The hard-hitting and experienced Bratton went into the ring established a 7-5 betting favorite and he pounded Womber about at will.

H. Lundy Re-elected Prexy City Carpetball Loop As Winners Given Prizes

Homer Lundy was re-elected president of the City Carpetball League at the annual banquet and meeting in the Orange Hall, when presentations were made to the winners during the past season. Art Pilling was named first vice-president, Harry Clapham second vice-president, and George Gimblett Jr. secretary-treasurer. Vern Nelson entertained the gathering with a number of witty recitations. The meeting closed on an optimistic note for the success of this large indoor circuit next winter.

Winners of the league and the Hope Cup during the 1952-53 season was the Fire Hall team, consisting of Maurice Fraser, William Torrance, Don Bartley, Thomas Nice and skip Geo. Gimblett, Jr.

PLACED SECOND

Legion No. 3 placed second and the Bleasdall Shield was presented by Fire Chief R. Leonard to these players: Allan Robinson, Reg. Whitehead, Art Bromley, Art Pilling and skip Robert Ralston.

Third place was tied by Fire Hall No. 9 and Glens No. 1 on points, but the Fire Hall crew, by virtue of a greater average of four points, were presented their prize by Art Pilling. The team was: Joe Nolan, William Bloom, Ray Harrison, A. Vinette and William Sorrie, skip.

George Gimblett Sr. made the presentation to these Glens: Vern Read, G. LaPlante, William Gracie, Joe Douglas and skip H. Clapham.

The presentation of the Elsie Bennett Cup was made by Ned Heffernan to the Red Patch team: R. Findlay, Pat Gahagan, Stan Roscoe, Leo Herr and skip Mike Gahagan. This team had the best average apart from the winners.

PRESIDENT'S CUP

The President's Cup was presnted by the Rev. Douglas to the Orphans, comprised of: Ernie Holden, Fred Roberts, William Meagher, Fred Hopgood, and skip Charles Joyes. They won the elimination contest by defeating the LOL team in finals. Geo. Gimblett, Jr., made the runners-up presentation to Stan Cummings, William Wilson, Vern Nelson, Oscar James and skip Homer Lundy.

William Gracie did the honors to Adelard Vinette and William Sorrie, winners of the Gracie Memorial Cup for the doubles elimination contest. Homer Lundy presented consolation awards to the runners-up, Stan Roscoe and Leo Herr.

Marlene Two Off In English Golf

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ASCOT, England (CP)—Jeanne Bisgood of Bournemouth, England, won the Lady Astor silver tournament Tuesday for the third year in a row, staving off a spirited challenge by a group of touring Canadian women golfers.

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., plagued by putting troubles, finished two strokes behind the English golfer to take second place in the 36-hole open tournament at the swank Berkshire Golf Club. The six other Canadians finished in the first dozen in the field of 62.

Miss Bisgood put together steady rounds of 73 and 74 for a 36-hole score of 147. Miss Stewart, 19-year-old former Canadian women's open champion, had a wobbly morning round of 77 but came back strongly in the afternoon with a 72. This clipped Miss Bisgood's lead by half.

The young Canadian girl three-putted three times on the outgoing nine in the morning round. She again had putter trouble on the 18th hole in the afternoon round.

Mrs. Bromley Davenport of London was third with 152. Then came Mrs. Margaret Tod of Victoria. Her score was 81-74—155.

Mary Gay of Kitchener, Ont., had 82-79—161.

Harbert Seizes Lead In Open; Hogan Hurt, Out

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)—Melvin (Chick) Harbert seized the first-round qualifying lead in the United States open golf tournament Tuesday while the ranking favorite, Ben Hogan, suffered a back injury which could rob him of his fourth championship.

Harbert, 38 - year - old onetime "boy wonder" from Northville, Mich., split the gun-barrel fairways of the Pittsburgh Field Club with his tremendous drives to register a 32-34—66, five under par for a course record.

It was a spectacular round in a day of scrambling golf in which only five of 299 contestants battered par.

Par for the cozy and hilly Field Club course, which shared the qualifying load of 299 golfers with massive Oakmont, is 36-35—71. It measures 6,712 yards.

WRENCHED BACK

Hogan played at Oakmont. On the seventh hole he wrenched his back near his right shoulder and said a sharp pain struck him every time he made a back swing the rest of the way.

The little Texan, one man against the field, came in with a 38-39—

In second place with a three-under-par 69 at Oakmont was Dr. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, followed by Hobart Manley, Jr., 24-year-old amateur from Savannah, Ga., with a 70 also at rugged Oakmont.

Tied at 71 were Ed Furgol, St. Louis, and Smiley Quick of Los Angeles, young Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N.Y.

The defending champion, Julius Boros, didn't have to qualify.

LOSES PART OF TOE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A half inch of Curt Simmons' big toe has been amputated but the surgeon said Tuesday that no "normal function of tte foot would be impaired after the healing."

Simmons injured his left foot last week when he caught it in a power lawnmower. The southpaw pitcher of Philadelphia Phillies returned to his home from hospital Monday. He'll be out at least three weeks.

SMILE FROM AFRICA—Ingrid Rita Mills, 20 is the owner of an infectious smile that helped her win the title "Miss South Africa." She will be in Long Beach, Calif., to compete in the Miss Universe Beauty Pageant. In addition to a trip to London for the Coronation, Miss Mills also won $10,000 and a chance at being Miss Universe.

Lay Delegate Makes Report

HAVELOCK — (ENS) — H. W. Roche who along with F. J. Watson were lay delegates, to the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto of the Anglican Church, reported on that assembly to the congregation of St. John's here on Sunday. morning.

Mr. Roche said that the recommendations of the Diocesan Council for social service presented were numerous. "On the red side of your envelope you are contributing $255 to the various activities of this council and mission work this year."

Very little progress if any has been made in the matter of housing for the aged and a home for retired clergy owing to pressure of other business and financial difficulties. Due to great housing shortage and the effect that it is having on the spiritual and moral life appeals have been made to the government to consider the situation as a national calamity and emergency powers should be used to eliminate it. It was aso suggested that steps be taken to reduce the down payment to 10 per cent of purchase price and extend the period of payments over 30 years.

CLERGY'S SALARIES

Dr. E. R. Langley of Peterborough submitted a report on the stipend being paid clergy compared with salaries earned in the industrial plants and suggested that a pamphlet be issued and forwarded to all parishes as a guide in setting up fair stipends for the clergy. The minimum is now $2200 and is considerably lower than that of the Presbyterian and United Churches.

The executive committee approves a minimum in self-supporting parishes of $2200 plus travelling allowance of $300 and a rectory. The parish of Belmont and Norwood has attained this status recently.

The memorial fund to be established in the name of the late Primate Archbishop Owen has now reached its objective of $50,000 besides $3,000 to cover expenses. These funds, Mr. Roche reported, would be used to award four scholarships this year and the lectureship will be decided from year to year.

In conclusion, Mr. Roche referred to the church extension work. Through the great industrial expansion movement since the termination of the Second World War the demand for homes, churches, rectorys, and Sunday schools is far beyond the means to supply them, congregations holding meetings in homes, old halls, and buildings in the derelict stage besides giving promesory notes to raise monies to have a church. Many were the pitiful pleas presented to the Synod "to just give us a start and we will do that rest."

"Here we have a small but comfortable church to meet in, provided for us many years ago by our early settlers who were anxious for the extension of God's Kingdom. We have no debts, and are meeting our obligations fully as they come along. Have we not much to be thankful for, when we consider the small amount we return to God, compared with what he gives us", he asked.

Keene Church Marks 120th Anniversary

KEENE — (ENS) — The 120th anniversary of the United Church was observed on Sunday by well attended congregations at the morning and evening services. The guest speaker was a former pastor, the Rev. George Murray of Newburgh. The pulpit and choir loft were surrounded by baskets of spring flowers. The flowers on the communion table were placed in memory of Andrew Rennie and his son Roland. The anthems sung by the choir, under the leadership of the organist, Walter Morrow, were: 'Therefore with Joy (Semper), "Blest Me My Rock" (Semper,) "From All that Dwell Below the Skies" (Avery). The guest soloist was Donald G. Eason, of St. Andrew's United Church, Peterborough. Mr. Eason sang four selections in all "The Lord is My Shepherd," "Thanks Be to God," "How Lovely are Thy Dwellings" and "He Smiled on Me."

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, puts an end to the greatest cause of power loss. Acts so rapidly engine power is increased up to 15% after using two tankfuls or less.*

A new day in fuel for the Canadian motorist is here—a day which, for the first time, allows him to get the full power built into his engine.

Prior to Shell's discovery of TCP, the natural by-products of fuel combustion, accumulating on spark plugs and in combustion chambers caused spark plugs to misfire and the fuel mixture to pre-ignite—especially when accelerating, hill climbing or touring on the open highway.

To overcome this power-wasting, fuel-wasting condition—prevalent in the majority of cars—Shell Research discovered and developed a gasoline additive, TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP prevents these deposits from causing misfiring of the spark plugs and, at the same time, controls pre-ignition. For the average motorist, this means a power boost of up to 15%, an increase in spark plug life of up to 150%, plus an increase in miles per gallon! These facts have been established by over a million miles of standard model road testing.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is the most significant motor fuel advance since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

New and old engines benefit

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the spark plugs. But high-compression or not, Shell Premium with TCP keeps your engine working like new.

Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP.

Shell Premium with TCP acts fast

So rapidly does Shell Premium with TCP counteract the deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers, you'll feel your engine's had a tune up before you've finished the second tankful. You'll enjoy that new car pep again!

NOW IN CANADA

But only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP was originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels and until now has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Today, Shell Premium with TCP is available in this area, but only from your Shell Dealer.

Think Charles Becoming Spoiled At Extra Attention

LONDON (AP) — Is Bonnie Prince Charlie in danger of being turned into a spoiled royal brat?

The pro-Labor Daily Herald hinted today he is, and said the four-year-old heir to the throne should be shielded from his adoring public without further delay.

Roused by the latest photographs of Charles hamming it up for Coronation crowds in front of Buckingham Palace, Herald writer Hannen Swaffer wrote in a front-page article:

"Prince Charles is the heir to the throne. He is only four years old. But, either from the balcony of Buckingham Palace or from the royal cars, he already has become accustomed to seeing the British people as a cheering, adulatory throng.

"He will soon be entering the formative years of his childhood.

"I don't think it is wise that during those years he should be tempted to the feeling of self-importance which might well be induced by constant applause, handkerchief waving and hysterical cries of affection.

DELIGHTFUL BOY

"By all appearances he's a delightful little boy.

"But is it fair to him—or to the generation over which he will one day reign—to subject him to these repeated doses of mass emotion.

"The Queen and Prince Philip would certainly not wish to subject their children to demonstrations which might turn their heads.

"But no doubt they pay attention to their advisers. And—so far—the advisers have thought it desirable that the children should be prominent in the public gaze and the camera's eye.

"It is to those advisers I suggest, as a believer in our system of democratic monarchy and an admirer of our Royal Family's modesty and fine example, that Prince Charles and his sister should be allowed in the years immediately ahead to live as far as possible the lives of ordinary children."

It has indeed been a big week for Charles.

Millions of television viewers cooed at the sight of the little Prince, in a white satin suit, watching the Coronation of his mother last Tuesday from the royal gallery in Westminster Abbey.

Tens of thousands of others cheered him and his sister, in a number of personal appearances at a Buckingham Palace window on the same great day.

Monday, with thousands still milling around in front of the palace, the children appeared at the window to watch a drill by the Royal Guards. The crowds cheered wildly.

Charles, by no means unaware of his audience, tossed a snappy salute at the marching soldiers, bumped his nose on the window, and made a few faces.

Sister Anne showed up wielding a telescope almost as long as she was tall.

The crowds loved every minute of it.

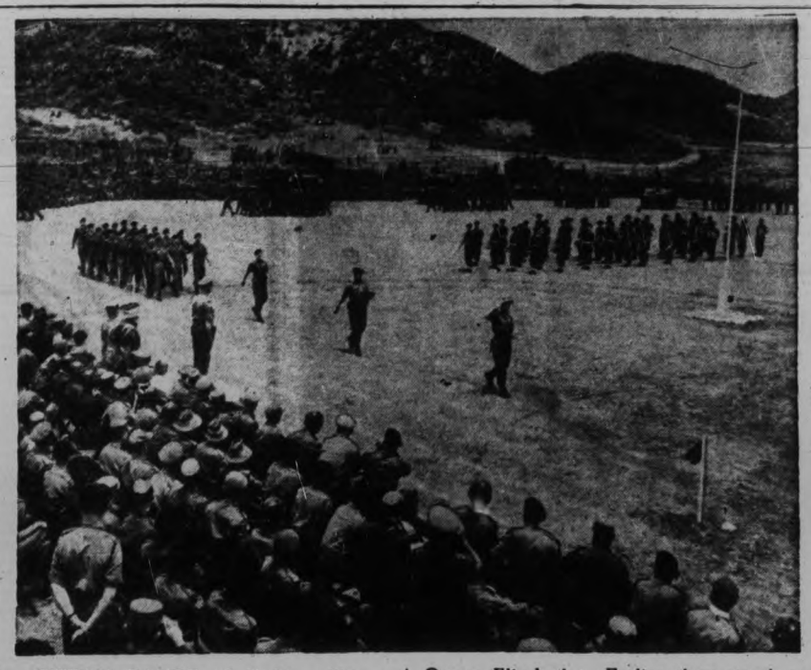
Expect Heavy Turnout Of Voters In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A heavy turnout of voters was expected today as British Columbians cast ballots in the second general provincial election in less than a year.

The weatherman called for sunny skies over most parts of the province, leading to the forecast that last year's turnout of 543,000 voters may be surpassed. Polls opened at 8 a.m. PDT and close 12 hours later.

A record 229 candidates are contesting the 48 seats at stake.

Social Credit, which held office under Premier Bennett as a minority government for seven months following the June 12 contest last year, has nominated a full slate, as have the Liberals.



CCF has 47 candidates; Progressive Conservative 39; Labor-Progressive (Communist) 26; and Social Democrats 14. The remainder is made up of Labor and independent candidates.

Per-Capita Grants To Start January 1

TORONTO (CP)—Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar announced today that provincial per-capita grants to municipalities will start as scheduled Jan. 1 despite the protests of the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves.

The grants mean rejection of the association's plea for a flat graded scale. Mr. Dunbar said the graded scale "seemed to be the fairest way."

The grants, totalling about $11,000,000, range from $1.50 a person for small centres to $4 for metropolitan Toronto.

Canadians Taking Dogs On Patrols Now

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP) — Canadians here have started taking dogs along on their no man's land patrols.

The British-trained Alsatians warn of enemy presence and lead the patrols to the enemy.

First Canadians to use a dog were from the 3rd battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment. Lieut. Robert H. Scullion of Hamilton took all the section leaders of his platoon out into no man's land on a reconnaissance patrol. Its mission was to get information on which to plan a raid.

The section leaders also were to learn the ground over which they later would be taking their men. The leaders were Sgt. Charles Saumier of Temiskamingue, Que., Sgt. Rodney Gill of Toronto, and Ptes. Henry Priddle of Toronto and Leonard Parsons of Smiths Falls, Ont.

There still are only a few trained dogs, and units can't get one at will. But the RCR's experience has sold the Canadian brigade on the idea.

Scullion reported that his patrol's work was done more efficiently in half the usual time. And the dog's sureness imparted greater confidence to him and the men.

Their British handlers accompany the dogs.

On Scullion's patrol an eight-month-old Alsatian was handled by Pte. George Ball of Leicester, England, a 19-year-old who has lived and worked with him for five months. It was the man-dog team's ninth patrol.

Ball said that only weather affects performance; rains or wet ground eliminate scent.

When scent is picked, the dogs are supposed to freeze. The handler takes a firmer grip and says "seek" if the commander wants to close with the enemy.

As the patrol draws near the enemy the dog pants quicker but, trained not to bark or whine, makes no other noise.

"The confidence you get is terrific," said Scullion later. "You can really clip along. The biggest strain on a man here is the time he spends in the valley (between the Canadian and Chinese hill-top positions) on patrol. On ordinary patrols you've got to go slowly and carefully, taking cover all the while, lest enemy groups spot you.

"It's amazing, too, how friendly the dogs are to white men, and how hostile to orientals. We were told we couldn't take Katcoms (Korean Army troops attached to the Commonwealth division) with us on patrol."

Students Learn To Swim In Three Hours

EDMONTON (CP) — Sqdn. Ldr. Scott Alexander, officer in command of the RCAF's survival training school here, has developed what is thought to be the shortest swimming course in Canada.

Although a full month is usually needed to teach a non-swimmer, Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander, a former swimming instructor, was allowed only three hours in a packed schedule to teach his survival students to swim.

He studied his problem carefully and developed a method of instruction whichwould best take advantage of the short period of time allotted. He decided beginners should be taught step by step instead of being overburdened with several points at one time.

Since classes started in September, 1952, a total of 247 non-swimmers have learned to swim in the three-hour period. Not one student has failed.

Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander first makes his students overcome the fear of water. He says it is natural for people to swim. Once this is done, the rest follows easily.

Three hours seems like a short time for a beginner to learn to swim, but few of his students need more than two.

Maritimes' Coal Miners To Honor Memory Of 1,500

HALIFAX (CP)—Coal miners in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Thursday will commemorate more than 1,500 workers who have died in and around the pits since 1900.

Parades, religious services and laying of wreaths will mark miners' memorial day observances in Minto, N.B., mining communities of Nova Scotia's Pictou and Cumberland counties and the vast coalfields of Cape Breton Island.

Thirty-eight Nova Scotians and one New Brunswick worker died in coal mining accidents last year. Nineteen died in an explosion in the McGregor shaft at Stellarton, N.S.—since sealed off — and six perished deep under the Atlantic when a blast rocked No. 20 colliery in Glace Bay, N.S.

Memorial Day, an unpaid holiday for district 26, United Mine Workers (CCL), originally was known as Davis Day in memory of William Davis, who died following a shooting incident during a strike at New Waterford, N.S. in 1925. Later the name was changed to commemorate all those who perished whiel working in mines.

UMW district president Freeman Jenkins says the occasion is significant in that it "provides thought of how great sacrifices were made to bring the union into being . . . so that the best interests and welfare of the mine employees be served."

Many problems face the industry today which could have an important bearing on miners and their jobs.

Mine operators fear that proposed Canadian National Railways dieselization in the Maritimes will mean a serious reduction in coal purchases.

Dominion Coal Company's ailing 1-B colliery in Glace Bay will close for mechanization June 13, throwing about 1,100 men out of work for at least three or four months.

Wage negotiations between the 10,000-member union and Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation are deadlocked. A conciliation board recommended that both parties waive their several demands in the interests of the industry, "whose very existence . . is in the balance."

The main services will be held at the miners' memorial in New Waterford, N.S. with members of all UMW locals in Cape Breton in attendance.

They will remember especially 65 men killed in an explosion at New Waterford's Dominion No. 12 colliery in 1917 and 21 killed by a runaway riding rake at Princess colliery in Sydney Mines in 1938.

Stellarton miners will parade from Union Hall to the miners' memorial where a wreath will be laid. They will recall the Allan shaft, where an explosion in 1918 killed 88. Seventeen years later seven were killed in a blast at the same pit. Miscellaneous mishaps brought the mine's toll of victims to more than 100 before it was sealed off.

Some Stellarton men will also remember taking part in the most celebrated of all Maritime mining incidents, the rescue of two Toronto men from the depths of Moose River gold mine in 1936. Trapped in an Easter Sunday cave-in, the pair survived for 10 days until help reached them. A companion was found dead.

Parades and services will also be held at Springhill, N.S., and Minto. At Springhill in 1891 one of the worst explosions in the Maritimes killed 125 men.

DE GASPERI VOTES—Italian Premier Alcide de Gasperi casts his ballot in Rome in Italy's third national election since the war. De Gasperi, the main hope of the middle-of-the-road parties against the Reds and resurgent Fascists, had waged a vigorous re-election campaign.

Hunsdon Airfield High In Fresh Timothy Hay

(Editor's Note: Nine years ago a young Canadian navigator was one of many flying to enemy-held Europe out of Hunsdon airfield. From that field he did his tour, one of a two-man crew credited with nine enemy planes destroyed and seven damaged and won the DFC. After the war he returned to Canada, went into newspaper work, was sent overseas by The Canadian Press to help report the Coronation. Last Sunday he made a sentimental journey to Hunsdon. His story follows.)

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HUNSDON, England (CP)—The air ministry in London had said it had no record on Hunsdon airfield. It must have been abandoned.

Not quite. As we walked from the shattered control tower through the knee-high, fresh timothy and clover toward the runway intersection, a small deer sprang from its hiding place and sprinted down the north-south runway and into a clump of trees. Two grouse whirred away, evidently angry at being disturbed.

SENTIMENTAL JOURNEY

No. 418 City of Edmonton Squadron was based here during the latter part of 194. We took a sentimental journey back to the field, 20 miles north of London, nearly nine years later, on a hot, hot Sunday.

The control tower stood stark against the landscape of gently waving hay, corn and buckwheat. A scarecrow looked like a skeleton. Nearly every pane of glass in the tower had been smashed by rocks or bullets. The sign "quiet" was still legible at the entrance to the tower centre on the second floor, splashed in red paint on a once-white cement wall. It was as quiet as death.

A few other buildings still struggled against erosion. Fertilizer was stacked in the guardhouse. Two or three primitive hangars contained baled hay, a plow and a combine.

NOW PLOWED UNDER

The operations room behind the control tower, where pilot-navigator Mosquito crews plotted their forways as far as Czechoslovakia, had been plowed under, as had all the other wooden buildings.

Weeds and witch grass have sprouted through the two runways and the perimeter track.

Most of the off-field tarpaper huts of the air and ground crews are still occupied. The movie house and sergeants' mess are the home of Herts Pharmaceuticals Ltd., a drug firm.

Down at Ye Olde Turkey Cock, the publican was even more sentimental than we over the loss of the field. The original Turkey Cock was torn down at the start of the war because it was too near the end of the runway.

QUIET SPOT

"It's pretty quiet here, now," she said as we sipped a nut-brown ale in the cool, low-ceilinged public bar. "We don't do the same trade any more, except on a few Saturday nights. Remember how you had to wait at the door to get a glass from a fellow leaving? That's the same piano where that little French chap used to lead Alouette. We had some grand times, didn't we?"

The villagers said the east end of the east-west runway still is used some days, as a car race track. Some thought the field had been abandoned because it had a bad hump in the middle of the main runway.

As we walked down the road toward the station at St. Margarets, 2½ miles away, we heard a jet streak by high over the field. We couldn't even see it.

CALGARY (CP)—For the first time here a Supreme Court judge admitted his son to the bar. William G. N. Egbert of Calgary was called to the bar before his father, Mr. Justice W. G. Egbert. The young lawyer was graduated from the University of Alberta law school last year.

OldWindjammer Cutty Sark Last Of Clippers

LONDON (AP)—A campaign has started to save the Cutty Sark, last of the true clippers, from the breakers' yards.

It comes just in time.

The old square rigger, 963 tons and beautiful even at her advanced age of 84, swings at her moorings in the Thames near Greenhithe. Near her chug the cargo tramps, tugs and lighters that now carry the commerce of the Port of London.

The Cutty Sark's paint is cracked and blistered. Her steel cables and anchor chain are rusty. Her masts and standing rigging that once towered to cathedral height, show signs of rot. The Cutty Sark is a sad sight for old shellbacks who look at her with an almost reverent gleam in their eyes.

The Cutty Sark Preservation Society, under the patronage of the Duke of Edinburgh, has appealed for £250,000 to save the ship. About £46,000 already have been subscribed or promised.

PLAN OF RECONDITIONING

The plan is to recondition and re-rig the old windjammer and place her in a permanent dry berth near the Royal Naval College at Greenwich. There she would serve as a permanent memorial to the British mercantile marine.

In the evolution of sailing vessels, the clipper was the finest and almost the last development. Ships of this type were developed first in North America. They had yacht-like lines, low freeboard and were square-rigged on each of their ranking masts.

In the middle of the last century American clippers were queens of the seas. The Cutty Sark was one of the few British ships that could compete with the Yankee clippers. She always held her own.

TEA AND WOOL TRADE

The Cutty Sark was used in the China tea and Australian wool trade during her greatest years. In 1885 she made a passage from London to Sydney in 67 days. Clippers favored by the wind often could make faster passages than the steamships of that period.

Now the Cutty Sark is all that is left of the old breed. The others —the Flying Cloud, the Ann McKim, the Nightingale and the Witch of the Waves—long ago have foundered or been broken up.

Two men who served aboard the Cutty Sark as boys are monocled Capt. C. E. Irving, 81, who now operates pleasure launches on the Thames, and Capt. Richard Woodget, 75, whose father was a famous skipper of the clipper.

Standing on the Cutty Sark's deck, Irving watched a cargo steamer go by. Then he looked aloft and said: "The difference between these two is the difference between a blunt knife and a hollow ground razor."

Had Fingers Cut Off To Get Home To Bride

GOEPPINGEN, Germany (AP)—A 21-year-old U. S. veteran of the Korean war told an army court martial today he got a German to chop off four fingers of his left hand because he yearned to be sent home to his bride of six months.

Sgt. Charles T. Curry was sentenced to two years imprisonment when he pleaded guilty to a formal charge of malingering. He was also dishonorably discharged from the army and fined $936.

The German who performed the crude amputation near the 28th U. S. infantry division headquarters, has already been sentenced to eight months in jail.

CHAT WITH THE DUKE—The Duke of Windsor (left) chats with the captain of the 3rd English Hussars Regiment Band during a garden party given by the British Embassy in the Bois de Boulogne "Bagatelle Gardens" in Paris. WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

Cubs, scouts, guides and brownies turned out in good numbers to take their places in the Coronation Day parade and made a very creditable showing.

Seventy-five scouts, rovers and their friends, including a complete muster of the 17th St. Albans' Troop attended the lighting of the Scout Coronation Beacon at Milburn's Hill on Coronation night. The beacon flames rose to a height of 40 feet in the air.

ST. LUKE'S CUBS

In a 'going up' ceremony at last week's meeting, Don Morrison, Ron Worboy and Wayne Miller took leave of their friends in the pack and went up to take their places in the troop. During the ceremony Ron and Wayne received second stars and each was presented with the leaping wolf badge.

Ron Perry received his Zulu boy neckerchief, and the following tests were passed: Neil Roberts and Bob Kent, telling time; Ron James, birds and trees; Randy Bradshaw and Jim McGowan, highway code; Keith Worboy, growing things; Bob Duder, signs and salute; Don Ebbs, signalling; Bill Bonney, highway code; Neil Roberts, Roger Mesley and Bob Kent, leap frog and somersault, and Ray Baptie, toymakers.

7th ST. PAUL'S PACK

Twenty-eight cubs turned out to the meeting. New Chum Jim Mills was invested into cubbing with his parents present for the ceremony. Ball game with Salvation Army pack didn't come off owing to bad weather. Sixers Franbley Montgomery and Richard Ward were in charge of games, "My Ship is Sailing Down the River" and "Man the Ship." The meeting closed with the grand howl led by Bill Turner. Closing prayer by Tom Coldwell.

16th TRINITY MOTHERS' AUXILIARY

Trinity Cub and Scout Mothers' Auxiliary held their final meeting for the season under the leadership of Mrs. R. Cole and her group. Dessert and coffee were served before the regular meeting opened. Plans and arrangements for the cub and scout week-end camps were completed and Mrs. E. Edmondson, president, formed a nominating committee to bring in a slate of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Chas. Spearin, the first president of the auxiliary, was made permanent honorary president.

Smallwood Owns Bow Ties Only

HALIFAX (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland claims his bow ties have been in public life longer than those worn by External Affairs Minister Pearson.

He told reporters here that he first wore a bow tie to attend a friend's funeral back in the days of commission government in Newfoundland. Today he owns no other kind.

The premier knows the value of a "trademark." He attributes his success in the 1948 campaign for Newfoundland confederation partly to his fame as the "barrelman," the name he had broadcast under for several years over a St. John's radio station.

The term is slang for a masthead lookout—and with the seafaring people of Newfoundland it went a long way towards establishing a feeling of kinship.

"Joey" Smallwood's weakness for "snappers" extends to his son Bill, a recent graduate in law from Dalhousie University here. Mrs. Smallwood says their house is always cluttered with 20 or more such neckpieces.

Norsemen of every Scandinavian region became seafarers on an unparalleled scale as early as 800 AD.

Bratton Beats Womber Easily

MONTREAL (CP)—Johnny Bratton of Chicago, seeking a crack at champion Kid Gavilan's welterweight crown, Tuesday night won a unanimous 10-round decision over Danny Womber of New York.

The fight drew only 3,575 fans and the paid gate was $10,836.

Bratton, who weighed in at 149 ½, was master of the situation all the way and had Womber in distress in the fifth and sixth rounds. Womber weighed 150½.

In the fifth, Bratton caught Womber with sharp rights and lefts and the New Yorker reeled backwards against the ropes. He came out bobbing and weaving and kept out of further trouble for the remainder of the round. In the sixth Womber made an attempt to come back and peppered Bratton with short body and head punches but midway through the round Bratton caught him with two hard lefts and a right which banged Womber into the ropes again.

The Chicagoan held a wide margin in the scoring. Judge Johnny Gow scored it 6-2-2 for Bratton, judge Rene Ouimet 7-2-1 and judge Leon Germain 8-2-0.

Womber was bleeding slightly from the nose in the fourth round from a hard right and near the end of the bout his right eye was puffed.

After the sixth, Bratton, confident he was ahead on points, fought carefully and took no chances.

Just before the end of the ninth Bratton brought Womber up with a fast right and a left and Womber, moving away from another Bratton right, slipped to the canvas. There was no count.

Offer Biggest Stakes In Fort Erie Racing

FORT ERIE (CP)—The biggest stakes program in the history of the Fort Erie race track is being offered at the five-week summer meeting which opens Friday, July 3, and continues through Aug. 12. The program was announced Tuesday.

Three $5,000 stakes and five additional stakes of $3,000 each are carded.

The Dominion Handicap, a feature of Fort Erie racing 30 years ago, is being revived this summer under the auspices of the Ontario jockey club. The 1 1-16-mile race will carry a purse of $5,000.

The two other $5,000 stakes are the Achievement Handicap for three-year-old Canadian-Breds, at 1 1-16 miles, and the Auspicious Handicap, an open race at 1⅛ miles.

Mathews, Rosen Top All Sluggers

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee Braves and Al Rosen of Cleveland Indians, a pair of long-distance swingers, are getting the most mileage out of their base hits.

Statistics calculated by The Associated Press reveal that Mathews is the National League's slugging leader with a resounding .707 slugging average while Rosen ranks at the head of the American League with an impressive .598 average.

Slugging averages are computed by dividing a batter's number of on all hits.

Mathews has found the range for 118 total bases in 167 at bats. His 55 hits include eight doubles, two triples and 17 home runs.

Rosen has accumulated 101 total bases in 169 at bats. His 55 hits include eight doubles, one triple and 12 homers.

P.G. & C.C. CHIPSHOTS

The delayed opening of the Midland League was held Saturday at the Kawartha Golf Club. The weather was ideal for golf although rain did threaten to fall early Saturday morning. The attendance was 115, a fairly good turnout considering that bad weather might cause another cancellation. However, the weatherman gave all a break and most of the boys had a good game of golf.

Kawartha golfies took most of the prizes with Fraser Dunfield leading the way with a 76. Fraser was even par for the back nine. Kawartha also won the team prize with a 316 gross.

PRIZE WINNERS

1st Flight—1st low gross, F. Dunfield (Kawartha), 76; 2nd low gross, F. Bulger (Port Hope), 80; 1st low net, J. Condon (Kawartha), 80-10-70; 2nd low net, W. Moulton (Kawartha), 80-9-71; M. Akers (Kawartha), 80-9-71.

2nd Flight—1st low gross, W. Bridgeman (Kawartha), 83; 2nd low gross, P. Makarchuk (Oshawa), 84; G. Reynolds (Kawartha) 84.

3rd Flight—1st low gross, C. Heath (Kawartha) 90; 2nd. low gross, F. Welford (Kawartha) 93; 1st. low net, P. Peel (Kawartha) 94-32-62; 2nd low net, . Mounce (Kawartha) 95-32-63.

The next meet of the season will be held at Port Hope, Saturday.

DRAWS POSTED

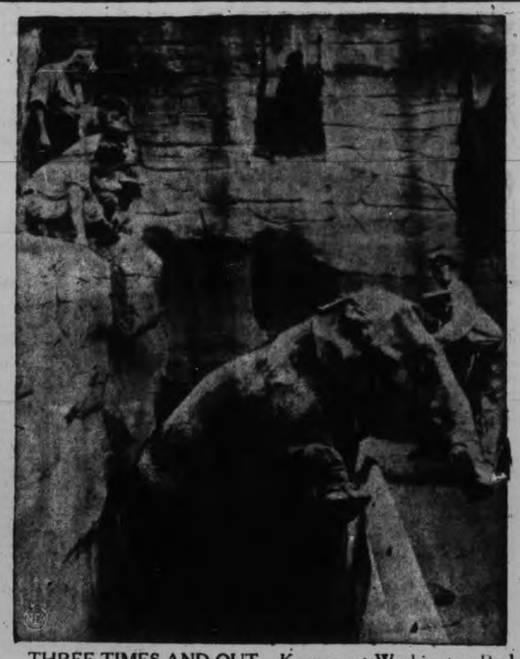
The draws for the men's two-ball foursome and the Westclox trophy are posted in the locker room, and the Bob Abbott round robin draw will be up shortly, so co-operate with the match and handicap committee and play matches within the allotted time. All defaulters will be scratched.

This is also qualifying week for the club championship. Closing date is June 16 and ayone attempting to qualify is to notify Alf Hill before going out. Summer rules are applicable and you must play with players who are also trying to qualify.

The low of 15 scores for 36 holes will determine those who qualify. They will join club champion Les Reid in the first round of match play competition and it will be knockout from then on to see who will be king of the fairways at the Peterborough Golf Club in 1953.

LADIES' PLAY

In ladies' play, last week's field day had a good turnout. In the 18-hole competition, Mrs. L. Lawrence won low net, Mrs. J. Callaghan being second, and Mrs. Dit Clapper third. Miss Lahring Parsons won low gross to take the spoon.



This week's field day was a battle with the gale. Low net was tied by Mrs. H. Baptie and Miss L. Parsons, with second low net taken by Mrs. C. R. Stacey. Low gross went to Miss Parsons, and the spoon went to Mrs. H. Bletcher for competition for the day, which was putting.

In the nine-hold section, low gross and low net was won by Mrs. C. L. Upper, and the spoon for sealed holes was taken by Mrs. G. N. Howson.

Toronto Woman Tops District Golf Play

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. J. H. Carter Tuesday won the city and district ladies' golf championship for the first time with a score of 165, finishing one stroke ahead of Mrs. T. M. Lockwood.

Five non-Toronto players played the two rounds at the York Downs course for test or practice purposes. Anne Sharp of Lookout Point topped the field with 158, picking up nine more points and practically clinching a berth on the Ontario interprovincial team with a total of 36.

THREE TIMES AND OUT—Keepers at Washington Park Zoo, Milwaukee, Wis., work to extricate Venice, a four-ton female Indian elephant, from a moat into which she had tumbled. After rescue, she appeared none the worse, but died several hours later. Zoo officials thought death was due to a heart attack rather than the fall. It was her third fall into the moat in 29 years.

TURPIN HAMMERS HUMEZ

LONDON (AP) — Randy Turpin, Britain's former world middleweight champion, Tuesday night hammered game but bloody Charles Humez of France to win back a piece of the world title on a 15-round decision.

Turpin weighed 160, Humez, 159 ½.

The 25-year-old Turpin was unable to drop the rugged Frenchman although he drew blood from cuts around his nose and both eyes throughout the contest.

At the final bell, referee Andrew Smythe quickly raised Turpin's hand in victory. Under British rules no official card is announced.

Although Britons now recognize Turpin as successor to Sugar Ray Robinson as world 160-pound champion, the European boxing union and United States boxing commissions insist this bout was only the semi-final of an elimination series. Paddy Young and Bobo Olson fight in New York June 19 for the American crown in the other semi-final.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club was at ringside with an offer for Turpin to meet the Young-Olson winner in September at Yankee Stadium in New York to setup an undisputed world champion.

Turpin held the world title for 64 days from the time he upset Robinson in London, July 10, 1951, until he lost on a 10th-round technical knockout in a return bout at New York's Polo Grounds, Sept. 12, 1951. Robinson retired Dec. 18, 1952 leaving the title up for grabs.

Time after time Turpin caught Humez with furious left-right flurries but the Frenchman, grinning back, pressed inside trying to get to his opponent's body.

Turpin threw the book at Humez, opening a cut over his nose as early as the third round. There was a slit over the Frenchman's right eye in the sixth and he bled the contest.

In the 14th round, a solid Turpin right to the chin made Humez clinch and hold. In the 13th he had been shaken by a right under the heart.

POULTON BEATS EDWARDS

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—The leading Canadian middleweight contender, Harry (Kid) Poulton, came off the canvas Tuesday night to pound out a unanimous decision over Gil Edwards, New York battler.

Poulton, a classy boxer who meets Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., in Stellarton, N.S., Saturday for the Canadian middleweight championship, showed too much style for the hard-punching New Yorker after taking a nine count in the fourth.

Both weighed 159 pounds for the 10-round bout.

Majors Beat Galt To Hold First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors held on to first place in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Tuesday night with a 10-7 victory over Galt Terriers.

Waterloo Tigers managed to break a six-game losing streak by defeating Kitchener Panthers 9-3.

Jim Halkard paced the Majors with a three-run homer in the fourth inning and had two other hits. Jerry Wilson had four hits and on his other trip contributed a sacrifice. Russ Evon had three hits.

For the Terriers, Ed Steel, the new rightfielder, showed himself as a long-distance hitter with a homer over the rightfield fence and a triple and a single for three times at bat.

Galt pitcher Jeep Jesup was the loser. He was followed by Earl Hannel and Ted Szymanski.

Waterloo's top players were third-baseman Bobby Fisher and playing anager Hank Biasatti, who scored three-run homers in the fifth and seventh respectively.

Righthander Gord Aris was the winning pitcher although he lost control in the sixth and was replaced by George Yorke. Chuck Fedoris was the loser.

Syracuse Wins Nine Of 12, Whip Red Wings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Chiefs are on the war path. The Syracuse club Tuesday night posted its ninth win in the last 12 starts, aiming at the International Baseball League leadership.

The sixth-place Cubs are only a half-game behind fifth spot, 1½ games from third and three from second place—held by Rochester Red Wings, who are 3½ games behind the pace-setting Montreal Royals.

Lefty Marv Williams, although walking seven and yielding seven hits, went the route Tuesday night to give Syracuse a 7-3 decision over the Red Wings. Outfielder Johnny Blatnick whacked a two-run, sixth inning homer, his fifth this season.

Montreal fell 10-2 to Ottawa Athletics, under a 19-hit barrage. Bill Harrington limited the Royals to 10 hits for his fourth win in seven starts. Hamp Coleman, who started for the league-leaders, took the loss—his third against a pair of victories.

BISONS WIN 16-9

Buffalo Bisons rallied from a five-run deficit to down the tail-end Springfield Cubs 16-9. The victory moved the Bisons into a third-place, three percentage points ahead of Toronto, who lost 6-2 to Baltimore Orioles.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Bisons and the fourth straight over the Cubs. The winners sent 21 batsmen to the plate in the fifth and sixth innings to harvest 13 runs on 10 hits. Frank Carswell hit a grand slam homer and Jack Wallaesa hit for the circuit with one aboard.

Ex-Leaf Jocko Thompson, Baltimore southpaw, held Toronto to only five safeties, struck out six and passed only one for his second win in as many starts.

Joe Rossi's homer in the third accounted for the Leafs' runs.

One Of Girl Victims Raped After Death

LONDON (Reuters)—One of two teen-age victims of London's "towpath sex killer" was raped after she died of multiple stab wounds.

An inquest on the two girls—Barbara Songhurst, 16-year-old waitress, and her friend, Christine Reed, 18, opened today while a special force of detectives searched for the slayer.

The girls, dragged half-naked from the Thames where they had been dumped by the killer, had 18 deep stab wounds between them.

Dr. A. J. Mant, giving evidence, said both girls died of stab wounds in the chest. Both had been sexually assaulted, Christine after death.

The two girls were last seen alive cycling home together Sunday night.

The British Grenadier Guards regimental march, words and music, was first published in 1780.

Twice Weekly Collection In 6 Cities

18 Ontario Cities Collect Garbage Only Once a Week

Only six of 25 Ontario cities are providing two collections a week in their system of getting rid of garbage.

That appears from a summary of a survey that has been prepared for the information of the city council. When it became evident to the council that the incinerator on Townsend St. would have to be abandoned, and the landfill method disposal adopted, City Clerk Outram was asked to enquire from other cities of the province about the policies of their sanitation departments.

The report is set out in four full pages which the sanitation committee of Peterborough council intend to study during the summer. It is understood that the disuse of the incinerator will also be explained to the public as a preliminary cause of the switch to landfill.

The present cities collecting garbage and ashes twice a week are Toronto, Windsor, Kingston, Peterborough, Belleville, Cornwall.

The list of cities with one collection a week includes: Hamilton, Ottawa, London, Sudbury, Sarnia, Brantford, Fort William, Guelph, Chatham, St. Thomas, Woodstock and so on.

Ottawa provides two collections weekly during July and August. Special accommodation is given to business areas, such as downtown Peterborough where a daily pickup is the established practice.

NOW ON SALARY

As a result of a meeting of the Peterborough Police Commission Tuesday, Mrs. K. I. Shadgett, police matron, will henceforth be paid by salary. Mrs. Shadgett was formerly paid on a fee basis.

THE LATEST IN UMBRELLAS has been devised by Mrs. Lillian B. Greene of Six-Point Lodge, between Apsley and Bancroft, although she doesn't know it. This week she sent two stalks of rhubarb from her garden, weighing about 2.4 ounces each. Last week she had a stalk that weighed 2.9 ounces. The Examiner photographer fashioned an umbrella with one stalk and an apron for two with the other stalk. June Laing, 146 Simcoe St. (left), holds the umbrella over Margaret Stave's head. Miss Stave, who lives at 378 Queen St., and Miss Laing model the apron which easily covers both. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Reader Interest?

"We ought to get a couple of copies of the Highway Traffic Act. Some of the boys could well afford to spend some time reading that over." This was Reeve William C. Grant's recommendation for new reading material in the Peterborough County jail. The grand jury at the general sessions of the peace that just finished reported that "worthwhile reading material" in the jail was essential. No final decision was reached by council.

Civic Employees Reach Terms On Conciliation

Tentative agreement between the city and civic employees union was reached Tuesday night after an afternoon and night session.

Terms of the proposed agreement have still to be ratified by the 95 members of Local 504, Peterborough Civic Employees Federal Union, (TLC), and these terms will not be released until after that meeting.

Harry O'Rourke, president of Local 504, said today that a meeting of the membership has been called for Sunday. It includes park department, sewage disposal, board of works and sanitation department employees.

R. V. Bradley, department of labor conciliation officer, sat in during the talks between the union and city officials.

Representing the city were Acting Mayor Douglas Miller, Alderman Rehill, Alderman Longhurst and City Clerk E. A. (Ted) Outram.

Jack Kellythorne, TLC representative presented the union brief, assisted by a union team headed by Mr. O'Rourke.

Drama Festival November 19-21

The Peterborough and district annual drama festival will be held at the Queen Mary auditorium November 19 to 21. For the first time in the five-year history of the Peterborough festival the winning one-act play entries will be the authorized entrants in the regional festival finals of eastern Ontario, which are part of the Dominion Drama Festival.

The dates of the festival were decided at a meeting of the Peterborough association held in the City Hall Tuesday evening. The association agreed to affiliate with the Eastern Ontario Drama League, and so, as chairman R. J. Bolton pointed out, is the agent of the EODL for this entire district.

To accomodate itself to the new role the association will deviate from its former practice of holding a non-competitive festival. Entrants in the November festival will indicate whether they wish to be judged competitively, for the Regional Festival finals, or non-competitively, as formerly. Thus the way is cleared for groups who wish merely to receive the expert criticism and advice of the adjudicator without thought of competition, and those who wish to be considered by him as aspirants for the Regional prize.

The new arrangment eliminates the necessity of holding a second district festival, as was done last year at Cobourg, following the successful Peterborough festival. Last year the Peterborough festival was completely non-competitive, and no eliminations could be made.

Peter McCombe was named delegate of the Peterborough Festival Association to present its views at the meeting of the Eastern Ontario Drama League being held in Kingston on Sunday. John Londerville, branch representative of the EODL will also speak for Peterborough association.

Police Satisfied Shooting Of Youth Accidental; Inquest Probably Be Held

Ballistic Experts Are Checking To See If Bullet Which Killed Manvers Youth Fired By Seized Gun

MILLBROOK (By Staff Reporter)—An inquest will probably be held soon to bring out the facts in the fatal shooting Monday afternoon of William John Smith, 20, of Manvers township. He was shot and instantly killed by a .22 calibre rifle bullet that entered his body below his left armpit and then struck his heart. The mysterious shooting occurred shortly after 1:30 p.m. Monday as Smith was repairing a hay-wagon rack, a short distance behind the barn on his mother's farm, five miles west of Millbrook.

District OPP Inspector J. A. Stringer said Tuesday that the OPP are satisfied that the shooting was accidental.

Indications are that if a charge is laid it will be one less serious than manslaughter. Inspector Louis Needham of the Criminal Investigation Bureau, who is in charge of the investigation, will confer with Crown Attorney Harry Deyman of Cobourg and Coroner Dr. J. A. Wright of Millbrook before a decision is made.

Today Inspector Needham and Constable Lyle Erskine of Cobourg are in Ottawa at the RCMP laboratories. There ballistic experts will check to see if the bullet that killed Smith was fired from a .22 calibre gun they seized from a Manvers township youth.

INQUEST LIKELY

Unofficially it has been learned that an inquest will likely be held so that all the facts surrounding the shooting can come out. This, it is felt, will dispel rumors about motives for the shooting that have been circulating in the Millbrook-Manvers district.

After the inquest—and the facts have been made public—a charge (possibly criminal negligence) could still be laid. Officials have made no comment on this.

A youth has been questioned in connection with the shooting but he has not been arrested. Meanwhile the investigation continues.

Smith was found dead beside the tongue of the hay-wagon at 2 p.m. Monday by his mother who had come out to bring him a cup of tea. It was a hot day and she knew he would be thirsty. Only half an hour before she had heard him hammering away as he worked at repairing the racks on the wagon.

Apparently he was shot dead at the exact spot where he was working.

Funeral arrangements have been made for the youth who was the only son of the former Edith May Jones and the late William Smith. Since his father died two years ago he has worked the farm for his widowed mother.

The funeral will be Thursday, 3 p.m., at the G. T. MacPherson funeral home, Millbrook. The Rev. T. Gault of Bethany will officiate at the service and burial will be in St. John's cemetery, Ida.

Police To Wear Flashes On Shoulders

Peterborough police will be sporting shoulder flashes on their uniforms in the near future if things go right.

Tuesday the police commission okayed the purchase of 250 flashes like those worn by OPP officers at a cost of $44.65 for 250. They will be bought subject to the approval of individual commission members who will have a chance soon to eye samples of the flashes.

The shoulder emblems, half moon in shape, will bear the words "Peterborough City Police."

The commission meanwhile is considering a proposal to have the department's greatcoats shortened to three-quarter length at a cost of $3 per coat.

Magistrate W. R. Philp said the men "strongly" prefer shorter coats which give them much more freedom especially on vehicle patrol duty. Chief of Police John Thompson will have one coat shortened over the summer holidays to show commission members at the September meeting.

If the sample coat turns out alright then all 38 will undergo the shortening process.

On the recommendation of Chief Thompson, Andrew Dalton who has served as acting patrol sergeant for the past six months, will be elevated to the position of patrol sergeant.

STUDENTS DISAPPOINTED

Nine hundred students of the Prince of Wales Public School were disappointed this morning when they arrived at the Odeon theatre to see the Coronation film, "A Queen Is Crowned". But due to a mixup in shipping arrangements the film failed to arrive. Instead they were shown a short film on Coronation news and will see the film another morning during the week.

Priest Leaves St. Alphonsus For Parish In Quebec City

Priest in the St. Alphonsus Parish for the past four years, the Rev. Robert Macdonald said today that he is leaving Peterborough this week to become rector of St. Patrick's parish in Quebec City. On Sunday Father Macdonald announced to his congregation that he expected to leave this week, but at that time he didn't know to what parish he would be assigned.

His appointment means he will be in charge of the English-speaking parish in Quebec City. Established in 1833, St. Patrick's parish is one of the oldest English parishes in Canada. It now includes three churches, all named St. Patrick, and consists of approximately 1,600 Roman Catholic families.

LEAVE SATURDAY

At first Father Macdonald intended to leave Thursday but his orders didn't arrive until today. He will not stay until his successor, the Rev. Raymond Fitzgerald, rector of the Redemptorist parish in Sudbury, has arrived in Peterborough. Father Macdonald expects to leave for his new parish probably on Saturday.

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Father Macdonald graduated from St. Dunstan University in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, and then later was ordained in 1931 in the Redemptorist Order in Woodstock.

Preaching and teaching, Father Macdonald had brief stays in London, Toronto, Brockville and then in 1940 was moved to Buffalo, New York.

His first charge as a parish priest was the new St. Alphonsus parish in Peterborough in 1948. Immediately he began working for a church. After visiting his parishioners and then holding a meeting, the church was started and officially opened in March, 1949.

Since then he has developed St. Aphonsus parish into one of the best Redemptorist parishes in Canada. In fact, no other parish stands higher per capita in contributions.

"It's a wonderful parish," said Father Macdonald. "It has spirit; that's what you need."

Father Macdonald devised the booster club plan to help finance the parish. This bi-monthly club, now popular among both Roman Catholics and non-Catholics in the city, helped finance the church and school besides providing funds for other parish work.

Father Macdonald's club plan has been followed by various church and other organizations, Catholic and non-Catholic, in Kingston, Vancouver, Sturgeon Falls, Quebec City, London, Toronto, Saskatoon and in the United States.

"I'd like to thank the non-Catholics for helping the booster club succeed," said Father Macdonald. "They had a very large part in its success."

Father Macdonald's activities have taken him beyond his parish. Whether Roman Catholic families or not, he has taken an active interest in needy families, especially those who have suffered some tragedy.

He played a large part in the organizing and collecting in the firemen's fund after the Zacks' building fire and most recently helped the Henry Corbin fund develop. He took an active interest in support of sports.

THE REV. ROBERT MACDONALD, parish priest of St. Alhponsus Parish, will leave this week to become rector of St. Patrick's Parish, Quebec City. Father Macdonald has been developing the new Peterborough parish since it was established in 1948. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Raymond Fitzgerald of Sudbury. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

IUE Asks Department For Conciliation Service

The International Union of Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO-CCL) have applied to the Department of Labor for conciliation services to settle their dispute with the Canadian General Electric Co., Joe Wirtz, Canadian co-ordinator, said to-day.

NEGOTIATIONS OFF

Negotiations on behalf of 42 office and salaried workers at the Peterborough plant, and another 228 at the Toronto Davenport plant, have been broken off, said Mr. Wirtz. The meeting in Toronto last Monday ended in deadlock.

Local 599 IUE bargaining agents for the Peterborough salaried workers, have made the following proposals:

1. A general salary increase of $5 a week.

Reduction of the work week from 40 to 37½ hours, with no loss of take-home pay. (The Davenport workers already have a 37½-hour week).

Five cents an hour to be paid into an equity fund. (This would be a general pool from which low paid workers would have their pay brought into line with that of the higher paid.)

4. Three weeks vacation after 10 years employment.

5. Thirty-day sick leave to be based on the calendar or contract year, not dating back to the worker's last sickness.

6. Health and welfare plan to be paid for entirely by the company. Also a contributing pension plan.

The IUE also want Remembrance Day classed as a statutory holiday with no restrictions on working the day before or day after.

The two-year contract ended April 1.

Eric May, president of Local 599, IUE, has called an emergency meeting of the membership for 8 p.m. tonight in the Labour Centre.

Goat's Beard Threatens To Envelope City

"Peterborough is just a fright" —with goat's beard, Melville Johnston, county weed inspector commented Tuesday.

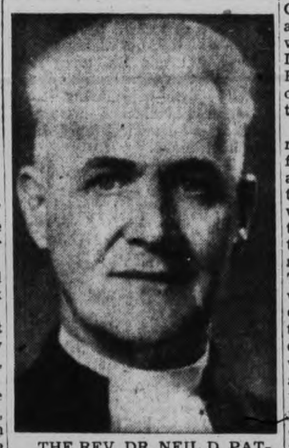
(Another patch was noticed this morning at the foot of Park St. and alongside the road.)

Mr. Johnston's concern is not so much for the city, but simply to get rid of this weed, anywhere, before it overruns the county.

"I saw that long stretch on the CNR right-of-way to Millbrook, between Lake St. and Monaghan Road. There's more of it up the Lakefield line of the CNR. In the city, this weed has been propagating fast up in the north end and in the vicinity of Armour Hill."

AROUSE PUBLIC

Mr. Johnston says his job includes arousing public attention to goat's beard. It travels fast, "and if we all don't do something it will overrun the county. The city can help by stamping it out in their borders."



It grows several feet high and looks like an elongated dandelion.

"Trouble is few people know it," the county inspector said. "We can't get much action until it is generally recognized."

City Council appoints City Engineer Chalmers weed inspector He reported several weeks ago that he had laid out a campaign of spraying in the north end, but frequent rains held up that effort.

What Mr. Johnston is trying to tell the city folks is that this is one phase of weed control in which they can help. If goat's beard is not stamped out in the city, the urban centre can become a source of contamination for the rural parts.

So, the common enemy in its phase of flowering these days is the "beard."

THE REV. DR. NEIL D. PATTERSON, who has been called by the congregation of Mark St. United Church, will conduct his first service in Peterborough July 5. He comes to this city from Wellington St. United Church, Brantford, and succeeds the Rev. B. S. Morwood who leaves this month for Trinity United Church, Kirkland Lake.

Ernie Victor Leads New Port Hope Band

PORT HOPE.—Ernie Victor of Peterborough has been hired by Port Hope town council to form and act as bandmaster of the Port Hope band.

Mr. Victor, one-time bandmaster of the Peterborough Salvation Army Boys' band, will conduct rehearsals each Monday night. Town Councillor R. Everson thought it possible the band might be able to conduct one or two concerts before the end of the summer.

Kicked By Cow Aged Man Hurt

Charles Goodman of RR 2, Port Hope, is in critical condition at Civic Hospital today as a result of injuries received Sunday when he was kicked by a cow.

The 78-year-old farmer was first treated in Port Hope for head injuries and sent home. Tuesday, however, he was brought to Civic Hospital to undergo treatment.

According to Mrs. Goodman, the couple had been tying up cows in the barn Sunday morning. She stepped around behind the animals and saw her husband lying in the gutter.

"At first I thought he was gone," she said, "but he moved and so we took him to the doctor." Goodman was in a semi-conscious condition throughout the day, but on Monday he revived sufficiently to tell his wife: "I was kicked by a cow."

The Goodmans have a herd of 10 cows.

PASS ZONING BYLAW

Woodstock council passed a zoning bylaw, for city planning, Monday night. A set-back clause was amended "so that the set-back of 20 ft. may be increased or decreased in built-up areas to conform with existing adjacent buildings farthest from the street line." Peterborough entertained a somewhat similar ideal, of shallower setbacks, but it ran into so much opposition that it was dropped. And, the bylaw has not yet been passed. Woodstock still needs the approval of the Municipal Board.

Forty Quebec Ounces—Thats' A Lot But Innocent Visitors Hit The Wrong Spot

COBOURG (ENS)—Four "innocents abroad" or, to be a little more specific, four Cobourg ladies whose identities must remain a secret, were on a recent trip which took them into Quebec.

Since Ontario liquor stores dispense only 26-ounce bottles, one of the ladies thought it would be appreciated by her husband if she brought him home that rarity, a 40-ounce bottle of rye. So they pulled up to the curb of a small town main street and asked a bystander where the liquor store was.

The man's acquaintance with the English language was quite limited but, by means of sign language that would have been a credit to Pocohontas, they finally got him to understand that they wanted to buy a bottle of liquor.

He pointed down the street and indicated the necessary turns that would have to be made. They were just about to resume their course when another man stepped over to the car and said: "This man you were talking to doesn't understand you, I am afraid. I know English pretty well. All he understands is that you wanted to buy a bottle of liquor.

"But we are what you call a dry town and we have no liquor store and this man, he was sending you to the bootlegger."

And so the husband of the lady in question didn't get his 40-ouncer of liquor but he got a hearty laugh out of the situation when his wife told him about it.

Shuffle Moves Wilgress, Wrong, Heeney

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson announced three top appointments Tuesday in a major shuffle in his department.

H. Hume Wrong, ambassador to the United States, becomes undersecretary of state for external affairs.

L. Dana Wilgress, undersecretary of state, becomes Canada's permanent representative to the North Atlantic council and representative to the office of European economic co-ordination.

A. D. P. Heeney, at present in the post taken over by Mr. Wilgress, succeeds Mr. Wrong as ambassador to the U. S.

Mr. Pearson said in a statement that the changes will take place at the end of July and the beginning of August although Mr Wrong will not take up his new duties until Nov. 1.

Mr. Wrong, 58, is a native of Toronto and a graduate of the University of Toronto and of Balliol College, Oxford. He joined the diplomatic service 26 years ago.

STARTED IN 1914

A native of Vancouver, Mr. Wilgress, 60, was educated in Japan, Vancouver and at Montreal's McGill University. He joined the trade department's commercial intelligence service in 1914, becoming its director in 1932 and the trade department's deputy minister in 1940

He became Canadian minister to Russia in 1942 and ambassador to Russia in 1944. In 1947 he was transferred to Switzerland as minister and in 1947 to the United Kingdom as high commissioner. He returned to Ottawa in 1952 to become undersecretary of state.

Mr. Heeney, 51, was born in Montreal. He won a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford from the University of Manitoba and later received a bachelor of law degree at McGill. He practised law in Montreal from 1929 to 1938.

He joined the government service in 1938 as principal secretary of the prime minister's office. From 1940 to 1949 he was clerk of the Privy Council and secretary to the cabinet.

Mr. Heeney joined the external affairs department as under-secretary of state in 1949 and was appointed in 1952 to the North council and to the office of European economic co-operation.

TO GERMANY — Col. F. D. Forbes, 46, of Sydney, N.S., will take over as military attache to West Germany late in July. He succeeds Col. J. M. Haughton, 36, of Toronto, who returns to Canada to attend the national defence college at Kingston. He was promoted to colonel in 1950 and named commandant at Fort Churchill, Man. In 1951 he was named to his present position as director of infantry at army headquarters, Ottawa.

Manitoba LPs Continue Easy Re-election

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba's Liberal - Progressive government continued its romp to re-election today as each of three parties elected another member in late returns Tuesday.

Liberal candidate W. H. Wightman won the riding of Assiniboia on the third count followed by A. H. Mackling, CCF standard-bearer.

In Winnipeg South, a four-member constituency under the proportional representation system, the CCF leader and Progressive Conservative member were added to the Liberal and Progressive Conservative elected on the first count.

Treasurer Ron Turner is the only government member in the riding. He was joined in victory on the first count by Conservative Duff Roblin. CCF leader Lloyd Stinson was elected on the sixth count followed by Conservative Gurney Evans on the seventh.

AHEAD BY 15

The latest party standings:

LP	25
Doubtful	11
PC	10

Manitoba uses the proportional representation and single transfer systems of voting. Votes are transferred on successive counts until candidates in multi-member constituencies reach a pre-determined quota or a candidate in a single-member constituency has a clear majority.

The counting in three multi-member urban constituencies remains to be finished. They are St. Boniface, where results are expected today, Winnipeg Centre and Winnipeg North, where only first counts are complete.

Although first counts were not decisive in all cases, the Canadian Press trend analysis indicates members elected in all but three rural single-member constituencies. They are Gilbert Plains, Fairford and Iberville.

INDUSTRIALIST—James Stanley McLean was appointed president of Canada Packers, Limited, in 1927 after the corporation was formed of three competing companies. He had started with one of the firms in Toronto as a $12-a-week bookkeeper in 1901. Known as a hard-driving industrialist he had a fondness for painting, music and scholarship and owned the largest collection of Canadian canvasses in the world. For years he footed the annual deficit of the left-wing Canadian Forum, although often he disagreed with the contents of the magazine. He was born on a farm in Durham county, 60 miles east of Toronto May 1, 1876. In 1912 he married Edith Flavelle, niece of the late Sir Joseph Flavelle.

Municipalities Press Lindsay Pay Extra Mill

LINDSAY (ENS).—The rural municipalities of Victoria County are continuing to complain at Lindsay's refusal to pay the extra mill towards the maintenance of the district high school area.

The town council of 1950 agreed to pay an extra mill, as an inducement to the entry of rural municipalities surrounding the town. Two previous councils paid the bill, but this year's local body refused to do so, even when offered a compromise setting the payment on the 1950 assessment basis.

Members of the high school board argued that the town was not right in flatly refusing to pay the mill but should have asked for arbitration of local assessors. The various municipal councils at their June meetings, just over, discussed the question.

With only one exception, a survey at county council showed the rural groups expressed protest at the town's action, questioning its legality and urged the town to follow what they called the "proper" course in fighting the assessment. Further action is expected at the June meeting of the high school board.

Appeal Court Frees Man On 15-Year Term

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Tuesday acquitted Norman Quinlan, 42, of Windsor, who was sentenced to 15 years in penitentiary last February for attempted bank robbery in Windsor last November.

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel the trial judge, described Quinlan as the "mastermind" of a gang that handcuffed 22 bank employees, then fled when two Brinks Express Company messengers approached.

At the appeal court hearing, Crown counsel C. P. Tope said "there is no case against Quinlan."

Walkwods Win Fifth Straight Game 6-3

LINDSAY (ENS).—Walkwoods won their fifth straight game in the eastern section of the Tri-County League Tuesday night, defeating Bolsover 6-3 in a nine-inning game.

Doc Gleeson pitched three no-hit innings for the winners before he was lifted from the game and Garf Teel finished for the homesters.

Walkwoods have now won three games from Bolsover, a new entry in the league this year, and two from Bobcaygeon. Hal Williams, last year Walkwood's best pitcher, has been sent back down to them by Andy Widdis of the Lindsay Merchants, and he should strengthen the team considerably for the rest of the year.

Two Air Cadets To Receive Special Awards

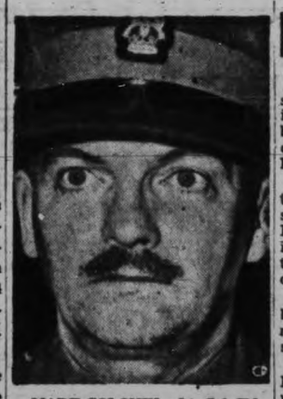
Of the 408 air cadets in Canada who have been selected for special training awards, two are members of the City of Peterborough Air Cadet Squadron, No. 534 (RCAC). They are Flight Sergeant W. B. Cruikshank and Sgt. James Ridyard Jr.

More than 25 per cent. of the cadets chosen for the awards are from Ontario. Besides the Peterborough boys are two cadets from Port Hope, R. D. Colborne and C. Anstis.

Chosen from more than 18,000 air cadets in 238 quadrons, the award winning youngsters have qualified for pilot's courses, leadership training and goodwill exchange trips to the United States, Britain and the continent.

COURSE AT BORDEN

Sgt. Ridyard has been awarded the seven week course at Camp Borden, beginning July 7. This course is a senior leaders' corps from which the Canadian drill team will be selected for international competition.



Last year, Marshall Weir represented the Peterborough squadron in the international drill meet.

Ridyards' course is primarily devoted to leadership. There is no actual flying instruction but there will be flights from one place to another throughout the summer. Instruction will be given on drill and various air force trades.

PILOT'S COURSE

Flight-Sgt. Cruikshank has been awarded the pilot's course at Oshawa. This four-week course, also beginning in July, gives the cadets sufficient time for a private pilot's licence. There is also instruction given in a ground school on navigation, theory of flight and other subjects required for the licence.

This Saturday 30 Peterborough cadets will visit Trenton RCAF Station and will be taken on a flight over Peterborough in Dakota-type planes. About a month ago 60 cadets went to Trenton but only 30 could go up in a morning flight and bad weather closed in during the afternoon, cancelling the second flight.

Ridings Merge, Liberals Won't

VANKLEEK HILL (CP)—One of two Liberal associations in the consolidated Glengarry-Prescott riding Tuesday night nominated Raymond Bruneau as its "official candidate" in the forthcomino federal election.

Mr. Bruneau, Liberal member for Prescott in the present Parliament, received unanimous support at a nomination meeting.

The other Liberal association in the riding has scheduled a meeting for Thursday night. It is expected to nominate W. J. Major, present Liberal member for Glengarry, as its "official" candidate in the federal election.

Prescott and Glengarry were merged last year into one riding for the federal election. Members of the two separate Liberal organizations have refused to combine.

Large Bus Lines Using Diesels

NEW YORK (AP)—Hop aboard a bus in almost any large city today, and chances are you'll be riding in a vehicle that burns diesel oil.

Cost-conscious transit companies caught in a tightening squeeze between mounting operational expense and public resistance to fare increases, are looking to cheap diesel fuel as a way out.

Diesel buses are gradually replacing their gasoline - powered counterparts in big-city transportation systems, transit experts say. Manufacturers' statistics show how the trend is going.

From 1945 through 1947, new gasoline buses sold outnumbered diesels by more than two to one. In 1948 it was nip and tuck. Since then, diesels have dominated. Of the 12,245 new buses purchased by U.S. transit companies from 1948 on, 4,100 were powered by gasoline, 845 by liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) and 7,300 were diesels. (Trackless trolleys — rubber-tired vehicles which derive their power from overhead electric wires—are not included in the computation.)

LPG has been found an economical fuel in cities near natural gas fields where the cost of transporting the bottled gas is low.

"Do the men get good pay?"
"Yes, at Inco even a beginner makes good money. As time goes on there are chances for working into better and better jobs. In addition, employees receive medical and hospital care for themselves and families at very low cost to them. Pensions are paid to employees who retire or are disabled and these are paid for by the company. So you see Inco is a real good place to work."

Rain Slows Down Ontario Farm Conditions

TORONTO (CP)—Rain continued to retard farming conditions over most of Ontario last week, an agricultural department bulletin showed today.

Most counties in western Ontario reported seeding had not yet been completed. The pastures are good.

In Dufferin, where practically no progress has been made during last week, three townships have yet to sow 40 per cent of the spring grain. Gray, Halton, Huron, Peel, Perth and Waterloo haven't completed their seeding.

In the southern region, Brant, Elgin, Haldimand, Kent, Lincoln, Oxford, Welland and Wentworth also have yet to complete seeding. Norfolk had some dry spells and farmers had a chance to plant corn. Norfolk farmers are planting a larger acreage to soybeans.

Ontario county reports spring grain in general showing well in growth. Farmers here and in Prince Edward and Victoria had difficulty with corn planting because of wet weather.

SEEDING DONE

Eastern Ontario has completed most of its seeding. Carleton has some corn, buckwheat, late potatoes and turnips to put in. Pastures and growth are good.

Dundas has completed seeding of spring grain with the exception of some of the lower sections. Orchards have suffered from rain and frost.

Lennox and Addington county is reporting a number of calf losses due to scourers. Renfrew had its drought situation relieved by heavy, three-day showers but frosts did some damage to garden crops.

Northern Ontario counties have progressed well with seeding. Algoma, Cochrane South, Cochrane North, Kenora, Nipissing, Rainy River, Temiskaming and Thunder Bay have all done well with planting.

Warmer weather is needed in Algoma and a shortage of hay and pasture in Cochrane South is causing a loss of weight in cattle.

Living Costs Up In Three Cities

OTTAWA (CP)—Living costs rose slightly during April in three regional cities, but declined in six others, the bureau of statistics reported today.

Costs edged ahead in Montreal, Edmonton and Vancouver, but eased in Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Halifax, Saint John, N. B., and St. John's, Nfld.

Rents advanced in seven cities—all but Halifax and Winnipeg. Coal prices were lower in Saint John, Montreal and Toronto. Edmonton reported high bread prices. Telephone rates were higher in Halifax and Vancouver.

Prices of fresh pork and eggs were generally stronger while butter, beef and fresh vegetables were lower in most centres, the bureau said.

The cost-of-living indexes, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, for the nine regional cities on May 1 with April 1 levels in brackets:

Vancouver 187.3 (187.2); Edmonton 176.6 (176.4); Saskatoon 182.2 (182.5); Winnipeg 176.4 (176.9); Toronto 180.9 (181); Montreal 188.3 (188.2); Saint John 180.2 (180.5); Halifax 172.6 (173.3); St. John's 101.1 (101.5). The index for St. John's is based on June 1951 prices equalling 100.

WORLD CONFERENCE

Mrs. Staples stated that the Associated Country Women of the World conference will be held in Toronto, August 12 to 23, with 26 countries represented.

Canada Day, on August 21 in Maple Leaf Gardens, with its dramatic and colorful pageant, will be above all expectations.

The prime minister, Hon. Louis St. Laurent, will give an address. Canada Day will run from 1.30 p.m. until 9.30 p.m. All attending are asked to take a box lunch to save confusion at the supper hour. There will be no reserved seats.

A dollar is requested from each branch to help finance the "Home and Country" circular. Mrs. Staples said in her report on the Canadian mental health penny sale that $5,700 had been realized.

The FWIO is to sponsor a tent at the international plowing match in Cobourg this year. She asked that all resolutions sent in be specific.

EXHIBITION PLANS

Mrs. Joseph Moore introduced Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, Burleigh Falls, who, as director of the women's division of the Peterborough Exhibition, briefly outlined the exhibits and arrangements in the Women's Institute section.

Mrs. Fraser mentioned that she is a niece of the founder of the institutes, Adelaide Hoodless, and that her mother and Adelaide Hoodless went to England and received the charter for the institute from Queen Victoria's own hand.

Twelve branches in the district will compete at the Peterborough Exhibition. First, second and third prize winners will display their exhibits at the 1954 district annual at Warsaw.

The three artists, Arlene Nimmons, pianist; Steve Staryk, violinist; and Ralph Roose, baritone; all from Toronto, performed in a manner to show that they are all talented musicians who have made a good start in professional careers.

Ralph Roose, opened the program by singing, It is Enough, from, Elijah, by Mendelshohn. The second and third selections in his first group were, Del Mio Dolce Ardor, by Gluck, and, I Heart a Forest Praying, by De Rose.

SINGING SEEMS EFFORTLESS

This young baritone has an ample and solid voice for concert work and can produce a splendid body of tone when required. His singing seems effortless and always there was good attention paid to ennunciation. At times, his performance was not quite musically convincing. This was particularly evident in his first group when his singing seemed to fall short of the emotional demands of the selections. This was also true of his singing of the arial, Cortigiani Vil Razza, from Verdi's opera, Rigoletto. However he came back to redeem himself in his final appearance of the program and sang, Roadways, by Lohr; Myself When Young, by Lehman, and, Song of the Open Road, by Malotte, with more warmth and sincerity.

The Brahms Sonata Opus 10, No. 3 as played by Steve Staryk, established immediately that this young artist is a brilliant and sensitive violinist. He displayed splendid technique and quite adequately met the demands of this impressive work, and always produced a warm, rich and controlled tone on his instrument.

This artist's second and third appearances on the program reaffirmed first impressions of his ability. His final number, Concerto Opus 35 (Allegro Vivacissimo) was also an impressive feat of technical skill, as was his unaccompanied playing of Paganini's Caprice.

The pianist of the evening, Arlene Nimmons, is to be complemented both for her ability as a solo performer and as an accompanist. Her competence as an accompanist did much to enhance the performance of both Mr. Staryk and Mr. Roose.

Miss Nimmons chose the Schubert Sonata Opus 120 in A to open her part of the program. Here too, was good mastery of technique and mature approach to interpretation. Particularly impressive was the lovely singing tone she achieved in the Andante movement.

A group of three Chopin compositions, Etude No. 12, Berceuse, and, Bellade in G. Minor, was Miss Nimons second and final contribution to the program. Her command of her instrument fell a little short of the extreme technical demands of the Ballade, but any failings in this respect were more than compensated for by the vitality and spirit of her playing. Especially enjoyable was the pianist's direct and relaxed approach to her instrument. There were no affectations or mannerisms in her performance which too often mar the performance of young artists.

Trade With U.S. Hits Peak, Deficit Larger

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's trade with the United States swelled to a peak in the first quarter of 1953, the bureau of statistics reported today.

But a sharp jump in imports increased Canada's traditional deficit to the highest first-quarter level in six years.

Total trade with the U. S.—both imports and exports—rose to $1,338,000,000 in the first quarter from $1,245,600,000 in 1952.

Exports increased to $574,900,000 from $551,600,000, while imports jumped to $763,100,000 from $694,000,000.

The heavier concentration on imports boosted Canada's adverse balance in American trade to $188,100,000 in the first quarter, up from $142,300,000 in the similar period last year and the biggest since the $203,200,000 deficit in the first three months of 1947.

The big deficit in U. S. trade was the main factor in an overall $84,100,000 adverse balance in trade with all countries, a reversal of the $85,700,000 surplus in the first quarter of 1952.

Dairymen Study U.S. Import Bans

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's dairy industry plans to make a detailed study of latest moves in the United States to restrict imports of dairy products.

W. K. St. John, secretary-manager of the national dairy council, said today the matter will be taken up at a meeting of the council's board at the Seigniory Club, Que., next week.

The board, representing all segments of the dairy industry, will also study the outlook for production and sale of dairy products in Canada and look into the results of a research project on nutritional fats.

Dairy officials are particularly concerned over the latest U. S. government move in which President Eisenhower proclaimed tougher import controls to go into effect next July when current restrictions may be terminated.

Returning here from a four-day checkup by doctors in a New York hospital, the Ohio senator hobbled on to the Senate floor on crutches.

The Taft announcement caused a minor sensation among senators and colleagues because of the key role he has been taking in the Eisenhower administration.

Belleville Cheese Exchange Opens

BELLEVILLE (CP)—More than 19,000 boxes of cheese were sold here Tuesday as the Belleville cheese exchange resumed operations following a federal government announcement guaranteeing an initial price of 24 cents a pound and an end price of 30 cents for all Ontario cheese left over in October.

W. O. Coon of Elgin, president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, said he thought the initial 24-cent price and the 30-cent end price was fair as guaranteed by the government.

"It's the best offer we could get from the government," he said "and I hope the factories will accept it."

The government, in addition to guaranteeing a 24-cent starting price and the 30-cent end price for 1953 surplus, also agreed to buy up all 1952 surplus cheese.

August Election Would Cut Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—An August election would cause tens of thousands of Canadians to be disfranchised or greatly inconvenienced, George Nowlan, national president of the Progressive Conservative party said Tuesday night.

Mr. Nowlan, member of the Commons for Annapolis - Kings, spoke in an address prepared for delivery on the CBC's political free time series.

Mr. Nowlan said August is vacation time generally for Canadians. Reports of an election in that month, he said, indicated the government was showing to the voters the "same bourbon mentality" it displayed towards Parliament.

Speaking of the Liberal government's record, he said it was one of "waste, extravagance, inefficiency, arrogance and a determined effort to conceal the results from the House of Commons and the Canadian people."

Under the present government, he said, the power, authority and prestige of Parliament had "sunk to a lower level than ever before in our history."

207-Foot Incline And 19 Lift Locks Between Montreal And Kingston

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—For a leisurely trip there's nothing like travelling up the St. Lawrence river canal system aboard a Great Lakes freighter provided you're not a member of the crew.

In that case you'll likely be too busy winching the boat into the narrow locks or shovelling coal to enjoy the scenery.

On its first trip from Montreal to Fort William this year the SS Fernie spent 40 hours covering the 180-odd miles to Kingston, Ont. before entering Lake Ontario. That's an average of 4½ miles an hour. Even in open, motionless water, the Fernie seldom exceeds 10 knots. The vessel's coal consumption is at the rate of 12 tons every 100 miles.

TOUGH CLIMB

Time is a big consideration in climbing the 207-foot incline from Montreal to Kingston—time and 19 lift locks. But, snail-paced or not, vessels like the Fernie last year between April and December carried a record 17,738,515 tons through the Welland canal that link Lake Ontario with Lake Erie.

The Fernie, one of 52 Canada Steamship Lines vessels, carried on the trip a 1,500-ton cargo: everything from sugar and building supplies for Fort William and an English-made automobile for Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to oil-well equipment for Calgary. Much of her cargo was destined for points west of the Lakehead, going from there by rail.

On her return the 259-foot-long Fernie, named after the British Columbia mining town, carries grain. She can haul about 70,000 bushels of wheat. On deck she may have newsprint, or automobiles from factories in Windsor. She averages about 16 round trips every season, some 40,000 miles and requires a 24-man crew, plus captain, to keep her under way.

She's manned by men like Eucher Desgroeseilliers, 51-year-old French-speaking Canadian from Cascade Point, Que. He's been a St. Lawrence pilot for 28 of his 38 years on the big river and he spends the shipping season guiding Canada Steamship Lines boats like the Fernie through the currents and channels between Montreal and Kingston.

Capt. John P. Kimmerly, 53, of Owen Sound, Ont., who's been a Great Lakes seaman for 36 years, steers the Fernie through the canals and into the locks. Then, from Kingston, he charts her course through the lakes to Fort William.

SHOT-GUNS AND JOKES

He's used a shot-gun to drive off strikers who boarded his vessel in the Cornwall canal back in 1948, but he'd just as soon discuss the trip—by automobile—he and his wife plan next winter, or kid the second mate, Mike Taylor, 26, of Port Colborne, Ont., about all the money he's making.

There's something to the captain's kiding, too, for Mr. Taylor earns $292.50 a month, room and board. The captain's salary runs between $4,500 and $5,000 yearly and even a deckhand on his first boat like Robert McKenzie, 17, of Bras Dor, N.S., starts at $190 a month, plus a bunk in a cabin with three others and whatever the first cook, Nick Ogg of Owen Sound, has on his menu, which may include inch-thick pork chops or a tender steak.

The men work eight hours a day, in a split shift—four hours on, eight off. They get time off only when convenient while in port.

The porter, Lee Button, and his wife; Mary, the second cook who spent the last three years in Regina, want to save and buy a farm. Fireman Neal Howe, 31, of Toronto said maybe he should have stayed with the Northern Alberta Railway. There he had only one firebox to fill. On the Fernie he's got three.

Even Onesiphore Menard, the tall, taciturn first mate, also from Cascade Point, figured being a newspaper man, even, was better than working on the boats.

But how does he spend all his spare time? Studying the river's currents and channels for the day when he will be a pilot, too.

TLC Asks Gov't Provide Polls

OTTAWA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will ask the government for special polling arrangements for those attending its annual convention if the federal election is called for Aug. 10, a TLC officer said Tuesday.

The reported polling date coincides with that of the TLC convention here, expected to be attended by about 600 delegates from all provinces, many with their wives.

Gordon Cushing, TLC general secretary-treasurer, said the TLC plans to ask for advance polling privileges or other arrangements for both delegates and their wives if the election is called any time in the week of Aug. 10. The convention of the 558,000-member congress runs all week.

Under the Canada Elections Act only a few classes of civilians can vote in advance polls if they are to be out of their home constituency election day. These are commercial travellers, fishermen and those in transportation jobs.

Crusader Spends Busy War Day

ABOARD HMCS CRUSADER (CP) — The Canadian destroyer Crusader spent a busy day recently in Korean waters.

In the morning she was out with a carrier force.

In the afternoon one of her crew, LS. Laverne Luther of Port Arthur, Ont., came down with an acute attack of appendicitis. The wardroom was cleared and Surgeon Lieut. John Simpson of Collingwood, Ont., carried out a successful operation.

Half an hour later an urgent message came in directing Crusader to the defence of an RoK minesweeper under fire from shore batteries. At high speed the Crusader cut through a maze of fishing vessels, and from 18,000 yards range her 4.5-inch guns silenced the batteries.

The same night she was back on inshore patrol.

The Crusader was in a similar action last October when she saved HMAS Anzac from shore fire.

Timlin-Minifie Wedding

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)—Large white baskets of tulips, snowballs, spirea and ferns, with white satin ribbons designating the guest pews formed the effective setting in St Paul's United Church, Coldsprings, on Saturday for the wedding of Eunice May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Minifie, to Lloyd Ross Timlin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Nixon Timlin, all of Coldsprings.

The Rev. P. C. Brown of Oakland, a former pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. Miss Loreen Linton of Harwood was organist and Miss Barbara Bates of Hamilton was soloist. She sang "Because" before the ceremony and "I love you truly" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of white nylon net and imported lace over white slipper satin. The bodice of lace fell softly in scallops over the full net skirt and formed a scalloped dropped neckline, filled in with net and finished with a lace Peter Pan collar. Her full length veil of hand-embroidered tulle illusion fell from a lace Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls and lily of the valley. She carried a white prayer book with white gardenia and white streamers.

Miss Viva Minifie was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Lorene Timlin and Miss Royetta MacLean of Toronto were bridesmaids. They wore identical floor-length frocks of nylon net over taffeta in yellow, green and shrimp shade. The scalloped portrait necklines had dropped, tiny puffed sleeves of lace. The two-tiered nylon net skirts had two lace insertions down the front. They wore matching hats with seed pearl trim and nylon mittens. Each carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern.

Janey Moran of Cobourg was flower girl and wore a pretty dress of orchid taffeta with matching net overskirt which was scalloped to touch the floor. She carried a small nosegay of spring flowers.

Groomsman was Harold Taylor and the ushers were Roy MacLean of Camborne and Leslie Minifie.

Eighty guests attended the reception held in Coldsprings hall. The bride's mother received, wearing a petal pink dress of crepe with lace insertions with which she wore navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother assisted, dressed in powder blue crepe and lace, and wearing navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

For going away the bride donned a sky blue nylon marquisette dress, topped with a natural Kashmir shortie coat. She wore pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

After visiting points in United States the couple will live at Coldsprings.

Should Cultivate Good Posture

Good posture is important to children and adults. As youngsters grow, they should be taught to walk and stand without shuffling or slumping. Dropped head, round shoulders and back, flat chest and protruding abdomen in adults may be the result of faulty posture when young. This is more easily prevented than corrected. Children should be given plenty o outdoor exercise but not allowed to become fatigued from overactivity. They should be trained to sit erect when reading or studying. While sleeping, a child's bedcoverings should be light but warm, not heavy enough to restrict movement and stretching.

Scrub Elbows Each Night And Add Cream

When you wear short sleeves, do you ever thing of the appearance of your elbows? They are constantly visible to others and, if uncared for, their gray, pebbly, wrinkled look can make you seem years older than you are.

To keep elbows smooth, soft and snowy, every day use a complexion brush to scrub them with thick soap lather, using a firm rotary motion. Bend your arm frequently during the process.

For very bad cases, use pumice or a fine abrasive powder of the type used to clean bathtubs.

When you put on your night cream, scoop a little extra from the jar for your elbows. Massage upwards to help take off the overhanging lump of fat that collects above many girls' elbows.

Constant resting of the elbows on tables and chair arms helps cause the darkening. So eliminate this as much as possible.

To bleach elbows, cut a lemon in half, squeeze the halves, but not too thoroughly, and rest your elbows in them.

Offer Old Recipe For Wilted Lettuce

OTTAWA (CP)—When the department of agriculture, consumer section, starts recommending "that old fashioned favorite wilted lettuce"—it's time to investigate.

But wilted lettuce they said and wilted lettuce they mean.

And here's the recipe which should serve six:

Six slices chopped bacon; one half cup chopped onion; one third to one half cup vinegar; 1 teaspoon sugar (optional); 10 cups leaf lettuce (2 quarts) broken into large pieces; salt and pepper to taste.

Cook the chopped bacon until it is crisp and brown. Add chopped onion to hot fat and saute the onion until it turns yellow. Now add one third to one half cup vinegar, depending on how tangy you like it and ad the sugar, if desired.

When the vinegar is heated, add half lettuce, cover pan and cook until the lettuce is just wilted, but no longer.

Season with salt and pepper and serve hot.

Try Your Flair For Color By "Painting A Rug"

Paint a pigment rug on a bare floor this summer instead of the same old plain shade.

This is a job for the distaff side because the success of your painted rug will depend largely on your flair for color. Some color authorities claim that interior painting can be compared to weaving and knitting and that the reason women so often come up with better paint results than men is due to their superior color sense. So, send the men off fishing or they may get interested and want to help.

Three effects that are easy to achieve and well worth the effort are "stipple", "spatter" and a painted imitation of the French-Canadian Catalogne rug. Floors must be clean, dry and free from all wax, oil or grease.

For stipple or spatter patters, the first step is to cover the floor with one or two coats of a quality floor or porch paint in a plain shade. A stipple finish is easier to apply than a spatter because there is no danger of spattering paint on the walls. It is also more convenient to reach into corners and under low objects with this method.

Dip a piece of crumpled brown wrapping paper into a shallow container of paint in a contrasting shade to the overall floor paint color and press the paper against the floor. The gayest effect is obtained with two or more colors which are applied at the same time as you progress over the floor.

The cellar or garage at home can be ransacked for old enamels and paint colors. If the "left-over" is a house paint add floor varnish in a ratio of one pint of varnish to one gallon of paint. One or more coats of varnish may be applied for added protection after the stipple finish is dry.

For a spatter finish, start with a dry, painted floor. Dip the brush in the contrasting paint and strike its metal part downwards against a stick held in the other hand. Make small confetti-like spatters by using less paint on the brush and holding the stick about one foot from the floor. For larger spatters use more paint and hold the stick about three feet from the floor. Shield walls from paint spatters with large pieces of cardboard or newspaper.

If the room is large you may prefer to center the "spatter rug" on the floor after the manner of a real rug, leaving wide, plain painted areas around the wall. Then paint a bright narrow border in one of the spatter colors such as red around your "rug" for a dramatic effect.

If the floor boards are wide you may like to paint each one a different gay color to resemble a French-Canadian Catalogue rug. Repeat the color scheme when you run out of paint colors or intermix to get a new effect. Stop each color about six inches from the wall and paint the clear area around the room a deep, rich shade such as brown, green or even black. When this is dry, dip a clean brush into white paint, slap it against a piece of paper until it is nearly dry and paint the remaining six inches to simulate the white stringed look of a real Catalogue rug. A simpler version can be obtained by painting alternate boards a light and darker shade of the same color such as light and dark blue or two different intensities of green. Here, again, you may want to give your work a sparkle by finishing off with a coat of pale, hard-wearing, Superlite varnish.

You may be so delighted with your decorating achievement you may want to give a rumpus room floor or a worn-through kitchen linoleum pattern the same modern treatment when you return to the city.

DOROTHY DIX:

Should She Be Informed? Question Ex-Wife Asks

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been separated for a year. I am 28, and have four children. He was unfaithful, and wouldn't work more than two or three months a year. We couldn't have gotten along except for my parents' financial aid. The one thing in my husband's favor is his personality—which is 100%. Now he is going with a fine young lady of fine character and background. She and her family are preparing for her marriage, though as yet there is no word of divorce between Bill and me. I am wondering if it would be sensible for me to talk to the girl, and her folks, and let them know the kind of existence she'll have with Bill. Should I warn her of the poverty, worry and heartache ahead? Understand, I don't want my husband back under any circumstances, but I hate to see him make a wreck of another woman's life.

E. J.

GOOD INTENTIONS ONLY

ANSWER: Your intentions are probably of the finest, and your efforts would be nothing short of praiseworthy, but I'm afraid you'll get little thanks for your pains. Your husband's personality fooled you, and it will fool others. Any attempts you make to warn the young lady will be interpreted as "sour grapes." The fact that she's being so premature with her wedding plans is sure indication that she wants the man—job or not. Perhaps her family's financial position is sufficiently assured to grant her the luxury of a jobless, but fascinating, husband.

Just for the record, and to ease your own conscience, tell the young lady your story, but don't expect results. She probably already pictures you as a shrew who didn't have sense enough to hold onto this paragon of masculine virtues—Bill.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 15 and like a boy 18. I see him once a week and we talk on the phone quite a bit. I have only known him for three months. Lately I've been told that he doesn't like me. I didn't believe it, so I asked him. He said he did like me, but now I don't believe him. I really think if he liked me he would take me out more often.

NORA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly aren't a trusting soul, are you Nora? If you doubt the boy's word, I don't think you should accept any dates from him. Does it occur to you that he is young, and probably doesn't have the money to take you out more than once a week? Try giving him a little consideration and don't expect him to worship you after so short an acquaintance.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 21 and recently met a young man with whom I am now in love. He has proposed to me, but I didn't accept because I have been ill for three years and don't know if I will ever be well again. In that time I've been constantly in and out of hospitals. I have been trying to avoid the young man, but if he persists in seeing me, should I tell him why I refused his proposal?

L. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most certainly tell him, though I think you are right to refuse to become engaged until the question of your health is settled. Under the circumstances, an engagement would bring you more worry than happiness. You are fortunate to be blessed with so good a friend, and he certainly deserves honesty from you. I do hope you will soon be restored to health.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We have just moved, leaving my sweetheart back in my home state. I write to him every night but never get an answer. I think of him all the time and feel guilty when I go out with other boys.

DOLLY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since no mail is forthcoming from the absent beau, it would seem a safe conclusion that he isn't thinking too much about you. Stop your letters for a while and see what happens, then shed the guilty feeling and get out with other boys. There's nothing for you to feel guilty about.

Baked Ham Slice Suggested For Special Menu

By MARY MOORE

DINNER FOR GUESTS

Cream of Asparagus Soup
Baked Ham Slice
Sauteed or Glazed Bananas
Quick-cooked Cream Cabbage
Sliced Cucumber Green Pepper and Radish Salad on Lettuce
Pineapple (or Banana) Cream Pie
Coffee.

DIRECTIONS

In banana-growing countries underripe bananas are cooked and used as a staple starch food, much as we use potatoes. One night I dreamed of a beautiful platterful of sauteed bananas and nothing could hold me until I'd bought some underripe bananas and sauteed them—in broad daylight.

The flavor of a ripe banana eaten from your hand remains unchallenged. But the sauteed bananas that I dreamed up were different, for they were not a dessert at all, but were served as an accompaniment to Baked Ham. I tried to make them as beautiful in reality as they were in my dream. Without being consulted, Pete said: "I think those are good enough for your readers, Mum"—and he knows that has to be good, and that is what I was hoping for.

SAUTEED BANANAS

Six firm, green-tipped bananas, 2 tablespoons each lemon juice and butter; salt, pepper, paprika. Peel, then cut bananas in halves crosswise. Brush with the lemon juice. Heat the butter in a frying pan, but do not brown it. Add the bananas and saute them in this for 8 minutes or until golden brown and tender, turning them once. Heat should be gentle. Sprinkle with salt and paprika and pepper. These are good with many meat dishes.

BAKED HAM SLICE

One 2-lb. slice smoked ham 1-inch thick is spread with a mixture of ¼ cup brown sugar and 2 teaspoons (or less) dry mustard. Place in shallow baking dish, barely cover with milk or skim mik and bake at 325 degrees Fahr. about 2 hours or until tender. Garnish the ham slice on the hot platter with the sauteed bananas.

QUICK-COOKED CREAM CABBAGE

Shred cabbage until you have 4 well-packed cups (to serve four people). Cook this in the top of the double boiler with 1 or 2 tablespoons butter and 1 cup hot milk and about 1 teaspoon salt. Turn it over occasionally. The cooking time depends on the fineness of the shredded cabbage—20 minutes to 30 minutes will be plenty. The cabbage absorbs some of the milk, but if yours is too thin to serve neatly thicken it with a teaspoon of flour stirred into a little water.

PINEAPPLE CREAM PIE

One cup sugar and 4 tablespoons cornstarch are mixed together then ½ cup hot water and 1 cup pineapple juice (drained from canned pineapple) are stirred into them until thick. Cook over boiling water 15 minutes. Pour a little of this over 3 beaten egg yolks, then return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes longer, stirring. Remove from heat and add 3 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 1-3 teaspoons grated lemon rind and 1¼ cups well-drained canned crushed pineapple. Pour into baked pie shell. When cold top with whipped cream OR cover with meringue made from leftover 3 egg whites beaten stiff with 6 tablespoons sugar. Bake meringue at 400 degrees Fahr. for 8 or 10 minutes.

VARIATION: If you prefer Banana cream use milk instead of water and pineapple juice, leave out lemon and rind, and reduce sugar to 2-3 cup. Add 3 sliced bananas instead of crushed pineapple.

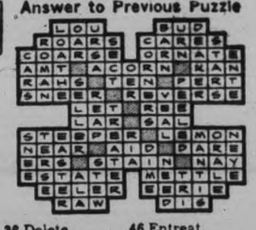
This is not her first visit to North America. She went to Seattle in 1930 to study at the University of Washington and later attended the University of California at Berkeley, Calif.



Mrs. Yen is a widow with two daughters. The eldest girl is attending college in the United States and the other is at school at Ottawa.

Mrs. Yen says she already has learned much from her Canadian tour which started several weeks ago at Ottawa. From Ottawa she travelled to Toronto and then to [illegible]. After completing her tour Mrs. Yen will return east to Toronto and Montreal.

Macdonald Institute Graduated In Past 50 Years 7,000 Women

GUELPH, Ont. (CP) — Macdonald Institute, which started teaching home economics in 1903, celebrates its 50th anniversary June 12.

The institute, home economics division of the Ontario Agricultural College here, was named after Sir William Macdonald, wealthy Montreal tobacco merchant. He donated $175,000 to the venture following representations by Mrs. Adelaide Hoodless, founder of the Women's Institutes.

During its half-century Macdonald Institute has offered several courses in home economics and similar fields. Before the Second World War, courses mainly consisted of a two-year pre-degree course and a one-year diploma course.

The RCAF took over the institute during the war. Afterwards, the diploma course was re-started and in 1948 was complemented by a four-year degree course.

Nearly 7,000 women have graduated from the institute and many have taken responsible posts in schools, commerce, industry, and hospitals as well as in their own homes.

A year after the opening Macdonald Hall was being used and in 1927 Watson Hall was opened as a second residence. Watson Hall was named after the first director of the institute, Urie Watson.

A new wing will be officially opened after the anniversary service to be held June 13.

63RD ANNIVERSARY

NORTH COBALT, Ont. (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. William Winkle celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary here. They were married in 1890 at Sydenham, Ont., and Mr. Winkle operated a blacksmith shop until he retired 10 years ago. They are each 82 years old.

Thieves Enter Creamery, Steal Butter

LINDSAY (ENS)—According to officers of the OPP at Lindsay, thieves may have stolen more than 560 pounds of unprinted butter at the Eldon Creamery, Lorneville, on Monday night, when they entered the building by a window and smashed the lock on the freezer storage.

According to the owner of the creamery, William Newman, the thieves did no other damage, except that to the lock of the freezer door. He placed the time of the robbery at before 5 a.m. Tuesday, when a severe electrical storm passed through the area, which would have obliterated any tire marks around the building.

Provincial police say that a preliminary check produced a loss of 560 pounds of butter unprinted. They said this loss might go higher on further investigation.

Mr. Newman said that the creamery had been entered before in 1951 when thieves, as yet uncaught, had taken butter valued at $180. Officers Plumbtree and Baker of Lindsay OPP are working on the thefts.

Audrey Allen Assists Victims

On a post-graduation holiday, after finishing her studies and training at Hotel Dieu, Kingston, a young Peterborough nurse was thrust into the realities of her work in the path of the tornado Monday night that snuffed out 113 lives in Flint, Michigan.

Miss Audrey Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen, RR 10, Peterborough, was graduated from Kingston hospital June 1. Present for that occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hensley, aunt and uncle of Miss Allen, who had motored from Flint for the graduation exercises at Hotel Dieu.

They took their niece back to Flint with them for a holiday that was suddenly interrupted by the fatal and destructive wind. Authorities called for help. Mrs. Hensley responded as a member of the Red Cross Society, and Miss Allen was assigned to attending some of the city's injured people.

Indians Win 6th Straight Game; Three By 1 Run

By BEN PLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Overshadowed by the first-place Yankees, the hopeful Cleveland Indians are brewing their own private little winning streak. If they can nurse it to the boiling point by the weekend there may yet be some excitement in the American League pennant race.

The second-place Indians, 5½ games back of New York, have won seven out of eight and six in a row on their current home stand against the Eastern clubs. Two contests remain against Washington before the Yanks come in Friday night for a four-game series.

While New York has been blowing down most of its opponents with amazing ease in winning a dozen straight, the Indians have had to scramble all the way. Three of their victories, including Tuesday night's 2-1 squeaker over Washington, have been by one run margins.

GIVES UP TWO HITS

Against Washington Bob Lemon gave up only two hits but trailed 1-0 after 7½ innings. The Indians loaded the bases with two out in the eighth and got their two runs which pinch-hitting Hank Majeski singled off the glove of Pitcher Johnny Schmitz.

Detroit Tigers tried to expand their one-game winning streak at the expense of the Yankees, but failed 3-2 when Tom Gorman stopped them after they had chased starter Vic Raschi.

Chicago climbed back into a third-place tie with Washington by defeating Philadelphia 5-1 on a three-hit effort by Billy Pierce and Boston Red Sox outlasted the Browns in 93-degree St Louis heat 6-5.

Milwaukee protected its one game National League lead, whipping New York Giants 4-2 after second-place Brooklyn had snapped Cincinnati's five-game winning streaak 10-6.

HOMER DUMPS CARDS

A three-run pinch-hit homer by Eddie Pelagrini helped Pittsburgh Pirates end their five-game losing spell at the expense of St. Louis Cardinals 7-4. Philadelphia edged Chicago 10-9 on Del Ennis's ninth-inning home run.

After spotting the Yankees two runs in the first inning the Tigers squared matters in the fourth. But Gorman took over with two runs home, one out and a man on base and held the cellar-dwellers hitless and helpless until the ninth. They managed a pair of singles in the ninth but couldn't move the tying run past second base.

Home runs came wholesale at Ebberts Field with the Dodgers getting four and Cincinnati blows was led by Ted Kluszewski, his 17 of the year, tying him for the league lead with Brooklyn's Roy Campenella and Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews.

Warren Spahn pitched and batted the Braves to the victory over the Giants. The veteran lefthander hit a home run and two singles, driving in two runs, while scattering 10 New York hits.

Province Sends Out 11 Geological Groups

TORONTO (CP)—Mines Minister Kelly has announced that his department is sending 11 geological parties out this year. The program includes mapping favorable prospecting areas, examination of mineral deposits and collection of data on groundwater resources.

The areas or projects to be investigated include the Emo area in the Rainy River district, the Jackfish-Middleton area of Thunder Bay, Boston township in the Timiskaming area, the Cobalt area of the same district, kyanite occurrences in the Sudbury and Nipissing districts, Gladstone township in the Algoma area, mineral deposits in the Sudbury area, geology mapping in Lount township near Parry Sound, groundwater resources in Peel county and geology mapping in Carlow and Mayo townships, Hastings county.

Fire Destroys Plant, Damage Set At $80,000

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Fire of undetermined origin early today destroyed a three-storey building occupied by Metaluminum Specialties Ltd., on Southwick street.

All off-duty firemen were called in to fight the blaze which traveled speedily through the all-wood interior of the building.

While total loss in the blaze could not be accurately estimated immediately, it was expected the loss of building and contents might reach between $80,000 and $100,000.

2,000 Students Parade In Seoul

SEOUL (AP)—At least 2,000 young students shouting "Yankee go home" and other slogans paraded through the streets of Seoul today in the second day of angry demonstrations against an impending armistice.

The new demonstrations erupted as aging President Syngman Rhee announced through a spokesman that he will not leave Korea "at this time of grave situations", to carry a personal protest to Washington.

Gen. Paik Sun Yup, chief of staff of the South Korean army, arrived here by plane from the U. S. today to take command of South Korea's 16 American-trained divisions.

South Korea's draft bureau ordered all Korean men between 19 and 25 to be ready for call as government leaders reiterated threats to fight on alone if a truce leaves Korea divided.

Men between 17 and 19 and between 25 and 40 were ordered to report their whereabouts and any change in draft status.

Staff officers were working at Panmunjom on final details of a truce which could be signed this week. South Korea already has branded the armistice a "death sentence" and "sell out."

Tension in this war torn land mounted as students paraded through the streets in new government-sponsored anti - armistice demonstrations.

Sees All Signs Of Busy Quarter

NEW YORK (AP)—The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today all signs point to a high level of steel business through the third quarter this year, with perhaps a moderate decline (not a recession) in the final three months.

"Consumer demand is believed virile enough to support production of more than 110,000,000 tons of steel in 1953," the publication says.

"When the steel industry does catch up with its market, the supply-demand balance will not come to rest on 100 per cent of capacity; it will dip below. But that will not happen until: (1) The conversion bloom is gone; (2) high cost producers have to give up charging premium prices; (3) mills have trouble filling their order books; and (4) new orders do not keep pace with production and cancellations."

Steelmaking operations this week are placed at 100 per cent of rated capacity.

Stork Valid Excuse

TORONTO (CP)—Ronald Munday, 19, was in court Tuesday on a charge of driving while his licence was suspended. Munday said he drove the car because his wife was having a baby and he had to take her to hospital. Magistrate W. W. McKeown agreed Munday didn't have much choice and dismissed the charge.

She has been living on her family's farm near Lowell, Ind., but says "I hope my son and I can now establish a proper home near his father, if possible."

Turtle Gets Lost, All Bets Called

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—The bets are off here. The turtle has disappeared.

Headed north between the rails of the Algoma Central Railway's main line, the turtle was the subject of speculation Monday as forest rangers and railwaymen placed bets on his destination.

The wagering was based on this:

If the switch at Hawk Junction was open, the turtle would head for Lake Superior at Michipicoten Harbor, 40 miles up the line. If it was closed, the next stop was Hearst, 145 miles north.

But now there is no sign of the turtle. The lure of the bush apparently was too much.

Return To Religion Would Curb Crime

TORONTO (CP)—Arthur Moss, acting head of Ontario provincial police, said Tuesday that a return toreligion would curb crime.

He told the Ontario legislature's committee on reform institutios that delinquency and crime is caused by parents who do not take enough interest in their children and fail to set good examples.

"There's een a tendency in recent years for parents to get their children off to Sunday School and then go back to bed," he said.

Clifford Magone, deputy attorney general, told the committee some repeaters are in Ontario jails because of crimes carefully calculated to fit the punishment.

Repeaters know the sentences they carefully stay within the limits, he said. "They know, too, just how far to go without running the risk of being charged as habitual criminals."

Cancer Foundation Pledges 73,670

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation has set aside $73,670 for cancer research to be conducted in Ontario centres during the next year.

Arthur R. Ford, editor in chief of the London Free Press and foundation chairman, said Monday night cancer experts in Hamilton, Ottawa, Toronto, London and Kingston have been chosen to share in the grants for special work

Six new projects will be started at Hamilton General Hospital, Queen's University, the University of Western Ontario, and St. Michael's Hospital at Toronto. They will be directed by Dr. C. H. Jaimet at Hamilton; Prof. G. M. Brown at Kingston; Dr. C. G. Drake, Prof. R. L. Noble, and Dr. W. C. Sharpe at London; and Dr. C. J. Bardawill at Toronto.

Britain Could Sell More To Canada, Londoners Told

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

LONDON (CP)—Britain and other Commonwealth countries could sell more goods in Canada if they tried harder, Quintin J. Gwynn of Montreal, past president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said today in an address to the Rotary Club of London.

Canadians, he said, recognize that trade is a two-way street and that they cannot hope to increase their sales abroad unless they find ways of buying more from abroad.

"All Canadians realize that opportunities must be found for sterling area countries to sell more in Canada."

Canadians feel, too, Gwyn said, that there is some danger of Canada becoming too dependent on trade with the United States and exporters and importers are exploring ways "by which some of our eggs may be placed in other baskets."

"At the same time it is perhaps fair to say that Britain and Commonwealth exporters to Canada have not as yet made the fullest use of the opportunities available. More could be done by British exporters.

"Canada is looked upon as being a tough market. Some exporters have preferred the relatively easier and more accessible markets within the sterling area rather than explore the possibilities of developing trade in Canada.

"It is true that Canada is a highly competitive market, but I have seen nothing to convince me that British manufacturers cannot compete against other imports into Canada, if the exporting firms make up their minds to win the Canadian market.

"There is a wealth of goodwill towards British goods based on a long tradition of quality and service. Canada is a market well worth gaining."

Gwyn said Canada's No. 1 need is population.

"I can think of no export from Britain that would be more valuable to Canada than people. At the same time this would help solve one of Britain's own problems."

He said Canada's identity of interests with other members of Commonwealth tends to increase rather than diminish.

OUTLOOK and LOOKOUT

The outlook of the working people today in our community, and throughout the country, is based solely upon the degree of unity and and effectiveness that can be accomplished within the trade union movement.

Working people, therefore, must be on the lookout for any and all attacks on the ranks of labour, whether these attacks come directly from Big Business or indirectly from the agents of Big Business.

The plans and desires to weaken and destroy the unions, have not been kept secret, and day after day we see the offensive against the union movement in many forms.

Peterborough workers have experienced their share of this offensive, and on a number of occasions have very properly come to the defence of their democratic union rights.

The offensive continues in our community, and because of the importance to all working people, we feel it our duty and obligation to acquaint you with some facts.

For the past 4 months we have been experiencing extreme difficulty in our endeavours to have the Canadian Raybestos Company recognize genuine collective bargaining.

The legitimate demands made by Raybestos workers have to date been ignored by the company.

Below is a straight comparison of wage rates before and after UE.

BEFORE U.E.—1946		U.E.—1953
LABOUR	54c per hour	LABOUR	$1.24 per hour
WATCHMAN	54c per hour	WATCHMAN	$1.24 per hour
BOYS	38c per hour	BOYS	$1.13 per hour
FEMALE	41c per hour	FEMALE	$1.13 per hour
CHIEF ENGINEER	74c per hour	CHIEF ENGINEER	$1.43 per hour

Year after year we were forced to struggle in negotiations to improve these shockingly low wage rates.

In the years of UE negotiations, we have brought our wage rates up on an average of 69 to 75 cents per hour wage increase.

This still leaves us with a labour rate of $1.24 per hour, and our skilled workers substantially underpaid.

In 1953 we had an added problem in opening negotiations. That was the problem of Labour Raiders.

At the time we were preparing for negotiations, a group of Yankee Raiders came to the Company's rescue. They spent time and money trying to divide and weaken our union.

The Raiders made an application to the Ontario Labour Relations Board for certification, claiming to represent a large majority of the workers.

The Company refused to carry on negotiations this year within the prescribed time limits. The Company advised the Negotiating Committee and the workers it could not negotiate because of the Raiders' application for certification.

But the Company promised the workers it would endeavour to see that no hardship or loss would be imposed on the workers as a result of the delay caused in negotiations through the action of the Raiders and the Company refusing to negotiate within the proper time limits set out by law.

The Raiders' application for certification was dealt with and the O.L.R.B. ordered a secret ballot vote. The Raiders lost the vote. The UE won the vote.

Since that time, the UE Negotiating Committee met with the Company five times to try and negotiate a settlement on the demands of the workers.

In the meantime, the Yankee Raiders resorted to another tactic to help the Company stall in negotiations, and the Company is taking full advantage of the Raiders' tactic.

On the very last day under the time limits set out in the Labour Laws, the Raiders filed a protest with the O.L.R.B. on the results of the vote.

The Company, using this to its advantage, refuses to negotiate in good faith.

The Company ignores the legitimate demands of its workers for increased wages and improved working conditions. Instead, the Company has made an offer (its first and final, so says the Company) to cut wages by more than 1c per hour.

The Company realizes it must increase its present inadequate wage rates. It realizes it has an obligation to improve working conditions in line with present practices in other industries.

But the Company is carrying the offensive against its workers' union as far as possible.

We have called upon the Ontario Labour Relations Board for the assistance of a Government Conciliation Officer, as a means of reaching a peaceful settlement.

Our Union, the UE, has no intention of allowing this Company to get away with this continued attitude towards its workers in collective bargaining.

We will render full and unqualified support to the Raybestos workers until they receive just and equitable treatment.

We believe it to be in the interests of all working people in Canada that we make this Company understand it is not a law unto itself, but must respect the Labour Laws of the country.

That is exactly what we intend to do, and will keep you fully informed on any and all events.

We shall be on the lookout for any anti-union tactics of this Company,

We will do our share in assuring a favorable outlook for the working people through a strong, united labour movement throughout our country.

Boy 11, Dies Of Injuries In Accident

Hit On Lansdowne St., Bruce Burfield Dead Shortly After

Rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital after he was struck by a car on Lansdowne St. late Wednesday afternoon, Bruce Burfield, 11, of 824 Bell Ave., died minutes later as a result of injuries he received.

The boy ran out from behind a passing westbound truck at the corner of High St., into the path of an eastbound car driven by Vincent Gatt, 20, of 284 Rogers St.

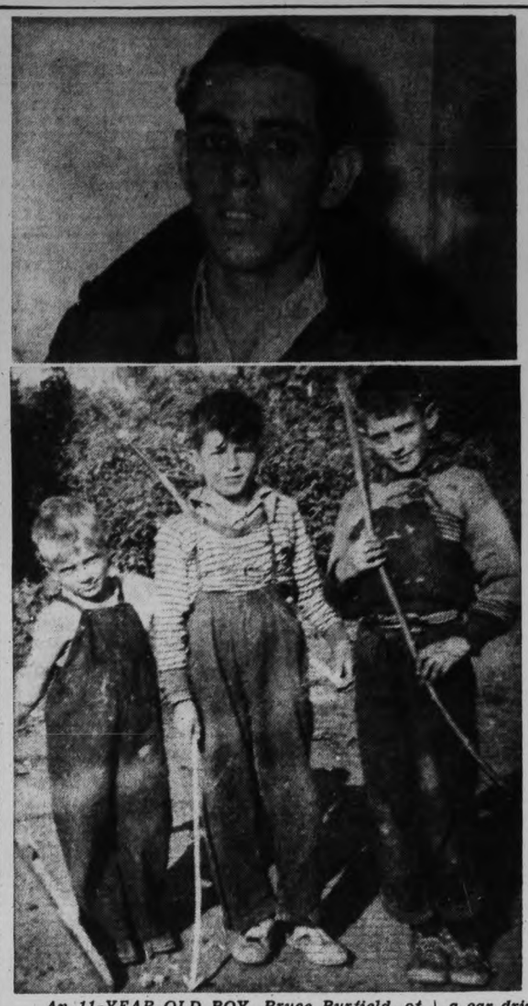
There will be no inquest Coroner Dr. Herbert Young announced today.

The accident occurred at 5.05 p.m. He was taken to the hospital by Nisbett's ambulance but died shortly before six o'clock. The boy had received a skull fracture and body injuries in the accident.

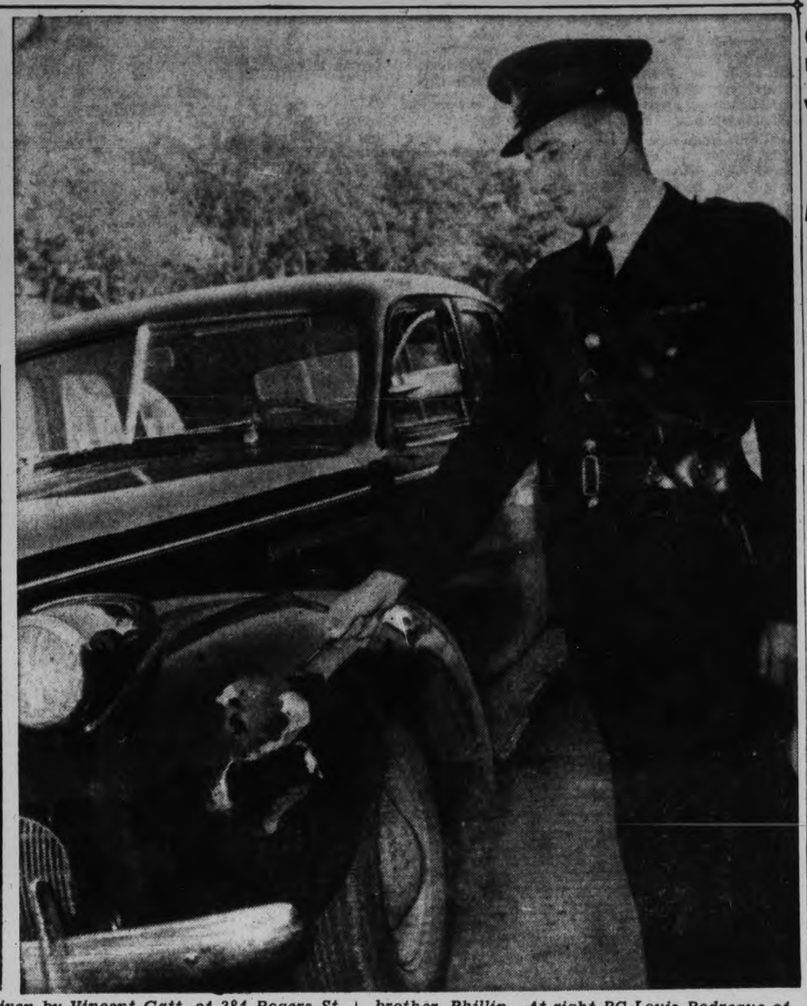
Joseph Drumond, 9, of 890 High St., had been standing with the Burfield lad at the corner of High and Lansdowne waiting for a break in the traffic so they could cross the road.

RAN ACROSS ROAD

He said a truck came by and the Burfield boy, without looking, ran out across the road diagonally from where they were standing behind the truck, right in front of Gatt's car.



When his car struck the boy, Gatt applied his brakes and brought the vehicle to a stop within three feet. The lad was hit on the lower part of his body but his head snapped backward and struck the fender of the car, leaving a large dent. He was thrown a short distance by the impact.



A second car in the area was proceeding west behind the truck when the accident occurred. The driver, Wilfred Davis, of 624 Frank St., said the Gatt car was driving very slowly when the accident occurred.

The accident occurred 200 yards from the Burfield home. There, later, the grieving mother mourned the loss of her third youngest of seven children as she looked at pictures of her dead boy.

Sign Peace Treaty With Church; May Upset NATO

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Red rulers announced sweeping reductions Wednesday night in the communization of the Soviet-occupied territory and signed a peace treaty giving the Protestant Church big concessions. Both startling developments—Western quarters figured the Kremlin ordered them—apparently were aimed at making the east zone a more attractive candidate for unification with the more prosperous and free West Germany.

They appeared also designed to quiet the widespread fear and discontent among East Germany's 18,000,000 residents which have sent thousands fleeing each week to the West.

AIMING AT UNITY

Announcing the communization reductions directed by the ruling politburo of the East German Communist party, Premier Otto Grotewohl said the group "is aiming at the re-establishment of the unity of Germany which requires from both sides concrete measures to bring this about."

The concessions to the Germans from their Red rulers also gave new ammunition to West German opponents of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's campaign to bring Germany's western half into military alliance with the NATO countries.

Some Western officials here expressed belief that the moves were only a prelude to some other important Soviet action, perhaps a Kremlin call for a four-power meeting on Germany.

POLITBURO DIRECTIVES

The politburo directives provided for:

1. No further extension of the collective farm system.
2. Making state bank credits available to private business men. Those who have been forced out of business will be granted permission to set up shop again.
3. Returning confiscated property and full civil rights to persons who come back to East Germany after fleeing to the West.
4. A general amnesty for all prisoners serving one to three years on charges of having damaged the state-owned economy.
5. Issuance of ration cards to all persons. The state recently withheld cards from 250,000 East Germans, regarded as outside the favored Red circle.

CHURCH-PACT

The pact to end the bitter church-state battle was announced jointly by Grotewohl and Bishop Otto G. Dibelius, head of the Protestant Church of all Germany. Its nine points, covering most of the main issues, sharply reversed the gov-

Chinese Troops Break Through Allied Line

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese troops in almost regimental strength—perhaps 3,000 men—cracked through a main line Allied position in central Korea today and fought off bitter counter-attacks by two South Korean forces.

To the west, troops of the U. S. 3rd division smashed back six Communist attacks as an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 Reds hit American and South Korean positions along the front.

The 3rd division reported killing and wounding about 600 Chinese.

The 8th army identified the 3rd division as fighting on the sector northeast of Chorwon to give it credit for hurling back the Communists in a savage outpost battle.

A briefing officer said two Chinese battalions broke through the main line position defended by South Koreans, then quickly reinforced to almost regimental strength.

The breakthrough occurred southeast of Outpost Texas. An army spokesman said the breakthrough is serious, but that the entire area of the battle front is not threatened.

The Reds drove South Koreans from three important hill positions in cracking through the line at several points along a 2,000-yard front, the army said.

Officers of the 5th South Korean division estimated the Reds fired 54,000 rounds of artillery and mortar shells into Allied lines during the night and after dawn Thursday.

Some observers said the Chinese appeared to be trying to grab all possible territory before an armistice since ground won now may be a gain in the truce settlement.

U. S. infantry hurled back six attacks against Outpost Harry, 10 miles northeast of Chorwon, after hours of close-quarter fighting.

Koreans Refuse Accept Truce

SEOUL (AP) — South Korea's cabinet reaffirmed today it would refuse to accept the imminent armistice and President Syngman Rhee openly disagreed with President Eisenhower.

Rhee issued a statement saying he could not agree with Eisenhower's views "that a truce in Korea will be advantageous to this country in many ways."

"We regret very much, however, that we take a view different to friendly advice and that this is unavoidable because a truce on the present terms simply means death to us," Rhee added.

Rhee cautioned his countrymen against "unruly conducts" and "unfriendly attitude" toward Allied personnel as the third straight day of anti - armistice demonstrations brought the first report of bloodshed.

Need Showdown On Differences In Allied Policy

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the time has come for a showdown on "serious" Western differences on policy toward Asian communism because the imminence of a truce in Korea makes a united approach a matter of "immediate urgency."

Bluntly telling an American audience that the U. S. can expect little support for a policy of uncompromising hostility to communism in the Far East, he urged that the impending Big Three conference in Bermuda seek a policy of unison before they have to sit down with Red leaders to discuss the larger political issues stemming from the Korean war.

SERIOUS CONFLICT

In a major speech prepared for delivery to the Harvard University Alumni Association, the president of the United Nations general assembly said there are signs that serious conflict has already arisen in the West "over the nature and extent of our collective obligations, if any, to defeat communism, as such, in Asia."

Mr. Pearson, earlier awarded an honorary degree by Harvard, also echoed President Eisenhower's argument that no nation can go it alone any more and emphasized

5 Neutrals Agree To Serve

WASHINGTON (AP)—All five countries proposed for membership on a "neutral" prisoner-of-war commission in Korea now are expected to serve—thereby eliminating one of the last barriers to a truce. United States officials still privately expressed concern today over the big and probably final barrier—what South Korea will do. But there was increasing confidence here that at some point before, or about the time, the fighting ends, President Syngman Rhee will agree to go along with a cease-fire. There is no longer any doubt here that the technical details yet to be settled with the Communist command by the United Nations negotiators at Panmunjom will be resolved in a relatively short time. These details are concerned chiefly with laying out the zone which will divide the armies after an armistice.

RHEE'S REQUESTS

Meanwhile, the Korean embassy released Wednesday night in a message sent 12 days ago by Rhee to President Eisenhower asking for a defence treaty with the U.S. and including a provision for keeping U.S. air and naval forces in the Korean area indefinitely as protection against new aggression.

Rhee's other requests, including withdrawal of Communist and UN forces, had previously been made known.

Last Saturday Eisenhower, responding to Rhee's appeal, offered a defence treaty, but at the same time indicated that such a pact would not constitute a blank cheque for South Korea in the future to seek to take over Communist North

Queen Striking Figure At Trooping Of Color

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen rode sidesaddle for 90 minutes today to take the salute while the Grenadier Guards paraded their standard before her in the traditional ceremony of trooping the color.

Prince Charles watched his mother sitting erect and motionless on her light-chestnut horse Winston while the Guards marched by.

The Queen rode on horseback from Buckingham Palace to Horse Guards parade. Forty thousand people lined the Mall as she rode down followed by the Duke of Edinburgh, her husband, and the Duke of Gloucester, her uncle, also on horseback.

Cheers followed her progress as she rode, a striking figure in scarlet tunic slashed with the vivid kingfisher blue ribbon of the order of the Garter. The Garter star glittered silver against the scarlet and a row of medals shone on her breast. Her long riding skirt was dark blue.

Cheers roared across the entrance to the huge parade grounds as the 27-year-old Queen rode in.

With her right-hand raised firmly in salute, she sat still as a guardsman while the band played "God Save the Queen." Her horse was like a statue, not even nodding its head.

The trooping the color parade is held on the Queen's "official" birthday, a date designated in the summer and distinct form the Queen's real birthday April 21.

As she neared the saluting base, the Queen saluted her mother who had driven to the parade ground in an open landau with Princess Margaret and the Queen's children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Russia Woos Turkey Now

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Unofficial and unconfirmed reports from Ankara today said Russia has abandoned her claim to joint control of the Dardanelles and the areas of Kars, Ardahan and Artvin.

The Turkish government was rigidly silent on the reports, but the informants said it may make a statement after it has received the text of a new Soviet note.

The reports, if true, would indicate that the Soviet Union has extended its "peace offensive" to Turkey.

The new Soviet offer was said to have been contained in a note handed to the Turkish ambassador in Moscow which expressed a desire for improved relations.

In 1945 Russia demanded a share in control of the Dardanelles, the strategic strait linking the Mediterranean and the Black Sea. She followed that up by putting in a claim to the rugged Kars, Ardahan and Artvin areas on the Turkish-Soviet border. All these demands and claims were rejected by Turkey.

Army Tightens Up On Administration

OTTAWA (CP)—A new army move to tighten up on administration was announced today.

Its main aim, said headquarters, is to see that units are administered properly in personnel matters because bad administration can injure morale.

A new branch labelled the adjutant general inspectorate has been given the job of checking up particularly on units just going overseas or just coming back.

The chief is Lt.-Col. O. L. Fuson, 45, of Regina.

Ex-Treasurer Jailed 2 Years

TORONTO (CP)—Ronald Ferguson, a one-time Bible class treasurer, was sentenced Wednesday to two years less a day on nine charges, including the armed robbery of a bank. He was given another year indefinite.

Ferguson, 36, pleaded guilty to breaking into three banks, two offices, the $1,835 holdup of another bank and lesser charges.

Police said Ferguson turned to crime because his brokerage business wasn't paying and he was "desperate for money."

100 Canadian Roses Presented To Queen

LONDON (CP)—One hundred roses were delivered to Buckingham Palace today as a birthday gift to the Queen from the people of Canada.

The roses—deep yellow and gold in color—were picked Wednesday in Brampton, Ont., and flown from Malton, Ont., and Montreal. They arrived at London airport this morning.

The long-stemmed flowers are called Queen Elizabeth roses, in honor of the Queen Mother's visit to Canada in 1939. Permission was granted to send them as a gift to the present Queen during National Rose Week in Canada.

Each flower has a leaf perforated to spell out "Queen Elizabeth."

The gift was delivered to Buckingham Palace by George Taylor of Ontario House and accepted by Sir Piers Legh, master of the Royal household, who served in Canada during the First World War as aide-de-camp to the Duke of Connaught, governor-general.

Today is the Queen's official birthday. Her actual date of birth was April 21, 1926.

Trace Actions Of Taylor Day Smith Hurt

Seven witnesses were heard today as the preliminary hearing into the charge of robbery with violence against Leonard Taylor of Curve Lake commenced. Taylor was charged in connection with the theft of about $200 from Charles Smith of Lakefield May 1. Smith was hospitalized as a result of the robbery.

DOCTOR QUESTIONED

Smith himself is expected to take the stand next week when the hearing resumes. In preparation for his evidence, Edward Fanjoy, counsel for the accused, thoroughly questioned Dr. Hugh Gastle of Lakefield, who tended Smith, on the 79-year-old man's condition.

Dr. Gastle told the court that Smith would not have recovered his complete memory at present and felt the attack victim "will never completely recover his memory."

According to the doctor's evidence, there is also a possibility that Smith's memory is inaccurate and he could think something happened that didn't on the date of the attack.

Dr. Gastle's evidence followed that of Lakefield and district men who helped Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw trace Taylor's movements around the furniture store where the attack occurred, prior to the event.

Douglas Hamlin testified he had seen the accused the Wednesday prior to the Friday in question, at the back of the store trying the doorknob. Hamlin observed him from a nearby poolroom.

Report Looting Bad Impose Strict Curfew

WORCESTER, Mass. (CP)—The military commander of the Worcester national guard today imposed a strict curfew after reports of looting in this city's devastated area where New England's worst tornado struck Tuesday night. The death toll for central Massachusetts stood at 82.

Col. William F. Bigelow, the commander, ordered a 6 p. m. curfew after reporting "there's been looting. Just how much we don't know."

All but pass-holders, police and firefighters have been ordered to keep away from the patrolled area after the curfew.

Col. Bigelow told his troops: "Keep everyone else out, even if you have to shoot to do it."

In all, some 2,000 national guardsmen patrolled the area through central Massachusetts where the tornado cut a swath of death and destruction.

Rule Steamer 'Unseaworthy'

BELFAST (Reuters)—The loss of the British railways steamer Princess Victoria, which sank in the Irish Sea last January with the loss of 133 lives, was due to her unseaworthy condition, a court of inquiry ruled today.

The tribunal of four, in an unanimous decision, found there were two reasons for the ship's condition—the inadequacy of the stern doors and the inadequacy of the clearing arrangements for water on the free-board deck.

The stern doors of the ship, which was sailing from Stranraer, Scotland, to Larne, Northern Ireland, burst open in an 80-mile gale which whipped up mountainous seas during the week-end just before Europe's disastrous winter floods.

The report said the failure of these doors caused the flooding of the ship's car space, from which there was no adequate provision for clearance. There was an increasing list to starboard, culminating in the ship capsizing and floundering.

Conservatives Worried

Wave Of Illness Threatens Slender Churchill Majority

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill's slender 17-seat majority in the House of Commons is threatened by a wave of illness hitting the Conservative party.

His government could fall overnight if five Conservative members of Parliament missed their trains on the same day.

Twelve Conservatives are ill and may not be able to take their seats for some weeks. Two others have been elevated to the peerage on paper, this leaves Churchill with a majority of three over the opposition, plus the Speaker who votes in case of a tie.

One consolation to the Conservatives is that the Labor government ruled the country for 18 months with a majority of seven—and never was beaten on a critical issue.

But the party is worried. Foreign Secretary Eden is in hospital in the United States. Churchill himself is due to leave soon for the Bermuda conference.

There is a gentleman's agreement not to declare political war while the prime minister is out of the country. But the government members—their two leaders away and their ranks depleted by illness—will be in trouble if any tricky issues arise.

Early morning clashes which punctuated debates in Parliament during the winter session returned today soon after the Commons resumed its work following the Coronation recess.

Aneurin Bevan, leader of the Labor left-wing, called Housing Minister Harold MacMillan a "cad" in a row during a debate on a rating bill.

The Welshman protested that MacMillan had told the Commons of a private conversation between them. "I will treat him as the cad he is," Bevan said.

Sir Charles Macandrew, the chairman, intervened to stop the uproar. Bevan expressed regret for the word "cad" and MacMillan apologized with a smile.

Enforce Regulations More Strictly

Will Step Up Ontario Highway Patrols

KINGSTON (CP) — Ontario highway patrols are going to be stepped up and regulations enforced more strictly than in the past, Highways Minister Doucett said Wednesday.

Addressing the fourth annual Ontario traffic conference, he said consistently delinquent motorists "will be educated the hard way" as provincial authorities move to check the rising toll of death and injury on the highways.

He told the delegates that "a policeman's hand on the shoulder" is the only thing that will persuade some drivers to respect the rules of the road.

Mr. Doucett said he is gravely concerned over the mounting traffice toll in Ontario—1,010 persons killed, more than 23,000 injured and $20,000,000 property damage last year—but he said he cannot endorse a proposal that drivers be re-examined at regular intervals.

He said the ultimate answer to the traffic problem is co-operation and good citizenship.

PROGRESS MADE

Good progress has been made since the Ontario traffic conference, comprising traffic enforcement and municipal officials, was organized four years ago in Kitchener, he said. But Ontario's population is increasing at the rate of about 10,000 a month and the task is growing in proportion.

He said his department will not take over the ferry Wolfe Islander, which plies between Kingston and nearby Wolfe Island, as part of the provincial highway system. While the ferry was built for the province, the department gave it to the island residents on condition they operate it themselves.

Prof. J. L. McDougall, professor of economics at Queens University, speaking at a city-sponsored banquet for the delegates, said too much is being given for too little in street and road services.

SHOULD ALLOT COSTS

He said the real reason for traffic problems is that public bodies are making a great effort to provide impressive facilities without apportioning the charges with regard to the amount of use made of those facilities.

He said the railways can move freight much more cheaply than highway transports and still earn huge profits for themselves. Yet trucking was used extensively, resulting in tremendous wear on roads and highways which were broken down almost before they were built, and truckers were not charged in proportion to the costs they placed on these avenues of transportation.

Prince, Anne Anxious Give Presents

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Charles, 4, and his two-year-old sister Princess Anne romped round the nursery Wednesday, impatient for their father, the Duke of Edinburgh, to come for his birthday presents.

When the Duke, 32 Wednesday, came into the nursery from his bedroom, they rushed to hand over the presents their nurses had helped them wrap.

The nursery visit was the Duke's first thought of the day, but palace officials had nothing to say about the presents the children gave him. "It is entirely private," a spokesman said.

After the nursery presentation, the Duke joined the Queen to open some of the thousands of greetings telegrams which swamped the private post office at Buckingham Palace.

FAMILY LUNCH

The royal couple had a family birthday lunch with the Duke's relatives who came to Britain for the Coronation. With them were 68 - year - old Princess Alice of Greece, his mother, and his three sisters, the wives of German princes.

Royal Navy ships in home and foreign ports flew flags and many fired salutes in honor of the occasion.

Wednesday night Prince Philip, in his admiral's uniform, went with the Queen to see the annual military show in the indoor stadium at Earl's Court.

The 12,000 spectators yelled and clapped as the Duke entered, with the Queen on his arm in a lemon-yellow summer dress and a white hat. Many shouted: "Happy birthday."

Taylor was also seen in the store itself the day before the incident and Stanley Goodall, operator of the poolroom testified seeing the accused both on the Wednesday and Thursday.

SUBMIT EXHIBITS

Included in exhibits submitted during testimony of Price Morris, Lakefield chief constable, were a hammer head, handle and a long spike, all blood-stained with grey hairs adhering to them.

Chief Morris said he found the hammer head on a stove near a large pool of blood and the broken handle beside the stove on the store floor. The spike was discovered in a doorway between the front and back sections of the second hand store.

Smith was found in the store by James Scott of Coe Hill and Amos Forbes of Apsley. Both testified they had not taken the missing $200.

$31 IN WALLET

A brother-in-law of Leonard, Russell Taylor of Curve Lake told the court how he looked after the accussed's wallet the day following the attack. There was $31 inside. The brother said the defendant was not employed at the time but made money by selling fish and frogs' legs.

Testifying on Smith's injuries, Dr. Gastle outlined them for the court. They consisted of lacerations to the head, bruises to the shoulders "where he obviously had been struck" and a skull fracture. He said the 79-year-old was lucky to have survived.

Communist Concessions May Torpedo Rearmament

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

BONN (AP)—Communist announcements of conciliatory reforms in East Germany hit with considerable political impact in West Germany today.

There were two major interpretations:

1. The Communists have made a shrewdly-timed move aimed at preventing West Germany's rearmament in alliance with the free world and torpedoing Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in this summer's critical elections

2. The Russians are actually coming through with "deeds not words" in their peace offensive, as demanded by the West.

Some Communist gestures offering hope of reunifying this divided country had been expected since Moscow began issuing peace feelers following Stalin's death

DEVELOPMENTS LINKED

But many here believed the Berlin gestures were intended not merely for Germany, but for a world-wide effect, especially in the United States. They were linked with recent developments in Korea and Austria and seen as an additional step in Moscow's answer to President Eisenhower's April peace challenge.

In a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, last April 16, Eisenhower called on Russia to prove the sincerity of its peace overtures by agreeing to global disarmament and taking concrete steps to ease world tensions.

Members of Adenauer's government were hesitant to comment on the Berlin announcements, other than to say that "anything which improves the lot of 18,000,000 enslaved and hungry East Germans must be welcomed."

But opponents, including the powerful Socialist party, were happy. The Socialists have accused Adenauer of trying to prevent a four-power meeting on Germany. He has said he favors such talks but only if the Russians show signs of sincerity.

NOT UNDERESTIMATED

Some West German sources said the Communists are only promising to "give the people back a part of what they have stolen from them." But official quarters did not underestimate the potentialities of the steps taken and their impact on a people who want their country reunified and the cold war ended.

German and Allied quarters noted the Soviet actions came a month after U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant, in a speech, challenged the Russians to produce "deeds not words" to meet Eisenhower's peace challenge.

Conant had specifically denounced persecution of the church, ruthless collectivization of agriculture and Communist pressures which drove thousands of refugees to flee to the West. Last night's Communist announcements included moves aimed at easing those conditions.

Announce Election Plans Friday St. Laurent Says

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government is preparing to fire its big elections guns on Friday. Prime Minister St. Laurent, returning from a two-week London trip, told reporters Wednesday night the government will make known its plans for a general election on that day, following a cabinet meeting.

He maintained, despite persistent speculation that the polling date has been set for Aug. 10, that no date has as yet been set. Neither has he made any decision as to where he will make his keynote campaign speech. There have been reports he will deliver it at Windsor, Ont., on June 22.

The 71 - year - old prime minister appeared in good spirits as he returned from the Coronation and the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference.

With him on the RCAF C-5 airliner were Trade Minister Howe, Transport Minister Chevrier, Works Minister Fournier and Jack Pickersgill, cabinet secretary and clerk of the Privy Council.

PARRIES QUERIES

Reporters pressed him for a statement on the government's election plans, but he parried most queries, stating they would have to wait until Friday when a cabinet meeting will be held.

Defence Minister Claxton, acting prime minister during the leader's absence, was on hand to greet Mr. St. Laurent. Also at the airport were Fisheries Minister Sinclair and Immigration Minister Harris.

On world issues the prime minister made these points:

1. The prime ministers' conference in London showed that there was no divergence among the countries in their plans to attain the objectives in which they are interested.

2. The chances of peace were improving. Canadians were apt to find "within a short time" that those who attempted aggression "are not going to be allowed to succeed."

3. There had been no suggestion at the prime ministers' conference that the Queen reside part of the time in various Commonwealth countries. Asked what he thought of the suggestion, Mr. St. Laurent sa' he would have to consider the matter before making a reply.

Mr. St. Laurent was asked to comment on various domestic election developments, on the return to power of the Liberals in Nova Scotia, the Liberal - Progressives in Manitoba and the Social Credit party in British Columbia.

He also was asked to comment on a statement by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who said Wednesday that an August election would indicate the government was in a panic over recurring evidences of its "extravagance and folly."

Mr. St. Laurent replied tartly that he sometimes agrees with Mr. Drew "but not very often."

A reporter asked whether Mr. St. Laurent thought the Social Credit victory in B. C. was a serious blow to the Liberals' chances in the federal field.

He did not know whether it was serious for the Liberals, but "it may be serious for the people of British Columbia."

Premier A. L. Macdonald should be reasonably satisfied with his victory in Nova Scotia where he had been returned with a reduced majority.

As for Manitoba, the fact that the CCF had received a reduced percentage of the vote indicated that the people there were returning to the older parties and that smaller parties were "on the wane."

Race To Finish Armistice Draft

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN (AP)—Allied and Red staff officers raced today to complete an armistice draft as South Korea boiled with new demonstrations and a threat to disregard any truce.

Three of the five UN command negotiators left this base camp temporarily as lower-level staff officers worked on details of the truce document in secret sessions at Panmunjom.

With the full-dress meetings in recess subject to call by either side, Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate, visited the U. S. 3rd division at the battle front and Rear-Admiral John Daniel and Brig.-Gen. Egbert Glenn went to Tokyo.

Any major armistice action requires their presence. They could speed back within a few hours.

Children See Coronation Film

The Odeon Theatre is showing to all elementary school pupils of the city and surrounding district the full length film of the Coronation. The Board of Education was delighted with the offer as this film is one of the finest recordings of pageantry and royal color in history. Eighty-tree minutes of technicolor splendor dazzle the eyes of the children and they will long remember the crowning of their lovely Queen.

At 9:00 a.m. today pupils from Central, Grove and Queen Elizabeth schools saw the picture and at 10:30 more than 900 Prince of Wales children marched to the theatre. Friday morning students of King George and King Edward schools will see the film. On Monday morning members of Queen Alexandra and Confederation schools will be in attendance and on Tuesday those from Queen Mary, May's and Park Hill schools will be there.

In the meantime more than 1600 separate school children will attend in the afternoon at one o'clock beginning with the Sacred Heart and St. Annes' group.

Also during the week as many rural schools as possible will come to the movie.

The Odeon management has further arranged to give the teacher of each class a portrait of the Queen to be placed in the individual class-rooms.

Medicine Hat Fears Flood

EDMONTON (CP)—A flood crest rolled down the South Saskatchewan river today toward the southeastern Alberta city of Medicine Hat, where the highest flood level in 30 years was expected.

A crest of 30 feet could be expected, highest since 1923. Workers were busy reinforcing dikes along the river bank and militia forces, police, the Red Cross and the Salvation Army were co-operating to handle any evacuations that might be necessary.

Late Wednesday the river had hit a level of 27 feet, flooding an athletic field and 10 city blocks. No families had yet been evacuated from the low-lying Purmal subdivision, but facilities for their removal were ready.

Thousands of residents lined the river to watch the gradual rise as the flood crest moved downstream.

Mayor Harry Veiner predicted the flood crest would hit Medicine Hat early Thursday.

Church Camps Prove Success

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—Church camps to inspire leadership in church work among young people are proving successful, it was reported today at the 17th triennial synod of the Anglican Algoma diocese.

Rev. F. F. Nock of Sudbury said three camps had been held during the last three years and that this year several of the church camps will be aided by the provincial government because they are non-profit organizations.

Reports on other camps in the diocese were presented by Rev. M. Goodman of Fort William and Rev. J. H. Watson who told of the camps in Muskoka, Whitefish Falls and Camp Gitchie Gumme at the Head of the Lakes. Other delegates spoke of smaller camps within their own parishes.

Warship Contingent Breaks Out Flags

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP)—Warships of many nations—including Canada's seven-ship flotilla—broke out their flags today to mark the official birthday of the Queen.

Scores of war vessels, large and small, assembled at this British base for the Coronation naval review next Monday. They include the first Soviet warship to enter British waters since the war, the 12,800-ton cruiser Sverdlov.

She arrived Wednesday under command of Capt. O. I. Rudauov.

The Canadian ships, headed by the aircraft carrier Magnificent and including the cruisers Ontario and Quebec, the destroyer Sioux, the frigates Swansea and La Hulloise and the icebreaker D'Iberville, arrived off Spithead Tuesday.

Today about 100 officers and men from the Russian cruiser went ashore on a sight-seeing trip. They went to London in buses provided by the Soviet embassy here. The embassy also provided interpreters and guides.

Engine Trouble Grounds Flier

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—Barbara King of Houston, Texas, was grounded, at least temporarily, today less than three hours after the start of the sixth annual all-women's international air race from Welland, Ont., to New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

She brought her Piper cruiser into Elmira airport with engine trouble. A crew of mechanics went to work immediately to get her back in the air.

The other 17 planes, meanwhile, passed Elmira and headed south by a variety of routes.

The entire field had taken off from Welland airport by 7:45 a. m. EST and stopped briefly in Buffalo to clear U. S. customs.

Most contestants were expected to take about 10 hours actual flying time for the 1,150-mile flight.

Korea by force. The U.S. position is that the country must be unified by peaceful methods.

The South Korean attacks on the impending armistice agreement became a factor of critical importance in setting up the post-armistice war prisoner repatriation commission when Switzerland announced Tuesday a refusal to serve unless South Korea approved. Wednesday, however, the government at Bern began reconsidering its position and today the situation was this:

GIVE REACTIONS

Sweden—Ambassador Erik Boheman delivered to the state department late Wednesday a note stating that Sweden "has decided to accept to serve."

India—Prime Minister Nehru was quoted in news dispatches as saying India was ready to serve but would have to reconsider if South Korean troops pulled out of the UN command. U.S. officials considered that India, which is scheduled to head the commission, will serve.

Switzerland — Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre said at Bern his country "could be induced" to take part in order to avoid delaying an armistice. This seemed to cancel the previous announcement that Switzerland must be counted out unless the South Koreans fell in line.

Poland and Czechoslovakia — these two Communist countries are likely to accept. It is assumed here that if there had been any question about their willingness to do so the Reds would never have nominated them.

that any attempt at world leadership by "a pistol at the back" is doomed to fail in an era like this.

"A coalition, such as ours, can only function on the basis of full consultation and agreement on basic policies and objectives."

Currently the most serious threats to Western co-operation lay in the economic and Far Eastern fields. It was the latter he chose for his main emphasis. He said:

NEW FORCES APPEAR

"New forces have swept across the Far East since the Second World War. Some of these reflect the pulsations of the international Communist conspiracy. Others are primarily related to the awakening urge of millions of Asians for national freedom and a better life.

"If we of the West are not able to agree on the distinction between these two forces which require a different approach and understanding by us, our co-operation in this part of the world may weaken and disappear to the joy and relief of those forces centred in Moscow and Peking who are using foul means and fair to bring about just such a result.

"This is an actual—and not an imaginary danger—because there is a real difference of view within our coalition as to the meaning of these Asian developments and on what our reaction to them should be. This difference involves, in fact, basic questions of Asian policy.

"There is no dispute over the necessity of resisting Communist military aggression, so determined by the UN or even, in certain circumstances, without such formal determination. There will of course, inevitably be differences over the means for defeating such aggression and as to the relative contributions of those taking part in the operation. Korea is an example of this kind of difference which can be disagreeable without being fatal."

ernment's hostile attitude of the last few months.

The Protestants are the most powerful religious group in East Germany. Bishop Dibelius' flock includes 16,000,000 of the East's 18,000,000 and 25,000,000 of the 48,-00, in the West.

German Catholic officials welcomed the agreement and said they hoped to obtain a similar promise of relief from Communist persecution.

The church-state pact provided:

1. Recognition of the church's right of assembly.

2. "No further actions" against the Youth Communities and other church groups.

3. Review of court sentences against more than 100 pastors now in jail on charges of opposing the state. Confiscated church property will be returned.

4. All state subsidies to the church—long customary in Germany—to be paid promptly.

5. The ministry of education to work out a plan restoring religious lessons to Soviet zone classrooms.

6. Elimination of discrimination against advanced students loyal to the church or to church groups.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP)—The U. S. dollar was at a discount of ⅝ per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 99 11-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.79 9-16, unchanged.

All Market Sections Strengthened Mildly

TORONTO (CP)—All sections of the market strengthened mildly in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Western oils led the come-back in a broad advance. Base metals and industrials closely with an average gain of 1½ index points. Golds showed good advances in roleum was a specialty as it added 49 cents; Anglo-Canadian, Central-Leduc, Del Rio and Federated Petroleum shared in the rally.

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals continued yesterday's rise as Nesbitt Labine, Rix, Graham-Bousquet, Chimo, New Delhi had gains ranging to 30 cents. Anacon Lead eased 15 cents under selling pressure. In a mixed papers group, International Paper picked up $1.25 but Price Brothers was down 50 cents.

In golds, seniors, juniors and holding companies all traded higher with the majority of gains recorded by juniors. Bralorne and New Dickenson topped the winners.

Protest Cut In Road Appropriations

The Peterborough County Council passed a resolution Wednesday afternoon sharply rapping the provincial government for scaling down road appropriation bylaws this year. They called on the county voters to protest to the Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP.

At the last session of county council, the members were informed that the county's own road appropriation bylaw for $235,000 had fallen under the Department of Highway's pruning shears. It was cut back $33,000 to $202,000.

The individual municipalities in the county — 12 townships and three villages—have been cut back a total of $35,000 on their bylaws.

Altogether then the county and the municipalities have had their approved road construction and maintenance programs reduced by $65,000. Of this amount, the department would ordinarily have paid 50 per cent for road and 80 per cent for bridges and culverts.

NO DISCUSSION

It was expected that there would be some criticism of the provincial government at the June session because of the cuts. But the resolution was introduced in the closing minutes of Monday afternoon and there was no discussion.

The resolution was drafted by Reeve William C. Grant, of Lakefield, and was seconded by Reeve William E. Griffith, of Belmont-Methuen township:

"This council deeply regrets the cuts made by the Department of Highways in the 1953 road appropriation bylaws which have forced reductions in badly-needed road construction and street maintenance in each of the municipalities of this county, and call upon each voter in the county to protest these cuts to the Hon. H. R. Scott, MPP."

Reeve Grant did not elaborate on what he meant by a "protest" by the voters.

Later today the county council will study the subject of county roads and the matter will come up again. At that time Ewart Marston, district engineer from the department, will be present to give the department's side of the picture.

Suggest Churches Define Areas Of Work

TORONTO (CP)—The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada resolved Wednesday to consult other Protestant denominations in defining areas of work across Canada.

The Rev. G. D. Johnston of Brantford, chairman of the general board of missions which presented the proposal, said it would mean an "end to the absurd system of planting at a crossroads the churches of three denominations."

He said such an agreement would relieve financial strain on the churches and produce more efficient coverage of areas in large cities.

Bus Parking Said Hazardous

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Reeve William C. Grant presided at the village council meeting. Present were Councillors G. S. Dunford, J. R. Hull, J. A. Steed, and W. A. Killoran.

Frank A. Payne, local insurance agent, addressed the council regarding the renewal of the treasurer's bond and the liability insurance. It was decided to renew the treasurer's bond with the Canadian Surety Company for $8,500, with an annual premium of $34.

A letter was received from the Lakefield and District Memorial Centre enclosing renewals of insurance policies and premium and asking assistance in meeting them. The council will advance funds appropriated for payment of rink insurance premiums to the board of the rink with the recommendation that the fire insurance policy be cancelled and coverage placed with a local agent.

William Bickell requested an increase in pay and Councillor Dunford was appointed to negotiate with Mr. Bickell on the matter.

Council will ask Chief Price Morris to ask the bus drivers to find a more favorable place to park, as their present parking on either side of Queen Street between Regent and Concession Streets is creating a hazard.

The streets committee were authorized to investigate the need for street lighting on Rabbit Street, and have lighting installed if necessary. Also on the agenda for this committee is an inquiry into the matter of the culvert into the property owned by John Sanderson, with instructions to remedy the situation and to look into the question of the construction of a storage barn, oil storage tank, and sale of the present storage sheds.

The Department of Highways will be requested to implement the road marching on Bridge and Queen Streets as soon as possible.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $5,547.34.

Heart Disease Blamed On Agene

LONDON (Reuters)—Lord Hankey, a non-party peer, Wednesday night blamed the use of agene, artificial bread whitener, for the increase in coronary thrombosis and other heart diseases in Britain.

He said a British flour mill set aside wholemeal flour for dog biscuits because agenized flour might send dogs mad.

"So we are prepared to give to our children what we would not give to a dog," he told the House of Lords.

Lord Horder, the late King GeorgeVI's doctor, said New Zealand had never used agene but there was just as much coronary thrombosis there as in Britain.

Lord Carrington, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of agriculture, said the government has decided to abandon the use of agene as soon as a substitute could be found.

Too Many Ontario People Behind Bars

More people in Ontario are in jail or prison than in the whole of Great Britain. Yet the population of Great Britain is nearly fifty millions, the population of Ontario little more than four and a half millions. Ontario is not the only jail-bird province; the general Canadian score is bad. According to the director of probation services for the Ontario Attorney-General's department, in 1950 Canada put one out of every 139 people of this country behind bars. In the same year England and Wales sent one out of every 2,095 of the population to jail or prison. The reasons for our large jail population are obvious: there is more crime in Ontario than in Britain, and more offenders draw jail terms.

• • •

How can this deplorable state of affairs be changed? Few persons will advocate reducing the number of indictable offences. Two things can be done. The first is to improve the law-abiding sense of the populace. We do not propose to discuss here how a deeper and wider respect for law and order can be inculcated. It comes through a long process of education, training, welfare work and personal acceptance of moral and civic responsibility. It results from a well-balanced society steeped in a tradition of law and order and is found among a people whose social climate is propitious to good conduct and a deterrent to crime.

• • •

The second means of attacking the problem is simply this: send fewer people to jail, and keep inmates locked up a shorter time. Can this be done safely, with beneficial results to society and the offenders? The answer which probation officers and the former deputy commissioner of penitentiaries give is an unequivocal Yes. Reinforcing their own experience in dealing with prisoners by reference to British practices, they believe that the parole system should be used more extensively, and more offenders, particularly first offenders, should be put on probation. "It should be a maxim," said Joseph McCulley, former deputy commissioner of penitentiaries and now Warden of Hart House, "that the punishment—if such it is to be called—should fit the criminal and not merely the crime." Probation and parole are both devices to accomplish this.

• • •

In the probation system, a man is found guilty and is held in custody while a probation officer makes a pre-sentence report. The punishment is then devised to fit the criminal as adequately as possible, while safeguarding the public. If he is placed on probation, he is turned over to a probation officer who makes weekly visits outside working hours, and ensures that the offender is living up to his full responsibilities. Probation gives a mild or first offender a second chance—under observation and the control of authority. Through parole, a prisoner already behind bars is released (on the recommendation of a parole board) before his sentence is completed. During the time he is on parole he is under surveillance and usually is required to report periodically to court officers. Mr. McCulley said that experienced prison administrators are well aware that a prisoner comes to a certain point where he is a better risk for release than he would be later on. A wide and able use of parole may find this critical point.

• • •

A revision and enlargement of the parole system, and a greater use of probation are emphatically worth consideration. The present practices are far too costly to the Province and too harmful to individuals who have broken the law. During the last twenty years our prison system has failed to rehabilitate seventy per cent. of the Ontario people committed to it. An example of the salutary effect of probation is this: over a fourteen-year period seventy-five per-cent. of first offenders placed on probation have not been convicted again.

• • •

An improved system of parole and probation will not automatically depopulate our prisons and reform all criminals. We cannot expect—for many years at any rate—to have as good a record as Britain. One reason is that in a closely knit, thickly populated country like England, parole and probation are easier to supervise. In Britain it is not easy to skip the country or disappear into the woods. There are more enforcement officers, more police to the square mile, and more private citizens actively concerned that laws be observed and skulkers from it brought to heel. Nevertheless, a change in parole and probation methods here seems warranted and possible. The Ontario Legislature's Select Committee on Reform Institutions, hearing reports on probation and its results, were enthusiastic about the probable benefits of widening and improving the application of probation to Ontario lawbreakers. A more flexible probation system and a careful extension of parole should lighten Ontario's black and costly record. Thirty thousand inmates at a cost of some seven million dollars a year is a distressful matter.

Controversial Cartoon

We publish elsewhere on this page today the controversial cartoon called "Morning After", which caused so much excitement when the Manchester Guardian printed it the day after the Coronation. It is not hard to see why so many people disliked it intensely; the suggestion that all the Coronation pageantry was child's play, made up of toy soldiers, fairy tales,—a hundred million pound spree, in fact—is unpleasantly harsh. But it does not surprise us from the pen of David Low.

Low was for many years the ablest political cartoonist not only in Britain, but in the world. There was no one to touch him. Some of his cartoons during the 'thirties were prophetic—there is no other appropriate description of them. There was always a mordant quality about them, and often they were bitter. But of late years Low has been less bitter than sour. "Morning After" is the sourest of his pictures to date.

Low's political opinions have always been to the Left of centre, and very often they have been uncommonly shrewd. He has pricked many a bubble. But in this cartoon we think that he is wrong. He may make fun of the Coronation as an expensive show if he pleases, but he cannot pretend that the Left does not also spend millions on expensive shows—and shows with far less justification and taste in their excesses than the Coronation. "Morning After" is not Leftist in spirit; it is merely sour puritanism—the bilious response to public rejoicing of a man who has lost the power to rejoice.

Time will pass judgement on this historic cartoon—for we firmly believe it to be historic. Time will tell whether Low is right in his notion that Reality must invariably mean something unpleasant. Our own feeling is that the Coronation was just as "real" as anything else, and that it may well have heralded the beginning of a new and better age.

B.C. Elections

Only a few months ago we were writing on the same topic and in the same vein as we must write now: the British Columbia elections and the inconclusive reports of the balloting. Late in 1952 provincial elections were held in B.C., but it was weeks after the election before any government could be confirmed. The delay was caused by the alternative voting system used then for the first time in B.C. Finally it was known that the Social Credit party has a wavering majority of seats, and that the CCF would not form the government. It was also known that the Liberals and Conservatives had been routed completely from seats of power.

The Social Credit government of Premier Bennett was soon defeated in the legislature and new elections were called. These were held last Tuesday. Now the same tiring story is being repeated. The Social Credit party seems near re-election, the CCF are runners-up, and the other parties have made a poor showing. What the final count will be, remains to be seen when the complications of the alternative vote are sorted out and the totals and sub-totals, second choices and x's are toted up. If Premier Bennett's party does little better than it did last year, British Columbia will again suffer the instability due to lack of a government which does not have a working, effective majority. Is B.C. taking France as its model?

NOTE AND COMMENT

150,000 Beasts Driven South

By WILLIAM FITTER
(In Sydney, Australia)

THE GREAT DROVE— the annual movement of beef cattle from the Northern Territory to the fattening pastures of eastern and southern Australia—is now on.

This year there is a record turn-off, about 150,000 beasts which are worth two million pounds, because last year drought parched the stock routes and prevented the movement of cattle.

Most of the cattle will be on the road three months or longer. Those which have to go 1,200 to 1,500 miles from Victoria River Downs cattle station, south of Darwin, to railheads in western Queensland will be walking upwards of five months.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are three main movements. Mobs totalling 95,000 head will walk over the Murranji-Barkly Tableland route from the Northern Territory into western Queensland. About 10,000 will be driven westward to the Wyndham meatworks, while other mobs will converge on the railhead at Alice Springs, in the "dead heart" of the continent, and then travel 1,000 miles by rail to Adelaide.

The movement of 150,000 head of cattle, probably the greatest trek ever attempted in any country, demanded careful planning to avoid confusion and possible disaster. Mobs have to be started on the road at nicely calculated intervals to ensure that wayside feed and water facilities are not overloaded.

Control of the whole operation rests with the Stock Department of the Northern Territory Administration, which issues permits to allow the drovers to start moving their mobs.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONCE A MOB is launched it may be out of touch with civilisation for a month or more, but planes will check the progress of the travelling cattle periodically and report to the Stock Department. If the mobs are bunching together the boss drovers will be warned by dropped messages.

Apart from that aerial link, the drovers engaged in this mighty trek will live very much the same lives as their forebears did eighty to one hundred years ago in the roaring days of Australian outback development.

✧ ✧ ✧

CATTLE are driven in mobs of 1,500 to 2,000. A boss drover contracts to deliver them to a state destination at an agreed rate—at about four shillings per head per hundred miles. He can walk bullocks 63 miles a week, on average, and cows 56 miles. So moving an average mob across northern Australia to railhead is worth from £2,500 to £3,300.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT this not all profit. The boss drover must employ eight or more stockmen, some of whom are frequently aborigines, and provide the "plant" of upwards of 15 packhorses and fifty saddle horses. He must also provide food for the trip. This is rough and ready fare. They kill from the mob once a week, eat fresh beef for a couple of days and salt the remainder. For the rest they bake "damper" (a mixture of flour and baking soda which is stuck around a stick and placed in hot ashes until it resembles a crude bread) and fill in the gaps with potatoes and onions and quarts of tea and coffee.

✧ ✧ ✧

YOU NEED an iron stomach to travel cattle and an iron constitution, too. Droving trips are done in extremes of temperature—hot, dry days when the almost vertical sun throws few shadows around the scarce and straggly trees of the great northern plains and uplands, and cold desert nights that threaten to freeze the stockmen in their saddles. Legs and arms that were soaked with sweat during the day grow stiff and benumbed at night.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND after riding all day, choked by the dust stirred up by the mob, or chasing after stragglers, you must turn out of your warm bed (a roll of blankets beside the camp fire) and ride herd for a two-hour night watch to guard against attacks by dingoes (wild dogs) which will frequently stampede the cattle. While you are doing this nightly chore, stiff in the saddle, you are expected to sing, or make a noise that passes for singing, because experience shows that a little melody keeps the cattle peaceful at night!

But the drovers of northern Australia ask no other life. It lacks every known comfort, but is carefree and provides them during this five months droving season with enough money to last them through the rest of the year.

✧ ✧

THEY have beaten out a code of behaviour, unorthodox by city standards but based fundamentally on comradeship. Although time on the road means money to these men, if they hear that the boss drover behind has had a stampede they will corral their own mob and ride back fifty to a hundred miles to help their mates remuster their cattle.

And when the long, hard ride is finished and the cattle have been handed over to their new owner, the droving gang will draw their pay and adjourn to a bush pub. to quench their months' old thirst in a binge which traditionally ends in a free-for-all fight, before returning home.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME of thse pub. brawls have become part of the droving legend. Few of the old-time fist fights, however, excell the "Battle of Junction Hotel, Newcastle Waters" at the end of the 1951 season. There fifteen drovers fought for one and a half hours in a bushman's classic of ferocity and fairness. When it was over they bandaged one another, compared notes and drank to their mutual health. They fought for the sheer joy of it, without any particular reason and certainly without any grudge. They drank a special toast to one leather-skinned drover who had five separate fights and was knocked unconscious four times.

Next morning, sore but happy, they paid compensation to the publican for his wrecked bar, saddled their horses and headed outback to await the next droving season.

Yes, there's still a Wild West in outback Australia, and a rugged story in many a beef steak.

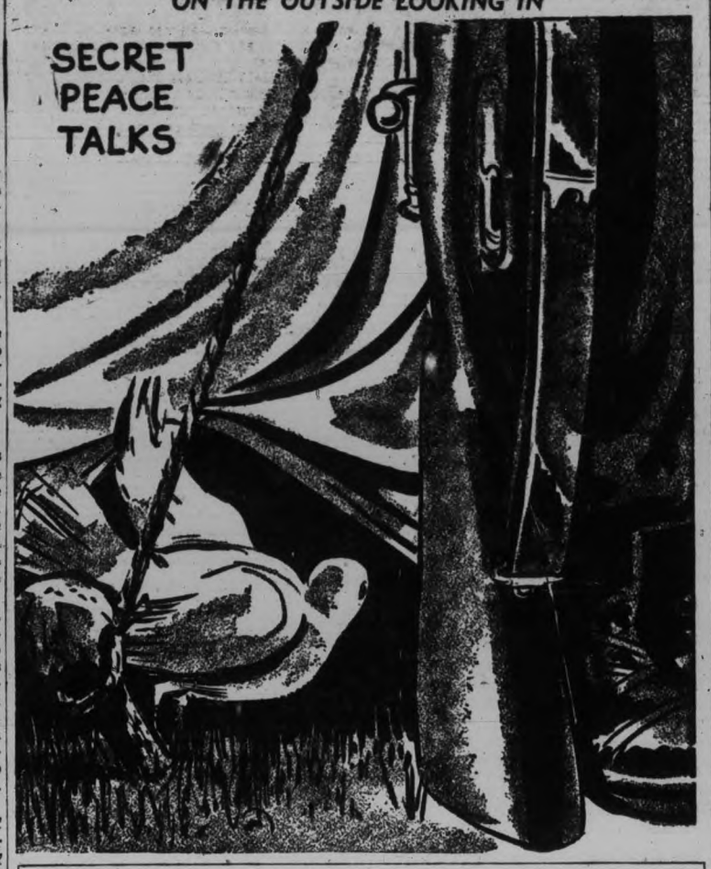
ANSWERED

There was a pile of stones in the road and a lamp on the top of it. An old fellow was in charge.



"What's the lamp for?" he was asked.

"To warn motorists of the pile of stones."

"But what's the pile of stones for?"

"To put the lamp on, of course."

ON THE OUTSIDE LOOKING IN

Toughening The Top Brass

(NEW STATESMAN AND NATION, LONDON)

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has made a clean sweep of the U. S. Supreme Command, and has given the key positions to men of whom the Republicans thoroughly approve. General Bradley, who has been a sensible and moderating influence in the Pentagon throughout the critical years of the Korean war, and who has been the main opponent of the MacArthurite military, has been replaced by Admiral Radford as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Admiral who has been commanding the Seventh Fleet in the Pacific, is a brilliant but impatient advocate of the "go-it-alone" school; not long ago he was urging the U. S. to institute its own blockade of China if its allies would not collaborate. His appointment, however, is not likely to please the Air Force, whose appropriations have already been sharply reduced in the Defence budget; for, though he is a staunch believer in air power, he thinks carrier-based aircraft are much to be preferred as an offensive weapon to the long-range formations of the Strategic Air Command. General Ridgeway, not a success with his N.A.T.O. colleagues (who prefer his successor, General Gruenther,) has gone back to Washington to take General Collin's place as Army Chief of Staff— another example of the pugnacious field commander, greatly admired by Congress, replacing a cautious "Democratic" General. Admiral Carney, who has been in charge of the N. A. T. O. fleet in the Mediterranean, and who more or less shares Admiral Radford's strategic outlook and his dislike of "containment," moves up to Chief of Naval Operations. These are disturbing appointments, which greatly strengthen the influence of the "tough" military at the expense of those who put inter-Allied co-operation before pugnacity and independent decison.

British and Canadian Broadcasting Triumph

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

Queen Elizabeth's Coronation was followed throughout the United States with a degree of excitement and interest exceeding anything Americans have ever felt for an event outside their own country.

From five-thirty in the morning, when a live B.B.C. broadcast of the service in Westminster Abbey began to come through, until midnight, when the last of the television films of the service and procession ended, the whole of the American radio and television network was almost exclusively devoted to the Coronation. Wherever one went that day one heard the peal of the Abbey bells, the grave tones of the Archbishop of Canterbury, or the voices of the Westminster choristers, issuing from television sets in hotels and restaurants, from car radios, from private houses. It was hard to remember that Washington is the seat of a government which rebelled against the Queen's ancestor, George the Third.

In Washington we had Queen's weather, clear, cool and sunny, and although Tuesday was an ordinary working day for the Americans there was an air of suppressed excitement wherever one went.

Coronation Day was a triumph not only for Her Majesty, but for British Broadcasting and television methods. But as it turned out the elaborate arrangements made by the three big American broadcasting enterprises were largely frustrated. The best commentary and the best pictures were those taken from the B.B.C., and the first television films were put on by relaying the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's programme. I heard countless Americans praise the dignified and moving commentaries of John Snagge and Richard Dimbleby. And I have never seen Americans angrier with their own system of commercial broadcasting than when, at the moment after the crowning of the Queen, the programme was interrupted to advertise a brand of motor-car. Throughout the whole American Press there has been scarcely one sour note, even in the isolationist papers, and at this moment the Queen is probably as much loved and respected in the United States as she is in her own Dominions.

Well-Merited Tribute To Speaker Macdonald

(Montreal Gazette)

Whatever history may have to say of the enactments and the conduct of Canada's 21st parliament, there must inevitably be a good niche for Speaker Ross Macdonald. Seldom, if ever, has a man occupying that post been accorded the obviously sincere and spontaneous praise by all parties that was showered upon Mr. Macdonald as Parliament prorogued Thursday evening.

Throughout all the parliamentary contention of the past four years the 61-year-old Liberal member for Brantford has steered the ship of state through the fogs of bitterness and around the rocks of recrimination in such a manner, as to have shipped no water or to have sprung no seams.

A firm basic knowledge of procedure, an inherent kindliness of character and unfailing good humor so actuated him in the performance of his often delicate and trying duties that Liberals, Progressive Conservatives, Social Crediters and C.C.F.'ers joined unanimously in his commendation and in wishing him God-speed as he said good bye.

The performance of Mr. Macdonald as Speaker of the House of Commons has been such as to bolster confidence in the Canadian form of government. His contribution to the effectiveness and the dignity of our Parliament has ben greater than that of many a politician who has figured much more prominently in the news since 1949.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then said Jesus to those Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

They answered him, We be Abraham's seed, and were never in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, Ye shall be made free?

Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin. And the servant abideth not in the house for ever: but the Son abideth ever . . . I know that ye are Abraham's seed; but ye seek to kill me, because my word hath no place in you . . . But now ye seek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham . . . . Your father Abraham rejoiced to see my day: and he saw it, and was glad.

Then said the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and hast thou seen Abraham?

Jesus said unto them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am (John 8:31-35,37,40,56-58.)

Letters To The Editor

STUPID PRACTICAL JOKE

Sir: I would like to take up a small space in your paper, to reply to the Practical Joker. To think anyone could be so dirty and low as to phone up an ambulance and tell them to come to our place on Saturday night and they gave my husband's name!

I sure hope the owner of the ambulance reads this, to let them know how sorry we are. Also I hope the Joker reads this. They may think it's a joke, but they are the only ones that do.

I guess some people do not realize what ambulances are for. But if they need one some time and do not get it, maybe they'll realize then.

All I can say it must be a grown person with a child's mind.

We know it couldn't be a mistake because we are the only one near or around Peterborough with that name.

We remain,
THE FUN LOVERS.

VOTE FOR FOUR

Sir: In answer to the Council split-vote for a referendum to be placed before the municipal voters: Although there has been quite a controversy between Labour movements for a change in "You Must Vote for Four system" at their regular meeting, let us look at their request in this way. Although it may seem at the present to lack public interest. If a slate of (10) ten candidates are running, it's quite a possibility that a majority of the voters know only two or three of the candidates, so why should they vote for somebody they do not know, or they could know more but wish to refrain from voting for, for reason best known to themselves. The Labour movements did not wish to place a petition before the City Council, but they have given them no alternative now but to go ahead with same.

One alderman passes the remark, that he had not noticed any public discussion and that he felt two letters were not sufficient, yet these two letters that he refers to bear quite a weight. So let's hear from the public both through the Press and City Council. Write your views to the Editor, also a copy to City Clerk requesting that same be read at next council meeting.

How about swamping the mail to the above places for the next few days.

Thanking you and yours,
G. W. LINSDELL.

More Polio Cases This Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Number of poliomyelitis cases in Canada to date this year is higher than usual, Dr. A. F. W. Peart, chief of the contagious diseases division of the health department, reported Wednesday.

Up to June 1, 196 cases were reported.

"Polio has been on the increase during the last 10 years," he said, "but we can't predict the areas in which it will strike." He recalled that last year it was particularly severe in Western Canada. There was also more polio throughout the country last winter an usual.

Peak polio month is usually August, but this could vary year by year.

Last year 4,695 polio cases were reported; in 1951 the number was 2,563 and in 1950 there were 911.

Death rate from the disease varied during the last 10 years from 1.5 deaths per 100,000 population to .3.

Main reason for the increase in polio this year was the outbreak in the Yukon and Northwest Territories which now lists 42 cases among service personnel in the Whitehorse area alone.

Hair Falls Out Child Awarded $63

TORONTO (CP)—A little girl whose parents claimed her hair fell out after a cold wave permanent was awarded $63 damages by an assize court jury Wednesday night.

The parents claimed Pamela Angel, now 6, was injured 2½ years ago by the negligence of Sophie Viner, operator of a hairdressing parlor.

Thomas Delaney, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Angel, the parents, said later he will appeal the jury decision because of what he called the "grossly inadequate" award.

Near Average Crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. agriculture department Wednesd y forecast this year's wheat crop at 1,132,500,000 bushels. The new forecast is 92,500,000 bushels more than last month's prediction of about 1,040,000,000 bushels. The crop would be far short of last year's 1,291,447,000 bushels, which was the third largest of record, but close to the 1942-51 average of 1,088,000,000 bushels.

Tony Kotowski A Holdout As Orfuns' Grid Coach After Asking For A Raise

Tony Kotowski, Orfuns' football coach last season, is a holdout so far this year. He has refused to take the coaching job again in 1953 for the pay offered him by the club executive. This was explained at an executive meeting held last evening in the YMCA, with Dr. Wilf Preston in the chair, as the president, Dr. Don Aitken, is presently in the hospital. Last year Kotowski was paid $1,500 for coaching, plus a percentage of playoff gates in Eastern Canada and Canadian intermediate "A" grid finals. Orfuns went to the finals before losing out in Winnipeg. Tony's total pay for the football season came to $2,250, a major part of his percentage money coming from the flat guarantee Orfuns received in the game at Winnipeg.

ASKS FOR RAISE

This year, the 1952 coach asked for a raise of $500, or, in other words, he wants a flat salary of $2,000 for the season, plus the same percentage of playoff gates as last year if the club goes as far.

The club executive has decided that it cannot pay this amount or anything close to it and keep solvent. Officials last night pointed out various factors in support of their claim. They said that, without money donated by a generous public, they could not have taken the team west where they received a big cut of an extra large gate in the final. This year, if Orfuns make the final again, they would have their own expenses to Montreal and would have to guarantee the western team a large part of the gate.

Furthermore, they point out that they received generous help from D. A. McGillis who paid out $120 weekly all season to bring the Orillia players here for games and workouts, and he bought them their equipment. These commuting players had a big part in getting Orfuns into Dominion finals. Mr. McGillis also paid $650 to have the east-west intermediate playoff broadcast back to Peterborough.

$100 A WEEK

It was the unanimous decision several weeks ago of the executive that they could not pay Tony Kotowski more than $100 a week this year, commencing August 1—when drills begin—until the club is through for the season. This would be about $1,500 for the season, they figured, with no playoff percentage money for the coach.

Meantime, several prospective coaches from other centres and in the States are being contacted and one is likely to be signed within a few weeks, if Kotowski does not reconsider and sign again.

Booster tickets are being put on sale now by the executive at $10 each, entitling the buyer and wife or one child to see all home scheduled games and take the car into the grounds. Holders of booster tickets later in the season automatically have a draw on two Grey Cup tickets.

Several other matters were dealt with at the meeting, including appointing delegates to the ORFU intermediate meeting in Toronto on Saturday, and the addition of Don Bark to the executive. The club will have a dinner shortly at which Dr. Roger Chenoweth will show reels of Orfuns' various games throughout the season. Anyone interested in attending may contact one of the officials. Late in the summer, a "quarterback club" dinner is planned, also.

Port Hope Rink Captures Duffus Trophy

With 22 rinks entered — 17 from the local club and five from clubs in this district—the ladies of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club held their annual open rink tournament yesterday afternoon and evening. So close was the competition that Mrs. W. McTaggart's Port Hope rink won the J. J. Duffus Trophy by the smallest of margins—one shot. Mrs. S. Gibbs' rink from Oshawa was the other three-game winner.

The games got away to a good start in the early afternoon under favorable conditions, but that game after the supper hour was cruel. The strong northwest wind that blew right across the greens made it very difficult for the ladies to do their best

POOR ATTENDANCE

The attendance, particularly from outside clubs was disappointing and it is rather difficult to understand this, as this lawn bowling club has one of the best layouts in the province.

All rinks played three 14-end games, and when the scores were turned in, the visitors took away the majority of prizes.

However, cold weather or hot weather, dry or wet, the ladies took everything with good grace, and all appeared to have a good time.

The committee in charge of the tournament was: Mrs. N. Killingbeck, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. L. Bearne, and Mrs. J. Knights.

WINNERS

First and J. J. Duffus Trophy — Port Hope: Mrs. A. Bathgate, Mrs. C. Davey, Mrs. V. Highfield, Mrs. W. McTaggart, skip.

Second—Oshawa: Mrs. E. Burke, Mrs. W. Dewland, Mrs. G. Read, Mrs. S. Gibbs, skip.

Third—Belleville: Mrs. N. Kyle, Mrs. C. Argue, Mrs. G. Thompson, Mrs. H. Cross, skip.

Fourth—Peterborough: Mrs. D. Martin, Mrs. R. Hamilton, Mrs. S. Deyman, Mrs. W. Hepburn, skip.

Fifth—Peterborough: Mrs. A. Ingram, Mrs. G. Hartle, Mrs. W. Petrie, Mrs. J. Kingsbury, skip.

Gavilan Unanimous Winner In 10 Rounds

DETROIT (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, firing his pet bolo punch at will, won a unanimous 10-round decision over rugged but outclassed Italo Scartichini of Milan, Italy, Wednesday night at Olympic Stadium. Gavilan weighed 151¾ to 155 for Scartichini in the non-title bout.

Although Gavilan won easily, he found his younger opponent a tough customer.

The flashy champion pressed the attack all the way but couldn't put across a knockout blow. Scartichini refused to give ground to the swift-punching Cuban but he had no offence that was even close to matching Gavilan's.

Curve Lake Victors

Curve Lake fastballers racked up another victory at home at the expense of Dominion Woollens 16-3 in league play. The visitors were limited to a run in the first inning, one more in the fifth and their last in the final frame. Taylor twirled effective ball throughout. Teams:

Woollens: Noakes, 3b; Drury,2b; Schell, c; McMillan, ph; Maudsley, 1b; Hillier, rf; Crampton, ss; Manbeck, cf; Doris, p; Smith, p; Hughey, lf.

King Edward Wins

King Edward won 13-9 over Prince of Wales in their Public School Softball League encounter yesterday, a postponed game played at King Edward. The winners tallied five in the first frame, adding four next time to bat, one more in the third and three in the fifth. The losers broke out for seven in the second but were held to just two runs the rest of the way, getting them in the fifth. Teams:

King Edward: W. Rowe, R. Rowe, Walling, Warner, Simmons, Beggs, McCulloch, King, Waldie, Livingston, Heard, Jones.

P-of W: Coombes, Ketchison, Bowen, McIntosh, B. Douglas, Trotter, Londerville, G. Douglas, Jay, Tully.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Down through the years, sports have provided entertainment for a great many people. No other field of entertainment in the city— with the exception of the daily movies— can touch sports for fan appeal, we're sure. Occasionally, a circus, exhibition or some such draws a huge crowd, but, for regular paid attendances the year round, athletic attractions are pretty well tops in popularity with the citizens as a whole. Where else would you get 3,000 paid customers in one night than at a lacrosse game—such as here last Friday—or it could be football or hockey? And the larger the city, of course, the larger the sports' throng. It seems that most folks like their games.

* * * * * *

Jack Gatecliff of St. Kitts comments "OHA president Tory Gregg, who also heads the softball series in the Wingham area, reports that good batterymen are receiving as much as $150 a week, while run-of-the-mill players pick up tabs anywhere from $60 to $85 for every seven-day stretch. Needless to say, all of Canada's top players are flocking to that area and included in the list of hurlers drawing down those fabulous amounts are Russ Johnston, Norm Bagnell, Bill Zuke, etc. This pay is an top of a regular job which most players hold down. Several of the parks are already sold out for the season and fans turn out up to 6,000 for nearly every game under the lights. If the bubble ever breaks, the resounding explosion will be heard well into the Niagara district."

Local Lamp-Lighters

Elsewhere tonight, we list the local OLA senior scorers to date. The official list from Secretary Chuck Rowan isn't available, but this is what we find by checking over all summaries so far. Ike Hildebrand is away out in front with 43 points in nine games, made up of 21 goals and 22 assists. A grand early-season record for starry Ike, after a successful AHL campaign last winter. Curly Mason is going great guns with 28 points, while two defencemen—Jerry Fitzgerald and Harry Wipper—lead all the other forwards on the attack. Jerry is high on assists, next to Hildebrand. Don Ashbee is another with 20 or more points in the club. The Petes are doing okay so far in the gruelling grind, and even Moon Wootton has a couple of assists.

* * * * * *

Since Fergus beat Yorks and then Mimico downed Fergus—not to mention Tigers almost thumping Petes last start—fans can see that the OLA race is developing into quite a scramble. Hamilton Tigers are likely to give the Thorpe team a sizzling scrap here tomorrow eve. Haven't heard yet if the Tigers will have their own goalie back then or if they'll again borrow Joe Hickson from the Petes. The locals' spare goalie almost beat Peterborough in Hamilton on Monday, and he'd sure like to show his home folks what he can do in a game. Playing coach Onions Smith, Barney Welch, Butch Guthro, Joe Whitnell, Jack Dorney and the rest of the striped crew from the Ambitious City will make the champs hustle all the way here, we expect.

A Matter Of Money

No grid coach named yet for the local Orfuns, Canadian intermediate "A" finalists last fall. However, strings are out and several prospects are being contacted now in this respect. As pointed out elsewhere in tonight sheet, Tony Kotowski is a holdout over the salary question, though he expects to take up residence here since his marriage to a local lass. The story is this: Tony has been offered $100 a week to coach this year by the executive, or about $1,500 for the season, they estimate. Last year he got $1,500 plus a percentage of eastern and western final playoffs, and his total take was $2,250. This year he is asking for a raise of $500 or, in other words, he wants $2,000, plus a percentage of those two final playoff games, if the club goes as far this autumn.

* * * * * *

Grid executive has definitely decided that it cannot pay more than $1,500 for a coach in '53, and the reasons are outlined in the story of last night's meeting at the YM. Local officials would like to have Tony back at the helm, but won't up his pay $500. For the shortness of its season, the few home homes and the long hauls with a big, well-equipped squad, all insured, football is a most expensive sport, even where the players got no pay for play. Had not the public kicked in generously late last fall, Orfuns couldn't have made the trip west. This year, the final is in Montreal, with the western team being guaranteed a hefty slice of the gate for expenses. So, that's how it stands on the local gridiron at the moment.

Would Control Baseball TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate commerce committee Wednesday unanimously approved a bill that would permit organized baseball to police radio and television accounts of ball games.

The idea behind the legislation sponsored by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (Dem.-Col.) is to protect minor league clubs, which have been folding with monotonous regularity the last four years.

A committee staff report said that as of last month 38 minor leagues were in business in 292 cities compared with 59 in 454 cities in 1949.

The report implied the major cause for this decline has been the great increase in TV accounts of major league games in minor league cities.

Under the Johnson bill, a league would be given the right to regulate all radio and TV accounts of games within 50 miles of each home park in the circuit. Each club would have the same right.

Mexican League Asks Active Membership

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Mexican Baseball League Wednesday applied formally for an active membership in the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

President George M. Trautman indicated the organized minors would soon grant the request.

The Mexican League asked for a double-A classification, although Trautman suggested it apply for a class-A franchise and then work up.

The Quebec Provincial League now is the only circuit outside the United States holding membership in the association.

The Mexican League is made up of six teams, playing four games a week, with an 84-game schedule.

Port Hope Bows To The UEW In Soccer Game

UEW yanked out a 4-3 City Soccer League victory over Queen's Park team of Port Hope here last night in a keen contest. The undefeated local crew had to finish strong to gain the verdict after a lot of good soccer football was seen.

The homesters attacked first but Hoyle's hard shot was stopped by the goalie. Strong also was blocked. Port Hope hit the crossbar on a thrust and, on the return drive, Hoyle scored on a pass from Strong. Holroyd nearly notched one but was thefted by the net-minder. Port Hope played fine football but their forwards couldn't finish. Their outside left finally equalized. Holroyd drove close again and Queen's Park forced a corner but the ball was cleared and Hoyle put it in the net—however, it was offside. After Croll handle the ball by the goal, Queen's Park missed on the penalty try. Hoyle then put UE up on a pass from Holt.

OUTPLAYED UE

Queen's Park rolled to open the second half and the UEW goalie had to be good. Their centre forward hit the bar before the UE defence could clear. Port Hope outplayed UE at this time to almost tally again. Their inside right made the score level with a hard shot into the corner. Though the Ports' Italian goalie saved time after time, UEW finished strong with Hoyle scoring on a pass from Strong, and then Strong notching the fourth marker, which proved the winner as the visiting centre forward tallied one more.

Tigers Score First Victory

HAMILTON (CP)—Tigers Wednesday night scored their first win of the current Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association season, defeating Brampton Excelsiors 15-10.

At the end of the first quarter it was 3-2 for Brampton, and it was tied eight-all at half time. Hamilton had a 10-8 edge at the third.

Barney Welsh, Doug Davidson, Chub Brown and Tony Capula scored two apiece for Hamilton, and singles were registered by Wally Henderson, Jack Dorney, Bill Rankin, Red McLean, Butch Guthro, Ron Parker and Playing coach Arnold (Onion) Smith.

Five men shared the Brampton scoring: Jack Bionda with three, Chuch Simpson, Nick Ferri and Jack Sibble with two and Pete Bradkin got the other.

Marines Triumph

Outboard Marines rode roughshod over Norwood to win 20-0 in fastball here last night. They racked up four runs in the second, five in the third and eighth, two each in the fourth and seventh, and one apiece in the first and fifth. Corrigan hit a homer, Fennell a triple, Downer two doubles, Nicholls and Broadhurst one double each. Nicholls was in nifty mound form for the winners to hurl three-hit ball as he fanned six and had excellent support. Teams:

Ike Tops Petes In Scoring With 43 Points

Ilke Hildebrand currently leads the OLA senior Petes in scoring by a wide margin. The classy lacrosse forward—and pro puck star in the winter—has scored 21 goals and assisted on 22 more in nine OLA games for a grand total of 43 points. These figures are taken from game summaries of tilts at home and away, though OLA scorers in a few towns have clipped him of several scoring points, according to recent official OLA figures. So, he has been good for nearly five points a game to date.

Next to Hildebrand is Curly Mason with 28 points, two more than Jerry Fitzgerald—who leads defencemen and is second only to Ike in assists—and three more than defenceman Harry Whipper Don Ashbee has clicked for 20 points in eight games and Ross Powless is another local player good for more than two points a game, with 19. Bob Thorpe has counted 17 points in just six contests. The list:

Phillies Take Pair From Chicago, Closing On Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia Phillies have the day off today but their pitchers have been working so often they may show up at the ball park and begin throwing just from force of habit. At the start of the season manager Steve O'Neill's biggest problem was finding one more starter to go with his big three. Now he's trying to locate three more starters to go with his big one. Despite his troubles O'Neill still has a winning ball club. The Phillies have taken eight out of 12 and four straight since their current home stand opened a week ago Tuesday. They won a pair from Chicago Wednesday night, 9-1 and 8-5, and moved within four games of the league-leading Milwaukee Braves.

In the dozen contests O'Neill got a route-going performance three times—three victories by Robin Roberts, the league's best. Anywhere from two to five pitchers have seen action in each of the other games.

O'Neill opened the year with a pitching rotation of Roberts, Curt Simmons and then either Karl Drews or Jim Konstanty or both. Now Simmons is out indefinitely with an injured foot and neither Drews nor Konstanty has been able to go without help.

FIRST TO WIN 10

Roberts became the first major league to win 10 games as he picked up the decision in the first game Wednesday night. Konstanty started and won the nightcap, although Steve Rizik and Drews were in action before it ended.

The Braves kept a game in front of Brooklyn Dodgers by edging New York 6-5. The Dodgers hammered 13 hits off Cincinnati pitching to whip the Redlegs 13-3. St. Louis won 5-1 over Pittsburgh.

The big winners in the American League kept on winning. New York Yankees trimmed Detroit 11-4 for their 13th straight and Cleveland nipped Washington Senators 2-1 for their seventh in a row.

Boston moved into third place with a pair of victories over St. Louis Browns 11-2, and 3-2 with Jimmy Piersall equalling a major league record with six straight hits in the opener. Philadelphia edged Chicago 2-1.

BIG BLOWS

The big blows in Milwaukee's success were home runs by Eddie Mathews and Sid Gordon. Mathews poke was his 18th of the season and put him out in front in the league's home run race. Gordon's came with two aboard in the eighth and provided the winning runs.

Brooklyn broke a 3-3 tie with three runs in the sixth and poured home seven more in the eighth. Wayne Belardi's pinch-hit triple which snapped the tie was the big hit in the sixth.

Manager Eddie Stanky sent his Cardinals through a long day workout and got dividends in the night game with the heavy hitting coming from Enos Slaughter, four for four, and Stan Musial, a double and single in three trips.

Like old man river the Yankees just kept rolling along. In the Detroit contest pinch-hitters Johnny Mize and Yogi Berra singled to spark a seven-hit seven-run rally in the sixth inning.

Mike Garcia set the Senators down on four hits at Cleveland.

Rookie Stuns Buffalo With 8-4 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rookie Gene Tarabilda of Springfield stunned the stampeding Buffalo Bisons Wednesday night with a masterful four-hitter. The big righthander's 8-4 win ended the Bisons' winning streak at five games.

This gave the win-hungry Cubs their first victory in seven games. Springfield is in the International Baseball League cellar, 15 games back of the leaders, while Buffalo is third one percentage point ahead of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Tarabilda had a one-hitter going into the ninth, then the Bisons made a bid on homers by Buddy Hicks and Jack Wallaesa, but it fell short.

ROYALS DOWN LEAFS

The league-leading Montreal Royals and the second-place Rochester Red Wings each registered wins to remain 3½ games apart in the standing. The Royals downed the Leafs 10-6, while the Wings edged Syracuse Chiefs 8-7

Bob Ludwick, relieved for pinch-hitter Dick Williams in the eighth, won his fourth game in six decisions for the Royals. Williams whacked a pinch-hit homer with one on.

Montreal reached three Toronto hurlers for 15 safeties—eight for extra bases. The Leafs mustered only nine hits off two Royals moundsmen.

A four-run, seventh-inning rally gave Rochester the edge over Syracuse. A three-run homer by Tom Burgess caped the rally. Five errors played against the losers.

Reliefer Jack Crimian, who fanned five and gave up only one hit in three innings, got his second victory.

Complete Rupture Seen In Hockey Ranks

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — Sweeping changes in the entire hockey picture came into focus today with prospects of a complete rupture between the professional and amateur organizations.

The break likely would not become final until June 30, 1955 What might happen in the interval is conjectural, but it is a certainty there will be a different set-up in operations of the big winter game.

Club owners at the annual meeting of the National Hockey League voted Wednesday to terminate the agreement between the professional bodies and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Unless there is mutual agreement two years' notice of termination is necessary.

The decision was reported to have been made "with a view to possible new negotiations." Whether there is a chance of a new agreement materializing was not indicated.

NEW FINANCIAL DEAL

There was reason to believe that any negotiations would be contingent at least upon a new financial deal for the professional operators. Other factors are reported also to have counted with the pros. But from a financial standpoint it is known they feel their sponsored clubs are getting no worthwhile financial return from playoffs in the national competitions, which the CAHA operates.

The club owners' decision brought from CAHA president W. B. (Baldy) George at his Kemptville, Ont., home, his opinion that professional clubs won't last three years beyond ending of the agreement.

George said termination of the agreement also would mean no three-game, lend-lease stretches for amateurs with pro clubs.

Hinting at some reprisal, George said he wouldn't be surprised if the CAHA suspended for life any player who signed for a professional team.

The club owners appointed a committee that is made up of Conn Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs, Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens and Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings.

ELIMINATE CUP SERIES?

As another means of looking after financial interests of sponsored clubs, an authoritative informant said the pros are considering a plan whereby their sponsored junior clubs would meet in sectional and national playoffs.

Observers saw in this possibility a move that would curtail or virtually eliminate the present Memorial Cup series.

At a draft meeting Wednesday, 15 players from the Quebec Senior Hockey League—now the new pro Quebec Hockey League — were picked by clubs in the NHL, the American Hockey League and the Western Hockey League. One was picked from Halifax of the Maritime Major League.

In its intra-league draft, the NHL governors decided the number of "protected players" will be 18 and three goalies instead of the present 20 and three. The draft price was raised from $10,000 to $15,000 and the draft date fixed for the time of semi-annual meeting—the second week of September—instead of the period immediately preceding the season opening.

FIRST WORKING AGREEMENT

The NHL and AHL got together on their first working agreement in several seasons. It reduces reserve lists of both leagues and provides for exchange of four players between Clubs of each league before Jan. 1 and two of the same four up to Feb. 1. It also provides for unrestricted draft, at $15,000 a player.

The only important rule change was one caling for an automatic icing-the-puck decision on passouts where linesmen previously have had to decide whether a pass was intended for a player and therefore was legal.

The all-star game will be played between Montreal Canadiens —Stanley Cup champions — and players from the rest of the league Oct. 3. Coach Lynn Patrick of Boston Bruins will select and coach the opposition against coach Dick Irvin's Canadiens.

STEPPING HI — Hi-Lo's Forbes, 65-year-old Henry Clukey up, at Roosevelt Raceway, Westbury, N.Y., turned in the fastest mile ever paced on a half-mile track, 1:58.3. Meadow Rice also lowered the old mark, 1:59.3, with 1:59 flat.

Turpin Plans Fight In U.S.

LONDON (AP)—New York promoter Harry Markson said Wednesday that barring accidents England's Randy Turpin will fight an American for the world middleweight championship at Yankee Stadium Aug. 25.

Markson, managing director of New York's International Boxing Club, emerged from a conference with Turpin's manager to say he'd made an offer Turpin wants to accept.

The only thing delaying signature, he said, is that Turpin and manager George Middleton want to give British promoter Jack Solomons until Saturday to try to match the bid.

Turpin's opponent will be either Paddy Young or Carl (Bobo) Olson, who meet in New York June 19 to decide the American nominee for the title vacated by Sugar Ray Robinson.

Bruce Edwards Quits As Cubs Manager

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Bruce Edwards has resigned as manager of the cellar-dwelling Springfield Cubs of the International League.

The former Brooklyn and Chicago Cubs catcherannounced his resignation Wednesday night, adding that he'll remain with the team as a player.

President Jack Sheehan of the Springfield club will do the managing tonight.

Sheehan said he does not hold Edwards to blame for the team's troubles. Edwards was in his first season at the helm, having succeeded Billy Kelly.

Alhazen, an Arabian mathematician of the 11th century, had a great reputation as an authority on optics.

CLARK FIRES SUB-PAR 66

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — Jimmy Clark, former marine from California, Ben Hogan's aching back and Lloyd Mangrum's bum hand made the news Wednesday as qualifying ended in the 53rd United States open golf tournament

Clark carved a competitive record 66, six under par, over Oakmont's treacherous acres to clinch low medallist honors.

Clark's redhot 34-32—66, bracketed with the 72 fashioned Tuesday at the Pittsburgh Field Club, gave him a total of 138 for 36 holes.

The opening round front-runner, long-hitting Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Northville, Mich., blew up and soared to a 10-over-par 82 at Oakmont after a brilliant 66 at the Field Club Tuesday.

Par for 6,916-yard Oakmont is 37-35—72 while the Field Club's tightly-knit 6,712 yards play 36-35—71.

But these last two days have been simply window-dressing. The 72-hole championship proper, climaxed with two energy-taxing rounds Saturday, starts today.

The surviving field of 149 and those who tied for 149th place go against swarthy Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., who is out to prove his victory last June in Dallas, ending Ben Hogan's reign, was no one-year accident.

Hogan, the strong pre-tournament favorite seeking his fourth championship, continued to alarm his supporters with his straying vertebrae and vagrant golf shots.

After skying to a 77 and pulling a kink in his back Tuesday at Oakmont, Hogan rallied with a 33-40—73 at the Field Club for a 150 which put him safely in the championship field. But his back, he said, still bothered him.

Mangrum, 1946 champion, hurt his right hand hitting a shot from the bank of a trap on the 17th hole at Oakmont. He finished with a 75 for a two-day total of 150.

FORM ROWING ASSOCIATION

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Four rowing clubs in the Toronto-Niagara area have formed the Central Ontario Rowing Association in an attempt to furnish the clubs with stiffer competition before the annual Royal Canadian Henley regatta July 22-25.

Involved in the association are Toronto Argonauts and Dons, Hamilton Leander and St. Catharines Rowing Club. The clubs plan to stage two pre-Henley meets a season. Hamilton is sponsoring the first of this season here June 20.

BOOST PRIZE MONEY

TORONTO (CP)—Prize money for the Millar golf tournament, a competition among Canadian professionals, will be increased by $1,500 this year. The value of the event will run between $2,500 and $3,000.

The extra $1,500 was provided by a Toronto soft-drink manufacturer, one of the tournament's sponsors.

The tournament is scheduled for July 30, 31 and Aug. 1 at the suburban Islington Golf Club.

O'CONNOR INKS CONTRACT

TORONTO (CP)—Outside Zeke O'Connor Wednesday signed his 1953 contract with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union.

The six-foot, four-inch native of New Jersey played his college football with Notre Dame before turning professional with Cleveland Browns of the U.S. National Football League. He came here last year.

LETHAL BLACKNESS — A snake-like funnel of high winds fills the sky over Vermillion, Ohio, in the northwestern part of the state. The twister went on to ravage most of the area, including Cleveland. Along with other tornadoes, this one blew death to 139 persons and injured another 1,000.

NHL Deal Rumors Given Airing

MONTREAL (CP) — Rumors of possible deals circulated in hotel corridors Wednesday when the National Hockey League moguls gathered for their annual meeting, but nobody was admitting anything.

One of the most startling reports was that Ted Lindsay, ace left winger of Detroit Red Wings, would wear a Chicago Black Hawks uniform next season. Another rumor immediately cropped up: It could be Gordie Howe. The rumors got no confirmation.

The guessing was that if either Detroit star changed clubs it would be Lindsay, for a flock of players, including farm youngsters, and a bundle of cash.

ROYAL VALE WINS

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Ethel du Pont Weir's odds-on choice Royal Vale staved off a terrific late bid by Mrs. J. M. Lingle's Larry Ellis Wednesday to score a half-length triumph in the 19th running of the $50,000 added Massachusetts Handicap at Suffolk Downs. Larry Ellis was second and J. J. Amiel's Count Turf, the 1951 Kentucky Derby winner, third.

The YWCA Senior Swim Club held a most enjoyable water show Monday under the direction of Miss Roselyn Stone, swimming director. The theme of the show was appropriately titled "In a Golden Coach."

Included in the program were a variety of numbers demonstrating the different abilities of the group. "Never Smile at a Crocodile," arranged by Mrs. Eileen Gariepy, was a popular number. Karen Herr, Carol Holden, Dorothy Lowes, Delores McNulty and Margaret Truman demonstrated their ability in the water along with Mrs. Gariepy as Crocodile.

The junior group of the special class, Nancy Johnston, Jane Ann Pilling, Lynn Strickland, Alda Webster, Donald More and Terry Short, presented the "Queen's Navee," complete with sailor hats and middies. They showed promise of fine future swimmers. They were assisted by their instructors and ended the number with a smart naval salute. Alice Foster and Joan Fitzgerald, senior members of the special class, performed a routine by "Royal Command" and were highly applauded for their excellent swimming.

Routines were contributed by Audrey Hustwitt, Eileen Gariepy, Roselyn Stone, Marjorie Baker, Hazel Dunford and Aileen Ferguson. Other club members taking part in the routines were Mrs. Muriel Bailey, Mrs. Joan Cox, Mrs. Marie Colling, Mrs. Marion Constable, Mrs. Helen Delaney, Mrs. Wilma Dineson, Mrs. Bea Westman. Recover Missiles With Runway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States air force plans to recover spent guided missiles by steering them to a 7,500-foot runway in Florida.

This was reported today in an article in Monsanto magazine, published by the Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis.

The article described the processes by which missiles are launched from the Cape Canaveral, Flo., air force test centre and sent out along a 1,000-mile course over the Bahamas toward the Caribbean area.

It said the landing strip was installed at Cape Canaveral recently to recover some types of missiles.

"Directed from the ground by radio, the missile will be turned around, after it has completed its down range flight, and returned to the Cape," the magazine said.

Commercial Cemetery Loses Appeal: Phillips

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips said Wednesday people have "lost their enthusiasm" for commercial cemeteries.

He said investigations showed the sale of plots in such enterprises dropped sharply after a legislature committee began study of alleged irregularities. The committee was told some companies were using high-pressure methods in sales, failing to maintain plots properly and making a profit of up to $100,000 an acre.

Dr. Phillips said he had dropped plans to take action against the companies concerned when he found sales had fallen after the committee's first meeting six weeks ago.

Orders Restrict Troop Movement

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Orders restricting the movement of Commonwealth troops in the event of an armistice were issued by Commonwealth division headquarters today and passed on to the Canadian 25th brigade.

The orders reflect apprehension that the armistice may materialize without South Korean co-operation.

They read: "In the event of an armistice there may be hostile demonstration by South Koreans."

They say only unit commanding officers may authorize unit transportation to proceed south of Tokchong, 25 miles north of Seoul.

There must be at least three soldiers in any vehicle proceeding to Seoul and vehicles must avoid sites of demonstrations or encounters with civilians which might provoke incidents.

Meanwhile, troops at the front are ignoring the truce talks at Panmunjom and carrying on as usual.

Open Negotiations

VIENNA (AP)—Jewish representatives will open negotiations with the Austrian government June 22 on their claims for restitution for wrongs suffered at the hands of the Nazis. Austrian authorities were said to be willing to agree to an over-all settlement if Jewish demands are moderate.

Powerful Export

Russian Cruiser Anchors For Naval Review

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP)—The Russian heavy cruiser Sverdlov, first Soviet warship to enter British waters since the war, steamed to anchorage Wednesday for the Coronation naval review next Monday.

The 12,800-ton Russian vessel was sighted off Spithead, the narrow strip of water between here and the Isle of Wight, just after dawn. Her guns then saluted Admiral Sir George Creasy, commanding the British home fleet, in the battleship Vanguard.

Shore batteries at Portsmouth, Britain's top-secret naval base joined in the answering salute.

The Sverdlov, here five days early, will be one of the first ships the Queen will pass when she reviews a huge combined fleet Monday, the biggest assemblage of naval power in British waters since the last coronation 16 years ago.

The review will include British and Commonwealth vessels as well as warships from the United States and many other countries.

Canada has sent seven ships—the aircraft carrier Magnificent, the cruisers Quebec and Ontario, the Korean-veteran destroyer Sioux, the frigates Swansea and La Hulloise and the icebreaker D'Iberville.

The Canadian ships took up their positions off Spithead Tuesday.

Rule Lump Sum Not Alimony

OTTAWA (CP)—A man settling a lump-sum separation payment on his wife cannot deduct it from taxable income even if the amount is paid in instalments, the income tax appeal board has ruled.

The board gave this interpretation in a decision made public today, involving a $6,000 settlement made by a taxpayer. Name of the man, who appealed a revenue department ruling, was not made public.

He had agreed to pay his wife $6,000, spread over 18 months, and contended it was tax exempt because the income tax act exempts alimony payments made "on a periodic basis."

However, the board held payment of a large amount of alimony, even though made in instalments, does not come under the exemption.

Fair Does Without Secretary-Manager

LINDSAY (ENS)—Lindsay Exhibition's Board of Directors under President John Kelsey has decided not to appoint, for this year, a permanent secretary-manager to replace the late B. L. McLean. The directors have decided to do the work themselves in organizing this year's fair.

Plans have been in progress for some months now.

Features of the work to date has been a five-year contract signed with Conklin Shows which have presented the midway attractions for some years.

FLINT COUNTS ITS DEAD—With the death toll highest in the heavily populated area of Flint, Mich., the Flint Armory stands open as a vast morgue. Meanwhile, outside and across Michigan and Ohio, rescue workers were still busy searching for bodies buried beneath the debris left by a series of tornadoes.

S.C. Victory Brings Gloom To Politicians

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia settled back today to await the official outcome of Tuesday's provincial election — already heralded as a triumph for Social Credit.

Except for the CCF, which still figures it has a fighting chance, the other parties are waiting for the final tabulation in gloomy resignation.

The second count under B. C.'s alternative voting system won't be started until June 30, the delay between first and subsequent counts permitting the return of absentee ballots to their proper constituencies.

But first counts tabulated Tuesday night and Wednesday indicated the re-election of Social Credit with increased strength, quite possibly with a working majority. It appeared the CCF would continue as the official Opposition.

TERRIFIC PUNISHMENT

Definitely, the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives took terrific punishment and it appeared almost certain the PCs wouldn't be able to squeeze a single member into the 48-seat house.

The Liberals took the lead in two ridings, but lost it Wednesday as returns continued to dribble in. Neither was leading anywhere in the latest standing, which showed:

	Elected	Leading
SC	4	26
CCF	2	15
Labor		1
Total		48

Social Credit defeated the Liberals in the June 12 election last year to form a minority government. This government was toppled on the floor of the House after seven months in office and at dissolution the standing was:

Social Credit 19, CCF 18, Liberal six, Progressive Conservative two, Labor one and vacant two.

Premier Bennett and three of his cabinet ministers are already in the winners' circle. Leader Arnod Webster and veteran Ernie Winch are the CCF candidates declared elected on the first count.

Some of the other cabinet ministers found the road to re-election much rougher. In Vancouver-Point Grey, Education Ministee Mrs. Tilly Rolston holds an indecisive lead over Liberal leader Arthur Laing and in Oak Bay Finance Minister Einar Gunderson is being pressed by Liberal P. A. Gibbs.

Deane Finlayson, the Progressive Conservative leader, appears headed for defeat in Oak Bay in his first try for election.

ENTRY TO WEST

The Pigeon river on the northwest side of Lake Superior was mentioned in 1722 as an entry to the west.

Deaconess Pay Too Low Dutton Tells Assembly

TORONTO (CP)—Delegates to the 79th general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada Wednesday night expressed their alarm that the CBC may permit sponsored church services on television.

They decided unanimously that any departure from present CBC radio policy of non-sponsored services would be a corruption of religion at "its very roots."

Professor David W. Hay of Knox College put forward the olicy resolution on behalf of the committee on radio and television.

It was stated that the CBC may make available an hour a month of free television time for church services. Presbyteries were asked to give full support to this and urged to make better use of local radio facilities.

NO STRINGS ATTACHED

Professor Hay said no sponsorship of church programs should be accepted except where the money is provided with no strings attached. It would be against church principle for even the name of the sponsor to be mentioned.

As a result of a Calgary presbytery request, the assembly decided to set up a committee to consider ways in which women can take a greater part in church affairs.

The next general assembly will be held in Toronto in June next year.

The assembly was told that total membership last year climbed by 1,936 to 179,284.

$10,000 FOR U.N.

The assembly voted to give $10,000 to the United Nations technical assistance program for underdeveloped areas. The gift was urged by the Rev. Eoin Mackay of Saskatoon.

The reason "not one girl in all of Toronto has offered herself for service in the Presbyterian Church missionary and deaconess school here" was the high pay in city businesses and low remuneration for the school's graduates, James Dutton of Peterborough told the assembly.

Dr. Joseph Wasson said some graduates of the school were getting less than the set minimum of $1,400 a year plus $400 cost-of-living bonus.

Fishing Dispute

HULL, England (CP)—The government of Iceland is delaying an order for a £150,000 vessel to be built here because of the deadlock in the dispute with Britain over fishing rights off Iceland. The deadlock involving Icelandic shore waters started 12 months ago.

Veteran Priest

CHETICAMP, N.S. (CP)—Parish priest here for 44 years, Rev. Patrick Abraham LeBlanc retired at the end of May. The 85-year-old priest, a native of Inverness county after his farewell mass was presented with a purse by the parishioners.

U.S. Influence Seen Waning Across Europe

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times, in a dispatch from Paris, says today that the political complexion of Europe is beginning to change in a way that can only be considered unfavorable to United States policy and interests.

The article, by C. L. Sulzberger, says that unless the trend can be checked it bodes ill for the political and strategic policies of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Sulzberger writes that the political swing in Europe can be deduced from the Italian election results, from inferences to be drawn from the French political crisis and from certain implications of the Soviet "peace offensive."

"The strength of that moderate and pro-Western 'third force' which had been encouraged and supported by United States diplomacy in many European nations since the cold war began, is, while still extremely important, nevertheless waning," he says.

"Unless this trend can be checked it bodes ill for the entire political and strategic policy of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Majority opinion in the key European countries remains on the side of the Atlantic alliance and pro-American bias.

Son Chained To Chair Father Held In Jail

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—A 41-year-old watch worker was held in jail today after police charged he had bound his 12-year-old son to a porch chair with an iron chain.

Louis Molner, Jr., was held on $5,000 bond on a charge of endangering the health and life of a child. He was arrested Tuesday on complaint of neighbors.

Police said they found Molner's son, Gary, chained to a front porch chair. A 12-foot chain had been looped around his neck and padlocked to the chair, they said.

They quoted Gary as saying that he was chained while his parents were at work because his father was dissatisfied with his performance in a baseball game Sunday.

First Jet Ace Downs Two MiGs

SEOUL (AP)—Maj. James W. Jabara, the first jet ace, shot down two MiGs Wednesday to boost his score to 11 and become the sixth double jet ace of the Korean war.

Jabara, on his second combat tour in Korea, is credited with three probables and eight damaged MiGs in addition to the 11 kills.

One other Red MiG probably was destroyed today, the air force said, as Sabre jets patrolled the skies over North Korea.

Thunderjet and Sabre jet fighter-bombers hit two Red airfields in North Korea.

Only brief skirmishes flared along the battle front.

During the night 40 B-26 bombers attacked Red positions along the western and central fronts.

THE NAME—Cristiani stands for the dazzling peak in circus riding—absolute bareback supremacy the world over. From one part of the globe to the other, the Cristiani Family of bareback riding stars are known as the last word in sensational equestrian feats, and that is why this dashing band is an outstanding feature with the huge King Bros. and Cristiani Combined Circus, coming to Peterborough, June 17, for afternoon and night performances at Exhibition Park under the auspices of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club. They are nine of the most amazing riders in amusement history, and at present are in the midst of the greatest success that any bareback riding display has attained in this country in more than thirty years.

Hold-up Man Wounds Partner

NEW YORK.—A hold-up man in Harlem made an embarrassing mistake a little before noon the other day. First a shot to discourage pursuers, he hit his partner in the abdomen and his partner was the one who was carrying the loot, an envelope containing a $1,200 pay roll. The gunman got away.

The man who was shot was identified as Frank Hall, 22. He and his companion held up Ernest Oppenheimer, president of the B. and D. Frame Co., as he stopped in a candy store on his way back to his plant with the pay roll. Mr. Oppenheimer was knocked down but scrambled to his feet and chased the robbers. Several others joined in pursuit and the gunman opened fire, only to fell his companion.

Fancy Loot

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thieves who took about $1,500 worth of loot from a show equipment store-room here took such articles as six white merry-go-round horses, each worth $30, and three larger ones worth $200 apiece. The stolen goods included many articles used as carnival prizes.

Saskatchewan Province Of Big Forests

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—Saskatchewn is known as the "Wheat Province" and as a Prairie province, and most persons tend to forget its forests.

Actually, three-fifths of the province, or some 150,000 square miles, is forested. Of this more than 50,000 square miles are productive.

Forestry has always been one of the province's major industries with the annual turnover about $12,000,000 at the retail level.

Last year's output was 79,865,588 board feet or sufficient lumber to build 8,000 houses; 118,000 railway ties, enough to lay 60 miles of track; 108,621 telephone poles which would carry more than 4,000 miles of line, and in addition, lath, piling, building logs, rails, fuelwood, pulpwood, boxwood and plywood.

4,500 WORKERS

Saskatchewan's forest industry employs 4,500 workers. Royalties and rentals last year produced $744,331 for provincial coffers.

Looking at the forest assets in another way, the forest floor is a spongy reservoir which keeps the water tables high. This means moist, fertile grain fields for the farmer and well-stocked lakes for the fisherman. The forest harbors wildlife and provides the basis for the fur industry. Added to this is its tourist attraction.

And provincial foresters say Saskatchewan's forests may well become a $100,000,000-a-year industry.

They base their forecast as a result of trends already in evidence: opening up of vast, virgin timber stands; growing utilization of timber; diversification of forest industries by creating few markets, and steps now being taken to establish a pulpwood industry in the province.

Says Ministers Can't Tell Church Nave From Chancel

TORONTO—Many Presbyterian ministers who graduate after six or seven years at university are so little acquainted with church architecture that they don't know their naves from their chancels, according to Dr. K. M. Glazier, of the Presbyterian Church's architectural committee.

In addition, they don't know what a Presbyterian Church should look like, he told the 79th General Assembly meeting at Riverdale Presbyterian Church, Pape Ave., yesterday.

Designs for new churches had been submitted to the committee (for approval and building loans) which were drawn up by "high school teachers, high school boys —and I think sometimes by girls, by the look of them," Dr. Glazier declared.

To augment the minister's architectural acumen, Dr. Glazier had a solution: Recommend that the Senate of Colleges (Knox and Montreal) give them a short series of lectures on church architecture and building programs.

To avoid unesthetic and uneconomical church design, he had another: Require churches to submit plans to the committee for a report which would go to the presbytery before issuing loans for building. The assembly endorsed both recommendations.

Machine Tool Industry Expects Slump

TORONTO (CP)—The British machine tool industry expects a lessening demand for its products, a United Kingdom representative to the Canadian International Trade Fair said Wednesday.

Col. C. W. Clarke said at a joint press conference of British, United States and Canadian exhibitors that the decrease will be "nothing you could call a slump or a recession."

The conference was held on the fair's third and last public day.

The expected fall in demand for machine tools, Col. Clarke said, is due to a slackening of the defence pace. Defence factories in Britain and the U. S. were almost fully equipped.

"Those factories are not likely to want much more," he said.

FOSTER DELIVERIES

Civilian buyers of heavy machinery will benefit and they can expect faster deliveries.

Col. Clarke said that as a result of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, British firms now are trading successfully in the highly-industrialized U.S. and selling machinery and machine tools.

C. T. Dunseith, Ontario manager of a Montreal textile company, said his booth received requests for goods from textile-producing Japan as well as other countries.

M. J. Doody, representing a U. S. low-temperature welding alloy company, which recently set up a Canadian subsidiary, reported that American visitors to the fair are placing orders with the U. S. company.

NONE TO SELL

Cups of black steaming coffee were served in one corner of the fair. The coffee was from Guatemala, but the country's representative, F. Cuillermo Palmieri, explained to interested buyers that he hadn't any to sell.

"We sell all our coffee 10 months in advance," he said. "The plantations in Guatemala are 5,000 feet high and the beans are handpicked and washed after they are roasted. Guatemalan coffee is the best in the world."

Rector Moves To Village Inn

LONDON. — Canon Howard Dobson finds he is closer to his parishioners in Suffolk village of Huntingfield than he has ever been before. Since he moved temporarily to a local inn, most of the congregation has been following him home from church.

"The move was providential," the 62-year-old rector said as he joined in a round of drinks with friends. "My old rectory was sold by the church commissioners, and I had no place to live while a smaller rectory was being built."

It was his wife's idea that they move to the village inn, and everybody appears pleased with the move.

The publican, Alfred Adams, says, "The rector joins in a game of darts with the boys and is a rattling good fellow. A few more are going to church now."

Gaming House Fire

Veteran Broker Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Lt.-Col. George Thomson Chishom, 80, veteran stock broker and former partner in the firm of Osler and Hammand, died Wednesday. He was actively associated as an executive with many business enterprises. He served overseas during the first world war. He was a keen marksman and in 1929 was commandant of the Canadian Bisley team.

County Committee Raps Belmont-Methuen Council On Its Assessment Figures

Equalized Assessment Figure of $14,722,270 Agreed Upon By County Council, Increase of $519,252 Over Previous Year

County Council agreed Wednesday afternoon on an equalized assessment of $14,722,270 as the basis for county taxation in 1954. This is an increase of $519,252. Highlight of the debate, in committee of the whole, was a resolution from the equalization and assessment committee censuring Belmont-Methuen township for the figures it had provided for equalized assessment. The committee members felt that the local assessment did not give a true picture of property values in Belmont-Methuen. They were sniping principally at Reeve William E. Griffith who has been a persistent opponent of county assessment and of County Assessor Stewart J. Sparling.

In part, the resolution said:

"We . . . recommend that this committee are not satisfied with the equalized assessment of Belmont-Methuen as presented bearing a proper relationship with the other municipalities in the county.

"We recommend that the county assessor make a further investigation before presenting another assessment report."

The motion of censure included the members of the committee: Reeve Norman Wilson of Burleigh-Anstruther, chairman, and Reeves Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock, Dick Stewart of Otonabee, and Stewart Clysdale of Dummer.

Reeve Griffith, the centre of the dispute, said flatly that local assessment in Belmont-Methuen "isn't any of your business," and he renewed his attack on County Assessor Sparling.

Reeve Griffith said: "County council come here and obviously don't understand how the assessment is arrived at. You leave it all to one man (County Assessor Sparling) so you might as well abolish the equalization and assessment committee."

Immediately Reeve Dick Stewart, 1952 warden and a member of the committee, jumped up and denied that the committee didn't know what was going on. As a matter of fact they had made a spot check of properties in Belmont-Methuen and as a result of that survey, he said, they decided on the motion of censure.

Little Theatre To Produce Nativity Play

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Little Theatre on Wednesday night it was decided that a production of the Coventry Nativity Play would be the principal work of the group during the autumn season. The plan which was adopted was that a presentation of the 50-year -old play be prepared which could be adapted to any church building, and that local churches be asked if they cared to have it done for their own congregations in their home churches. Some of the clergy had already been approached by members of the Little Theatre executive, and had shown warm interest in the proposal.

It was also reported that the Coventry Singers had agreed to provide the music for such a presentation.

IN HOME CHURCHES

The feeling of the meeting was that a Nativity Play, done on a fairly elaborate scale ,would provide an element in the Christmas celebrations which would be welcomed by large numbers of people, and that so far as possible people should see such a play in the familiar surroundings of their home churches.

Plans were also made for workshop and study groups, and for a party to begin the season's work, to be held in September.

Presentations of flowers and anthologies of plays were made to Miss Joan Brown, Miss Maralyn Munro and Miss Fern Rahmel, who have served the Little Theatre as secretary, costume designer and stage manager, and are now leaving the city. All three spoke briefly.

Officers for the 1953-54 season were elected as follows: President, Miss Margaret White; vice-pres., Miss Musa Cox; business manager, L. McNeill assisted by H. O. Anderson; secretary, Miss Eleanor Carroll; executive, Mrs. Brenda Davies, R. J. Bolton, J. G. Nichols and R. Davies.

The social convener for the coming season is to be Miss Helen Bonnycastle; Miss Jean Leach will direct the activities of the workshop, and the visual side of all productions will be supervised by Miss Gertrude Cox, with Douglas Warner as head of construction work.

Five Cripples Learn To Swim

Senior Red Cross swimming awards were presented to a group of physically handicapped children today at the YWCA swimming pool. The presentation was made by Mrs. J. P. Watts, convener of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety.

The five children who have been taking part in the Rotary-YWCA swimming program for physically handicapped children passed their senior tests May 14 with Mrs. Pansy Forbes, examiner. Today three of them were presented with their awards by Mrs. Watts. The remaining two will receive their awards by mail.

The five were Karen Herr, RR 2, Indian River; Dolores McNulty, 248 McKellar St.; Margaret Trueman, 433 Chambers St.; Alice Foster and Dorothy Lowes, both of Lakefield.

This year 13 children have taken part in this program, which is under the supervision of Miss Roselyn Stone, physical director of the Y. Miss Stone is assisted by Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. Alfred Gariepy, Mrs. E. G. Baker, Miss Joan Fitzgerald, Mrs. S. Constable and Mrs. V. Ferguson.

104th Agricultural Fair Features Big Cattle Exhibit

By HARRY THEOBALD

MILLBROOK. — Directors of Millbrook Agricultural Society in the 104 years of their fair, now a spring livestock show, could hardly ever have had more favoring weather than the sunshine of Wednesday, tempered by a light cool breeze.

It was a grand day for showing stock, visiting friends between times and delighting in the sun. Attendance appeared to be larger than at any of the other shows since the war. Farmers were there mostly from Ontario, Durham, Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland, Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

President Roy Ferren could rate his presidency this year memorable in its principal features, particularly crowd and livestock numbers. The swine section was cancelled in respect to the regulations in effect to stamp out the hog cholera outbreak in counties of western Ontario.

FEWER CLYDESDALES

The showing of Clydesdale horses was somewhat lighter than usual, but Percherons redeemed in number that division of the show. The light horse section was prominent and active all afternoon, thoroughbreds, hackneys, saddle horses and ponies looking their best in the sunlight.

The cattle show was an outstanding feature in itself. Classes were well filled, entries were large in the three beef breeds, and the Jersey breeders brought out 74 head, a remarkable display. It was reported that about 70 Shorthorns were exhibited, more than 40 Herefords and three herds of Aberdeen-Angus were represented.

The Jersey entries were by the following breeders: Keith Larmer, Fraserville; W. T. Whitnell, Cavan; F. C. Bent, Omemee; J. S. Atkinson, Roseneath; Harry Gainer, Bailieboro; Bamforth & Kelly, Harry W. Young, Roger Hanbidge, Bruce Sargent, Clarence Johnston, E. Kelk & Son.

Shorthorns were shown by Leslie Taylor, Burketon; M. H. Pimmett & Son, Indian River; J. W. Winterbottom, Woodville; Garnet Rickard, Bowmanville; J. A. Barrett, Cobourg; John Rickard, Newcastle; Russell Osborne, Newcastle; Beath Farms, Oshawa; C. S. Lean & Son, Cobourg; Ross Neals, Bethany.

The Hereford entry list:—Allan Linton, Cobourg; Charles Fisher & Sons, Bailieboro; Col F. E. Birdsall of Birdsall; Murray Rowe, Cobourg; John R. Walsh & Son, Otonabee; Milton Webster Oakwood; Thomas E. Dawson, South Monaghan; George Shea, Janetville.

Abereen-Angus breeders were: E. C. McDowell, Millbrook; W. Clifford Hall, Cavan; Ronald K. Marquis, Sunderland.

OPENED BY FOOTE

This 104th exhibition was formally opened by Hon. John Foote, VC, provincial Minister of Reform Institutions, who congratulated the Millbrook district people on their show and complimented the breeders for their co-operation.

F. A. Lashley, Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Fairs Association, was also present.

Bruce Sargent at the microphone kept the entries moving, announced the results of the judging in both rings and introduced some of the prominent visitors, altogether an energetic and interesting performance.

Orono Band played during the afternoon, and deserve mention for their harmony. This is only a Clark township village organization, but they play well. A dance in the town hall at night wound up the events of the Spring Show.

B'nai B'rith Lodge Is First

B'nai B'rith of Peterborough has been awarded first prize in competition with 300 lodges for its enterprise in the field of public relations.

President Irving Cipin informed The Examiner today that this announcement was received from officials of the association's No. 1 district, comprising eastern Canada and the neighboring section of the United States.

An engraved plaque is being prepared for presentation to the local members of B'nai B'rith.

"This recognition comes from the officials of that large district including the northeastern States," Mr. Cipin said. Last year our lodge was third, and in the year before we placed second. And now we have come out on top in competition with 300 lodges, and we're very happy about it."

One of the community affairs B'nai B'rith members conceived and promoted was the nomination and presentation to a Peterborough "Man of the Year" in the company of a large number of fellow citizens who joined in the spirit of this honor.

300 Crippled Veterans Stage Sitdown Strike

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—Three hundred crippled and disabled South Korean Army veterans staged a sitdown strike in front of the National Assembly today in protest against an armistice—then moved to the U. S. embassy.

The veterans—blind, amputees, and some in wheel chairs—said they planned to sit outside the embassy all night "to show our determination against an armistice that would mean that we were wounded in vain."

Naturalists Hold Field Day

Fifty members and friends of the Peterborough Nature Club enjoyed a successful outing to the property of Dr. F. Graham at Sturgeon Point. The site chosen included some virgin woodland, open farmland meadows and orchards as well as a lovely lakeshore area; a veritable naturalists' paradise.

The botany group under the leadership of V. R. Henry, assisted by Miss Margaret Eastwood, identified more than 60 varieties and species of plants including red baneberry, white baneberry, may maple, common vetch, cranesbill, shepherd's purse, live-forever, virgina creeper, cinquefoil, bedstraw, sweet everlasting, wild ginger, curled dock, hepatica, buttercup, maidenhair fern, clintonia, twisted stalk, black medick, hound's tongue, bugle weed, forget - me - not, fleabane, white and mauve waterleaf, bull thistle, English plantain, sarsparilla, snakeroot, poison ivy.

The bird group under the leadership of Dr. W. W. H. Gunn, executive-director of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, assisted by Frank R. Pammett, identified more than 40 different species of birds including a robin, ruffed grouse, herring gull, mourning dove, woodpecker, purple martin, chimney swift, grackle, blackbird, goldfinch, redstart, bluebird, black-throated green warbler, song and white throated sparrow, bobolink, catbird, flicker, flycatcher, kingbird, meadowlark and the pheobe.

RECORDED SONGS

The highlight of the outing came when Dr. Gunn, with his recording equipment, recorded the songs of the Redstart and the Red-Eyed Vireo on the spot as they sang and played them back to the birds.

The tree group under the direction of H. H. Graham, assisted by L. Bird recorded many species of trees on the site which included black and white oaks, white and black birches, white and red pine, black cherry, western hemlock, butternut, hawthorn, sumac, lombardy black and basswood.

Following the outing all the groups assembleld at the lakeshore property of Dr. Graham for a picnic lunch.

Robin Recognized It As Counterfeit New Gadget Designed To Attract Birds

Current issue of Satevepost has a story about a new little gadget designed to attract birds. One part fits tightly into another. Twisting the core gives off sound effects of notes heard in fields and woods. Application of resin increases the repertory.

The top man at Alparka, corner of Park and Albert Sts., was demonstrating one of these "bird callers" to friends a month ago. Someone brought it to him from over the border. He experimented on a back garden robin which was probably domesticated to the point of recognizing the device as counterfeit. The sophisticated robin went unheeding about its livelihood.

If Mr. Alparka (Bert McLeod) had time to spare from his retailing, and that appears unlikely, he might be tempted to take to the woods and try the instrument on warbles, vireos and other unsophisticated birds. But he is immersed in business, and another potential birdwatcher, an admirable type of citizen, will continue on in frustration. Of course it is unfair to reveal his little personal traits, such as being off to Toronto to hear a Brahms symphony, because such felicities are not commonly associated with the sinewed business man, not to mention eloquence about specimens of his home-grown Peace rose.

In the meantime, the "bird-caller" might be on loan at Alparka for any of the field and woods folk who have time on their hands for grass under foot.

Make Progress Settling Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—Representatives of the Canadian government and a group of United States citizens made "substantial progress" Wednesday towards a method of settling the Americans' claims against Canada for high-water damage along Lake Ontario, the external affairs department said.

After a day-long meeting, government officials indicated the U.S. representatives had accepted in general the government's proposal for an international tribunal to rule on the $60,000,000 claims.

The group of about 5,000 Americans now has an action before the U.S. courts against the Canadian government, contending the lake's high water was caused by Canada's now-removed Gut dam in the St. Lawrence river just below Lake Ontario.

Canada contends no U.S. court can order this country to pay damages and has proposed instead an international judicial body to deal with the claims.

Czechs Glad To See U.S. Businessmen

NEW YORK.—Rhinestone importer Seymour Middleton, the first American businessman permitted in Czechoslovakia since restrictions were imposed two years ago as a result of the Oatis case, said on returning that the Czechs were glad to see him and that both he and they avoided talking politics.

"They were always courteous in the past," he said, "but with a kind of cold formality. This time there was a feeling of warmth. It began right at the airport. People smiled at me and the baggage inspection was only perfunctory."

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

ST. JOHN'S CUBS

Twenty-five members of St. John's Pack with four Scouts, five members of the Mothers' Auxiliary and four leaders attended a very successful Cub camp at the Scout grounds north of Nassau.

Despite the very stormy weather experienced on the first night out, the spirits of the boys were not dampened and they were up before 6:00 a.m.

On Saturday evening parents were present at the campfire where they were entertained by the boys. A presentation was made by the master of ceremonies, E. Trueman, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ford in recognition of Fred's 25 years of service in St. John's Scouts. Mrs. B. Baker, past president of the Mother's Auxiliary, was presented with a gift by Mrs. F. Ford on behalf of the auxiliary. Refreshments were served at the close of the campfire program.

Assistant District Commissioner Earl Westman visited the camp on Sunday and voiced his approval on the way the camp was being conducted and of the several voluntary improvements made to the site by the campers.

The success of the camp was due primarily to the leadership and to the Mothers' Auxiliary which was represented by Mrs. G. Dunford, Mrs. F. Ford, Mrs. E. Pinn, Mrs. B. Calhoun and Mrs. A. Barber, as well as the group committee who attended to many of the details.

TRADING POST MOVED

Winner of an all-expense-paid 14 day cruise from New Orleans to Puerto Rico, with a return trip to Mobile, Ala., is 17-year-old Suzanne Weaver of Galveston, Texas, formerly of Lakefield.

Miss Weaver was awarded the cruise as grand prize winner in the United States national Propeller Club essay competition on the subject "What the American Merchant Marine Means To My Community."

She was also selected as first prize winner in the area contest with the $60 award by the Galveston Propeller Club going to her. Hers was the only essay in the area contest submitted for national competition.

The award was made at a banquet in Galveston marking National Maritime Day and Foreign Trade Week there Thursday, May 21. The banquet was sponsored by the foreign trade committee of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, the Transportation and Foreign Trade Club of Galveston and the Propeller Club.

At present a senior student at the Ursuline Academy in Galveston, Miss Weaver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Weaver, formerly of Lakefield, where Mr. Weaver was manager of Lakefield Laboratories Ltd.

She was a student at Lakefield Public School where she won the county, IODE and grammar prizes in Grade 8. She later attended PCVS.

Voters Reject Liquor Ballot

FOREST, Ont. (CP)—Voters Wednesday defeated the four-point ballot on liquor outlets in one of the largest turnouts in Forest's history.

The question of establishing government liquor stores was defeated by 61 votes short of the required 60 per cent.

By a vote of 808 to 152, voters turned down sale of beer under public house licence for consumption by men on licensed premises. Sale of beer in similar premises to women was rejected by a margin of 814 to 129.

Voters rejected the sale of beer and wine under a dining room licence by 790 to 158.

Housing Development Plan Now Abandoned

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control announced Wednesday that a joint plan by the federal and Ontario governments to develop the Long Branch rifle range property for a housing development has been abandoned. About 1,000 homes had tentatively been planned for the site a few miles west of Toronto.

A. E. K. Bunnell, director of the housing branch, Ontario department of planning and development, said in a letter to the board that the decision to abandon the plan was primarily due to the inability of the defence department to give any undertaking as to when the land could be available.

Wrecks Trailer Avoids Accident

BARRIE (CP)—A threatened crash between a four-ton transport trailer and a car was averted Wednesday when the truck driver jackknifed the trailer and plowed into a sand embankment.

Marvin Woods, 32, of Toronto backed the transport, carrying a 20-ton load, down a long hill north of here when the brakes failed. Rolling backwards at about 25 miles an hour, the transport headed for a car which had stopped farther down the grade. The driver, an unidentified woman, froze at the wheel.

Woods jack-knifed the trailer to avoid a crash. The transport leaned towards the car after it hit the embankment, but remained upright.

PANSIES IN THE PARK

Armar Butcher, City Parks superintendent's two beds of pansies at Confederation Square are a floral attraction along that block of main street. If they continue in that volume of bloom throughout the season, avoiding the scrawny form that some develop, they should be a feature all summer.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, June 11th — No matter how big or little your kitchen or your budget . . . there's a brand new, up-to-date GURNEY Gas Range that's "just right". Indeed, the new Gurney Ranges are "right as rain" — beautifully, sturdily constructed, with all the latest features. What's more, they're "Kitchen Tested" for perfect cooking and baking. Ask your Gurney dealer to show you the new Gurney models. He has them all . . . including the large "Deluxe Table Top" Range with the divided top that gives you a large center area for elbow-room — also separate Centre-Simmer Top Burners with the handy keep-warm position.

At Last, modern science has given me the perfect answer to the "Problem of the Yellow Wash"! Scientists have proved that true whiteness is made up of all the seven colours of the rainbow and if blue is missing, white turns to dingy yellow. Ordinary washing can make clothes clean, but even a washing machine can't make them really white. That is the special property of Blue. That's why washing needs that last rinse with Blue to replace the missing blue rays and restore sparkling whiteness. What's more, Blue is kind to the finest fabrics. It won't harm them in the least — and it costs just a few pennies a month to use. So keep your white things truly white with Blue!

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

Though He Can't Say So in so many words, baby likes hot "CREAM OF WHEAT" for breakfast, too! M-mmm-yum! And "Cream of Wheat" is good for baby. It contains iron for good red blood and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. "Cream of Wheat" is quick and easy to prepare, too. Cooks to perfect smoothness in just five minutes of boiling. So give your family — from youngest to oldest — a "Cream of Wheat" breakfast today. Look for the package with the familiar trademark "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef — both trademarks of Cream of Wheat (Canada), Ltd. and Reg. Canadian and U.S. Pat. Off.

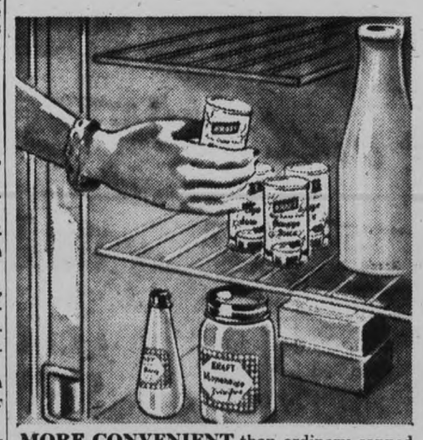
Sign Your Own Money! . . . Look at any dollar bill and you'll see two signatures. Without those signatures, the dollar would be worthless. It's the same with BANK OF MONTREAL Travellers Cheques — but both the signatures are yours. You sign once at the bank when you buy them and they can't be cashed until you sign them a second time. If you do lose them or they are stolen, their replacement can be arranged without difficulty. So why take chances with your holiday funds? Change them into B of M Travellers Cheques . . . They're only good when you sign them.

Save A Bright New Dime for your piggy bank! . . . Get the sanitary belt specially designed for all new-type sanitary napkins — including the wonderful new petal-smooth Modess. Simply send just 25c in coin or stamps and a Modess Belt will be mailed to you in a plain wrapper. You'll like its lock-type fastener that never slips, yet takes the tab so easily. And you'll love its soft, "honeycomb weave" elastic that never pinches or digs in no matter how active you are. Incidentally, it comes in pink or white . . . tell me which you prefer when you write to me for your Modess Belt . . . Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Good News, Mother! . . . Your baby's diet can be deliciously varied with Farley's famous Rusks. They're from England — specially for baby . . . and they're not only crunchy-sweet and good to taste, but a scientific baby formula as well. You see, they're made from specially milled English wheat flour and other important-for-baby nutrients — and fortified with calcium and phosphorus to aid in bone and tooth development. And, mother!—FARLEY'S RUSKS are in such an easy form for feeding. They can be crushed and spoon fed in warm milk or simply eaten in hand. For children, invalids and old folks, too, ask for Farley's Rusks in the yellow box with the cellophane top.

You Can Win Cash Prizes Up To $500 Plus World-Famous McBrine "Comet" Aeropacks and Northern Electric "Sportsman" AC-DC Portable Radios EVERY WEEK. Just enter Blue Bonnet Sue's HAPPY HOLIDAY CONTEST this week—every week—as often as you like until the end of the contest on July 11th. Simply write, in 25 words or less, why you like Blue Bonnet Margarine best. With each entry enclose two end-flaps (each with the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval) from BLUE BONNET MARGARINE packages, or facsimiles. Mail to Blue Bonnet Sue, P.O. Box 2120, Toronto, Ontario. Enter this All-Canadian Contest now and win cash and merchandise for the happiest holiday you've ever had!

It's A Lovely Day For A Picnic — so, hurry! . . . you can whip up a wonderful picnic lunch for two or ten in a jiffy. How about some devilled eggs . . . and crisp lettuce-with-mayonnaise sandwiches? But be sure the mayonnaise is HEINZ MAYONNAISE. It's "tops" in taste, as are all the Heinz mayonnaise products . . . Ever tried Heinz 57 Salad Dressing — or the scrumptious Heinz Sandwich Spread? There's something to take along on your picnic — m-mmm! — just the thing for healthy outdoor appetites. So take my tip — remember Heinz for happy picnicking!



The Kitchen Is No Place To Spend Your Holidays. So here's my suggestion for cutting down on kitchen-time. Take half a dozen boxes of FRENCH'S INSTANT POTATO to the cottage with you. No bulk to carry . . . and just listen to this! No potatoes to boil to add to the heat of the cottage! All you do is follow the instructions on the box. It actually takes just one minute to whip up a delicious serving of mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. Made from top-quality potatoes, French's Instant Potato is pre-cooked by a special process that preserves important nutriments — and flavour. You'll love the flavour and creamy-smoothness of mashed potatoes made with French's. Try them soon!

DELICIOUS FLAVOR—FLORIDA-FRESH. Much better than any canned orange juice you've found on your grocer's shelf. Kraft Orange Juice — from finest tree-ripened oranges — is made by a special process...nothing added and only the water removed. That's why it's rich and fresh...why it's an excellent source of Vitamin C...the vitamin that is found in the juice of tree-ripened fruit.

Try Kraft's amazing NEW orange juice!

THE ONLY CONCENTRATED PURE ORANGE JUICE YOU CAN KEEP ANYWHERE IN YOUR REFRIGERATOR OR ICE-BOX!

MORE CONVENIENT than ordinary canned or concentrated orange juice. And you don't have to keep Kraft Orange Juice in the crowded freezer compartment of your refrigerator! You can keep it at its freshest and most delicious best anywhere in your refrigerator or ice-box! It will even keep on your pantry shelf.

EASY, ECONOMICAL. No more bother of squeezing oranges to get fresh-tasting juice. To prepare Kraft Orange Juice merely add cold water — 3 cans of it to 1 can of the concentrated juice—and stir briskly. Immediately and at little cost you have 1¼ pints of orange juice that tastes Florida-fresh! Drink lots for pleasure... and for your good health.

LOOK FOR IT in your grocer's dairy case, refrigerator or special display. Buy several cans and let your family have big glasses of this orange juice that tastes Florida-fresh. Kraft guarantees you'll like it.. and this is the same Kraft that makes Miracle Whip, Velveeta, and so many other famous foods you know and prefer.

Outboard Marine Has Big Display

Peterborough industry is well represented at the sixth Canadian International Trade Fair, Toronto. Officials in charge of various displays are more than pleased with the volume of inquiries that will develop into future sales leads.

Maur Products are showing 16 models of two and four-wheel hand trucks and hydraulic pallet trucks in their double booth space. Their patent wheel is shown in prominent graphic display and sales manager George Rader, newly arrived from Norway this spring, is in charge. He reports inquiries from India, South Africa, Czecho-Slovakia, Belgium, Greece and from all over Canada and the United States.

President of the Oslo parent plant William Myhre, who was at the fair, and is spending some time in Canada at present, broadcast his impressions of the show to Norway on Wednesday.

Outboard Marine Company is showing for the first time in a triple booth, primarily for export trade interest. There is the complete line of outboard motors, power mowers and gasoline engine products on display and the exhibit is manned by various representatives from the Peterborough plant. Manager of their export corporation division Walter Britt, of Waukegan, attended the show for the first week. All officials were highly pleased with the numerous sales contacts made with buyers from foreign countries.

De Laval (Sweden) had a display of brewery equipment, yeast and starch machines and heat exchangers, all imported from abroad in bond. The exhibit is in charge of John Jupp, manager of their industrial division, and occupied four booths. No Peterborough fabricated products are shown.

Canadian General Electric supplied 100 magnetic switches on various machine tool exhibits. These were encased in plastic covers and bore the Peterborough manufacturing label.

According to a daily tabloid newspaper published at the Trade Fair, twice as many American business visitors have attended the show this year as in 1952. It was no hands-across-the-border gesture, it said; they are all potential buyers.

2 Die In Explosion

BALTIMORE (AP).—Two women packing Christmas tree ornaments were killed Wednesday by an explosion and fire in a downtown factory. Three other women employees were injured and 70 persons fled into the street. The cause of the blast in the ornament company's lacquer room was not determined.

Roses Coming Into Bloom; Show Planned

Yellow briar roses are coming into bloom, gilding household walls, and the pinks are almost in full bud along railway fences.

The briar is the hardiest of common bushes seen here, but its period of blooming is only brief.

The Horticultural Society is undertaking to hold a coronation rose show at the YWCA Monday evening, June 22. Everything about it is free. Entries will be received that evening up to 7.15 p.m.

During the setting up of the show and the judging, there will be a lecture by a member of the Ontario Rose Society.

The prize list will include roses, delphiniums and other flowers of late June. Lists will be available at the end of this week. Copies will be mailed to members of the society. Non-members may obtain copies from A. Lee, 22488; D. Emery, K. Johnston, G. Lupton, K. Long, J. A. Smith, P. Tuck or the secretary, 22067.

The H. L. Beal Cup will be competed for, also the silver medal of the Ontario Rose Society. A. J. Webster of Toronto will be the judge, assisted by members of the provincial society.

Peterborough people interested in roses are asked to make a special effort to attend the meeting at the YWCA, June 22.

Secretary W. C. Wilks sends along the list of yellow roses comprising the 1953 honor symposium of the Ontario Rose Society. A surprising fact is that in spite of all the new propagation that is taking place among professionals, six of these twelve varieties have been 20 years or more in the top ranks.

In first place is McGready's Yellow, dating from 1933, with a total of 183 points, or 59 more than Eclipse Nicholas (1935) in second place.

Third is the comparative newcomer, Spek's Yellow (1948). The others are: Joanna Hill (1928), Golden Dawn (1929), Phyllis Gold (1935), Soeur Therese (1930), Botaniste Abrial (1943), Helvetia, Mrs. Pierre S. Du Pont, Julien Potin (one of the Pernet strain) and Mrs. Yves Latieule.

4th Candidate For Presidency

PARIS (AP)—The French government crisis entered its fourth week today and President Vincent Auriol looked again for a premier following the National Assembly's rejection of a third candidate, Georges Bidault.

In the assembly balloting earlier today, the 627-member lower house failed by one vote to give Bidault the 314-vote absolute majority he required for confirmation. The count was 313 to 228.

As Auriol began talks with the heads of France's many parties, one name mentioned unofficially as a possible contender was Louis Jacquinot, an independent. He was minister of overseas territories in the Rene Mayer cabinet, whose defeat May 21 started the crisis.

Auriol announced he expected to name a fourth premier-designate early tonight (about 2 p. m. EDT).

Though Bidault almost got the nod, the assembly deputies apparently were not enough impressed by the dark picture of the country's finances painted by the Popular Republican party leader and the other two rejected candidates—Paul Reynaud and Pierre Mendes-France. Each stressed that France is sliding further into the red each day, both on the internal budget and in its foreign exchange position.

...heridan Leaves ...ollywood; ...ikes Mexico

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ann Sheridan said today she is leaving a "tense" Hollywood to make her residence in Mexico.

"Yes, I plan to sell my home in the (Fernando) valley and live in Mexico City," she said. "I'll probably be there six months out of the year, returning to Hollywood for a couple of pictures a year. That's been my usual schedule."

There are several reasons for her switch. One of them is the state of the industry, she said.

"It used to be a lot of fun making pictures, but nowadays everybody is so tense. There's a completely difference feeling in the studios. And it's not caused by 3D or anything like that."

I mentioned that it might be because so many film workers are out of jobs and those who are employed don't know how long it will last.

"That's probably it," she commented.

MAKES OWN PICTURES

Ann added that she fell in love with Mexico long ago and has wanted to live in the easier pace below the border. She also plans to make some pictures with her own company in Mexico.

"I think the Mexican film industry is just hitting its stride. They're going to be doing great things down there. I'm sure it's going to rank next to Hollywood in importance as a film capital."

But she emphasized that her plans involved no tax dodge.

"When I work in this country, I'll pay taxes here; when I work in Mexico, I'll pay taxes there," she said.

Ann is selling her big valley home. When she bought it it was out in the wilds. Like the rest of southern California, the area has boomed and there are houses all around her. She now has to fight an hour of traffic to get to work.

Although she didn't mention it, friends believe that a large part of the reason for her change of locale is her grief over the death of publicist Steve Hannagan. His passing left a void in her life.

250 Walk Off Jobs

FORT ERIE (CP)—Some 250 members of the Horton Steel Company local of the United Steel Workers of America (CIO-CCL) walked off their jobs Wednesday. The local has been negotiating with the company for a new contract and apparently talks broke down.

Ask Church Workers Enter Labor Groups

MONTREAL (CP)—Church workers were told Wednesday to penetrate professions and labor organizations in an effort to bring their members 'into the fold' as the 29th annual meeting of the Montreal-Ottawa conference of the United Church of Canada went into its third day.

The Rev. W. Berry, general council representative, said the church needs a "set of cells" within groups—both political and social—as "we must bore from within as done by political groups and get hold of teachers, lawyers, doctors, industrialists, labor leaders, journalists and actors."

"Vast areas of our culture are entirely pagan," he said. "The large part of our culture today is missionary area for the preaching and teaching evangelist."

Now Have Tools To Restore Leprosy Victims To Normal

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP)—Missionary leaders say the world now has the tools to wipe out leprosy and to restore its victims to active, independent lives.

Latest development in this long-range achievement is credited to a 39-year-old British surgeon, Dr. Paul W. Brand, who has perfected new techniques for restoring the paralyzed hands of those disabled by leprosy.

"We now have an opportunity to beat this problem we never had before," said Raymond Currier of American Leprosy Missions Inc., an organization backed by 62 Protestant denominations.

But while the means for whipping leprosy now are available, Currier emphasized that facilities and personnel for extending these means to the world's estimated 10,000,000 leprosy sufferers are acutely lacking.

Brand has spent four years developing surgical procedures for rehabilitating cases previously thought hopelessly disabled.

CAN LIVE NEW LIVES

He said more than half of the millions afflicted by leprosy have been crippled and the new surgery can make most of them capable of useful lives and full employment.

Prior to development of the operation, medical science had the drugs for arresting the disease—the sulphone drugs first put on the market in 1946—but didn't know how to rehabilitate the crippled.

Brand worked out his operation at the Christian Medical College in Vellore, India. Later he set up an experimental rehabilitation centre there where he said some 200 crippled patients had been restored to active lives by the surgery.

The surgery involves transplanting of undamaged hand muscles and tendons to replace those destroyed by the disease—a practice doctors previously thought wouldn't work on the theory that paralysis would progress to the transplanted muscles.

"We have found that certain muscles are intact, and can be relied on to remain so," Brand said.

Although many countries require isolation of patients, officials say leprosy is one of the least contagious diseases, and is only infectious in its most acute stages, if at all.

Low cost and effectiveness of treatment now has progressed to the point, Currier said, where it is possible to visualize virtual eradication of the disease.

Lost At Sea

LONDON (CP)—An official inquiry endorsed a verdict of "presumed drowned" in the case of Stanley Fenney, 31-year-old Briton who was returning to England from Halifax. Fenney vanished from the liner Nova Scotia in mid-Atlantic.

PATH OF CHAOS—This is an aerial view of the path of a tornado which ripped through highly populated Flint, Mich., completely destroying the two city blocks shown here and leaving nearby houses standing. On the outskirts of Flint, moviegoers were caught at a drive-in theatre which counted many casualties when the winds had passed. Across eastern Michigan and northern Ohio 139 persons were killed and 1,000 injured.

Wedding Reception In The Home Can Be Made Delightfully Informal

BY ISABEL A. McGOVERN

A wedding reception in the home is delightfully informal. It can be less costly, too, if you will become "Caterer For A Day." Naturally there is more work involved but careful planning (and neighbourly assistance) simplify the undertaking.

Here is a buffet menu for 25 guests, which, excepting the punch, can be prepared ahead. The foods are not elaborate but they will high-light the occasion.

WEDDING BUFFET

Chicken and Tomato Aspic
Assorted Sandwiches
Relishes
Wedding Cake
Celebration Punch

Chicken and Tomato Aspic:
(Triple this recipe for 25)

1 recipe Tomato Aspic (below)
2/3 cup packaged pre-cooked rice
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 cup diced cook chicken
¾ cup diced celery

Prepare Tomato Aspic and pour into 2-quart mold; chill until almost firm. Prepare rice; cool. Dissolve gelatine in hot water; add cold water, vinegar, mayonnaise, salt, pepper and onion; mix well; chill until slightly thickened. Add chicken, celery and rice. Pour over aspic. Chill until firm. Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

Tomato Aspic: Dissolve 1 package lemon flavored gelatin in 1¼ cups hot water. Blend in 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce, 1½ tablespoons vinegar and ½ teaspoon salt.

ASSORTED FANCY SANDWICHES

Pinwheel: Remove all crusts from a wide loaf of unsliced white bread. Cut loaf into ¼ to ½-inch thick lengthwise slices. Spread slices with soft butter and cream cheese softened with red maraschino juice. Place maraschino cherries at end of slice and roll up tightly. Wrap each firmly in waxed paper and chill. Slice roll. Yield: 8 sandwiches (4-inch wide roll).

Ribbon: Remove crusts from slices of whole wheat and white bread. Butter. Make 4-layer sandwiches, alternating dark and white slices. Wrap each tightly in waxed paper and chill. Cut into crosswise slices. Yield: 8 sandwiches (4-inch wide layer).

Heart: Cut out heart shapes, allowing 2 slices to a sandwich. Butter. Fill with egg salad. Top with small pimiento heart.

Diamond: Cut out diamond shapes. Spread with butter and deviled ham. Decorate with thin radish slices.

Time-saving Tip: Sandwiches may be kept frozen for 2 or 3 weeks. Wrap pinwheels and ribbons uncut. Place open faced ones on cardboard and wrap. Sandwiches thaw in 1 to 2 hours.

TIERED WEDDNG CAKE

Use 4 packages white cake mix (or 4 batches of a white cake recipe). Prepare 2 packages. Pour into an 18x12x2-inch pan (open roasting pan will do nicely). Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. Fahr.) about 45 minutes. Repeat with other 2 packages. Trim cake edges. Cut each cake into 3 pieces: 9 x 9, 6 x 6, and 3 x 3 ins. Put diplicate sizes together with apricot jam (1 pound jar). Cut an 11-inch square of cardboard. Cover with cream frosting. Place the 9-inch filled square in the center and cover with a thin layer of frosting. Top and frost with the 6 and 3-inch filled layers. Frost cake completely, starting at top. (Keep surfaces smotth by dipping spatula in hot water. Keep frosting covered with a damp cloth). Apply decoration with a cake decorator. Place fresh posies (inserted in 2-inch macaroni pieces) on top of cake and arund sides. Yield: 25 large pieces.

Cream Frosting: Cream 1½ cups shortening, 3 pounds confectioners' sugar, ¾ teaspoon salt with ¾ cup cream. Beat smooth; add 2 tablespoons almond extract.

Celebration Punch:

2 quarts sherbet or ice (any flavor.
4 (4/5 quart) bottles California Sauterne wine, well-chilled

Place sherbet (medium consistency) in punch bowl. Add wine. Stir well. Serve at once. Approximate yield: 60 servings.

Swim Club Makes Special Offer

The YWCA Senior Swim Club held the monthly business meeting Tuesday evening in the Green Room, following the weekly hour of swimming. It was planned that on June 23rd they will enjoy the swim near Mrs. Muriel Bailey's home at Lakefield. At that time the nominating committee, consisting of Jean Cullis, Annabeth Wright and Marjorie Baker, is to draw up a slate of officers for the coming term to present for voting.

Miss Roselyn Stone, swimming directr, was asked to renew all Red Cross instructor certificates of those who have been active in teaching swimming. Miss Stone outlined the activities she plans for the coming season and expressed appreciation to the members who have given instruction to handicapped swimmers and in the public school learn-to-swim program.

The club suggested a follow-up to the latter in a special offer to those children of the public school classes who were sufficiently interested to learn to swim the length of the pool in the free lessons offered.

Pleasure was expressed in the success of the water show presented on Monday evening before a large audience at the pool.

There was presentation of gifts to three members, Mrs. Annabeth Wright and Jean Cullis and Audrey Hustwitt. The latter two are leaving the city shortly.

Lunch was served under convenership of Aileen Ferguson.

Afternoon Tea Honors Teachers At King George

Executive members of King George Home and School Association were hostesses Wednesday afternoon to members of the teaching staff and the grade mothers at a delightful tea held in the kindergarten room. The guests were welcomed by president Mrs. H. Morrison and they in turn were asked to introduce themselves.

This pleasant affair was jointly convened by Mrs. D. Worboy and Mrs. F. Darwin, assisted by Mrs Hayden, Mrs. R. Greenley and Mrs. A. Roberts.

The lace-covered tea table was attractively centred by a large bouquet of spring flowers in a silver bowl and silver tea services were at each end. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Payne, teachers' representative on the executive, and Mrs. C. Ferguson, past president.

Miss Joan Brown of the teaching staff, who is going to teach in Scotland next term was presented with a gift by Mrs. E. Bradshaw who expressed the regret in her loss and the wishes for future success of the members of the Home and School.

Right Perfume Important For Day Wear

Women ask over and over whether it's bad taste to wear perfume in an office. Far from being bad taste, it's refreshing to the wearer and all with whom she comes in contact. The important thing is to choose the right scent.

From your collection of perfumes choose the one that's light, elusive and lifting, in a floral or spicy odor, for the office. Reserve the more pungent and complex odors for your dates or use at home.

Have you ever tried a lotion perfume? These are said to have greater cling than the liquid type and for career girls they may have particular appeal. One can combine hand softening and perfume renewal in one operation with the perfume lotions.

A perfumed cotton pellet will make your fragrance longer-lasting than perfume applied directly to the skin.

Before going out in the morning, you might saturate a small piece of cotton with perfume, wait a moment for it to dry, and then tuck it in your bra, pin it to your shoulder pad or tape it to the inside of your skirt. When used on the skin, apply the perfume to the pulse spots.

Table Lovely At Rose Tea Of George St. Federation

A very charming tea table was the highlight of the Rose Tea held by the Women's Federation of George St. United Church in the Guild Room on Wednesday afternoon.

A dozen American Beauty roses were on the table which was laid with a most handsome cloth of light green embroidered damask. Tapers on the table and on the mantel were green matching the color of the cloth.

In the tea room there were beautiful flowers of the season. An attractive bouquet of lupins was on the piano and baskets were filled with snowballs, peonies, iris, and phlox.

Decorating the room and the table was done by Mrs. Erle Welbourn, assisting the co-conveners of the tea, Mrs. R. S. Hutton and Mrs. Howard Allison.

They had music provided during the tea hour by Mrs. I. Ellicott and Mrs. A. Milburn and had arranged for a nursery for the children in charge of Mrs. Stanley Johnston and Miss Myrtle McKeown.

The tea pourers included a guest from Trinity Church, Mrs. V. W. Skitch, president of the Woman's Federation there. Others were the WA president of George St., Mrs. W. H Frise, Mrs. E. W. Rowland and Mrs. Charles E. Allen.

President Mrs. G. W. Gatfield was assisted in receiving by the minister's wife, Mrs. Arnold Mathews. Tickets were taken by Mrs. Robert Sager and Mrs. Archie Townsend.

The serving was done by Mrs. Ray Parnell, Mrs. Rodger Chenoweth, Mrs. Donald Clarke, Mrs. Allan McDougall, Mrs. R. K. McKee, Mrs. Charlton McBride, Mrs. Harold Mesley, Mrs. George Douglas, Mrs. Frank Sargent, Mrs. Arthur Black, Mrs. Dougald Brown, Mrs. Stewart Thompson and Miss Joyce Lishman, and the plates were kept filled by Mrs. Ivan Drain, Mrs. Harold Hutchinson and Mrs. Clifford Turnbull.

The sale of roses, long stemmed and short ones in rose bowls, which is the main feature of this tea, was in charge of Mrs. F. A. Hucks and Mrs. Russel Foster.

A parcel post table, with parcels still in the mailing wrappers used by members' friends who sent them in from various places, was quite popular. Mrs. H. Race and Mrs. R. Vance looked after the sales.

The home cooking booth was in charge of Mrs. S. J. Rowe, Mrs. J. Thornton, Mrs. R. Colmer and Miss Mabel Robinson. Cotton print aprons in attractive styles were for sale by Mrs. H. Nicholls, Mrs. F. Thirnbeck and Miss Violet Lowes.

Girl Advised To Steer Clear Of Would-Be Young Wolves

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it right for a teen-ager to pet? A few weeks ago my girl friend and I went out with two 19-year-old boys. Flossie and I are 16. They drove us home from a dance, and just before we got to the house, they stopped the car and wanted to kiss and hug us. Flossie didn't mind, but I did, although I let the boy kiss me. When we got home, I felt so ashamed of myself as it was the first time I was kissed by a boy. I had always thought my kisses would be saved for someone special.

JANIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You practically answered your own question, Janie, with the realization that your actions had cheapened you in your estimation. You may be sure that others will hold no higher opinion of you than you do yourself. Your instinctive standards are good; be guided by them. You realize that your kisses should be kept for someone special; stick to that ideal. You wouldn't go out a second time with a boy who wolfed his food, would you? Well, a boy who lacks the same discrimination in love is an equally undesirable companion.

EARN RESPECT

Don't worry about hurting a boys' feelings by refusing to pet. If he's the right kind of boy he'll respect you all the more; if he's the wrong kind, you're better off without him.

Promiscuous petting blocks the development of the right friendships at the very time when social contacts are all-important. Teenagers need the proper companionship in order to develop into the right sort of people; settling down to a steady diet of petting with one boy after another will eventually narrow your friendships, if they can be called that, to a very few unworthy boys. Stick to your guns, Janie; save your kisses for the boy who is willing to wait for them until they are earned.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am the young mother of two children, the older not yet two years old. We are buying our home, and have a large yard that needs lots of care. Everything seems so hard for me and I never have any spare time. I don't seem to accomplish anything, which makes my husband exasperated. I'm 27 and have been married four years.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Two babies involve plenty of work; perhaps if your husband had them for a few days he'd realize that their care does not leave too much time for other things. Your fatigue may have a physical basis, and I think a visit to the doctor might be helpful in building up your general health. Plan your day so that you have at least a short rest period in the afternoon while the babies nap, and get out with your husband at least one evening a week. Someone in the family should be willing to baby-sit for you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband's children are very kind to me but they introduce me as "My father's wife." Is this correct?

MARY T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The form of address, or title of introduction, for a stepmother is a ticklish proposition. The youngsters naturally feel that "mother" wouldn't do, especially so soon after their father's remarriage. "Mrs. T" is too formal, and they may think that "my stepmother" has unpleasant implications, as most people do. Actually, the form of introduction they use is about as comprehensive and easy as any. Why not discuss the matter with your husband and decide between you what form you'd prefer?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister is getting married next month to my husband's brother. My husband and I are to stand up for them, but I intend to leave my husband before the wedding. Should I still stand up with him or do you think I should try to stick with him until the wedding is over?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWEER: You certainly owe it to your sister to participate in her wedding according to schedule, and since you and your husband will doubtless run into each other frequently as a result of this marriage, it would be foolish to make an issue out of your part in the ceremony. It would be even better if you stayed together until after the wedding. You've stood him this long, what difference will another month make?

Diocesan Council Of C.W.L. Convention

The 31st annual convention of the Peterborough Diocesan Council of the Catholic Women's League was held Wednesday in Sacred Heart Parish, Peterborough.

Mass was celebrated at 9.30 a.m. in Sacred Heart Church by Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, attended by Rev. Dr. C. O'Donoghue and Rev. G. Gaughan. Several of the priests of the diocese were present in the sanctuary. Rev. Edward McSherry, C.SS.R. preached the sermon, in which he described frequent prayer, reception of the Holy Eucharist and attendance at Holy Mass as the foundation stones upon which are built a truly Catholic life.

A choir of school girls from Sacred Heart School was under the direction of Mr. Heribert Michel, organist.

Mrs. Joseph Smith of Campbellford, president of the Council, conducted the morning and afternoon business sessions at the Sacred Heart club house.

Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler led the opening prayer and welcomed the delegates from the 25 subdivisions in Peterborough Diocese. Mrs. M. McDougall, president of Sacred Heart subdivision, also extended greetings to the visitors.

Special guest for the day was Mrs. M. F. McGlade, of Smiths Falls, who is vice president of the Ontario Provincial Council of the CWL.

In her opening address Mrs. Smith urged the Council to further accomplishment, outlining the program of the League and suggesting ways of co-operating in it, saying "The Catholic Women's League has its beginning in the parish and the subdivision is the nucleus or seed from which the other branches of the League have their beginning. In the parish subdivision is laid the foundation on which the League functions so efficiently at all other levels of organization. Lack of a firm and comprehensive foundation in this primary unit obviously restricts the extent and efficiency with which the organization is able to function at other levels and at the same time limits the sphere of usefulness of the national body as the representative organ of the CWL."

Mrs. F. J. Lynch, convener of organization, reported 2466 members in the Diocese, an increase of 200 over last year. There is one life member and 181 honorary members in the religious communities. One new subdivision was organized this year at Colborne and its president received an enthusiastic welcome to the Council.

Miss Gladys Costello's finance report showed $25,000 raised during the year and allocated to parish assistance, education funds and prizes, immigration fund, and various social services.

Mrs. Jos. Collins, convener of education, enumerated the educational projects of the subdivisions, the national, provincial and diocesan scholarship contributions, and referred to the oratorical and essay contests held during the year. Later in the day Patricia McDougall, a student at Sacred Heart School, who was the winner of the first prize in the essay contest, read her well prepared essay on "The Catholic Home."

Mrs. A. Richardson, spiritual convener, noted an increase in the number of members making retreats and days of recollection and recommended more study groups on spiritual subjects, particularly relating to the liturgy of the Church.

Mrs. L. Martyn, convener of Girl Guides, spoke of the progress being made by three companies of Guides and one Brownie Pack being sponsored by CWL in Parry Sound and Peterborough.

Miss Agnes Grant, convener of publicity and magazine, pointed out the excellent features of The Canadian League, the official organ of the CWL and announced the subscription contest conducted in the subdivisions was won by St. John's Subdivision, Keene. A

Whitley-Richardson Rites

MARMORA (ENS).—The wedding was perfrmed in St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, Saturday afternoon by the Rev. K. J. Crawford of Isobel Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson of Marmora township, to Douglas William Whitley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitley of Trenton.

The church was decorated for the occasion with assorted spring flowers. The organist was Mrs. William Steenburgh of Trenton who played traditional wedding music. Miss Jean Whitley sang "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register "Because."

Given in marriage by her brother, William Richardson, the bride looked charming in white nylon tulle over taffeta, ballerina length, the tulle trimmed with chantilly lace forming points and with chantilly lace jacket. Her veil of nylon illusion was in cap style caught with lily of the valley. She carried a bouquet of orchids.

Mrs. Glen Phillips, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bride was also attended by three bridesmaids, Mrs. Joseph McCormass and Mrs. Kay Sullivan, Belleville, and her niece, Miss Carol Richardson, Marmora township. The four attendants were frocked alike in ballerina length gowns of yellow organdy over taffeta with matching organdy stoles and organdy hats in the shape of a band of leaves. They carried bouquets of blue cornflower and yellow roses. Gracie Clemens of Belleville made a pretty flower girl in her dress of mauve organdy over taffeta. She carried yellow roses and white gladioli.

Mr. Lloyd Worrel of Montreal was groomsman. Ushers were Jack Macill, James Blaney and Warren Whitley, brother of the groom.

A reception was held in St. Andrew's Hall, where the bride's mother received in a blue crepe faille gown, black and white straw hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother who assisted was in dusty rose and wore a corsage of orchids. Guests were present from Toronto, Brampton, Montreal, Kingston, Gravenhurst, Belleville and Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitley left later on a trip to the Central States and Western Canada. The bride travelled in a pink linen suit with stole, matching accessories and a corsage of orchids. They will live in Trenton.

Hold Garden Party For Golden Milers

Chatten, president. The birthdays of Miss Collins and Mrs. Aggas this month were remembered with cards and the traditional song salutation.

Fellow Soroptimists assisted Miss Curtis with the supper arrangements. They also had a small surprise gift for each of their guests which they presented before driving them home.

SPHAGHETTI MEAL

(Serves 4 to 6)

One-half lb. ground beef, half of an 8 or 9-oz. package thin spaghetti, broken in half, 1 28-oz. tin tomatoes, ½ cup catsup, 1 large onion chopped, ½ seeded green pepper or ½ cup chopped celery, about ¾ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper (½ chopped clove garlic is optional), cheese if desired. Combine all ingredients in large saucepan. If you want to do this in the morning to get ready for an evening meal, cover it and cook over heat for 15 minutes until steam appears. Remove from heat, cool it, and store in refrigerator until 1 hour before meal time. Cook over low heat or bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. If baked, sprinkle cheese over top. If cooked on top of stove it must be stirred occasionally. For the top-of-stove version pass grated cheese at table. Note: If you are baking this almond bars may be baked with it.

ALMOND BARS—Mix together and pat into ungreased 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan: 1 cup flour, ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup butter or margarine. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 10 minutes. Remove from oven and cover with TOPPING: Beat 2 eggs until light, add ¼ cup brown sugar and beat until fluffy. Fold in ¼ cup flour sifted with ½ teaspoon baking powder, then add 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¾ cup each moist shredded cocoanut and raw oatmeal, and 1 cup chopped blanched almonds (or walnuts). (All cocoanut may be used instead of cocoanut and oatmeal if desired.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes or until crisp and lightly browned.

ALL-IN-ONE-SALAD BOWL (to serve 6)—One medium head lettuce, 1 20-oz. tin string beans, drained, 3 peeled tomatoes, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1 7-oz. tin canned fish such as crab, lobster, shrimp or red salmon, 1 peeled mild onion, 3 shelled hard-cooked eggs, sliced, ½ cup sweet pickle, 1 pounded garlic clove, ¾ (or less) salad oil, ¼ teaspoon sugar, ¼ cup vinegar, ¾ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper. Break up the washed and dried lettuce and arrange in salad bowl. Arrange alternate layers of the string beans, tomatoes cut in eighths, the potatoes, fish, onion and eggs. Beat together all of the remaining ingredients with a fork, and thoroughly toss this into the salad. This salad is not harmed by being made ahead of time OR you could assemble it as far as putting it in the bowl and toss it with the dressing at the last minute.

As far as the Custard Pie is concerned buy ready made pastry and keep it very cold. I chose custard pie because it contains eggs and milk and this meal is a little short on protein content, otherwise.

CORNED BEEF HASH— Two cups or 1-lb. can chopped corned beef or roast beef, 3 cups chopped cold cooked potatoes, ⅓ cup minced onion, salt, pepper, ⅓ to ½ cup light cream or rich milk, 2 tablespoons fat. Heat fat in frying-pan. Spread all ingredients but cream over it. Cook over low heat until crust begins to form on bottom. Pour cream over. Continue cooking until golden crust forms on bottom. Fold over like omelet to serve. All ingredients but cream may be mixed in morning, and then cooked about 20 minutes before serving time.

6—In Memoriam

GRAHAM—In loving memory of a beloved husband and father, Charles Graham, who passed away June 11, 1951.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

—Always remembered by wife, daughter and son-in-law, Tom Bradley.

Diocesan Council

beautiful statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, donated by Mrs. Joseph Smith, was presented to the winning subdivision.

Miss M. R. Baker, convener of legislation and citizenship, recommended study of bills which come before the legislature and urged full acceptance of the responsibilities as well as the rights of citizenship.

Mrs. Joseph Powers, convener of immigration, travellers' aid, etc. gave statistics with regard to assistance given new Canadians, contributions to the Sisters of Service and Missionary Sisters of Mary.

Mrs. Angus Twomey, convener of social action, enumerated the various kinds of social service work done at an expenditure of $1156, plus many individual donations. Particular mention was made of the entertainments arranged for the residents of the House of Providence and the interest taken in the children of St. Vincent's Orphanage.

An appeal for interest in securing a greater number of Catholic foster homes for orphaned children was made by the Rev. G. Gaughan, of Peterborough, who mentioned the recent report of the Canadian Welfare Council and also showed the need for these homes in Peterborough district.

Subdivision presidents spoke of the principal work carried on by their members and these covered such varied items as the financing of redecorating and equipping parish halls, gifts of clothing to northern missions, dinner for altar boys, laundering of church linens, cod liver oil and quilts to orphanage, treats and visits to the sick, household supplies to fire victims, assistance to new Canadian families, parcels to Korea, gifts to new babies, assistance to TB and Cancer Clinics, Red Cross drives, milk and lunches to school children, books to the library at the House of Providence, picnics and Christmas parties for the aged and for children.

Resolutions adopted by the convention included support of the brief recently presented by the national president of the Catholic Women's League to the Senate Committee respecting the distribution and sale of salacious literature. They also contained a pledge of loyalty to Queen Elizabeth II, with assurance of prayers for her.

Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Campbellford; 1st vice president, Miss Anne Sullivan, Ennismore; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Angus Twomey, Ennismore; 3rd vice president, Mrs. Joseph Powers, Hastings; recording secretary, Mrs. T. V. O'Toole, Otonabee; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George Carey, Otonabee; treasurer, Miss Agnes Grant, Peterborough.

Mrs. Neil Collins was convener of the arrangements by Sacred Heart Subdivision for entertaining 200 delegates and visitors to the 31st Convention of the CWL.

Dinner was served in the recently renovated basement of the Sacred Heart Church. Decorations were carried out in blue and white, with a very handsome table setting which included yellow roses, daisies and cornflowers, with yellow candles in crystal holders.

Mrs. McGlade brought greetings from the Provincial President, Miss Catherine Toal, of London, and read a message from Provincial Director, Most Rev. W. J. Smith, of Pembroke.

Principal speaker at the dinner was His Excellency Bishop Berry, who called attention to the progress being made by Canada in the discovery of new material resources, the degree of prosperity now enjoyed by Canadians, saying "Canada is in the way of becoming a wealthy country of the world. As women in this country you have to take an interest in that, but also an interest in the generation that is going to have to live in a wealthy country. What are our children going to be? Wealth, as you know, can corrupt. It is the wise use of our resources that is going to be important to the country. That means the careful education of our children in a spiritual way, so that they possess within themselves a body of doctrine, a body of belief, and a code of morals that will allow them to deal with that kind of thing."

Continuing this theme His Excellency commended the action of the Catholic Women's League over some years to point out to Canadians the danger of unlimited distribution of the kind of literature which tends to corrupt morals. Referring to the brief recently presented by the National President of the CWL to the Senate Committee, the Bishop said "The League produced, I think, a balanced brief. It was not extreme. It was not for cutting everything down to the roots. If we cannot agree with some others on all the details, we can at least agree on what is gross, what is blatant immorality. On blatant, gross appeal to immorality, whether to adult or juvenile, then you have a definite case, and can take a stand that is unchallengable. I think that stand is one on which you can unite not only the Catholic women but you can unite all decent people of your community."

In the late afternoon Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. G. Gaughan and before returning to their homes the delegates were entertained at tea by the Sacred Heart Subdivision with Mrs. H. J. Connelly as hostess.

County Committee

SHOULD HAVE BEEN TRIPLED

Said Reeve Stewart "Your equalized assessment has been increased to s lightly more than double your local assessment. Personally I think your equalized should have been tripled to bring it into line with other municipalities . . . Your local assessment is only about a quarter of what it is in other municipalities."

"You can equalize for county assessment," said Reeve Griffith, "but it isn't any of your business what our local assessment is. Leave our local assessment alone."

County Assessor Sparling quoted part of Section 866 of the Assessment Act which says that the county assessor "for the purpose of making uniform the preparation of the asssessment rolls in the municipalities . . . and for the purpose of ascertaining whether the valuations of real property made by the assessors . . . bear a just relation one to another, shall supervise the assessment and advise the assessors and shall report thereon to the county council . . . and such report shall form the basis for equalization . . ."

County Assessor Sparling said it was true that it wasn't his business or that of the council what Belmont-Methuen's local assessment was. But it was his job as county assessor to see that there were no "hardships" caused to ratepayers in the municipality by inequalities within the municipality. It was also his job, he said, to bring Belmont-Methuen's equalized assessment for county purposes into line so they should pay their fair share of the county's budget.

When Reeve Griffith again protested that nobody was kicking about local assessment in Belmont-Methuen, County Assessor Sparling said that was probably because many people didn't know the real picture.

ASSESSMENTS COMPARED

"The poorer properties in Belmont-Methuen are being assessed too much in relation to the valuable properties, so that when the county levy is paid by the municipality the [illegible] be bearing more than [illegible] share of the bill," he said.

The spot check made by members of the equalization and assessment committee showed that homes that could be sold for $7,000 were assessed at $50 on land and $150 on the building. Many small homes were assessed $25 on land and $125 on the building, said County Assessor Sparling, while valuable homes and properties were as low as $50 and the homes as low as $150.

As indications of low assessment some figures were read out on instructions of the committee:

The Openshaw property, near Trent River, $25 on the one acre of land, and $175 on the shop.

The Cheese Factory: $50 on the land and $275 on the building which includes an apartment, plus a $100 business tax.

The Vansickle property including 49 acres on the outskirts of Havelock: $100 on the land and $400 on the brick farmhouse.

Reeve Griffith's own 70 acre farm: $250 on the land and $300 on the buildings.

Steenburgh property in Cordova, which includes a store, gas tank, dwelling and warehouse: $25 on the land, $250 on all the buildings, and $100 business tax.

W. Allan (The Cedars), east of Havelock. A restaurant, gas tanks and cabins: $50 on the 3½ acres of land; $250 on the buildings; $150 on the gas tanks, and $100 business assessment—$550 altogether.

"I always thought I'd like to live in Belmont," said Reeve Rork Ferguson. "Now I know it."

EXTENDED TWO DAYS

Ontario Councillors To Visit Victoria

LINDSAY—Today is the day for the annual visit to the Victoria Council of a council from another county. This year the local group will be host to municipal leaders from Ontario county.

The day started at noon with a dinner at the Legion hall, and a bus tour of the county was scheduled for the afternoon. This will include visits to the county home, the Kirkfield quarries and liftlock, Coboconk, Minden, Bobcaygeon, Kinmount, Fenelon Falls and the Century House at Pleasant Point, before returning to Gilmar Lodge for a banquet tonight.

Last year, Peterborough County Council were the guests.

Haliburton Chamber Engages Secretary

The chamber, organized this spring to succeed the Haliburton Tourist Association, has already organized its various committees for chamber work, and hired a secretary-manager, Thomas Newell, formerly of Saskatoon.

Underground In Early Montreal Meant Cellars Of Notre Dame

MONTREAL (CP)—When the Indians were on the war-path, Montrealers went underground. And underground to the city's early inhabitants meant the cellars of historic Notre Dame Church at Place d'Armes, near the waterfront.

Besides saving many a white scalp, these cellars were used for many other purposes.

Rev. J. B. Vinet, rector of the church, says the church basement originally was a cemetery, moved in later years to make way for an asphalt floor. But one body was left interred in the old cemetery—that of James O'Donnell, the church's architect. O'Donnell, a Protestant from New York, became a Roman Catholic before he died.

The cellars also were used to store wines for the first priests who came here from France. The wine bottles are still there—covered with dust—but empty.

GLOOMY CORRIDORS

On a tour of these basements, you grope around musty, gloomy corridors and climb down into unlighted cellars. Notre Dame Church is 130 years old but the basement underneath has largely been modernized. The only ancient features are huge rafters made from trunks of trees, hacked into shape by an ax.

From the church, you may enter the cellars beneath Montreal's oldest building, the adjoining presbytery of the Sulpician Fathers, built in 1672.

Parts of this cellar still have earthen floors.

The visitor who braves the farthest depths will find in an even lower basement an escape tunnel that runs down to the St. Lawrence river. But for many years the tunnel mouth has been sealed.

Fine Dogs

LONDON (CP)—Export of British pedigreed dogs to dollar markets showed a 10 per cent increase for the first four months of 1952, compared with last year. More than half go to Canada and the United States and the British Kennel Club says a price of £1,000 is not unusual.

RIVER ISLAND

Prince Edward Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence has an area of 2,184 square miles.

RCAF Opens Filter Centre

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The RCAF Wednesday opened its first ground observer filter centre, another link in the defence of the North American continent.

The centre was the first of six to be opened across the country within the next three weeks. The others are located at Brockville, Barrie, North Bay, Truro, N.S., St. Jerome, Que., and Vancouver.

The centres will be manned by civilian volunteers, members of the Ground Observer Corps.

The London centre is equipped to plot aircraft movements over a wide area, north to the Bruce peninsula, south to the U.S. border, east almost to Hamilton, and west to Windsor.

EVALUATE INFORMATION

Under war conditions the centre would evaluate and assemble the information of spotters, to piece together an efficient pattern of aircraft movements both hostile and friendly. During peacetime the centre will track locations of aircraft in distress.

First aircraft flash-call plotted in the filter station came from an observer post in Chatham. Air Marshal C. R. Slemon, chief of staff of the RCAF, took the call and supervised the plotting of an aircraft.

Equity Union Now In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Equity, the United States theatrical union, has established itself in Toronto.

The actors' and chorus union has won its place at Melody Fair which opens Monday at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds for a 14-week run.

All the principals, including some Canadians who worked in the U.S., are members of Equity with the result that the choral and dancing ensembles, largely recruited from the Royal Conservatory of Music here, and the actors, must be members of the union.

The musicials employ 18 Canadian singers and dancers and a minimum of four Canadian actors.

Equity rates guarantee minimum earnings of $55 a week for chorus with an extra $10 if chorus members have a speaking line. Melody Fair pays actors a minimum of $100 a week.

U.S. DENIES FOOD BAN FOR S. KOREA

To Abandon Purge System East Germans Told, Ideological Decrees Fail

Overscreening Teachers and Officials Has Had Bad Results Authorities Say; Ease Food, Film Restrictions At Once

BERLIN (CP)—The Communist premier of East Germany admitted today that ideological purges in the Soviet zone had led to "hypocritical opportunism or to untrue confessions" and said Marxists cannot be forced into conformity by decree. Announcing the latest Communist reform in East Germany —one of the most important from a political standpoint—Premier Otto Grotewohl said East German teachers will no longer be purged for ideological reasons.

Addressing a "Teachers' Day" meeting, he said:

"All coercive measures in this field lead to hypocritical opportunism or to untrue confessions. Marxists must be educated and developed by studies. Decrees do not help.

"One cannot improve the quality of teachers by intensive screening and the eventual dismissal of hundreds of them. Such a personnel policy is illogical. It must be changed basically and quickly.

"Such dismissals must be cancelled, and all teachers, who were forced to retire against their will, must be admitted to school service again."

The announcements follow a sweeping series of changes throughout East Germany, including aid to private business, return of land to farmers who fled to the West, freer travel and an amnesty to people imprisoned for tax evasion. There has also been an agreement with the church and a slowing down of the land collectivization program.

FIRST ALLIED FILM

Communist Radio Berlin announced at noon the British film "White Corridors" would be shown in East sector theatres in the English language.

Only one West German film, "Double Lottchen," a fairy tale without any political tinge, has been shown in East Germany in the last two years. No Allied films have been permitted and the Soviet zone has been restricted largely to films from Moscow.

The East German government also announced the lifting of the Soviet sector ban on sale of food to West Berliners. It was imposed last December and scores of West Berliners were arrested and jailed for short terms on charges of "damaging the state economy." The declaration also said Westerners can buy cigarettes and coffee in the ration-free stores, get their hair cut and their shoes shined.

Meantime the "explaining" department of the Communist regime pumped out long statements, repeating that "many mistakes have

Pilot Killed Steering Plane To Miss Boys

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—A young test pilot plunged to his death Friday because he refused to crash-land Britain's top secret twin-jet, the delta-winged Gloster Javelin, into a cricket field full of terrified schoolboys.

Peter Lawrence, 32, got into trouble in the Javelin at 20,000 feet above thickly-populated Bristol.

He could have parachuted safely —but instead he shut off the fighter's engines and set out for open country.

He nosed her in toward a golf course and at about 300 feet he skimmed over a field where boys were playing cricket. They flattened themselves out on the ground.

Lawrence passed up a chance to bale out a second time. He nosed the Javelin's nose up to avoid the boys.

NO TIME TO OPEN

Then, only 250 feet above the golf course, he leaped out with his 'chute—too late.

There was no time for the 'chute to open. He thudded to the ground and was killed.

The powerful Javelin, set on its course by Lawrence, skidded into a neat crash-landing. Neither the delta wings nor the tail were damaged.

British aviation experts claim the Javelin is the most formidable and powerful fighter in the world. It is an all-purpose long range fighter that can pin-point attacking bombers by radar and hunt them ruthlessly by push-button control.

Alberta Faces New Floods

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—New flood threats in southern Alberta developed today in the wake of a 45-minute electrical and hail storm that struck the Lethbridge area last night.

Lethbridge was recovering from the onslaught earlier this week of the flooding Oldman river and Medicine Hat had battled a flood crest in the South Saskatchewan river when the storm struck.

Reports received at Calgary said a line of Calgary Power Ltd. supplying emergency electricity to Lethbridge following flooding of the pumphouse at the southwestern Alberta city, was struck by lightning.

Rain and hail in the Lethbridge area, caused some immediate flooding where storm sewers could not carry the run-off from the heavy downpour.

Meanwhile as the South Saskatchewan crest moved across the Prairie flatlands to Saskatoon, a cloudburst was reported at Drumheller in east-central Alberta. Heavy rain in the coal-mining town overflowed the storm-sewer system.

May Ease Restrictions At Toronto Stockyards

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general, said today consideration is being given to removal of some of the cattle restrictions at Toronto stockyards.

Restrictions, which include testing of cattle for tuberculosis can be removed by declaring the stockyards an accredited area. Buyers and truckers have complained that the testing is slowing up movement through the yards.

The Ontario Livestock Shippers Association said in an announcement at Wingham Thursday the curbs may be eased by June 15. There was no confirmation of that date here.

Logger Uses Bare Hands To Battle Starving Cougar

INGLEWOOD, B. C. (CP)—A logger who dared to grapple with a starving cougar with his bare hands was credited Thursday with saving the life of a woman attacked by the animal as she stepped from the door of her home.

The 24-year-old Indian woman, Mrs. Peter Coon, is reported in fair condition in hospital and the cougar was later cornered and shot by a hunter.

At the time the woman was attacked her husband was out hunting the cougar, which he believed was many miles away.

A. Lansdowne, owner of Lansdowne logging camp here, tore the cat off Mrs. Coon after it had attacked and pinned her to the ground outside her home near this Vancouver Island logging town.

The cougar was first seen Tuesday outside the logging camp and later Mr. Coon chased it away after it had scratched at his door.

Mrs. Coon left the house Thursday to visit a neighbor, The cat, which had apparently been hiding under the house, pounced on her and pinned her to the ground. Both her hands were badly chewed as she fought to keep its fangs away from her face and throat.

Mr. Lansdowne, hearing Mrs. Coon's screams, rushed at the cougar and attempted to strangle it but couldn't get a firm grip on the throat. He succeeded in tearing it away from Mrs. Coon and the animal fled.

CHARGED WITH THE ROBBERY with violence of elderly Charles Smith of Lakefield is Leonard Taylor of Curve Lake. The preliminary hearing of the charge against Taylor began Thursday and was adjourned until next week. Taylor is seen being escorted by Lakefield police chief Price Morris. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Trio Kidnaps Republican, Find No Trace

CHICAGO (AP)—Clem Graver, a Republican state legislator and ward committeeman from Chicago's so-called hoodlum-dominated west side bloc, was abducted by three men near his home Thursday night and several hours later police had no trace of him.

Five persons, including Graver's wife, Amelia, 51, witnessed the abduction of the 53-year-old real estate and insurance broker. Police said the witnesses gave varying details, but all agreed three men followed Graver in a car as he drove his auto into his garage about 11 p.m.

Graver was seized as he came from the garage—about a half-block from his home. He struggled with his abductors but they forced him into their car and drove away.

On his way to his garage, Graver had passed his home and waved to his wife, who was standing on the front porch with a friend.

Police Capt. Eugene McNally said he did not know whether Graver's abduction was connected with politics.

Graver, in Republican politics on the west side for 30 years, has been a state representative from the 21st ward since 1950. The 21st ward is among the eight west of the downtown district making up the west side bloc

Violence often has erupted in the wards. State representative William J. Granata, for many years a rival with former representative James Adduci for Republican leadership of the 27th ward, was murdered with an ax Oct. 8, 1948. His assassins were not captured.

Feb. 6, 1952, Charles Gross, 56, an opponent of the so-called hoodlum element seeking domination of some city wards, was slain in a hail of shotgun slugs fired from an automobile. Police said it was a case of well-planned murder, carried out by experts.

Have Near Riot In Gov't Library

OTTAWA (CP)—In a grumbling climax to an unusual episode in the staid old library of Parliament, a contractor Thursday paid his workers for back wages that nearly provoked them into attacking him Wednesday.

Thirty or 40 men engaged by contractor Mervin Mick, 61, to remove tens of thousands of books from the library had threatened him in a group, in the library itself unless he paid them wages for the last two or three weeks.

Members of the Commons protective staff finally were called in and saved Mr. Mick from violence and a member of the RCMP persuaded the workers to return the keys they had taken from the Mick car outside the building.

From a truck parked outside the library, Mr. and Mrs. Mick Thursday proceeded to pay the men, not without arguments, as the workers filed up to the car window and went away.

Some of them were still grumbling when they looked in their envelopes. They said they had been paid only for two weeks in stead of three.

Mick told reporters he was short of money because there was more coming to him from the public works department on a previous contract.

A works official said an adjustment is being made on an earlier transfer contract with Mr. Mick.

Report Bulgarians, Czechs Rioting, Striking After Drastic Red Reforms

VIENNA (AP)—Unconfirmed reports reaching Vienna today said riots, demonstrations and strikes are still sweeping Communist Czechoslovakia and that similar disturbances have broken out in Bulgaria. The reports, lacking authoritative confirmation, claim that Czech workers at Moravska Ostava—capital of the nation's "Ruhr valley"—and in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, have rioted and clashed with police since troops suppressed a near-revolution in Pilsen, June 1-5.

Overworked, under-nourished miners, angered by the loss of their savings and reduction of their buying power through a drastic currency reform on May 30, were reported to have torn down pictures of Stalin and Lenin in the mines. They allegedly pasted up photographs of Thomas G. Masaryk and Eduard Benes, Czech Republican heroes now discredited by the Communist regime.

These incidents were reported to have occurred after rioters in Pilsen stormed the city hall June 1, tore down the Soviet flag, raised the U. S. Stars and Stripes. A state of martial law was maintained for five days.

Unconfirmed reports, meanwhile, alleged that Iron Curtain discontent also has threatened the Communist regime in Bulgaria. Tobacco workers in Dimitrovo and Blaegoevgrad recently demonstrated for more bread, which is rationed and expensive in Bulgaria. Details of their show of strength against the regime were not known.

Board Ruling Blocks Damages

TORONTO (CP)—An attempt by the James R. Kerney Corporation of Guelph to obtain damages from the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) for losses caused by an illegal strike was blocked today by an arbitration board ruling.

The ruling, handed down under the chairmanship of Judge John Forsyth, questioned whether it was within the jurisdiction of the board to entertain damage claims arising out of a labor dispute.

The walkout, which lasted 2½ days, was touched off when R. Dean, president of the union's Kerney local, was fired. However, the board upheld the company's action in firing Dean for using abusive language and threatening a foreman.

The matter will be referred to the Ontario labor relations board for a ruling on powers of arbitration boards.

Seek Replacement For Lancaster Plane

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has asked five Canadian companies to submit plans for a new plane as a possible replacement for the RCAF's four-engine Lancaster, the main aircraft of Maritime squadrons, officials said today.

Considered as a possible successor to the Second World War bomber is the new United Kingdom turbo-prop Bristol Britannia. Officials said, however, there still is the possibility that the design finally chosen may be a Canadian product—if the Canadian companies come up with something better than the Britannia.

Greater Trade Seen Solution

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP)—The long-range salvation of world currencies is possible only with increased trade and freedom from excessive trade barriers, L. G. Gillett of Toronto, retiring president and of the Canadian Bankers Association, said today.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the association, Mr. Gillett, vice-president and general-manager of the Bank of Toronto, said progress towards freer trade has been steady, "but exceedingly slow."

"It must be expedited if the Western world is to make continued progress, if the bounties of nature and enterprise are to be shared and distributed as they should. Short-sighted trade policies, a determination to preserve exclusive markets, can rip the world apart as surely as war or pestilence."

Mr. Gillett said Canada, once primarily an agrarian economy, is "emerging as one of the great industrial nations."

It sometimes was not realized that for five consecutive years Canada has devoted to capital investment more than a fifth of its gross national product, a rate few countries could duplicate.

August 10 Expected Election Day

Report Ministers Agree On Date, Wait Approval of Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet went into session promptly at 10:30 a.m. EDT today in what may turn out to be a day-long meeting to dissolve Parliament and formally name Aug. 10 as the federal election date.

There were three absentees from the meeting—State Secretary Bradley, Labor Minister Gregg and Senator Wishart McL. Robertson, government leader in the Senate.

Mr. Bradley and Senator Robertson are believed to be in London and Mr. Gregg at an International Labor Organization meeting in Geneva.

A press conference has been called for about 5 p. m. EDT, when the government decisions likely will be made public.

Informed Liberal quarters said Aug. 10—long speculated upon—was the day of polling agreed on informally among the ministers. It remained only to have this nailed down officially by the cabinet.

On arrival here from overseas early Thursday, Prime Minister St. Laurent said he had not decided finally on a date. But several hours later party sources said Aug. 10 was it—definitely.

The announcement was expected to be made after a day-long meeting of cabinet, possibly around 6 p.m. EDT. Several other matters are to be dealt with by cabinet.

One, it was reported, will be the welcoming into the Privy Council of a new minister: John W. (Jack) Pickersgill, 47, now the $15,000-a-year clerk of the council.

Mr. Pickersgill, who now holds the rank of deputy minister, was a Liberal strategist for years as special assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and later to Mr. St. Laurent. He moved over to the non-political cabinet clerk job more than a year ago.

He is expected to be named as successor to State Secretary H. Gordon Bradley of Newfoundland, going to the Senate.

U.S. Cancels Plane Contract

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States Air Force, enmeshed in a budget slash, has cancelled a $100,000,000 aircraft contract in Canada, it was disclosed Thursday.

T. Norbert Beaupre, head of the production department's aircraft division, said there is no reason to believe that other American aircraft orders in Canada are in jeopardy.

First word of the cancellation came from Canadair Ltd., the big Montreal aircraft plant that had received the U.S. order to produce 227 T-36 American bomber-trainer planes for the USAF.

Still untouched is the USAF order for T-34 trainer planes placed with Canadian Car and Foundry Co., at Fort William.

Hint Arms Embargo If Rhee Refuses Accept UN Truce

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A charge that the republic of Korea had been threatened with a United Nations embargo to force acceptance of the proposed truce terms cast its shadow all the way to Panmunjom today despite speedy diplomatic denials. The charge was made Thursday by Dr. You Chan Yang, South Korea's ambassador to the United States, during a press conference following the dedication of a blood donor centre here.

The 56-year-old physician-ambassador said "certain UN officials"—he declined to give any names—had made an oral threat that the UN might force the U.S. to cut off economic and military aid to South Korea if that country refused to join in the truce expected at any moment.

BRISTLING REACTION

That statement brought a bristling reaction from U. S. circles. A state department spokesman commented:

"Any implication that the United States uses famine and human suffering for political purposes is false, and those who make such statements know that it is false."

The headquarters of Gen. Mark Clark in Tokyo pointed to a previous denial of a similar report and a UN command spokesman in the Japanese capital declined comment.

Dr. Yang's fellow diplomat—South Korea's UN representative, Col. Ben C. Limb—expressed astonishment at the accusation and said he knew of no such attempt at international bullying.

SLAP AT OFFICIALS

Dr. Yang specifically denied that he meant any threat had been made by the U. S. However, Washington observers were inclined to consider his statement as a slap at U. S. officials acting in the name of the UN.

Dr. Yang said he felt other UN members were pressuring the U. S. into its present policy in Korea, but he hastened to add that he did not believe such tactics would cause the U. S. to order a cutoff

Big 3 Ask Moscow Name Austrian Terms

PARIS (AP)—The Big Three Western powers have sent a new note to Moscow asking the Soviet Union to spell out their exact price for the long-delayed Austrian treaty settlement.

French officials said today the note requests a text of the treaty of independence Moscow wants with Austria. Past attempts to pin down the Russians on their exact desire have been unsuccessful. The officials said the note was dispatched Wednesday.

May 26 the Russians rejected a Western proposal to resume talks by deputy foreign ministers, who have held 260 meetings since 1947 on the treaty. Early this week, however, the Russians agreed to establish full diplomatic relations with Austria and exchange ambassadors with the occupation country, actions the Western occupation powers took in 1950.

Thousands Pack Queen's Route To Guildhall

LONDON (Reuters) — Bells chimed and crowds cheered today when the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh drove in an open landau from Buckingham Palace to the Guildhall, home of the City of London corporation.

Thousands packed the troop-lined route to the Guildhall, where the Queen lunched with city dignitaries.

The Queen wore a dress of blue-grey with a cloche feathered hat of emerald green. A bouquet of flowers rested on her lap. The Duke's uniform of an admiral of the fleet was swept by the blue sash of the Order of the Garter.

The landau was led by two formations of the Household Cavalry, wearing shining breastplates and plumed helmets. Two more units tailed behind the Queen's coach.

WAIT IN RAIN

Many people waited in drizzling rain for several hours to see the royal procession. Office workers left their desks to peer from windows overlooking the route.

The Queen's carriage halted at Temple Bar, historic boundary of the city, which leads into Fleet street, London's newspaper row.

The lord mayor of London, wearing his robes and chain of office, met the Queen with his aldermen and sheriffs. According to tradition the Queen asked to be allowed to enter the city.

See Indo-China Big Headache

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials are seriously worried about the future of Indo-China.

They fear the next premier to emerge from France's current political crisis may drastically change French conduct of the bloody seven-year war.

The White House, and the state and defence departments, are considering the possibility that France may either:

1. Appeal to the U. S. to pay a far bigger share, if not all, of the costs of the Indo-China war, or
2. Suddenly decide to pull all French forces out of Indo-China and dump the whole problem into the lap of the U. S.

They still are hoping France will choose a moderate premier who will continue the fight against communism in Indo-China with U. S. assistance no larger than at present.

No Solution In Sight

West Makes Poor Showing In Trieste

By I. NORMAN SMITH

TRIESTE (Special to The Examiner)—(Delayed)—There seems no solution in sight of the struggle between Italy and Yugoslavia for the Free Territory of Trieste.

Meanwhile a large American warship rides at anchor just outside my hotel window and British and American soldiers control this city of 300,000.

Actually the citizens don't seem to care so much, for they have a free port and make a lot of money out of the foreign occupants. But national pride is at stake for the politicians in Rome and Belgrade and they will neither agree nor agree to disagree.

The British and Americans are the losers, for it is costing them money and 10,000 men, and they are blamed by both sides. They have also lost a good deal in prestige, for the Western Powers' policies in Trieste don't look good even to a Westerner.

The whole area of Trieste and Fiume, two large ports at the top of the Adriatic, has been fought over and for by a dozen or more powers and for centuries. The present trouble stems from World War II. Yugoslav forces freed the area from the Nazis and claimed and were granted some of it which they claimed the Italians had not rightfully possessed before the war. The Italians did claim the city of Trieste, however, and the Peace Treaty with Italy in 1947 went so far as to say that Italy could have a portion of the area to the west, but that the disputed and main area would be put under a United Nations-appointed governor and declared "free".

COULDN'T GET GOVERNOR

The UN could not find a governor acceptable to all powers, specially Russia, and so the British and American military governments had to remain on in Zone A and Yugoslav forces remained in Zone B.

But then a queer thing happened. Britain, the United States and France announced in March 1948 that the Free Territory idea wouldn't work and that the entire Free Territory should be given to Italy holus bolus, Zone A and B. That was when Yugoslavia was in the Russian camp, and it was also just as de Gasperi, the Italian Premier, was facing an election fight against Communists. The West obviously hoped to help de Gasperi win his election, which he did, and to trim Yugoslavia's Communist sails.

But not long after that Yugoslavia broke from Russia. That, together with the fact that de Gasperi's election had been won, prompted the Western Powers to reverse their position and say that Yugoslavia had some valid claims after all and that Italy and Yugoslavia should get together in friendly agreement.

ABANDON IDEA

This was an abandonment, you will notice, of the original Italian Peace Treaty idea that there would be a Free Territory ruled by a UN governor. That idea has since been regarded as idle wishful thinking and impractical. Thus the British and Americans and the French have reduced their role now to keeping the peace at their own expense and trying to get Rome and Belgrade to play together.

But the Italians like something to shout about politically to distract attention from their own economic problems, and the Yugoslavs are darned if they see why they should back down in their more modest claims, since (a) they drove the Nazis out in the first place, and (b) Italy was an enemy not an ally in the war that is being settled.

I should—but I won't—try to outline the other facts that make the problem even more complicated. Racial origins, for example, seem to give Italy the nod, but the Yugoslavs claim that that is so only because before the war the Italians drove out most of the Slovenes (Yugoslavs). The city of Trieste is predominantly Italian, all right, but when you go inland anywhere along the coast you find more Yugoslavs. Since it would be economically impossible just to shave off the coast for Italy that presents no solution.

As things stand now the Zone A that is occupied by British and American troops is considerably ruled by Italian civil government (at the West's urging) and includes the whole of the city of Trieste. The Zone B that is occupied by Yugoslavia has become really a part of Yugoslavia. Zone A is wealthy and important and more populated. Zone B is hill and agricultural country plus a few poorer fishing villages.

The British and Americans begin to suspect that Italians and Yugoslavs are really happy to have things continue in this muddle. It saves them money and indeed makes them money. Besides, it keeps out the threat of Russian penetration. But it is an undesirable way to run a world, from the West's point of view, and it perpetuates a vicious political argument between Italy and Yugoslavia which the West would like to see ended. Perhaps after the Italian elections (which will be over by the time you read this) the situation will simmer down a bit. But if a settlement is reached the authorities here now will be as surprised as they will be delighted.

U.S. Troops Smash New Attacks

South Koreans Battle To Plug Gap In Break-Through

SEOUL (AP)—United States infantry today smashed new attacks by two battalions of Chinese Reds in central Korea while South Koreans battled to plug a gap in the main Allied line on the eastern end of the front.

About 1,500 Chinese troops charged through driving rain behind a thunderous artillery and mortar barrage in the second day of heavy attacks on rugged Outpost Harry. They were thrown back by fresh U.S. reinforcements after cutting off the outpost, the 8th army said.

The army estimated that 500 Chinese were killed and another 1,000 wounded by U.S. 3rd Division troops in futile attempts to grab the strategic height 10 miles northeast of Chorwon.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Heavy fighting was reported in the 3,000-foot mountains of the east central front where two Chinese regiments cracked through mainline positions Wednesday.

A Chinese force of about 1,500 men charged through the south Koreans and moved along a curving ridgeline to the southwest. South Korean counter-attacks pinched from both sides and the Reds were apparently stopped.

But sketchy reports from the front indicated a nasty fight still was in progress this morning.

PLANES GROUNDED

Thunder storms and heavy weather grounded most aircraft during the night, but a handful of radar-directed strikes were flown against scattered troops and supply routes.

The 3rd division reported nearly 15,000 rounds of Red explosives fell in its sector during the early morning battle. Allied artillery thundered in reply and tanks poured point-blank fire at the attacking Reds.

Reinforcing troops broke through to the outpost just before dawn and the badly mauled Chinese pulled back a short while later.

Charlotte Won't Make World Plowing Match

COBOURG. — Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa will not be attending the world plowing match here next October and the challenge match with Mayor Jack Burnet will accordingly be off. Floyd Lashley, secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, told a meeting of committee chairmen of the big match, that Ottawa's mayor would not be present.

However, Cobourg's Mayor Burnet revealed today that Mayor Grace MacFarland of Leamington had elected to champion the interests of the fair sex at plowing and had challenged him to perform with the plow next October. Mayor Burnet, who never has been a backward boy, has accepted the challenge in a letter in which he expresses his pleasure for the opportunity to be associated "with the beauty and charm" of Leamington's mayor.

Bertrand Hanged For Slaying Wife

MONTREAL (CP)—Rheal Leo Bertrand of Ottawa paid with his life on the gallows early today for the slaying in 1951 of his second wife.

The dapper, 37-year-old Bertrand had been convicted of murdering his well-to-do 55-year-old bride of two months in a lonely hunting cabin at Lac St. Marie, Que., about 60 miles north of Hull, Que. Motive was her $30,000 estate.

He mounted the scaffold at Montreal's Bordeaux jail at 1:10 a. m. EDT.; the trap was sprung under him two minutes later; and he was declared dead at 1:21 a. m.

Sheriff Paul Hurteau said Bertrand did not follow the usual custom of shaking hands with the jail priest and warden. He was grim and silent. Shortly before being hanged he attended mass and received holy communion.

Police Capture Insane Escapee

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP)—An escaped insane rapist bolted from a swamp early today and was overpowered by swarms of waiting police.

William Schmit, 20, was the last of three "extremely dangerous" men who last Sunday fled from Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane.

The others, both killers, were captured Thursday.

Appeal Voids Execution Date

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP)—The Sing Sing prison warden's office said Thursday it has received notice of appeal of the death sentence of two Canadian slayers, automatically voiding their execution date.

The doomed men, Maurice O'Dell, 26, and Walter F. Griffen, 27, both of Hamilton, Ont., were convicted in Buffalo of first degree murder in the hold-up slaying last December of jeweller Donald F. Hurd.

They were sentenced to die during the week of June 7, but under New York state law the conviction in a first degree murder case must go to a higher court for review.

Demonstrators March, Weep For 4th Day

SEOUL (AP)—South Koreans chanted, marched and wept through their fourth straight day of anti-truce demonstrators today as Allied and Red staff officers worked in secret on the last details of an armistice that appears almost a certainty.

The stubborn South Korean nation—and its unbending president, Syngman Rhee—gave no outward sign of changing the violent opposition to a cease-fire that would leave the battered peninsula divided politically.

However, a truce appears only a matter of days away—the time it takes the staff officers to finish the final document in morning and afternoon sessions at Panmunjom.

The United Nations command apparently is proceeding undaunted with its armistice plans in the belief that South Korea won't make good its threats to reject the truce and fight the Reds alone.

Hydro Men Burned By 8,000-Volt Line

Two Hydro workers from the Norwood area are in Civic Hospital today undergoing treatment for electrical burns they suffered Thursday. Both are in good condition.

They are William Johnston, 22, of RR 2, Hastings and Phillip Switzer, 31, of Norwood. The two received light burns to their hands and legs.

Johnston said they were working stringing lines about 1½ miles northwest of Norwood when the accident occurred, about 4:30. They were burned by an 8,000-volt line but neither needed respiration to revive.

Council Reverses Stand On Appropriations

Perhaps the Department of Highways aren't so bad after all. And in any case this isn't exactly the time to talk tough to them.

This about sums up the attitude that the Peterborough County Council — with two exceptions — took Thursday afternoon when they mellowed a resolution of the day before that had sharply criticized the department for this year cutting the roads appropriation bylaws.

On Wednesday afternoon they heard Reeve William Grant of Lakefield blast the department for the cuts. Then he added a stinger "(That council) call upon each voter in the county to protest these cuts to the Hon. Harold R. Scott, MPP."

Still boiling over the fact that Lakefield's approved roads appropr'ation bylaw was cut by $3,000, Reeve Grant said: "This matter is broader than the county council because it won't be rectified until the electors take this matter up with their Member. It's their responsibility—and ours, of course."

(Lakefield was not alone. The 15 municipalities were cut a total of $35,000 and the county itself was cut $33,000.)

Reeve Grant presented his resolution in the closing minutes of Wednesday afternoon, just at the time when everybdy was tired and wanting to go home. This and his oratory apparently carried the day.

In any case there were no dissenters when the resolution was put to a vote.

NO TIME FOR SNIPING

Afterwards some of the council members wondered if this had been smart. Particularly the reference to Mr. Scott. After all Peterborough has quite a few irons in the fire, as one councillor observed, and this was no time for political sniping.

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore brought the subject up again Thursday afternoon. He agreed that there had been cuts in the road appropriation bylaws but he suggested that by the time the department pays for the three bridges that are being built, their share of the Buckhorn Road, development roads, (and presumably the causeway at Gannon's Narrows), the county won't be losing out.

Reeve William E. Griffith of Belmont-Methuen, who had seconded Reeve Grant's resolution, replied that the bridges, Buckhorn Road and similar projects weren't benefiting his municipality.

A motion was introduced by Reeves Roland Tedford of Douro and Dick Stewart of Otonabee that the clause in Reeve Grant's resolution, calling on the voters to protest to Mr. Scott, should be deleted.

Reeve Grant flatly refused to support it and came out with another sharp blast:

"I intend the resolution to stand. If we go cap in hand to the government every time we come up against something like this we have lost something of our democratic way of life. We have given up part of our birthright as free men.

"As the mover of the resolution I refuse to withdraw it."

"Hear, hear," said Reeve Griffith who managed to get into every dispute during the two-day session.

The amending motion, deleting the reference to Mr. Scott, passed with only Reeves Grant and Griffith voting against it.

'Nina' Replaces Henry As Theatre Opener

Peterborough Summer Theatre season will open this year with the production "Nina" instead of the previously planned "Springtime for Henry."

The announcement came from managing director Michael Sadlier who returned from New York following an interview with Edward Everett Horton, star of the French comedy.

The complete "Nina" company will be brought here from Chicago June 22 to stage the performance. "Nina" is currently showing in Chicago following a triumphant 10-day run at the Ann Arbor, Michigan, Festival.

GO EVEN FURTHER

In a resume of the sweeping "decommunizing" campaign, the East went beyond its original announcement that certain types of prisoners will be granted reviews of their cases. The government said "all sentences" against persons charged with crimes against the state will be reviewed.

The Supreme Court has already acted in one instance. An eight-month term imposed on a woman farmer has been annulled. The high court sent it back to the lower tribunal with an assertion there had been "no effort to establish truth." The woman had been jailed for failing to meet her crop quota.

of food and other economic supplies to his homeland.

The U. S. state department spokesman's choice of words in issuing a denial was significant—"any implication that the United States uses famine and human suffering, etc." The denial did not touch on the charge of a threatened military embargo.

Dr. Yang spoke bitterly of the five countries proposed for the UN truce commission—Poland, Czechoslovakia, India, Sweden and Switzerland. Those countries, he said, would automatically line up 3 to 2 in favor of Communist policy on any issue of importance. Poland and Czechoslovakia are considered Soviet satellites and since India has been accused of pro-Russian sentiments in previous Korean statements, these three presumably are the nations Yang was referring to.

Then the South Korean ambassador asked why have the United Nations accepted "all these Communist demands?"

And he answered:

"They want peace—may I say parenthetically, peace at any cost—to appease the Communists at any price.

"I tell you, it is not peace—it will be the bloodiest peace in history."

DENIES MESSAGE

In Washington, James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, denied today a published report from Seoul that President Eisenhower had rushed a new message to Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea.

The report attributed the statement to a high Republic of Korea source.

Hagerty told reporters the report is not correct and added:

"There has been no letter or message to President Syngman Rhee from the president of the United States."

4 Generations Represented In Family Tree

For all his bright and merry appearance, John Parnell, 378 Queen St., doesn't know that the nearer and stouter branches of his family tree comprise his father and mother, four grandparents and seven great grandparents.

John is only eight months old, the firstborn of Mr. and Mrs. John Parnell. One of his grandfathers, and a very fond one too, is Maurice E. Ketcheson, who suggests that his grandson must be an exception to the general experience of persons in having such a numerous background of near and living ancestors.

JOHN PARNELL

The more Mr. Ketcheson thinks about it, the more he is impressed with the small host of people in the genealogy of John Parnell Jr. By the time people become interested in their forebears, they find that most of them have disappeared into eternity with the endless human line that extends far back into the mists of time. Mr. Ketcheson remarked that it is then one realizes his own position as a survivor of the clan and family.

So Mr. Ketcheson wrote down the other day the people on both sides of his house who are interested in baby Parnell.

The baby's parents are John Parnell and his wife, Bettie Guthrie, whose home is at 378 Queen St.

The grandparents on the father's side are John Parnell and his wife Myrtle Ketcheson, 318 Euclid Ave.

On that same side the great grandparents are Richard Parnell and his wife, Bertha Buller at 503 Parnell St.; and Maurice E. Ketcheson whose deceased wife was Ethel Maude Hazelton.

Coming down on the maternal side, the parents of Betty Guthrie, who is Mrs. John Parnell the baby's mother, are Oscar Guthrie and his wife Thelma Killingbeck of 655 Frank St.

And the great grandparents on the maternal side are John Guthrie and his wife Olga Sandy of Millbrook and Herman Killingbeck and his wife Allie Martin of 278 Braidwood.

Four generations are represented on both side of the house. Early marriages are indicated in the family tree. Mrs. Herman Killingbeck was a bride at 15, and her daughter Mrs. Oscar Guthrie at 17. Mrs. Myrtle Ketcheson Parnell was married at 17, and her mother was 20 when she married Maurice Ketcheson who was 23.

One little tragic aspect in this story of a baby boy's background is the blindness of his maternal great grandmother Mrs. John Guthrie of Millbrook. Her sight failed her 42 years ago.

The only death in those four generations was that of Maurice Ketcheson's wife. By the way, Mr. Ketcheson has four great grandsons and 17 grandchildren.

2-Cent Increase Granted Ford Workers

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — An across - the - board, two - cent-an-hour pay increase for Ford of Canada employees who are members of local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO), is included in a new agreement announced Thursday.

The increase, along with several other important benefits for employees, is designed to bring the contract in line with the pattern recently agreed upon by company and union in the United States.

Thomas MacLean, assistant Canadian director of the UAW, and president Charles McDonald of local 200, the largest one-plant local in Canada, said in a statement the company also has agreed to "forego the one cent an hour cost-of-living bonus decrease scheduled to go into effect this month."

Their statement following 10 days of meetings between union and ford officials.

Ford employs some 11,000 manufacturing workers in its sprawling plant here.

The company also agreed to incorporate 11 cents of the 16 cent cost-of-living bonus into the basic pay rate and to allow pensioners to retain the hospital and surgical benefits in the local 200 contract at group rates which are paid by the pensioners. Those already on pension will be permitted to recover the benefits.

Victoria County Assessment Of $23,147,925

LINDSAY (ENS)—Assessment increases ranging from $500 for the village of Omemee to $122,000 for the town of Lindsay were assigned to all but one of the municipalities in the county at Thursday's meeting of county council's equalized assessment committee.

The boosts were increases on the 1952 equalized assessment, which is the basis for the county rate. Following are the increases put in effect at the percentage of county dollar expenditure contributed by each municipality:

Bexley township, $5,000, .017; Carden township, .016; Dalton township, .005; Eldon township, $5,600, .7594; Emily township, $1,400, .07064; Fenelon township, $35,000, .09653; Laxton township, $3,425, .01291; Mariposa township, $3,000, .14157; Ops township, $20,000, .10635; Somerville township, $18,000, .02584; Verulam, $10,100, .07171; Bobcaygeon, $7,500, .02740; Fenelon Falls, $10,000, .02853; Lindsay, $122,000, .2749; Omemee, $500, .01322; Sturgeon Point, $2,000, .0064, and Woodville, $2,000, .00902. Total county assessment under the revised figures is $23,147,925.

5th Column Danger Stressed By Church

MONTREAL (CP)—The four-day Montreal-Ottawa conference of the United Church of Canada ended today with a warning of the dangers to the free world from enemies hiding behind the cloak of freedom.

The evangelism and social service committee told delegates to the 29th annual meeting that this danger also comes from citizens who seek to abolish freedom of discussion in a misguided effort to suppress the real enemy.

The committee called on leaders of the church, state, education and business to defend the right of free speech.

Expect 30 Or 40 Thousand To Attend Plowing Match

COBOURG (ENS).—There was plain talking at the monthly meeting of committee chairmen in connection with plans for the world and international plowing match to be held here next October.

Floyd Lashley, secretary-manager of the Ontario Plowman's Association, said that the fact that it was the first world plowing match, would be bound to increase the attendance and this would mean a daily attendance of thirty or forty thousand people.

The huge crowd expetced brought up the question of meeting sanitary requirements. It was claimed that the sanitary situation at Carp last year was very bad and that measures to cope with it had been most inadequate. John Finlayson, sanitary inspector of the counties health unit, agreed that a squad of men would have to be hired for sanitary detail. He emphasized that the problem of sanitation would be a tremendous task.

NO RAFFLES

Mr. Lashley said that there would be no raffles permitted on the grounds. Sometimes clubs that were raffling off a car would park the car outside the grounds and then circulate around inside and sell tickets. Where such ticket sale was detected steps would be taken to halt it, he warned.

The overseas plowmen were scheduled to arrive in Canada September 30 and would be two weeks here, leaving October 15. Their itinerary would include a trip to Western Ontario and Niagara Falls. There were 71 exhibitors listed so far but it was only a small part of what would come before the match opened, Mr. Lashley said.

It is also planned to hold a horse show. Entrants will have to have competed in one plowing event and to have been available for other events. The opening day will feature the Ontario championships and also the special plowing match for mayors—not mares.

Glenn James of Port Hope said he would like to see a plowing match for the rank amateurs and he would put up $90 in prizes for such an event. Farmers and retired farmers would not be able to compete.

"Just for the odrinary Joe's who never saw a plow," said Mr. James. His offer was accepted.

Dr. Fred Robertson, MP for Northumberland, said he had been in touch with the Governor-General who would be here to open the plowing match. A Bailey bridge is needed on White St. So far his efforts to get the Department of National Defence to instal one had not been successful but he was going to keep trying.

Next meeting is July 8 in Port Hope council chamber.

WMS Members Plan Birthday Offering

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS).—St. Andrew's WMS met in the church parlor with Mrs. F. M. Rutherford presiding in the absence of the president. The meeting was opened with the call to worship, followed by a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Robert Hall.

It was decided to disband for the summer. The meetings will resume in September.

Mrs. Reg. McCulloch assumed responsibility for the flower booth at the garden party and asked for the assistance of several members. The secretary was asked to write to the Keene Auxiliary to arrange a visit with them as planned by the Presbyterial Society.

All members having used Christmas cards were asked to turn them over to the Mission Band, to help them with their collection. Donations were also required for the fish pond for the garden party.

A special birthday offering has been arranged for the September meeting. Each member will donate one cent for each birthday they have celebrated. Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol offered the use of her home for a Come-and-Go Tea, to be held later in the fall.

Mrs. G. G. Stephens and Mrs. Reg. McCulloch explained the chapter in the study book dealing with the Christian Church in Africa. Mrs. Reg. McCulloch was asked to send for the new study book. The scripture lesson was taken by Mrs. DeCarrol and Mrs. Adamson read the meditation.

Mrs. Robert Bell arranged a program, with members of the Mission Band taking part, as follows: Piano solo, Freddie Cowell; recitation, Sheila Macmillan; duet, Doreen Bell and Karen Ames; piano solo, Sandra Southern.

The meeting was closed with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. F. Rutherford.

Leeches Prove Big Problem For Climbers

By PETER JACKSON

NAMCHE BAZAR, Nepal (Reuters)—The greatest horror facing the Everest climbers on their homeward trek is an onslaught of leeches.

Monsoon weather has brought a myriad of the blood-sucking worms into the open. They hang from every tree and bush and cling to blades of grass.

Thin as threads, they wriggle into your shoes, crawl along your legs and fasten onto your flesh until they swell to the size of bloated caterpillars.

Usually you do not know they are there until you feel the blood in your shoe or see a bloodstain spreading down your sock.

It is even worse to pull them off, for they tear the flesh and leave a sore.

USUAL REMEDIES

Apart from an insect repellent which is supposed to keep them at bay, the climbers are carrying the usual sovereign remedies—salt which is supposed to make them curl up and drop off, kerosene which is supposed to discourage them, and tobacco which, boiled into juice and spread on the legs, is supposed to disgust even the most gluttonous.

But there is no armor against the monsoon, before which the mountaineers are retreating.

After weeks amid the dazzling whiteness and blue skies of the Everest range the climbers now tramp through the damp green steaming valleys of Nepal. But it would take more than a monsoon to dampen the spirits of this jubilant body of men who met Everest's challenge and return triumphant.

Already, thin fingers of cloud, warning of the monsoon's approach, are curling along the narrow Himalayan valleys and misting the giant peaks, and soon torrential rain will swamp the whole area.

Deep gorges, which not long ago carried only a trickle of water, are filling up into foaming torrents as glaciers and snows melt in the warmth of the pre-monsoon winds.

Council Asked To Secure Park

LINDSAY— (ENS) — Members of Victoria County Council approved unanimously without vote a motion brought before them on Thursday by Deputy Reeve A. E. Hick of Lindsay that the property committy should look into the possibility of establishing a public park in the county.

Mr. Hick in proposing the motion argued that many of the residents of the area had no place to go on summer weekends, for picnics and outings and with lake frontage in the county disappearing at an increasing rate, action in this direction would have to be rapid.

He urged that the Provincial and Federal Governments be asked to give some assistance to the plan.

Members of council agreed that the establishment of a public park required serious consideration, but some thought that it might already be too late to obtain any good sites fairly central to all parts of the county. Reeve Robert Bradt of Verulam township, said his council had established a municipal park some years ago in the township but had since started a search, with little success, for additional land at the southern end of Sturgeon Lake.

The Mounting Road Toll

We are on the eve of another week-end. It follows therefore that we are on the eve of another series of injuries and deaths on highways. There have already been some 800 reported accidents this year in Peterborough county and its four neighbouring counties of Durham, Northumberland, Victoria and Haliburton. This is an increase over last year, higher than the increase in accidents generally across the Province. We have good reason here in this district, therefore, to approve the Ontario Highways Minister's announcement that provincial highway patrols are going to be increased and regulations more strictly enforced.

* * *

Addressing the fourth annual Ontario traffic conference in Kingston on Wednesday, Mr. Doucett said that consistently delinquent motorists "will be educated the hard way." He believed that "a policeman's hand on the shoulder" is the only thing that will persuade some drivers to respect the rules of the road. We heartily dislike the notion of the policeman's hand on the shoulder, but if it will help stay the mounting accident rate, let there be more hands on more shoulders.

* * *

There is reason for grave concern everywhere in the Province. Last year 1,010 persons were killed on Ontario roads, 23,000 more were injured, and property damage (chiefly to vehicles) amounted to the appalling total of $20,000,000. No wonder insurance rates are rising. If the generality of well-behaved motorists think that a fool at the wheel of another car is that fool's own business, let them reconsider. Not only is the bad or reckless driver a menace to every other car on the road; he is a direct charge on every other driver's pocket. A new preferential rate of car insurance has gone into effect, making the rate for drivers aged twenty-five or more with good records less than for other drivers who have been involved in accidents in recent years. Yet even this preferential rate is higher this year than the old general rate used to be, without any preferential categories. Why is it higher? One reason is that the risks are greater, because cars are more expensive than they were five years ago and there are thousands more accidents. There are too many to make highway driving a pleasure. Can touring weekends not be made safe and pleasant again?

Italian Elections And A French Play

In April, 1948, the first free Italian elections were held. At that time the eyes of the whole western world were centred on Italy, because the Communists were numerous and strong there and might win the elections. Propaganda from both sides was intense, and the United States, directly and indirectly through Italian-Americans, sent much money and food, to convince Italian voters that they had better throw in their lot with the West. They did. The Communists were defeated and the De Gasperi government was elected.

Until last Sunday the De Gasperi government had a strong, clear working majority. The results of Sunday's elections show that his coalition party's popularity has waned. The centre parties secured a majority in the Senate, but in the more important wing of the Italian Parliament, the Lower House, the De Gasperi government failed, even though slightly, to obtain an absolute majority. The right-wing Monarchists have gained strength, but this gain does not weaken the Communist power. It increases it, since the Monarchists' gain has been made at the expense of the centre coalition parties.

The plain fact is that the De Gasperi parties are closely identified in the minds of Italians, with American policies and money. Monarchists (because of their right-wing nationalism) and Communists (because of their leanings toward Russia) are anti-American. There are many other indications in western Europe that American popularity has dwindled, and that there is active opposition to Americans, particularly to their foreign policy. Even in Britain this trend is remarkable. Europeans are afraid that the United States might submerge their continent in war. They are against the Americans and somewhat pro-Russian because the U.S. seems belligerent, the U.S.S.R. pacific, under the new Kremlin dispensation.

A new play has just been added to the repertoire of the Comedie Francaise, the great State-owned theatre. It is called Une Fille pour du Vent (A Girl for Some Wind). It is about Iphigeneia, sacrificed by her father Agamemnon to appease the gods and to obtain the wind needed to carry the Greek army over to Troy. The play is developed differently from the classical theme by the playwright M. Andre Obey, and has become a political and literary scandal. The French Communist party has adopted it as part of their current "peace campaign." It is a passionate and undisguised plea for pacifism. Audiences are applauding it warmly, suggesting a real sympathy for the playwright's message.

The western European surge towards peace and away from the American influence cannot be disregarded by policy-makers and the new chiefs of staff in Washington. If the Americans should want to act drastically and tough it seems as if they might have to "go it alone", in Senator Taft's phrase.

Our Trade With Japan

The United States is Canada's best customer. The United Kingdom comes second. The third largest buyer of Canadian goods—this may surprise some of our readers—is Japan. If Canadians are interested in trading, and they should be since it is a good chunk of their bread and butter, it would be well for them to familiarize themselves even slightly with Japanese social, economic and political conditions.

It is no accident that the Canadian government arranged an official tour and view of Canada for the Japanese Crown Prince; one treats one's customers well. The visit and the revived trade with Japan show, by the way, how incidental war is, what an unnatural intervention it can be. The stronger forces of geography and economics do not take long to re-assert themselves. Within eight years of the desperate war with Germany and Japan, Canada was welcoming the Chancellor of Germany and the Crown Prince of Japan.

Post-war Japan has been set up, chiefly by the Americans, as a capitalist country wearing a gloss of American democracy. American funds have subsidized its revival. When American money is withdrawn and American troops go home wherein will Japan find its balance? In trade with the U.S. and Canada? In trade with Communist China?

If legislators and business people of this continent cherish their own political and financial ways and wish to see them protracted in Japan, it behoves Canada and the States to foster trade with Japan on a favourable basis. At present the Japanese government is negotiating in Ottawa for "most favoured nation" trading terms. Canada cannot expect to continue selling to Japan without allowing ready entry of Japanese goods, so as to balance the trade.

Japan's natural field for heavy trade is with China. Japan is the chief industrial nation of the Orient. Vast China offers the closest and largest market for Japanese manufactured goods, in exchange for Chinese foodstuffs and raw materials. Trade between Red China and capitalistic Japan is now carried out under dificulties, and with severe restrictions imposed by Japan and U.N. allied countries. Yet this natural trade route cannot be stopped, nor should be, by artificial political barriers. If Japan and the rest of the capitalistic world do not come to amicable trade terms with Red China, Red China may be able to force them, even at the cost of forcing—by economic pressures—Communism on Japan.

Considerations such as these should warn us that the West and democratic capitalism ignore or rebuff Communism and the march of time in China only to their own disadvantage. The disadvantage could be perilous.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A scientist says that the hippopotamus once ranged over the whole world, and some of the people who stand next to you in the bus make you wonder if it has completely stopped ranging.

A Missouri man who sued for $50,000 damages because he was called a Communist has been awarded $2 by a jury. Most of those expensive indignations amount to about two dollars in cash.

Happiness is where you find it. Remember the drunk who put a nickle in a parking meter, looked at the Post Office clock and shouted "Gosh, I've lost ten pounds!"

A Yorkshireman, 18 years in Canada, has written home to say that in this country white shirts are unsoiled after days of wear. We'd hate to meet him in what he called a dirty shirt.

A Toronto man disputes the legality of parking meters on the ground that they cannot make change when offered legal tender in the form of quarters and fifty-cent pieces. This is something for the law to gnaw.

A reverend doctor, member of the Presbyterian Church's architectural committee, has charged that many ministers do not know their flaves from their chancels. The rest of us, apart from medical doctors, are pretty ignorant about anatomy, too.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Why is Rice Lake called Rice Lake? Is rice to be found there?

ANSWER: Yes. Natives used to eat the rice, called black rice or Indian rice. In this century it has come to be considered a delicacy and there is a market for it in special and expensive New York restaurants. Rice Lake used to be called Pem-e-dash-cou-tay-ang—"Lake of the Burning Plains." What the "burning plains" were I do not know. Not, I expect, the ancient Indian burial grounds on the shores of Rice Lake which have excited archaeologists in recent years. These mounds are a real historic treasure and should be safeguarded as such. They go back, it seems, to the time of Christ.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALPHA: Who were more important in the development of this district, the English or the Irish? I read (even in your column) a lot about the English gentry. My ancestors were shanty Irish and I'm proud of it.

ANSWER: This is an involved question. To be brief (and summary) I shall say that the English gentry provided money, the poor Irish immigrant brawn, but it was lower middle class immigrants from England and Scotland, and Ulster (north Ireland) who provided the creative force. I think of the original Boyds of Bobcaygeon, for instance. They were not pukkah gentry. But such as they stayed the course and did not go back to England or give up the fight and retire to government jobs. There is no doubt (the accent of this district proves it) that the Irish were a predominant influence, but it was not the Cork Irish, but a mixture of the later Irish of Ulster (like the Omemee Irish Protestants) and the Irish of the Moodies and Stewarts, who marked the community. Even Robert Nicholls was of Ulster Irish stock. Incidentally, many of the gentry who come to this district in the early days were Irish, not English.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY is hiring a bus next Wednesday evening to tour around town and stop before some of the venerable houses which have dates and personalities. The price of the two-hour ride will be fifty cents. Only one big bus is being hired (at a favourable rate through the courtesy of Mr. Mitchell of the bus company), so anybody who want to go had better notify Mr. Graff, city librarian, well in advance. Wooing couples are not invited, I understand. It's to be an Oh and Ah, not a moo-and-coo party.

✧ ✧ ✧

SIR: Is there any racial discrimination in Peterborough?

ANSWER: Yes, but not officially . . . Peterborough is too predominantly Anglo-Saxon to suffer strangers happily. Even strangers of acceptable races are awkwardly received.

✧ ✧ ✧

COUNTRY NOTE: Gamma and I received our cheque for the 64 pounds of wool which Mr. G. Whitaker of Bradford (Eng.), Boston (Mass.), Wellington (N.Z.) and Peterborough (Ont.) bought. With it came a "Wool Statement" headed "Canada, Department of Agriculture, Marketing Service" — with a warning "For Eastern Domestic Wool Only." Well, ours was eastern and certainly domestic.

I was surprised to find that whoever graded the wool — presumably on behalf of the Department of Agriculture — had meticulously found four different kinds in the three bags. Most was "Medium Staple," which fetches second from the top price. A much smaller quantity was graded "Low Medium Staple." Then there were a few pounds of "Rejects," the lowest-priced stuff that will be paid for. This fetched only six cents a pound. (Probably it was the dirty matted gobs I had secreted underneath nice fluffy wads, hoping it would not be discovered.) How much did the cheque amount to? That's our business secret, but Gamma and I publicly admit that we are thinking of taking a holiday to Nassau on the proceeds — not the Bahamas, but Nassau, Douro township . . . The cheque was big enough to pay for the extra winter feed we had to buy.

A note accompanied the cheque: "If we are able to market your wool to advantage, we will consider payment of a bonus." A comforting statement but unrealistic to a couple of gnarled farmers like us. I met the treasurer of the company on George Street next day: "Trying to pull the wool over the eyes of your customers?" I asked. He said: "Honest Injun, you may get a bonus. We paid two cents a pound bonus last year." So I said: "It's a pleasure to see your signature on cheques." We tipped our hats to each other and parted warm friends.

THE SHEEP are now self-sustaining and we hardly give them a thought. Some village dogs got loose the other day and a general alarm was sent out to all sheep-raisers in the district. The owner offered schoolboys a $10 reward for the capture and return of the dogs. They were found asleep under a hedge, far removed from Bellee Acres and my mommas, and no damage done.

Crops are thriving and need attention (so are caterpillars). Weeds must be dealt mortal blows. People are going on summer holidays. Readers do not seem interested enough to asked question. For all these reasons this is the end of Alpha, for the summer at least.

True Camembert

(Manchester Guardian)

Connoisseurs will probably sympathize with the stand recently taken by the Syndicat du Veritable Camembert de Normandie to safe guard the reputation of their cheese. In the market town of Vimoutiers, near the village from which the cheese takes its name, an American firm had offered to erect a statue of Marie Harel proferring three cheeses, presumably to Napoleon III, for it was by the action of this woman, in sending her son-in-law to present some Camembert cheese to this monarch about a hundred years ago, that Camembert cheese, long famous in the Orne district, obtained widespread recognition. There used to be a statue of the shrewd Mme. Harel in Vimoutiers, but it, like the town, was destroyed on June 14, 1944, when United States bombers raided the town.

The new statue was declined on the discovery that the donors wanted a plaque on the base inscribed "From the Blank Camembert Factory, Ohio." The Syndicate pointed out that however excellent American cheeses might be, there was only one Camembert, and it certainly was not made in Ohio.

REASON FOR BAD WEATHER?

Sir: The Atomic Energy Commission in the U.S.A. that are saying that atomic experiments do not affect the weather could be wrong.

Public schools teach that hot air rising and cold air rushing in to take its place cause wind.

When an atomic explosion occurs, from what I read and see on T.V., there must be an almost total vacuum..

Monday night's storm arrived here around 8 p.m. It was still in the vicinity at 5 a.m. Eight hours is quite a spell for an electric storm to hang around.

Could the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission be wrong?

Yours very truly,

AN ELIZABETHAN RENAISSANCE?

Sir: 'Shall we laugh" said Thomas Mendip in "The Lady's Not for Burning."

"Since laughter is surely
The surest touch of genius in creation.
Would you ever have thought of it, I ask you,
If you had been making man, stuffing him full
Of such hopping greeds and passions that he has
To blow himself to pieces as often as he Conveniently can manage it—would it also
Have occurred to you to make him burst himself
With such a phenomenon as cachinnation?
That same laughter, madam, is an irrelevancy
While almost amounts to revelation,"

Dean Inge was, perhaps, the first to claim for God such a sense of humour that we must think He might prefer to have man burst himself with laughter rather than with the nuclear physical explosives he toys with as a boy with a buried bomb. Is Christopher Fry the prophet and forerunner of a new day in literature? Of all modern dramatists he best revives the Elizabethan tradition. For his are true comedies, displaying the patterns of human life in terms of love and laughter. These have not the doubt and despair and debunking of recent literature, that offspring of Materialism and Mars. For all his ...ire he is not depressingly cynical.

Is there, then in today's literary sky the reflection of a radiant dawn! a second renaissance in this reign of the second Elizabeth? a rebirth of that vital, poetic spirit which made the era of the first Elizabeth rival the glory that was Greece? In "The Lady's Not For Burning" Christopher Fry has portrayed in Thomas Mendip a modern incarnation of Old England's May Day Lord of Misrule. He is all the motley-minded spirits at war with a world of sham whom Shakespeare makes the spokesman of that deeper wisdom with which fools confound the wise. The King's Jesters, the Court Fools: Shakespeare used them as scourgers of the World-Wise. "Oh cursed spite," says Hamlet, "that I was ever born to set things right." So he must needs "put an antic disposition on" in a world all out of joint; and slay the platitudinous, pretentious hypocrite, Polomius, the Time-Server, Place-Winner-Yes-Man, who accepted Evil in the form of a King who has slain Hamlet's father and lain with his mother.

The Fool, in "As You Like It," is aptly named Touchstone, for he is "A natural who was the whetstone for sharpening other men's wits." The Melancholy Jacques voices Shakespeare's philosophy of True Comedy.

"I met a fool in the forest," Jacques tells the Duke. "I am ambitious for a motley coat."

"Thou shalt have one," promises the Duke.

And Jacques goes on:

"I must have liberty
Withal, as large a charter as the wind,
To blow on whom I please; for so fools have . . . .
Invest me in my motley; give me leave
To speak my mind, and I will through and through Cleanse the foul body of the infected world,
If they will patiently receive my medicine."

These Fools, these Touchstones, these Hamlets whom the world calls mad, are the Truth-Seekers. Openly they denounce all sham and hypocrisy. They speak their minds "to cleanse the foul body of the infected world." Today, in 1953 as in 1940, to quote Fry again, we may look out at a world and say,

"There sleep hypocrisy, porcous pomposity, greed,
Lust, vulgarity, cruelty, trickery, sham,
And all possible nitwittery."

Today again it is a world needing to be purged with wit and wisdom, love and laughter.

Is there not, in this atomic age, as in the days of merchant adventurers, such impetus to romance and exploration as will send imaginative seekers through a universe both nuclear and astronomical, voyaging to new worlds on undiscovered oceans of space? So should vitality and poetic imagination return to literature and to all forms of art, as in the days of Columbus and Drake and Raleigh; a rebirth of the spirit of joyous youth.

In Canada, where our Pratts, our Birds, our Mowats, to name but three, show a vital spirit, perhaps there are signs of a new Elizabethan era in this new land unknown to Shakespeare.

"Then let us wish us both Good morning—and God have mercy on our souls," said Thomas Mendip as the curtain falls in "A Lady's Not For Burning."

How shall we then "cleanse the foul body of the infested world," except with Truth and Laughter, the voices of the second Elizabethan Renaissance, and so, at last Good morning.

"Yes—and more. My wife used it to polish the furniture, and it took all the knobs off the chest of drawers!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear unto him, was sick, and ready to die. And when he heard of Jesus, he sent unto him the elders of the Jews, beseeching him that he would come and heal his servant. And when they came to Jesus, they besought him instantly, saying, That he was worthy for whom he should do this . . .

Then Jesus went with them. And when he was now not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to him, saying unto him, Lord, trouble not thyself: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter under my roof: wherefore neither thought I myself worthy to come unto thee: but say in a word, and my servant shall be healed. For I also am a man set under authority, having under me soldiers, and I say unto one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come and he cometh, and to my servant, Do this, and he doeth it.

When Jesus heard these things, he marvelled at him, and turned him about, and said unto the people that followed him, I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel. And they that were sent, returning to the house, found the servant whole that had been sick. (Luke 7:2-4,6-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases . . . And the apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done. And he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place belonging to the city called Bethsaida. And the people, when they knew it, followed him: and he received them, and spake unto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need of healing. (Luke 9:1,10,11.)

Links With Victoria

(Windsor Star)

Age or distance prevented some of Queen Victoria's grandchildren from attending the Coronation of that Queen's great-great-granddaughter, Queen Elizabeth II. Nine of these grandchildren still survive, all being well on in years.

Three were present. These were

Lady Patricia (Princess Patricia) Ramsay, whose father was Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, third son of Queen Victoria.

Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, daughter of Prince Leopold of Albany, Queen Victoria's fourth son.

Princess Marie Louise, daughter of Princess Helena, Queen Victoria's third daughter who married Prince Christian of Denmark.

Lord Carisbrooke, son of Princess Beatrice, fifth daughter of Queen Victoria who married Prince Henry Maurice of Battenberg, evidentally was absent due to illness, though arrangements had been made to convey him by automobile rather than in a carriage in the royal procession.

The five others absent were:

Queen Ena of Spain, now in exile from that country, who is the daughter of Princess Beatrice and a sister of Lord Carisbrooke.

The Duchess of Galliera, who lives in Spain, and is the daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh and Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha, second son of Queen Victoria.

Princess Margarete of Hesse, daughter of Princess Victoria, oldest daughter of Queen Victoria who married Frederick of Prussia and became the mother of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Prussia.

Princess Henry of Prussia, daughter of Princess Alice, second daughter of Queen Victoria who married the Grand Duke of Hesse.

The Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha, son of Prince Leopold and brother of Princess Alice, the Countess of Athlone.

Speed Important In News Lakefield Audience Told

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—H. L. Garner, General Manager of the Peterborough Examiner, was guest speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening at Forest Hill Lodge. Tourist chairman Wilton Hillier presided and extended a welcome to those present.

Introduced by Tom Lawlor of South Beach Hotel, Mr. Garner stated that, because practically everybody reads newspapers every day, they were taken for granted, and seldom did anyone stop to think of the time and effort put into their creation.

Speed was very important in the newspaper business, Mr. Garner pointed out, and papers wanted the news when it was news, not ancient history.

"It is conceivable," said the speaker, "that with our facilities, news of a shot fired in Rome would be in our office within two minutes. It was not always thus. However, with press agencies in all countries, the interchange of news is a simple matter."

EDITORIAL PAGE

Speaking of the editorial page, Mr. Garner said it had been suggested that it was put in a paper to comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable. He considered the editorial page a means of making people think. If this end was not achieved the paper was not performing the function for which it was designed.

"What we have to say, we say on the editorial page. But we do not tamper with other press releases; you get those as they come from the wires."

Letters to the editor, Mr. Garner considers a safety valve, where people can relieve their feelings by saying what they think. It is the policy of his paper to print as many of these letters as possible regardless of whether they are of a congratulatory nature or otherwise.

Speaking of newspaper advertising Mr. Garner stated that rarely would you find an untruth in an advertisement; as a source of information they were quite dependable.

A number of humorous errors that have appeared in newspapers at one time or another were repeated by Mr. Garner, who concluded his remarks with: "Be kind and tolerant towards us, for we are doing the best we can."

Donald Hendren, president of the Chamber of Commerce thanked Mr. Garner for his address and a sketch, the work of Oscar Schleinger, was presented to him.

The second speaker of the evening was Jim McGrath of the Trent system who answered the following questions: (1) How much is the fluctuation of the water levels during the summer months? (2) What is done to maintain the water levels at a fairly constant level during the fish spawning season? (3) Is travel on the Trent waterway system on the increase?

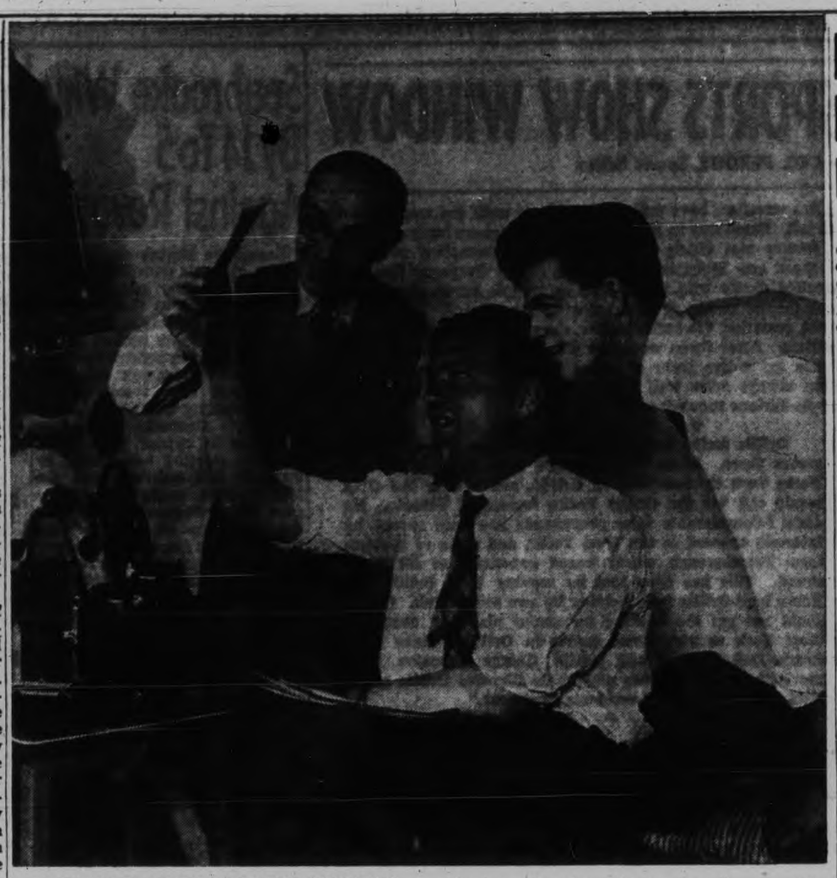
NATURAL RESERVOIR

Mr. McGrath reminded his listeners that the Trent waterway system was the largest natural reservoir system in the world and that it was of incalculable value to everyone present. He said the water cycle was divided into three divisions: the replenishing period from October to November, the storage period from December to May and the critical period from May until September.

It was almost impossible to maintain a constant level during the spawning season. It was not a matter of putting in or taking out stoplogs, but something that, until control flow was established following the spring freshets, was difficult to handle.

In thanking Mr. McGrath, who was introduced by Walter Killoran, E. H. Northey made the presentation of a paddle to him.

Other distinguished guests who spoke briefly were William Moore and James McHattie, both of the Department of Travel and Publicity. The former is district inspector, the latter assistant director of the development branch.



Mrs. William O'Brien, secretary of the Chamber and attendant at its information booth, gave a brief resume of the year's work and made suggestions for the coming season. She also presented the Chamber of Commerce trophy for the largest fish caught by a guest at one of the local resorts to Mr. and Mrs. Stokes of Buckhorn Lodge.

The Rev. George Downing asked the blessing. Toast to the ladies, proposed by Stanley Burger, was replied to by Mrs. W. W. Leonard.

A number of prizes were drawn for and the ladies were presented with corsages of roses.

16-Page Weekend Supplement Colored Coronation Pictures

This week, The Examiner brings its readers the first complete color coverage of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in a special Weekend Picture Magazine supplement.

The decision to publish an all-color coronation supplement was made soon after the date of the coronation was announced. It was decided then that only the use of color photographs could adequately reproduce the magnificent pageantry of the coronation. And so, with this goal in mind, David Legate, Weekend's London bureau chief, was set to work on the preliminary organization for a complete, all-color coverage of the big day. Thirty-six color photographers, more than any other individual publication or picture agency had covering the coronation, submitted their work to Weekend picture editor, Philip Surrey.

A month before the coronation, Surrey flew to London to complete arrangements for a special color darkroom and to make appointments eo see all the color photographs offered by the great picture-gathering agencies. In addition, Surrey planned to have exclusive color photographs taken of Canadian participation in the spectacular ceremony.

HAD DECIDED EDGE

A few weeks before the Coronation, he placed an advertisement in the British Journal of Photography offering to process the color flim of recognized free lance photographers. This foresight gave WEEKEND a decided edge on Coronation Day. Britain's best color photographers took full advantage of the WEEKEND darkroom headed by Canadian-born Howard Byrne, who acted as chief photographer. More than 1,000 color pictures, the work of 36 photographers, were developed by WEEKEND's London darkroom staff.

As a result, Surrey was able to make his selection of the 21 color photographs in the special Coronation supplement from the best of these 1,000 pictures and from the many thousands of color photos offered by the agencies.

On Coronation Day WEEKEND had six special seats along the procession route for photographers while London bureau chief David Legate covered the ceremony in Westminster Abbey. The Coronation crowds were so great that photographer Howard Byrne had his own troubles. Byrne left his Buckingham Palace position to deliver the first shots of the procession to WEEKEND's darkroom. When he returned to his place, he found himself on the wrong side of the Mall. Although he was within 10 yards of his seat, he had to make a mile and a half detour on foot to get on the right side of the road.

The WEEKEND Coronation team got very little sleep from three a.m. on Tuesday morning until three p.m. on Thursday afternoon when Surrey boarded his plane for the return flight to Canada.

Robert McKeown, WEEKEND's Ottawa bureau chief, worked right through with Legate to get information for picture captions. Surrey stayed up to look at color photographs as they were rushed from the darkroom.

FINAL SELECTION

On Thursday afternoon, Surrey took off from London with a selection of the best color pictures. One shipment had been sent ahead on an earlier flight and another was scheduled to be sent on later. Surrey made his final selection as the plane roared over the Atlantic. All through the night he wrote captions for the pictures he had chosen.

When the plane touched down at Montreal on Friday morning, the color photographs and captions were rushed to WEEKEND's editorial offices to be readied for final processing at the high-speed rotogravure printing plant. Members of the plant staff had been standing by and when the color pictures were delivered they went to work on a round-the-clock basis to complete the complex process of fine rotogravure color printing.

Tired out by his hectic Coronation week, Surrey nevertheless was jubilant at the success of WEEKEND's Coronation coverage in color.

"I had a good view of the Coronation procession from our London office window," he said, "and the moment the first troops marched into view I knew that our decision to use color exclusively had been right. There was no other way to bring the full magnificence of the Coronation to Canadians at home."

Vatican Surprised At Archbishop's Action

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources expressed surprise today at dispatches from Mexico saying that Archbishop Octaviano Marquez of Puebla had excommunicated 200 Roman Catholics of Tlaxcala and extended the excommunication to "their children and their children's children."

Vatican sources said that church law does not provide for extension of excommunication to the second or third generations of those guilty of any action.

Puebla dispatches said that the archbishop issued his excommunication three days ago after Catholics of Tlaxcala had stoned the parish priest's house.

13 Charged In Demonsration

MONTREAL (CP)—Thirteen persons, including three women, arrested Wednesday after a battle with police breaking up a "Save the Rosenbergs" demonstration, will appear in court today on charges connected with the demonstration.

All 13 were released on bail Wednesday night. Eleven, freed on $100 bail, will be charged with disturbing the peace while the other two will be charged with obstructing the sidewalk. In addition, three will face charges of assaulting police officers.

Some 50 persons, described by police as Communists or Communist sympathizers, paraded in front of the United States consulate at noon Wednesday bearing signs asking that convicted atomic spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg be freed. The Rosenbergs are to be executed June 18.

Police moved in and broke up the demonstration after a rousing battle during which one of the demonstrators was injured and a police officer bitten.

Here And There In Sports

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

ARAUJO SLIGHT FAVORITE

NEW YORK (AP) — George Araujo, youthful, toe-dancing challenger from Providence, R.I., will try to win the world lightweight title from 29-year-old Jimmy Carter, the plodding but ever-busy champion, tonight in a 15-round match at Madison Square Garden.

Normally a champion who floored a man 10 times in his last defence, as Carter did Tommy Collins at Boston April 24, would go into his next fight as a heavy favorite. That is not the case.

The betting odds, bouncing back and forth for 10 days, probably will be dead even when they climb into the ring at 10 p.m. EDT. The pick here is Araujo by a slim decision.

The fight will be televised (NBC) and broadcast ABC).

In fact, the $50,000 radio-TV kitty will be more than they will draw at the door. The International Boxing Club will be happy with 9,000 and $35,000.

✦ ✦ ✦

SPOTTY RECORD

One reason for the lack of strong support for Carter is his spotty record, almost careless performances in non-title bouts. There was a draw with Freddie (Babe) Herman last winter and defeats by Eddie Chavez and Armand Savoie of Montreal earlier this year.

Carter has 22 knockouts among his 60 wins in 82 fights. He has lost 15 and drawn seven.

Araujo, only 22, is faster than Carfer and he can punch. His 49-2-1 record shows 30 knockouts. He never was stopped and claims he was floored only once.

At the age of 20 he whipped Sandy Saddler, featherweight champion. He has beaten Arthur King of Toronto, Paddy DeMarco, Joey Brown and Red Top Davis.

STAMPS SIGN WINDSOR BOY

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced the signing Thursday of Harold Newton, a high-school player from Patterson Collegiate in Windsor, Ont. Newton, 6-foot 4½-inch end, was graduated this year. He was reported sought by Toronto Argos before accepting the Calgary offer.

RIDERS DROP BALDWIN

OTTAWA (CP)—Alton Baldwin, 28-year-old star end with Ottawa Rough Riders for the last two Big Four seasons, will be dropped from the football club this year, Jim McCaffrey, club president, announced Thursday.

Baldwin, an import from Hit Springs, Ark., and a former Green Bay Packer, will go to Hamilton Tiger-Cats for the $250 waiver price, McCaffrey said. Four other imports have also been put on the waiver list.

Montreal Bows To Leafs In 3-2 Loss

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Royals remain atop the heap in the International Baseball League despite a 3-2 loss to Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday night.

In other games, Syracuse Chiefs shaded Baltimore Orioles 7-5. Rochester Red Wings scored three runs in the first inning to defeat Springfield Cubs 5-2 and Buffalo Bisons turned back Ottawa Athletics 2-0.

At Toronto, the Maple Leafs broke a five-game losing streak as Jim Post went one-third of an inning short of a complete game to gain his fifth win against one loss. Both runs off him were homers, catcher Ernie Yelen and third baseman Don Hoak getting the round-trippers.

At Baltimore, a 14-hit attack by Syracuse enabled the Chiefs to take the victory although three of Baltimore's runs came in the ninth when the Birds chased starter Duke Markell who rang up his seventh victory.

SPOILED DEBUT

At Springfield, the Wings spoiled the managerial debut of Jack Sheehan, president of the Cubs

Sheehan took over for Bruce Edwards who resigned Wednesday but is remaining as a player. Edwards pinch hit Thursday night in the seventh and singled but Nels Butbrink was thrown out at the plate trying for the tying tally. Rochester clinched the game in the eighth with two tallies.

At Buffalo, the Bisons made it six conquests in their last seven games. Rookie Frank Lary shut the door on the A's with five hits and issued only one walk to rack up his sixth victory against three defeats.

Out At The Kawartha

Once again we are out at the Kawartha, "nestling so peacefully and calm neath the hill."

The draws for the club competitions have been made up. Although, at the time of writing no matches have been played, we bet our old niblick that this coming weekend will see a goodly number of golf addicts out on the fairways, etc., trying hard to get past the first round. In most matches or rather competitions, the first rounds must be played by June 20 or something will happen to either or both of the competitors in the bracket. Players are once again reminded that the lower man must contact the man in the upper bracket.

Summer rules must now be observed on all fairways. In other language the ball must be hit from the very spot wherein it landed, except we are told in the case of a ball which is hopelessly plugged.

The every other Saturday dance parties put on by the entertainment committee are off to a good start. Last Saturday, 70 people attended and had a dandy time. Music by the Blue Blazers was well received by all. The next "do" is on June 20, a week from Saturday.

Just a reminder to everyone interested in golf. That long expected golf game between Lex Robson and Doug Burrows was played last Wednesday. The running commentary by Lex which was recorded will be on the radio station at 6:05 p.m. this Saturday.

Looks like a number of the Kawartha gals will be going down to Cobourg this weekend, Saturday, we mean, to meet the ladies of that club. Also, let it not be overlooked the Midland League will be playing at Port Hope. Maybe perhaps and perchance some of the gals' husbands will be able to drive their wives to Cobourg and participate in the Midland play at nearby Port Hope. Well, it's an idea anyway.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Pro wrestlers have pulled out of here until the work's all done next fall. Same way in Kitchener, we note, where burly John Katan —a former mat villain himself—does the promoting now. Their last show saw Whipper Bill Watson defeat Gorgeous George, the marcelled dandy who wrote finis to grapple cards along the Rue Brock for the season as he drew with Bobo Brazil. Kitchener columnist remarks: "Experience has shown that television helps the wrestlers. After three weeks on TV, Yukon Eric moved into Milwaukee for a live show and they turned 4,000 fans away." Big Yukon always drew well here, too. Meantime, the matmen keep busy in various summer spots.

Orillia scribe bemoans low attendances at senior OLA games there. Hints that it would help if more Toronto Yorks took up residence in Orillia, and also if the OLA would call 'em the Orillia Yorks, instead of Toronto. He adds: "Considerable false propaganda has been spread by interests opposed to the West Yorks, and some of it stems from Peterborough, much feared opponents of McPhail's squad. This has been that by moving into Orillia the Yorks kept Orillia from fielding its own senior club. Orillia could not get the backing for senior play and contacted West York to play home games in Orillia. Since then, Coach Don McPhail and Goalie George Johnston have moved here and if other players do likewise Orillia might field a team of Orillia residents next year."

Tigers Could Be Tough

Be that as it may, other clubs feel that Yorks have been raiding other clubs when they were supposed to stick to the Toronto area only. At that, those trailing teams are levelling off now and making the leaders fight fiercely in every fray recently, even upsetting some of them. Hamilton Tigers almost did upset the Petes last start, and might do it here tonight when they clash in Miller Bowl. We're told that Joe Hickson is still on loan by Petes to Hamilton and will guard the Tigers' twine cage this game. He'd like to show the locals and home fans what a good senior goalie he is. Petes are shooting for top spot again and will give it the works. Could be quite a contest.

Our junior baseballic Liflocs are off for Lindsay tonight to tangle with the Scugog-cum-Petes' intermediate lakeshore team. Then, Whitby (bolstered with Oshawa players) play here tomorrow aft in Riverside. Jerry Frizzelle may be on the home mound, since he was slated to hurl 'gainst Colborne early this week, but the game wasn't staged. Colborne, incidentally, has such ex-Belleville seniors aboard as playing manager Al Kelleher, Art Wright, Mouse Bush, Don Semark and Russ Seoules. Ball in this circuit is almost up to the senior COBL calibre of a year ago, and the hustling young local team should just about hold its won the rest of the summer schedule.

Late Lamented Dodgers

Bob Rife remarks in the Oshawa sheet: "Colborne Dodgers are the dark-horse entry in the lakeshore loop. Last night the ball club tried to prove the name by arriving exactly one hour late, in the dark. We might also add that this is not the first time Colborne has arrived late at a game this year. They did it in Peterborough last Monday. That game was called for 6.30 p.m. and the Dodgers didn't arrive till eight p.m. The Petes were leaving the park when Colborne pulled in, and the affair was chalked into the books as a default. The team's trouble is in having so many players from Belleville and Batawa on the roster. These fellows feel they are coming down' to play for Colborne and must act big league. There is dissension brewing in Colborne and even talk of the club folding up."

Over at the Bowl last gloaming, Reg. Leether's UEW crew blanked TPT Petes 3-0 in a dandy duel, Howie Dalton twirling four-hit ball for the victors and Reg Gordon allowing just five bingles. Errors hurt his cause in the tight tilt. The TPT-ers are now tied atop with the Seabrooke squad. It was 14-5 for Seabrooke's in the nightcap o'er Revoy's, as Jim Driscoll pitched neat ball for Bill Sullivan's eastern outfit. Dick West did okay till the late stages on the other slab when the potent bats of Red Sullivan, O'Hearn Donoghue, Spencer and Wyatt broke it up. Red and Skeeter each hit a homer in this game, one marked by quite a few bobbles. Another twin bill next Tuesday.

Seabrooke Wins By 14 To 5 Against Revoys

Seabrooke Motors vaulted into a first-place tie with TPT's in the men's senior city softball derby Thursday night at the East City Bowl with a stinging 14-5 triumph over Revoy Motors in the afterpiece of the regular twin set, each leader has won four and lost a pair as a result of last night's sizzling duels.

Jimmy Driscoll, diminutive ertswhile UE twirler, was handed his first starting assignment by manager Bill Sullivan; and the Mighty Mite responded with a good chore, despite one bad inning. His opponent, Dick West, twirled a fine game for eight innings as the teams staged a reasonably close battle to that point. He was forced to retire in the ninth when the East City clan sparked by fiery Red Sullivan, who doubled and homered alike in the inning to drive home three; colorful Skeeter O'Heron, Mark Donoghue and Bob Wyatt, staged a terrific onslaught to turn a respectable game into a nightmare for the foe. And that was it; Dick McCracken finished up.

SEVEN HITS

Driscoll allowed seven bingles, one a double by fast-stepping Perc. Elmhirst, fanned three and gave two free rides. West was nicked for eight hits, struck out four and passed two before the roof fell in. McCracken fanned a pair and was clipped for four hits, including Sullivan's third homer of the campaign; though West of course was charged with the loss.

Some brilliant fielding featured the piece as well as timely hitting by Spencer, Donoghue, Elmhirst, Wyatt, O'Heron (who also hit a long homer) and Driscoll, besides Sullivan; and several errors by either team also spotted the spicy struggle.

Petes Blanked By UEW In Grand Fray

Reg Leether's scrappy UEW nine played heads-up softball Thursday night at the East City Bowl, to rack up their third victory of the young senior city season, to defeat TPT Petes 3-0 and break the latter's four-game winning string; the victory enabled the shop squad to tighten their hold on third place in the standing one game behind Petes and Seabrooke Motors, now deadlocked in the van.

Howie Dalton toed the rubbes for the winners in a brilliant display—his best in many a moon—in which he stood the highly-touted hockey crew on their figurative ears throughout, as he whipped the white melon with speed and dexterity. Howie scattered four singles, fanned but two and walked a pair.

JUST FIVE HITS

Coincidentally, Reg Gordon on the Transport hill for the rival Bennett nine, hurled an almost equally fine game to thrill the season's best crowd. He allowed but five singles, whiffed four and passed but one. Exactly 34 men faced both men in a truly rare coincidence. Four errors, three in the first two frames, however, proved fatal to the staunch Gordon's cause as, combined with but one hit, the Leether band crashed through for their payoff scores in the first two.

Taylor walked in the first; Wood was safe on a bobble; Thompson hit and Kotowski skied to centre to score the star second-sacker, Taylor. Wood tallied as White grounded to Gordon. The teams battled on even terms till the final gong after the shortest game of the season, exactly 48 minutes. UE's victory forced a first-place tie between Seabrooke's and TPT, each with four and two.

Yanks Clip Detroit For 14th Win; Cleveland Bows 2-1

By BEN PHLEGAR (Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee Braves open the season's first six-game series tonight in Pittsburgh with a good chance of putting a little daylight between themselves and the on-rushing Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League standings. The Braves, nearing the end of a profitable road trip on which they have won 11 out of 16 games, hold a 2-0 season's edge over the seventh-place Pirates. Only six percentage points separate Charley Grimm's men from the pesky Dodgers whose weekend opposition isn't exactly terrifying either. Brooklyn plays last-place Chicago four times. The Dodgers split a previous pair with the Cubs.

The percentage, however, should be working for the Braves. At the moment they have played two less games than Brooklyn. The Dodgers have won one more and lost one more.

FACE INDIANS

The big American League series starting tonight is at Cleveland where New York Yankees face the Indians in the first of four games.

The Yankees won their 14th in a row Thursday at Detroit, 6-3. Cleveland lost for the first time in eight games, 2-1, to Washington. Philadelphia edged Chicago 6-5 and Boston ran St. Louis Browns' losing streak to 10 with a 7-0 decision.

In the National League Brooklyn made it three straight over Cincinnati, 9-6. New York snapped a five-game Milwaukee spree 3-1 on three home runs. St. Louis got only four hits but beat Pittsburgh 5-3. Philadelphia and Chicago had an open date.

The high-flying Yankees now lead Cleveland by 6½ games—their greatest first-place margin in the five years Casey Stengel has managed them. Home runs by Gene Woodling, Mickey Mantle and Irv Noren settled all doubts at the game in Detroit.

STOPS INDIANS

Walt Masterson stopped the Indians on three singles. Ed Fitzgerald drove in the winning runs with a bases-loaded single in the seventh.

Gus Zernial of the A's, the leading home run slugger in the American League, hit a pair at Chicago, raising his total to 15. But it took a bases-empty blast by Eddie Robinson in the ninth inning to give Philadelphia the victory.

Willard Nixon of the Red Sox pitched perfect ball against the Browns until Virgil Trucks doubled with two out in the sixth. St. Louis got only three other hits, all singles.

FINALLY CATCH UP

Behind 6-3 after seven innings, the Dodgers finally caught up with Bud Podbielan in the eighth at Brooklyn, pounding home six runs before Rogers Hornsby yanked him. Podbielan allowed 17 hits. The big blows in the rally were home runs by Gil Hodges, with nobody on, and Junior Gilliam, with two aboard.

Jim Wilson of the Braves threw three home run balls at the Polo Ground—one each to Monte Irvin, Whitey Lockman and Hank Thompson. They accounted for all of the Giant scoring as the New Yorkers broke a five-game losing streak.

The Cardinals got a lot of mileage out of four hits at Pittsburgh. They scored three runs on just one safety—a single by Ray Joblonski following four walks. The defeat was the sixth straight for knuckleballer Johnny Lindell. He's won twice.

May Increase U.S. Imports

OTTAWA (CP)—An attempt may be made this week-end to increase the number of United States imports allowed to play on Big Four football teams.

The subject may be aired in Toronto Saturday at the semi-annual meeting of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

Some teams—their names were not known here—want to add another American for league games. There also is a move afoot to increase the number of players a team may dress.

Last season American imports were limited to eight. Since then this has been extended to nine for Montreal Alouettes who finished last in the league. The new proposal, it was understood, is that the number be extended to nine for other clubs which presumably would mean that Montreal would be allowed 1;.

Not Enough Track Meets, Duthie Says

MONTREAL CP)—George Duthie of Toronto, completing a cross-country swing on behalf of the new Canadian Olympic training plan, said Thursday night he found general agreement that there are not enough track meets in Canada.

Duthie is manager of the sports department of the Canadian National Exhibition, which is sponsoring the plan. It will come into full being at the exhibition in Toronto in September, preceded by provincial meets.

Duthie arrived in Montreal from the Maritime provinces and met with track and field officials who will look after the Quebec end of the new competition, aimed at improving Canada's showing in Olympic Games; British Empire Games and other international competitions.

Duthie was due back in Toronto today following a three-week tour touching all provinces.

WATCH SCHOOL ATHLETES

He said there was realization that school athletes of today will be Canada's Olympic competitors in 1956 and development of this potential talent is one of the main objectives of the plan. It in no way prevents future establishment of a coaching school, envisioned by sports enthusiasts until it received a setback because of lack of federal government financial support.

The plan has been underwritten for four years. The CNE will make an annual allotment, augmented by donation from interested citizens and organizations.

The CNE guarantees transportation costs for up to 10 athletes and one coach from all provinces except Ontario and Quebec, who will send a greater number of competitors because of smaller transportation costs. The number for these two provinces will be determined definitely later, but any province may send more than the guaranteed-cost quota provided the expenses are looked after.

Duthie said it is felt the competitive spirit will be enhanced if provincial bodies—whether through themselves, clubs, schools and even competitors—look after meals and accommodation costs as a matter of principle instead of having athletes merely look forward to a joy ride.

NO STANDARDS NEEDED

No standards are needed under the plan and it is up to each provincial group to make selections and run their own show. It was suggested that promising young athletes be sent along, for experience and development, as well as stars.

The meet is open to both men and women and there are no age classes. For the week preceding the meet, athletes and coaches will have the benefit of an instructional clinic, supervised by recognized coaches from Britain and the United States.

Duthie said that so far representation from the provinces appears to be: British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, 10; Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, 5; New Brunswick, 4; Prince Edward Island, 3. Although Ontario and Quebec representation will be higher, "there is no intention of snowing the other provinces under."

Duthie said that in Newfoundland he found "the most enthusiastic group of any branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada." Interest in track and field is high and the plan warmly approved by sports leaders of Canada's newest province.

Planning To Re-negotiate NHL Contract—Campbell

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said Thursday that notice of termination of the agreement between professional leagues and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was to obtain "suitable re-negotiation of the contract, not its elimination."

The required two-year notice of termination will be given before June 30; otherwise an extra year would elapse—three years in all—before termination became final. Club owners voted at the annual meeting of the NHL Wednesday to authorize the termination notice.

"Where changes in a deal are wanted, the normal procedure would be to ask for the changes and negotiate toward that end," said Campbell. "But because of the shortage of time between now and June 30, this was the only way in which a one-year period could be saved."

Asked about a statement of W. B. (Baldy) George, president of the CAHA, Campbell said he "doesn't wish to debate publicly the merits of the decision which the owners made."

George was quoted as saying that without the agreement the professional clubs won't last three years.

Perry Unable To Play For Argonaut Team

TORONTO (CP)—All-American Lowell Perry will be unable to play for Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four during the coming football season.

The young Michigan University end, rated as the finest defensive back in U.S. college football in 1951, sent word Thursday to coach Frank Clair that he will be unable to fulfill a contract he signed with Argos in April.

He said he learned from his draft board that, if he left to play football in Canada, he would be drafted within 30 days.

Bedser Bowls Harvey For A Duck

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Alec Bedser bowled Neil Harvey, rated the world's best batsman, out for a duck Thursday in the first international cricket test between Australia and England.

Bedser did a repeat performance with Graeme Hole in the game, played at Nottingham, but Lindsay Hassett and Arthur Morris dug in and by close-of-play Australia stood at 157 runs for three wickets.

Rain and light delays played hob with the Test. About 90 minutes were lost by rain, though the wicket held up well.

England is looking to Bedser to knock out some quick wickets today to save the game. Harvey glanced Bedser's ball straight into the waiting hands of Denis Compton.

FINAL SCORES

Final scores in Thursday's first class cricket:

First Test: Australia 157 for three vs England, rain.

Middlesex 300 for nine declared, Leicestershire 47 for five. No further play, rain.

Essex 267, Surrey 50 for one. No play Thursday, rain.

Somerset 123 and 416 for eight, Kent 178.

Oxford University 268 and 196 for five, Derbyshire 95.

Sussex 306, Warwickshire 181, no further play, rain.

Nottinghamshire 263, Yorkshire 161 for four, rain.

Northamptonshire 361 for one declared, Scotland 39 for five. No play Thursday, rain.

Hogan Gains 3-Stroke Lead

By WILL GRIMSLEY

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — The Texas hawk, Ben Hogan, got his claws into the 53rd United States open golf championship Thursday with a grimly-executed five-under-par 67 which pushed him into an imposing three-stroke first-round lead.

Playing with a coat of ointment and a heavy gray sweater to soothe his aching back, the relentless little three-time winner didn't stray from par once as he stroked around the 6,916-yard Oakmont course in 33-34.

Par is 37-35—72, and it was too much for all but six players.

Tied for second at 70 were a 38-year-old Pittsburgh amateur, Frank Souchak, and a pair of professionals — Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., and George Faxio from Clementon, N.J.

Dapper Jimmy Demaret, the triple masters champion who barely was beaten out by Hogan in 1948 at Santa Monica, Calif., putted brilliantly to post a 71, a score also matched by Bill Ogden of Glencoe, Il.

HELD TO DRAW

Four players, including broken-handed Sam Snead, were able to hold old Oakmont to a draw by shooting even—par 72s.

Snead three-putted three greens and went two-over on the 11th but he sank a 15-foot birdie putt on 17 to come home all square with par.

Tied with him were Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., Louis Barbaro of Deal, N.J., and Jay Hebert of Erie, Pa.

The forgotten champion, Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N.C., was one-under-par through the 13th but went over on four of the last five holes to take a 75. Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the 1949 champion, registered 76.

Jimmy Clark, record - setting medalist from Laguna Beach, Calif., skied to 77, 11 strokes over his qualifying effort.

The Masons will hold a similar candlelight service in the same church, the following Sunday, June 21.

Gordon A. Langton

Funeral for the late Gordon A. Langton of 291 Langton St., who died Tuesday in hospital following a short illness, was held Thursday at the Nisbett funeral home.

The Rev. Henry Cotton of St. Andrew's United Church officiated and pallbearers were Capts. D. Pollock and Arthur Rowden, both of Oshawa, and Peterborough firemen Henry Nokes, Peter Nicholson, Harold Black and Jack Crawford. Flower-bearers, both Oshawa firemen, were A. Prest and William Lyons. Burial was at Little Lake cemetery.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching: Walt Masterson, Washington Senators, allowed only three singles in snapping Cleveland's seven game winning streak 2-1.

Batting: Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics, hit two home runs to raise his league leading total to 15 and drove in four runs in the Athletics' 6-5 victory over Chicago.

CELEBRATING THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC in King Edward Park, 500 students of Confederation School gathered there Thursday afternoon where they enjoyed sports, ice cream, soft drinks and a picnic lunch. Pulp Industry Declared Soundest Ever

BIGWIN INN, Ont. (CP)—R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and the Newsprint Association of Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and the Newsprint Association of Canada, said today "there is very little evidence of tangible action by the leaders of Russia to give us any real basis for changing our emphasis on defence requirements."

In an address prepared for the annual meeting of the Investment Dealers Association, Mr. Fowler said several months ago, "we were engaged in the so-called cold war with the pattern more or less set and without even the glimmer of a hope that the world climate would improve."

"This spring has brought at least the hope of warmer and pleasanter international weather. It is quite probable that such a hope will quickly disappear and become just another illusion."

SHOULD BE WELCOMED

But if there were any chance, however remote, that some steps could be taken on the road to peace, "it should be greeted by business men, not as a calamity to be feared and avoided, but as an opportunity of supreme importance to be welcomed with open arms."

Mr. Fowler said the pulp and paper industry today was sounder than it ever had been before, but it was faced with a number of difficulties.

"Because of the strength that has been developed over recent years, I think it will solve these problems and I hope it will do so with the intelligent co-operation of management, labor and possibly government."

The annual output of the industry in 1951 and 1952 was valued at around $1,250,000,000, compared the late 1930s.

Husbands Go On Strike Against Petticoat Rule

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The husbands of 42nd street north laid down their lawn mowers and paint brushes Thursday and staged a protest against petticoat rule.

J. L. Caldwell, 63-year-old railroad conductor started the revolt. He had neighborhood grocer J. W. Hill paint a placard that said, "On strike—Women unfair—Men want a new contract."

Then he marched up and down his tree-shaded block with the sign, braving a mounting barrage (verbal, of course) from indignant housewives.

And before the women could grab their rolling pins, 25 undaunted men signed a petition supporting his campaign.

"Look at them," Caldwell said, pointing to a group of jeering women, including Mrs. Caldwell, who threatened to sic their dog on her mate.

LOTS OF COMFORT

"They stay at home in comfort. If they want to talk to a friend, they talk. If they want to lie down for a rest, they rest."

"On the other hand, the man works all day or night. He never stops. He comes home tired and hungry. What does he get to eat? Warmed-over food. And if he comes home too late at night, he has to cook it himself."

"That's not true," interrupted the women. "We feed you well."

"Hmmph,' snorted Caldwell, encouraging other husbands who moved cautiously into hearing range. "That isn't all. When you come in the little woman greets you at the door. 'Honey, the lawn needs mowing.' Who cares? Let the grass grow. It's not bothering anybody but the women."

"If it's not the lawn, it's paint the porch, or fix the door, or walk the dog, or mind the babies. Can't a man ever get any peace and rest?"

After starting the rebellion, Caldwell retired to a man's world—his freight train—and left the worried groceryman holding the sign.

Mrs. Caldwell said the women may spring a counterattack on the menfolk today.

Town Planning Group Separate

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—At a general business meeting the Town Planning Institute of Canada, holding its first annual conference in Windsor today unanimously voted to remain a distinct body from the Community Planning Association.

The 17 members present agreed the institute should be a strictly professional organization.

The Community Planning Association is made up of laymen and is designed to encourage citizenship participation in municipal planning projects.

At the conclusion of the institute's business the following executive officers for 1953-54 were elected: E. W. Thrift, of Winnipeg, president; E. G. Faludi, of Toronto, first vice-president; P. Alan Deacon, of Toronto, second vice-president; R. N. Dryden, of Kitchener, secretary-treasurer.

Believe 4 Escapees Raided Clotheslines

TORONTO (CP)—Police said today they believed four girls who escaped from Mercer reformatory Thursday night changed their prison clothing for dresses stolen from clotheslines and hitch-hiked a ride out of the city.

The four were Shirley Godfrey, 17, and Sally Lambert, 19, both of Hamilton, Marlene Saair, 18, of Fort William, and a 15-year-old juvenile, also of Hamilton.

The girls escaped from the institution, in west-central Toronto, after the evening recreation period. Officials said they used a heavy floor polisher to break through a heavily-screened window, then dropped eight feet to the exercise compound.

They scaled the 12-foot compound wall by placing two benches end to end. Their disappearance was discovered minutes later.

Pole Suing Business Man

TORONTO (CP) — Suit was brought against a Hamilton business man Thursday by a Polish immigrant who charged him with alienation of affections, criminal conversation and defilement.

Joseph Korzewich, 50, is the defendant in the action brought by Joseph Lewkowicz.

Korzewich said he met Lewkowicz's wife through a "Lonely Hearts" advertisement. His motive for going out with her was to make his own wife jealous so that she would return to him, he added.

Mrs. Lewkowicz, a former chambermaid, said she had stayed all night with Korzewich after they had gone to hotel dances. Korzewich said his conduct when out with the woman was above reproach.

Mrs. Lewkowicz added that she left her husband because he was fussy.

The jury was expected to decide the case today.

Ask Farmers Heed Agricultural Planners

KITCHENER (CP)—E. I. McLoughry, associate director of extension at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph said Thursday night that it is time for farmers to "heed the words of agricultural planners and not those who poke fun at them."

In a speech to the Waterloo county Holstein Breeders' Association, Mr. McLoughry dealt with the increase in Canada's population and its effect on food consumption and production.

He said there were few agricultural surpluses in Canada. With the country's rising population, Canadian food needs were catching up with farm production.

Rhee Denies Plans To Fire Army Chief

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee's office denied flatly today that he plans to fire South Korea's army chief of staff, Paik Sun Yup.

Published reports quoted a high source as saying Rhee intended to fire Paik because the chief of staff argued that South Korea's army could not fight on alone after an impending armistice.

Suggests Fines Be Paid In Instalments

TORONTO (CP)—An instalment plan of paying fines and widening of the probation system were suggested Thursday by Harry Nixon, former Ontario premier and provincial secretary and Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Brant.

He said at a meeting of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions that easy payment of fines would save the province money and help empty the prisons.

"Many people end up in jail because they can't pay a fine. Why there is an option of a jail sentence with a fine is beyond my understanding."

NOT EFFECTIVE

Ontario taxpayers will have to foot an $11,000,000 bill this year to take care of the province's prison population, Mr. Nixon said. This included $8,500,000 for operating costs and another $2,500,000 for new buildings.

Joseph McCulley, warden of Hart House and former deputy commissioner of federal penitentiaries, said there is nothing in history to prove corporal punishment is effective.

"The whole penitentiary system operated last year with only six cases of corporal punishment. If it can be done in the penitentiaries, it can be done in reform institutions."

Ancient Proclamation Basis Of Appeal

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—A Coronation Day proclamation believed to date back to King Charles II will be the basis of a court appeal here.

J. G. Crepeau, Prince Albert lawyer, said Thursday he will appeal two convictions made June 2, Coronation Day, against William Kelsey at Lac La Ronge, Sask. Kelsey was fined $100 for illegal sale of liquor and for supplying liquor to an Indian.

Mr. Crepeau said the appeal will be on grounds that "Coronation Day is a day on which no juridicial act can be performed and that those charged with the administration or justice are limited to purely administrative acts."

Ask Britain, France Support Unification

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Knowland (Rep.-Calif.) said today the U. S. should demand firmly of Britain and France at the approaching Bermuda conference that they support unification of Korea.

Knowland, addressing the Washington conference of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, said he believes the U. S. should tell the Bermuda conferees:

"Until we get a Korean peace treaty and are able to carry out the United Nations mandate (for unification), we are not going to sit down with Malenkov at a Big Four conference.

"I believe that the British and the French are so anxious for a Big Four meeting that they will go along."

Husband Gives Trial Testimony

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—The husband of a woman shot in the face with a rifle took the stand Thursday in the trial of the man charged with her murder.

Kauko Tuusa, whose wife was shot in a camp of the Minnesota Pulp and Paper Company, was on the stand briefly in the trial of Niilo Karjailainen, 33, a recent immigrant from Finland. The jury is expected to retire today to consider its verdict.

Karjailainen, who speaks no English, is charged with the Tuusa murder and that of a fellow workman, Nester Israninen. He was alleged to have run amok on the night of April 7. Both persons were shot through the doors of their cabins in the camp north of Atikokan. Tuusa was standing beside his wife when the shot was fired.

Earlier in the day an RCMP ballistic expert testified the bullet which killed Mrs. Tuusa came from a United States Army rifle found by police in the shed behind the defendant's home.

The application was made by Interprovincial Pipeline Company, which carries oil from the Alberta fields to the east. The pipeline company's line terminated originally at Superior, Wis., with oil taken by tanker from there to Sarnia.

The new route runs by pipeline south of the Great Lakes through the United States.

Don't Consider Strikers Picket Line

TORONTO (CP) — The Motor Transport Industrial Relations Bureau said Thursday night it does not consider that men stationed in front of the J. R. Kearney Corporation of Canada in Guelph constitute a picket line.

The bureau said it takes the view that employees of its member firms are not violating a picket line when they enter the Guelph electrical plant for a pickup or delivery.

It so advised local 879 of the Hamilton Teamsters Union (AFL), which asked the member firms to recognize the picket line.

The announcement from the bureau said:

"The teamsters' objective is apparent. They wish to curtail the necessary movement of freight in and out of the corporation's plant in Guelph in an attempt to force the American company in St. Louis Mo., to recognize the teamsters union in that city."

It also said the Interpational Union of Electrical Workers (CIO), bargaining agent for the Kearney employees in Guelph, has no dispute with the company.

Five-Day Strike Ended In Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A five-day strike of lumber and planing mill workers ended Wednesday night when 350 members of Millmen's Local 1401, AFL, voted to accept a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

About 45 umber and planing mills were affected by the strike. The union had sought a 15-cent hourly pay increase. The mill owners had offered 7½ cents.

Previous wage scales were not disclosed.

Stable Relationships Needed For Prosperity

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The world needs stable economic relationships for prosperity, the Pope Pius XII said Wednesday in a speech to a group of farm delegates.

The Roman Catholic Church deplored the situation where "farm output is in danger of being cut through lack of profit, while people suffer from malnutrition and the most acute want," he told delegates of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

Crown Land Price Increases

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario lands and forests department announced Thursday an increase in the prices of crown lands due to a boost in administration costs and survey fees.

The department said that prices for regular areas not smaller than half an acre and not larger than three acres, between 100 and 300 feet in width, have increased from 30 to 60 cents a foot frontage.

For irregular lots of the same specifications the increase is from 15 to 30 cents, or from $22.50 to $50 an acre, with a maximum of $150 an acre.

Islands of not more than three acres are up from $45 to $100 a acre, the department said. The department's survey fee has been increased from $80 to $125. Building requirements for cottage sites are a minimum of $1,000, for commercial sites $3,000.

The new prices bring the cost of a 200-foot frontage up from $60 to $120. The new survey fee for the property would be $245, compared with $140.

CROLL NOMINATED

TORONTO (CP)—David A. Croll, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto-Spadina, Thursday night was nominated to contest the riding in the forthcoming federal election. Health Minister Paul Martin addressed the nomination meeting.

U.S. Urge Committee Approve Seaway Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U. S. government spokesman today urged the House of Representatives public works committee to approve legislation which would authorize the U. S. to join with Canada in constructing the St. Lawrence seaway.

Identical legislation has been approved by a Senate foreign relations subcommittee.

Walter Williams, under-secretary of commerce, told the committee he appeared in support of the proposal "on behalf of the administration as a whole."

President Eisenhower and his cabinet, on May 8, unanimously approved a recommendation that limited participation in the project is "desirable" for the United States provided the participation is limited to the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence.

LIMITS PARTICIPATION

The bill under consideration by the House committee limits U. S. participation to that section of the river.

The measure provides that $105,000,000 in bonds—to pay the U. S. share of the construction costs—would be purchased by the U. S. treasury and amortized over a 50-year period through tolls on shipping.

Williams said the project, as far as the U.S. is concerned, is "based squarely on the pay-as-you-go principle"

"Since Canada will act anyway," he said, "the narrow question now is: Shall we accept the hand of Canadian friendship, and participate in the national interest?"

Car Leaves Road Woman Injured

Marjorie Danter, of 165 Queen's Ave., Mimico, received a broken collarbone and other injuries Thursday night when her small English-model car ran off Highway 36, north of Buckhorn, and crashed into a tree.

A passing motorist took the injured woman to Dr. W. D. Thomas of Bobcaygeon and, after first aid, she was removed to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay. Her condition today is good.

Miss Danter's condition Thursday night was such that she could be questioned by the OPP as to what happened. She was alone in the car and there were no witnesses.

Skidmarks indicate that she was driving south on Highway 36, four miles north of Buckhorn, when her car suddenly went out of control on the gravel road after rounding a bend. The 1952-model car veered across to the east ditch, struck a large tree, and was spun around, facing north.

Damage to the car is estimated at $300.

OPP Constable George Louth of Peterborough investigated.

Chinese Return Churches For Worship

HONG KONG (AP)—Chinese Communists while torturing missionaries in some sections of China are easing restrictions in other parts and returning cathedrals for worship.

Roman Catholic headquarters here announced today that letters from Bishop Kenneth Turner of Toronto, who has been under arrest almost two years, said the Reds had given back his cathedral in Lishui Chekiang province. He will be permitted to carry out religious services for the public.

The Reds had been using cathedral as a meeting hall and for public trials while the bishop was kept under arrest.

Fire Destroys Wood On Warkworth Farm

WARKWORTH (ENS)—Fire on the farm of Fred Samis, two miles north of Warkworth, Thursday, destroyed about 65 cords of wood that had been left to dry in the field.

The fire apparently started as the result of some brush burning being done. The Warkworth fire brigade, composed of some twenty men, was called in at 3 p.m., about an hour after the fire started, and they worked through until 10 that night. The fire destroyed 30 acres of young trees and the home of Henry Hawkins, a neighbor, was endangered by flying sparks. These, however, were kept under control.

Housing Construction Higher Than In 1952

The picture for the first four months of the year showed a 52-per-cent gain in housing starts to 21,832 from 14,395 last year, and completions up 34 per cent to 24,717 from 18,391.

Warble Fly Control Cost Township $2,000

MILLBROOK (ENS)—In Cavan township 12,988 cattle have been subjected to either the brush or spray method of warble fly control, it was reported at the last council meeting. The cost was $2,113.15.

Eric Fallis informed council that he had purchased a spraying outfit and would do spraying at the following rate: $3 an hour for the machine and a man and $15 a mile for spraying.

Council discussed the subject for some time and then decided that if they wanted any spraying done they would tell him.

Councillor Bradburn and Deputy-Reeve Hooton introduced a resolution that the road superintendent procure a mower for cutting the weeds on township roads. The motion carried.

Reeve Delbert Olan and Deputy-Reeve Hooton will be a committee of two to go to Toronto and interview the Hon. George Doucett, minister of highways, to see what the department is going to do about the 13th road.

The clerk notified the council that the agreement for use of the Cavan township hall in Millbrook had run out. On a motion by Deputy-Reeve Hooton and Councillor Thorn it was proposed that arrangements be made to renew the agreement for five years. Cavan Township owns the hall, but Millbrook and Cavan share expenses and receipts equally.

Accounts of $4,381.42 were ordered paid.

BERRIES STILL UP

Grocers in town are still asking 58 and 59 cents a quart for imported California strawberries and Ontario berries from the Niagara district. As yet wholesalers don't know when to expect local berries to appear on the market, but expect prices at first to remain the same as imported berries, until local ones become plentiful.

Fund's Surplus Goes For Prizes

A surplus of $1,300 in the Kenner Memorial fund will be invested and the interest used for annual prizes at Kenner Collegiate.

The Board of Education will supplement the $1,300 by an additional amount to bring the total to $1,500, it was decided at Thursday night's meeting of the board.

The Kenner Memorial fund was originally raised to purchase a portrait of the late H. R. H. Kenner, for many years principal of the Peterborough Collegiate. The portrait was recently hung in Kenner Collegiate.

There is some money already available for the prize fund in addition to the memorial fund surplus. With the additional amount to be added by the Board of Education, the memorial committee and the secretary-treasurer were directed to invest the resulting $1,500 in suitable bonds.

The Board of Education instructed the secretary to write the memorial committee thanking them for the work they have done and congratulating them on obtaining the portrait and having the $1,300 surplus to make the prize fund possible.

As no income will be available from the fund this year, it was not necessary at the time to designate the way in which the prize or prizes will be awarded.

Three Steps Give More School Accommodation

Three steps were taken by the Board of Education Thursday night to provide for the growing need for public school accommodation in the city.

H. H. Roberts of Westport was engaged as architect for the addition to Queen Elizabeth School; the Board authorized purchase of two acres of land adjoining Grove School grounds for $3,000; a resolution was sent to city council asking approval of the Queen Elizabeth project and assurance that when the required amount of money is known council will provide it through a debenture issue.

G. Wilson Craw, who voiced recommendation of the moves in presenting the report of the accommodation committee, said the committee had engaged Mr. Roberts to draw sketch plans for the addition to Queen Elizabeth School. The plans had been submitted to the committee and approved.

IMPRESSED BY WORK

The committee had been so impressed by Mr. Roberts' work, that they had been unanimous in asking him to go ahead and make preliminary sketches. Before asking approval of the report, Mr. Craw requested that Mr. Roberts be engaged as architect.

"For some little time we've been aware we were going to have to add to Grove School grounds," Mr. Craw said in recommending purchase of the adjacent property. "There is a housing development going up near it and we need this land badly for the time when we will have to add to the school."

"We're not paying too much for the land," W. B. Gordon said. "It's just about the going price."

In asking for the resolution to be sent to city council, Mr. Craw said that the committee had already taken the matter up with the council's finance committee in order to avoid delay.

"We're asking them to give their tentative approval so that when they know what the school is going to cost they'll be prepared to go ahead and pass the bylaw."

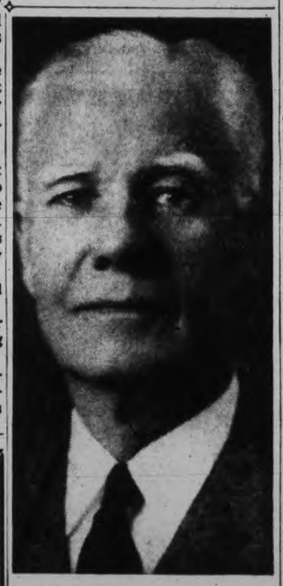
Sparling Claims Authority To Appeal Assessments

Clarifying a report of county council's Wednesday session, County Assessor Stewart Sparling said today that all assessment in the county was subject to appeal by him. Reeve William E. Griffith of Belmont-Methuen had remarked that local assessment was none of Mr. Sparling's business.

Citing the Assessment Act, the county assessor said that the act gives him power to appeal any and all assessments in the county.



30 DAYS NOTICE

Procedure was this: The clerk of a municipality was required to give the assessor notice that the assessment roll was complete. After that notice, the assessor has 30 days in which to appeal any assessment.

Beyond that, he could be called in for advice to local assessors.

"My powers as county assessor are quite broad," Mr. Sparling remarked.

Reeve Griffith made his assertion after a resolution was presented censuring his township's assessment. He suggested the assessment committee of county council didn't know what was going on and "you leave it all to one man," referring to the county assessor.

RESIGNS DIRECTORATE—It was announced here today that R. Douglas Stuart, newly-appointed United States ambassador to Canada, had severed all his business connection in this country. Among the directorates Mr. Stuart has resigned is that of Quaker Oats Co. of Canada.

Start Work On Causeway By Mid-July

Cost-Cutting Ideas Offered Council; $99,000 Now Received

Work on the $206,000 overhead bridge and causeway at Gannon's Narrows should begin in the middle of July, County Engineer Jack Kean said Thursday.

The project will replace the present wooden bridge that spans the 1,500-foot narrows between Pigeon and Buckhorn Lakes.

Another piece of good news to members of the County Council, who wound up their June session Thursday afternoon, was that a couple of suggestions have been made that will further cut the cost of construction.

SUGGEST CHANGES

Mr. Kean said that Arthur Sedgwick, chief bridge engineer of the Department of Highways, had suggested some changes in the plans. They include the use of 50-foot steel spans instead of the 70-foot spans originally called for, and 24-inch beams instead of 36-inch beams.

These construction changes should reduce costs, said Mr. Kean. He couldn't estimate, at this time, by how much.

The orginal estimate of the total cost, as estimated by Mr. Kean, was $206,000.

The Department of Transport have already sent their cheque for $99,000 covering the cost of the fixed, overhead bridge under which Trent Canal shipping will pass. The high bridge (22 foot clearance) eliminates the necessity for a swingspan like the one at the Chemong Causeway.

EXTRA COSTS

Three thousand dollars has been set aside for legal costs, interest on bank loans, committee fees, and other non-subsidizable items.

The big share of the cost, $104,000, will be financed this way: 80 per cent by the Department of Highways and the remaining 20 per cent shared 8/11ths by the County of Peterborough and 3/11ths by the township of Harvey.

A temporary delay is the necessity of advertising the plans and the location as required under the Navigable Waters Protection Act. This will continue till June 22. Then the county can ask for the final approval of the Minister of Public Works.

The other changes, as suggested by provincial engineers, should be approved shortly. Tenders for all or part of the construction job can then safely be called for.

Band Concert Sunday Night

The Salvation Army Band will be on hand in Nicholls Oval under the direction of Deputy Bandmaster A. Mills on Sunday evening at 8:30. The musical numbers will be interspersed with four interesting movie shorts, including: "Circus at the Zoo", "Travellers Cheques", "Mighty Muskie" and "South African Animal Kingdom".

Former City Man Westinghouse V-P

W. A. Campbell, formerly of Peterborough, was elected Vice President of the Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd., in Hamilton, recently.

Mr. Campbell was born in 1913, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Campbell of 511 King St. His father was a traffic clerk with the CPR, moved to the CGE and eventually became a leader in the transport industry. His mother was born in Bridgenorth and has one sister, Miss Helen McFadden living at 299 Pearl Ave.

In 1935, Mr. Campbell graduated from the University of Toronto with a BA and then went to Osgoode Hall where he studied corporation and labor law. In 1946 he joined the Westinghouse company and a year later became secretary and general counsel. In 1942 he enlisted as a Mapor with the Canadian Army and spent two years overseas.

As a student in Toronto Mr. Campbell played both junior and senior hockey with Toronto Varsity and he is still active in sports such as skiing and sailing.

He and his wife, the former Dr. Gladys Munroe of Saskatoon, Sask., with their two children Duart, 4, and Laird, 10, reside in Oakville.

Skilled Laborer

CALGARY (CP)—Adalbert Kemeness, 41-year-old immigrant who holds degrees in law and political science from several European universities, now is a handyman here. In the afternoon he works in a newspaper mailing department, and at night he is a cleaner in a hotel.

County Offices Close

From now on city and rural residents can forget about doing business on Saturdays in the county offices. For some time they have been the only offices in the county building that were open. They are following the five-day week trend now in force at the city hall, and in industry, commercial firms and banks. County Council decided at the June session that ended Thursday afternoon that the offices of the County Clerk, County Engineer and County Assessor might as well be closed too.

Plan New Way To Finance Buckhorn Road

Another way of getting the Department of Highways to contribute their share of the $56,000 needed to pave the Buckhorn Road has been suggested. A previous method of financing it, suggested at the March session of the Peterborough County Council, was turned down.

Indications are that the department are willing to help out but they are being extremely wary about the method of financing their share of the project.

In March county council asked the department to consider the whole $56,000 as a supplementary appropriation bylaw. Since then the province-wide series of cuts in appropriation bylaws has been announced and the department turned down the request—at least in that form.

SET COST AT $70,000

(It is estimated that cost of putting a mulch paving on the 12½-mile Buckhorn Road will be $70,000. The suburban area roads commission—a joint city-county body who look after suburban area roads such as the Buckhorn Road — had already decided to pave 3½ miles which would cost $15,000.

(If the city and the county each contribute $14,000 their total of $28,000 would be matched by another $28,000 from the department, members of county council calculated. This would make $56,000, or enough to do the whole paving job this year, when the suburban area road commission's $15,000 is added.)

Here is the new approach to the department:

In council session Thursday afternoon they passed a resolution asking the department for permission to apply the unapproved portion of their 1953 roads appropriation bylaw, amounting to $33,000, toward the paving of the Buckhorn Road.

PASS NEW BYLAW

For the remaining $23,000 — to make up the $56,000—they passed a new supplementary roads appropriation bylaw. But it must still meet with the approval of Highways Minister George Doucett.

(The City of Peterborough would presumably toss in its $14,000 share when the whole project is approved.)

What are the chances of success? Pretty good county councillors think.

District Engineer Ewart Marston of the Department of Highways made this cautious comment:

"The department have spent $215,000 on construction of the Buckhorn Road and they would like to protect that investment by seeing that a hard surface is put on."

Mr. Marston said he could not forecast departmental policy. The final decision still remains with Highways Minister Doucett.

When last in Peterborough Mr. Doucett was sympathetic toward the project but he said that it was definitely not departmental policy to go into a road paving program. However, the department would help out financially in some way.

Ballistics Tests Indicate Fatal Bullet Came From Friend's Gun

Inspector Says Police To Lay No Charges, Inquest Almost Certain Into Fatal Shooting of Manvers Youth

Ballistics tests conducted Thursday in Ottawa have tentatively identified the .22 calibre bullet that killed 20-year-old Jack Smith of Manvers township as having come from the rifle of Ted Zralko, who lives near the Smith farm. Further tests are needed, however, before Provincial Police will definitely subscribe to the theory that 18-year-old Zralko fired the shot that killed his friend. OPP Inspector J. A. Stringer said today there would be no charges laid against Zralko as far as police were concerned. He added that sometimes an inquest jury recommends the laying of charges.

Although no date has been set for it, the inspector felt certain there would be an inquest into the fatal shooting. Setting of a date has been postponed pending completion of investigation and ballistics examinations.

SHOOTING CROWS

Zralko is said to have been shooting crows Monday, when the fatality occurred. He was at least one-quarter of a mile from Smith, who was repairing a hayrack.

The bullet struck Smith under the left arm, and pierced his heart, killing him instantly.

As early as Tuesday afternoon, police expressed the belief that the shooting had been accidental and on Wednesday they hinted that no charges would be laid.

But for hours after the Monday afternoon shooting, the source of the bullet was a mystery. It was at least half-an-hour after the accident that the youth's body was found slumped by the haywagon. His widowed mother, Mrs. William Smith, had brought him a cup of tea and found him dead.

Four Teachers Give Resignations To Board

The Board of Education Thursday night accepted with regret the resignation of Miss Ethelwyn Dix from the teaching staff of Central School.

Miss Dix has been on the public school teaching staff since 1917, a total of 36 years. The secretary was instructed to write her a letter expressing the board's appreciation of her many years of excellent service.

Other teachers whose resignations were accepted were Mrs. Jeanette Fife of Grove School, Victor Northcott of Queen Mary and A. J. Arnott of Kenner Collegiate.

Year-Old Boy's First Steps Lead To Death

COBOURG (ENS)—Some of the first steps of a year-old Colborne boy carried him to his death Thursday afternoon.

William Peter Whaley was killed instantly when he walked into the side of an eastbound CNR train at a level crossing near his home.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whaley, RR 4, Colborne, was playing with his brother David shortly before the accident happened. David was not hurt.

The Whaley's front yard is only a feet away from the crossing. William's grief-stricken parents told police the lad had only started to walk a short time before.

OPP Corporal W. Lyle of Brighton investigated. Coroner Dr. A. C. McGlennon said there would be no inquest.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Lindsay Anderson of Campbellford Going To Massey-Harris Farms At Milliken . . . Three-Quarters of Cost of Norwood Fair Improvements Already Assured . . . . Pasture Demonstration Thursday, June 18.

E. Lindsay Anderson, Campbellford RR 3, has been engaged as manager of the Massey-Harris farm herd at Milliken.

This announcement was received with mixed sentiments of congratulation and regret at the Northumberland Holstein Breeders' Club last Saturday at the farm of John Goodfellow, Codrington. He will be missed in Northumberland county Holstein company, and especially in the Seymour township area.

Mr. Anderson has been secretary of the Holstein Club of the county for 20 years, and he has been notably active as a Junior Club leader. He has been prominent in the county Black and white show, and also in the Northumberland group of breeders at the Central Ontario Black and White cattle championships.

In excellent weather, and in the hospitality of Mr. Goodfellow, president of the county association, the picnic and field day was a fine success. The results in the judging competition for men produced two ties. They were: Sam Philp of Cobourg and Walter Honey, Dartford, with perfect scores. Second: Arthur Ward, Dartford, and Ambrose Atkinson, Roseneath.

Top judges in the class for women were: Mrs. Blake Perry, Frankford; Mrs. Arthur Ward; Mrs. Grant Phillips and Mrs. Lindsay Anderson.

In the junior section, 12 prizes were awarded. Malcolm Wright of Campbellford was first, and others were—Barbara Morton, Howard McCann, Elaine Rutherford, Murray Nelson, Isobel Glover, Glen McColl.

Following the picnic lunch several adresses contributed interesting variety to the program. Ralph Banbury, Brighton, agricultural representative, was chairman.

Hon. W. A. Goofellow, provincial Minister of Welfare, said he was very much at home in the Codrington district. His homestead was only two farms away, and to the present John Goodfellow farm house he had paid his court to the local school teacher who became his wife.

Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P., discussed some of the problems facing the growing Canadian nation. He recalled that he was unavoidably absent a year ago as a delegate to the United Nations.

James Brown, Newcastle, director of the Holstein Association of Canada, mentioned the problems of trade in breeding stock, when it was realized that cost of transport of cattle, especially to South America, often amounted to as much as the value of the cattle here at home.

Boys and girls of the 4-H Clubs were present in large number. Their leaders were introduced as follows: Port Hope Club—Sam Grigg; Warkworth — Howard Philp; Roseneath, Charlton Grigg; Warkworth, Howard Evans; Colborne, Gordon Metcalfe; Brighton, Hubert McConnell; Campbellford, Lindsay Anderson; and Wooller Club, Alfred Gooding.

Fieldman Gerald Nelson assisted in the details of the judging competitions.

Norwood Fair Project

Financing of a $35,000 building and general improvement program at Norwood Fair grounds, this year, depends on its directors being able to raise one-quarter of the total.

Details of the project range from an $18,000 main building down to bleachers, fencing and levelling.

G. A. Brethen, president, told the Examiner at Millbrook this week that the bulk of the money is assured. It is that one-quarter of the expenditure which poses the question whether Norwood can come through with its contribution Dimensions of the main building are 150 ft. by 50 ft., concrete foots and block wall, cement floor over crushed rock, Timberrib roofing, wiring, plumbing, etc. Estimated cost is $18,000.

Horse barn, 75 ft. by 30 ft. steel roofing $4,800; Four cattle sheds, each 100 ft. by 24 ft., $5,600; Horse sheds, removing and repairing $1,000; Pig and sheep pens. fifty, each 6' x 6' $1,000; Bleachers, $1,500; Grounds levelling and gravelling $500; Rest rooms and toilets $700; Fencing and entrance $1,800; Painting $600.

The total is $35,000. The bulk of the money is assured. If Norwood Society can assume the rest, the whole program of building should be completed by Thanksgiving Day.

"One stipulation is that we build and pay in 1953", Mr. Brethen remarked.

Pasture Show June 18

Farmers are reminded of the pasture demonstration Thursday, June 18, at the farm of Ray Weldon, south of Hartley, in Victoria county. It is north and west of Lindsay. The Ontario Department of Agriculture has four of these displays in the province. They are essentially associated with reduction of cost of feeding beef cattle. A section of the Weldon farm that was plowed, reseeded and fertilized several years ago is now carrying approximately as many cattle as did the whole farm before this treatment.

Taylor Swine Prices

"Our farmers have no doubt heard about the splendid prices for those English Yorkshires of the Kelmscott herd, owned by E. L. Taylor of Milton, in Monday's auction at Oakville," G. A. Brethen commented to the Examiner this week.

"Top price was $2,300 for an imported boar, and the best price for a sow was $600."

Mr. Brethen paused on those figures. But, he had emphasized the phrase "English Yorkshires", the type of weanlings which Norwood Fair purchased a year ago for an East Peterborough junior swine club.

That Kelmscott herd sale was timed Monday with a firm commercial markekt that climbed to $36 a 100 pounds. But, apart from that accompaniment, Mr. Brethen was plainly implying that the Norwood Fair project was supported as an investment by the average price of $165 for the 206 pigs that went for a total of $34,078.

Fifty were taken by United States bidders, but have to be held by Mr. Taylor until the cholera outbreak is cleared up.

Five boars averaged $630, and 25 fall boars $164. Fifty bred females returned $289, the top 30 weanling gilts averaged $89, and 11 sows with litters averaged $324.

Mr. Brethen made no reference to the Fair Board's purchase in 1952 from Canada Packers' breeding farm. Ontario government sires were brought in, and the weanlings of last year have had their first litters. The news report of the $34,078 auction was manifestly proof of the value of the strain of English Yorkshires. The fact that a group of East Peterborough boys procured the same type of pigs was so generally known among farmers that, evidently, Mr. Brethen considered he did not need to mention the Norwood fair board's initiative.

Holsteins Average $545.

One of Canada's best known Holstein herds reduced its size by 60 head when Rockwood Holsteins, St. Norbert, Man., held a reduction sale on June 6 at the University of Manitoba, Fort Garry. The 60 head brought a total of $32,740 for a general average of $545. Six of these were males, averaging $883.

Top price of the sale was $2,200 paid by Forsgate Farms, Jamestown, N.J., for the five year old bull Rockwood Julius Cesear Rocket whose sire is the famous Houckholme Sovereign Sky Rocket, who sired both Grand Champions at the Royal Winter Fair last fall, also the Get-of-Sire and who has 55 daughters with 83 records that average 15,546 lbs. milk containing 607 lbs. fat, average test 3.91 per cent. The dam is an 813 pound fat grand daughter of the noted Springbank Snow Countess, who in 1936 established a World Record for official lifetime production of butterfat with 9,062 lbs. fat from 207,050 lbs. milk.

COW BRINGS $1,600

A daughter of Sky Rocket brought the highest price for a female of $1,600. She was Rockwood Modest T. Rockette, a six year old, purchased by L. B. Galbraith, Nutana, Sask. Mr. Galbraith also paid $525 for her baby daughter. In addition he bought her four year old daughter who was a third prize winner at the 1952 Royal at $700.

Herman Werhle, Winnipeg, paid the top price for a heifer calf of $1,300.

The biggest buyer of the day was Gracelyn Farms, Calgary, who secured ten head in all for a total of $5,040.

D. C. Hoskin, Cobourg, Ont., bought a six months old heifer calf for $1,025. In addition he bought a Monarch daughter at $825 and a Sky Rocket daughter at $700. Altogether, Mr. Hoskin bought five head at $3,275. Seven head went to Walter Baron, Akron, N.Y., at $2,615. Wesley Smyth, Chater, Man., bought three head, including a nine months old bull calf at $800.

Dairy Day At Alma

Harold Lewis is in charge of plans for a bus trip to Alma, near Fergus, for Wednesday, June 17. The Dairy Day program may bring together up to 5,000 farmers for this event which has been designed to give practical guidance to dairy farmers. Cost of the trip is four dollars. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, said today that he hoped the trip would materialize. Notice should be left with Mr. Lewis or at the office of the Department of Agriculture.

Jersey Leaders In May

The high record made in 365 days in the mature division in the Jersey breed in Canada for the month of May was that completed by the comparatively new breeders Mr. and Mrs. H. Jacobson, Milliken, Ontario. Their cow—Elfaro Sybil's Blondie— produced 12,596 lbs. of milk, 744 lbs. of fat. As evidence that age does not hurt Jersey cows, in the same division is—Ashburn's Molly Anne—who has completed a record of 12,716 lbs. of milk, and 692 lbs. of fat reporting on test at sixteen years of age. Anne is owned in the famous Maplecrest herd at Maple, Ont., recently purchased by Canada Packers of Toronto.

The high senior three year old is Natson Cute Miss, also owned by Canada Packers at Maple, Ontario. Cute Miss leads with 9,651 lbs. of milk, and 578 lbs. of fat. The highest junior three year old record was made by Forest Glen Design's Eva, owned by P. Reid, Dewdney, B.C. Eva produced 11,877 lbs. of milk, and 762 lbs. of fat. She is eligible for Gold and Silver Medal awards if she freshens in time.

The high senior yearling was reported by George J. Oakley, Woodstock, Ontario. Oaklea Standard Molly produced 9,212 lbs. of milk, 502 lbs. of fat, qualifying for a Silver Medal certificate, an outstanding record for a yearling heifer. In fact there were many outstanding yearling records reported for May. All the records reported in May were on twice a day milking, and this is the first time in the history of the Jersey breed that this number of records have come in, on only two times milking

Calf Club Meetings

Meetings of the two (West) Peterborough 4-H Dairy Calf Clubs have been called for Tuesday, June 16, at 8 p.m. The east group are assembling at the home of Charles Bolton with Keith McIntyre leader, and the west group at the Clarence Mann farm with John Edmison in charge.

AN EXPERIENCED BREEDER of Hereford cattle, Milton W. Cornish is planning to develop another herd on the farm he bought from Arthur McKay, R.R. 2, Norwood, in Asphodel township. He was for four years herdsman on the farm of the late Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine in the Fenelon Falls area. That property is one of the show places in the Sturgeon Lake country. The bull calf in the photo, born April 28, was sired by Marerendale Debenture. He is shown with his dam, Ringwood Princess Mixer, from the line of WHR Proud Mixer. Her sire, Proud Mixer 13th, sold for $7,000 in the United States. Mr. and Mrs. Cornish and their sons, David, 12, and Edgar, 8, already feel at home in the Donegal community of Asphodel, three miles east of Norwood. Mr. Cornish is interested in rural youth, and has been a 4-H Club leader.

Some 500 Breeders Attend Maple Breeders Field Day

The eighth annual field day of the Maple Cattle Breeders' Associtaion at Maple, Friday, June 5, was attended by some 500 members and their friends at the head office grounds, Maple, in York county.

President Ralph Robertson welcomed the visitors, and G. W. Keffer, secretary-manager, outlined the work and progress so far this year. There has been an increase of 2,000 breedings, indicating another year of extension of the association's service.

Guest speaker was Dr. V. A. Rice of Massachusetts, who was introduced by W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative in York.

Mr. Cockburn said Dr. Rice had been teching agricultural subjects 37 years at the State College, and was one of the foremost authorities on genetics in the world.

Dr. Rice prefaced his address with humor in swiftly tracing the expansion of the human race since the time of Adam. The population of the world today is increasing at the rate of 70,000 every 24 hours, as estimated, and is doubled every 70 years.

"How long can the world continue to support its people with most of the arable land now being cultivated," Dr. Rice suggested.

Referring to the livestock industry, he said that those interested in it must use all the knowledge and facilities at their command to supply the demand for food. Artificial insemination was one of the foremost means to that end, and has been a tremendous boon to the dairy industry everywhere.

TOPICS FOR STUDY

In improvement of livestock breeding, Dr. Rice said four topics must be closely studied. They were: the physiology of reproduction; genetics or inheritances; systems of breeding; and selection of sires. And they must be correlated to continue the improvement of livestock.

Using a blackboard, Dr. Rice showed how the qualities of the offspring may differ from the parent to a great extent. Still, no animal reproduces traits which it does not inherit from some of its ancestors. His final statement was that there was no sure method of choosing good proved sires. However, good foundation stock will provide the nucleus for the herd. Breeding is an interesting and challenging field of work for those engaged in it.

Harry Kennedy af Cavan, a director of Maple Association, thanked Dr. Rice for his address, and said in a neat compliment that it was well worth travelling a distance to hear.

W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, discussed the current outbreak of hog cholera, and the regulations that were being enforced to combat it. Dr. D. Cameron MacKay, veterinarian for the MCBA, thanked the speaker and his staff for the splendid work they were doing. He also explained the method the Ontario Association of Artificial Breeders were using to evaluate the cattle of the province.

John Powell, Brantford, of the Canadian Holstein Association, gave a short talk on the work of his office in research of the OAAB.

Andrew E. Snider, secretary-treasurer at Maple, complimented the members of the Maple Breeders' Association on their co-operation since the last annual meeting when he requested them to help in the correspondence from his office.

M. W. Cornish, Milma Farm, Hereford Breeder, Joins Asphodel Community

MILTON W. CORNISH

The Arthur McKay farm in Asphodel has a new owner and a new name.

When Milton W. Cornish sold his farm near Uxbridge last October, he took his time in looking around for another place. Finally, hearing about the McKay property east of Norwood, he called there one Saturday to look it over, and closed a deal to buy in an hour and a half.

Since then, as evidenced by his interest in community affairs, the Donegal section of the township has been observing that in Mr. Cornish they have acquired another good citizen.

A mild mannered man, he will hardly approve that personal reference, albeit a generality, but it has been noticed that he is cooperative and interested in his neighborhood and township. For the information of Junior Farmers of the district, they should have an asset in Mr. Cornish, as indicated by the presentation he received last winter, a Department testimonial of his five years' contribution as a 4-H Club leader in the Uxbridge and Bobcaygeon areas. Possibly, he may still be able to find some time in helping to promote boys and girls clubs in East Peterborough. They have been a comparatively recent development in Asphodel.

IS NOW MILMA FARM

The McKay farm is two concessions east of Norwood and a mile south of No. 7 Highway, and now bears the name of Milma Farm, an appellation formed of the first syllables of the christened names of Mr. and Mrs. Cornish. Of the 200 acres, about 130 are arable and the remaining 70 acres are in bush. Another asset receiving more attention from farm owners in the last few years are three ponds watered by springs. Probably when other phases of planning have been caught up with, Mr. Cornish may do some pond improving. For the present, and from promise, they remove the chore of drawing water, a liability at the Uxbridge place he sold.

Mr. Cornish has been interested in Hereford cattle since his teen years. In 1946 he sold his herd at Orono, and from then until 1951 he was in charge of the MacAlpine Herefords. Breeders of the white-faced cattle probably recall their Association's picnic and field day a few years ago at the beautiful farm estate of the late Col. MacAlpine, whose son is now carrying on the Hereford foundation of his father near Fenelon Falls.

In 1951, Mr. Cornish bought a farm near Uxbridge, disposed of it last fall, and is now a resident of Asphodel. He was already known to some of the breeders of this county when he came to Norwood. At the recent Eastern Ontario Hereford breeders' sale he consigned two calves that brought him $770. One of them was bought for $460 by Don Kinloch of Oshawa and Beaverton, a "Debenture" heifer, and the other for $310 to Mr. J. Page of Norwood, who came down from the west and bought Hillcrest Farm from G. A. Brethen.

So, the Hereford fraternity has gained two new breeders in East Peterborough, in Mr. Page and Mr. Cornish.

TWO WESTERN HEIFERS

Mr. and Mrs. Cornish have two sons at Donegal school, David 12 and Edgar 8. When Norwood fair board announced a month ago the project of buying some 40 Hereford calves from the McIntyre Ranch in Alberta for boys and girls to raise and show at the Norwood fair on Thanksgiving Day, two of the unbroken heifers were bought by Mr. Cornish for his lads. Just when they are likely to become accustomed to halter handling isn't quite apparent. One of the boys thought a week ago that he had reached in the approach stage some advance in familiarity with his calf, but that proved an illusion. The heifer wasn't having any halter, at least not yet, and the calf won the tussle. However, the father said this week that the problem of Club management should be solved before long. Both these calves have picked up in appearance since their delivery at Norwood stockyard, and they are still in the stable. As Hereford Calf Club members, David and Edgar have a job on their hands, but there are the summer months and early fall on their side, and they intend to have their entries in the show at Norwood on Fair Day.

Mr. Cornish has nineteen Holsteins and is shipping cream to Toronto. He likes the farm and the Asphodel community, and the six acre fenced fields that provide advantage of rotation of grazing.

His only mention of plans the other day was that he intended to expand his nucleus of a Hereford herd. The original house on the property faced the road that now passes the back of his place. The house is gone, and an old barn is being salvaged for winter cover for his beef cattle.

His entries in the recent sale at Morrow Park indicated that he knows his Herefords and how to fit them.

W. CLIFFORD HALL of Cavan township showed at Millbrook Wednesday the Aberdeen-Angus bull, Black Prince of Glenn Ross, which he bought last Saturday at the spring sale in Peterborough sponsored by the Ontario Aberdeen-Angus Association. With him in the photo is his son, Douglas.

"Black Princes", born Sept. 10, 1951, won his class for the Angus breed in his first entry for his new owner, who paid $585 for him, the top price of the sale at Peterborough. He was bred by William L. Stephens of Woodbridge and consigned to the auction by Thomas Henderson of Guelph.

Black Prince of Glen Ross was sired by Hideaway Black Prince, imported from Hideaway Farms, ons of the best known breeders of Angus cattle in the United States. On that side he is of Sunbeam line. His dam was Barbara Rose of Woodslea. The maternal line traces to Barbara 5th, and on the opposite side appears a Bandolier succession.

Mr. Hall is convinced that he has added substantial improvement to his herd in pressing his bids for Black Prince of Glen Ross. He showed two bulls at Millbrook.

E. German Cabinet Adopts Decommunization Program

BERLIN (AP)—The East German cabinet Thursday night adopted the Communist politburo's program to "decommunize" much of the Soviet zone regime. At the same time there were reports the Russians may make a powerful bid for four-power talks on all-German elections.

Political sources inside the Soviet zone hinted that a Russian bid aimed at setting up elections to achieve German unity may be forthcoming this week-end.

The politburo's program, announced Wednesday night, was adopted at a cabinet session, it was learned. Informants said Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl, acting on orders from the Russians, jammed the program through both the politburo and the cabinet. Grotewohl is chairman of the governing Socialist Unity (Communist) party.

The cabinet ignored only one phase of the plan, making no comment on a suggestion that travel between East and West Germany should be made easy. This was taken to mean that only the Russians can decide interzonal questions.

OTHER PROVISIONS

Other provisions of the politburo program include freezing the collective farm system, making state bank credits available to private business men, restoring confiscated property and full civil rights to returning refugees, granting a general amnesty to prisoners serving one to three years on charges of damaging the state-owned economy, and issuing ration cards to all persons without favor.

Officials active in the Soviet zone's captive Christian democratic party said the new Soviet high commissioner, Vladimir Semyenov, may invite the U.S., British and French high commissioners of West Germany to meet with him on the ubject f German unity.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said in a radio broadcast from Bonn, however, that he intends to continue unswervingly his policy of integrating West Germany with a united free Europe.

Better Than Knothole

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—City parks board Thursday night heard the last word in modern methods of sneaking into ball games. Superintendent Art Dent found a loose board in the high board fence surrounding the ball field. The board was in a section separating a back yard from the field—it was on hinges.

Girls Flee Reformatory

TORONTO CP) — Four girls ranging in age from 15 to 19 escaped Thursday night from Mercer reformatory by climbing through a first-floor dormitory window. A police alarm on the escape was broadcast throughout the province. The girls all wore the reformatory uniform of green dress, green socks and black shoes.

Trade Fair Displays Odd Furniture

TORONTO (CP)—The next chair you buy may come from The Netherlands—or Japan, India or Germany.

All these countries have set up displays of unusual furniture at the sixth Canadian International Trade Fair in an attempt to enter the rich Canadian market.

A television chair, which can be folded up and stored when the guests have gone, is featured in the Dutch exhibit. Many of the items on display are made to fold away when not in use.

A three-legged coffee table could be set up to serve the guests by screwing the legs into the top.

Japan equipped a "typical Japanese tea room" with low stools with seats of rice-straw rope and form rubber cushions. Tea was served on a low table with a red laquered top.

The furniture was designed by the National Industrial Arts Institute of Tokyo.

SWEDISH DESIGNS

Designs produced in Sweden may soon appear on radios, TV sets and other furniture. Wood veneer in many colors is cut and joined to form any pattern desired; Canadian manufacturers may then fit the design to their own furniture.

A Canadian firm has produced a machine for the lazy music lover —a home juke box. A modern, blonde wood cabinet holds 100 45-rpm records which may be played one after the other non-stop. The manufacturer says it will play for 27 hours without repeating.

One booth displayed solid, oaken German furniture. A large cabinet was a combined book case and gun rack.

India supplied small tablets inlaid with intricate ivory patterns matched by finely-carved chairs.

Display shelves and furniture made just for the Irish exhibit attracted such wide interest that the designer now is planning to market his products in Canada. One of the basic forms, a "shell" which looks like a triangle with rounded corners, was designed from illustrations in ancient manuscripts.

New premises were fitted up and opened for business about a year ago. There has been nearly as great a change in the volume of business as in the bank building due to the industrial expansion which the Marmora district has witnessed.

Since his arrival in Marmora Mr. Fraser has made a host of friends through his genial personality. He has taken a keen interest in everything pertaining to the welfare of the community.

He played an important part in the erection of the Dr. Hamilton Crawford Memorial Arena and is acting in the present campaign for funds for artificial ice. He has been granted leave of absence by the bank until August 15, after which he will enter the employ of the Bethlehem Mining Corp.

Boosting Sports For Korean Troops

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Pre - rainy-season sports activities are in full swing here.

Early in May, Brig. Jean Allard, 25th brigade commander, called in his welfare and sports officers and launched a policy of greater emphasis on sports.

Summer rains, due in July and August, meant that regular schedules could be arranged only up to the time the rains came and for the month or two of good weather afterward before cool autumn sets in.

Dominion Day, July 1, was set aside as brigade sports day when championships in brigade softball, track and field sports would be decided.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULE

Lieut. Doug Scott of Toronto, senior sports officer, divided the brigade into northern and southern softball conferences. He drew up schedules which June 24 will produce two teams from the south and three from the north to compete for the brigade title.

Softball diamonds in the brigade area were increased from five to 14, and bulldozers were allocated to speed the job of levelling them. Volleyball courts, enclosed by untrimmed camouflage nets, were increased from six to 19. One unit is even building a tennis court. Most units of any size have at least one diamond and one volleyball court and use them for intra-unit games as well as for the home-and-away scheduled league games.

Allard also authorized construction of a brigade sports centre near the rear headquarters of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Almost completed, it comprises a softball diamond, two volleyball courts, two horse-shoe pitches, a 40-yard track, suitable areas for field events, a boxing ring and an outdoor theatre.

NAME COMPETITION

The brigade is conducting a competition for a name, the winning suggestion and its nominator to be announced at the Dominion Day festivities now scheduled for the centre.

Teams from the Canadian base units in Japan are to be flown to Korea to compete on Dominion Day for the Canadian Far Eastern championships. Allard is determined to celebrate Canada's national holiday in style here, and a major attraction will be the Patricias' band, which will be playing to all divisional units during its stay here.

Canadian teams also have been entered in a Commonwealth division sports day, scheduled for June 19.

Swimmers are getting attention, too.

The broad, swift-flowing Imjim river has been checked for both medical and safety factors, and a site chosen for a Canadian lido.

APPOINT LIFEGUARDS

Lifeguards will be on duty throughout permitted swimming hours and units will be allocated times at which to send their swim parades.

Additionally some units have streams running through their areas. If certified free of dangerous bateria Allard has said they may be dammed and "swimming holes" built.

One unit, the 81st Field Regiment, RCA, has a stream running through its regimental headquarters. It is being dammed and two pools created—one for swimming, another lower down for preliminary soaping and clean-up.

A swimming pool, bowling alley and tennis courts, for officers only, are available in Seoul at the Commonwealth Officers' Club, for the officers of base units in that area.

Fire School Planned

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — The most heavily attended fire school ever held in the Niagara district will start here Saturday. The two-day event is expected to be attended by more than 200 firemen. The course will give an intensive 12-hour drill to each man in pumper operation and ladder and hose techniques under the supervision of D. E. Barett, director of training in the provincial fire marshal's office.

RE-ENACT FOUNDING—Residents of the coastal fishing town of Lunenburg, N.S., re-enact its founding 200 years ago as Canada's second - oldest British settlement. Cannon roared and Indians staged a war dance as ships bearing German, Swiss and French "settlers" sailed into the harbor. The townsfolk re-enacted the 1753 landing to the last detail. "Settlers" rowed ashore, troops marched inland to head off an Indian attack, land and supplies were assigned the colonists.

Canada's 21st Parliament Made Some History

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 21st Parliament made history in many fields during almost exactly four years of life.

It thrust Canada along the last few steps to full nationhood. It enlarged the country's activities and influence in international affairs. And on the domestic front it broke new legislative ground in a variety of ways.

Within the forum of the Commons, it pitted Louis St. Laurent and George Drew against each other for their first full parliament as leaders of the two largest parties.

Constitutionally, the longest advance perhaps was in the designation of the Supreme Court of Canada as this country's final court of appeal. Rmoval of this power from the judicial committee of the British Privy Council set Canada completely on her own except for the intangible tie to the monarch.

Appointment of the first Canadian governor-general was another historic milestone. Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey succeeded Lord Alexander as the viceroy.

ASSUMPTION OF POWER

A major move on the constitutional side, too, was Parliament's assumption of the power to amend the British North America act in matters of exclusively-federal jurisdiction. Previously, this needed the sanction of the British Parliament.

Rounding out Canada's growth as a nation was the first appearance in Parliament of representatives from Newfoundland, brought into Confederation shortly before the 1949 general election.

Yet another "first" was the use of parliamentary powers in the summer of 1950 to order railway employees back to work during a rail strike crippling the nation's economy. Some 125,000 strikers obeyed legislation passed at an emergency session of the houses.

On the international scene, Parliament approved the sending of forces to take part in the Korean police action of the United Nations, the first such move in Canada's non-war history.

The country also sent army and RCAF contingents to Europe as part of its North Atlantic Treaty Organization commitments. For the navy, a $200,000,000 program of new construction was launched.

SEAWAY MOVES

Moves in connection with the St. Lawrence seaway had international implications. Parliament set up a "seaway authority" to build and operate Canada's part of the $350,000,000 navigation phase of the project. It also ratified a federal-Ontario agreement giving Ontario the right to develop Canada's share of power on the river in co-operation with a United States agency.

Several international agreements were signed. They included the renegotiation of the tariff-lowering General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, ratification of a new international wheat agreement this year and ratification of Pacific fisheries treaties with the U. S. and Japan and with the U. S. separately.

In federal-provincial relations, Ontario was signed up for a tax-rental agreement, bringing in all provinces except Quebec. The trans-Canada highway was started off with provincial participation, to span Canada by road at an expected eventual cost of around $400,000,000. Measures were launched for the conservation of forest and water resources with provincial co-operation.
